NEILL AND REILLY READY FOR THE FRAY.

Even Money Rules the Betting Market, Although Reilly May Be an Eight-to-Ten Favorite.

The admirers in Portland of the manly art are feeling jubilant, as they have but one more day to wait to see Al Neill and Tommy Reilly do battle for the middleweight championship of the Pacific Coast

Both men have trained faithfully for the event and those who have been fortunate to see Reilly going through his course of stunts while preparing for the contest are much impressed with his vast improvement in speed, science and ability

Mel Lowenfeld, who has kept a close eye on the youngster since he commen training at the Hotel Mikado, says: en them all and this fellow Rellly is good enough for my money. He is husky enough to fight Jeffries, and I have placed several good-sized bets that he will sin over Nelli on Thursday night." Fred T. Merrill says: "Give me the experienced dog for the hard chase. By that mean Neill is good enough for me. I w he is clever and can punch just as Watt Monteith believes Reilly will get the long end of the purse and does no hesitate to say so.

Gene Blazier favors Neill's chances, and so it goes down the line. Neither side is Reilly will be about an eight-to-ten favorite, and Neill has sent word to his friend Young Mitchell to place $250 on the contest for him. Neill has quit working in the gym entirely and will take life quite easy

HOW HE BOUGHT CORPSES Dr. Alexander Testifies in His Defense in Grave-Robbing Case. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 10 .- Today's ession of the trial of Dr. Alexander, charged with grave robbery, opened with the testimony of Jacob Kurtz, a city detective, who was formerly the turnkey at the county jall. He corroborated Dr. Anderson's testimony that Cantrell telephoned October 18 from the jail to Dr. Alexander's office.

Joseph A. Kepler, manager for the local branch of R. G. Dun & Co.'s commercial agency, was a character witness. Dr. H. M. Lash, a specialist in mental dis-cases, was asked for his opinion as to Cantrell's sanity.

"I would consider the man as one of unsound mind," said Dr. Lash. As the conviction of other alleged ghouls depend largely on Cantrell's testimony, the question as to his mental condition is causing much comment.

Dr. Alexander took the witness stand.

He appeared pale, but not ill at ease, and spoke in a low, 1 it clear, tone. He was graduated March 25, 1895, from the Indi-ana College and opened an office in this He testified that he tended bar and kept the books for a time in his uncle's saloon. He was arrested at one time, while in the saloon business, he said, on the charge of selling liquor after hours, but was acquitted. Dr. Alexander said he was employed to deliver 20 lectures at the Central College during the school term of 1901-02, on descriptive anatomy of skeletons. He admitted his duty was to procure dissecting material for the col-

"We used possibly 10 or 12 bodies a sea-son," he said. He received, all told, $00 for each body. "I paid for the material, the work of preservation and in addition delivered 100 lectures," he testified. He entd it cost him in time labor and money about $12.50 to preserve a body and place it in a barrel of brine.

wanted. "We had a lot of uncleaned skeletons in the old college building. Cantrell, who was alone, told me he had worked about colleges and wanted employment. I tele-phoned to either Dr. Banner or Dr. Eastman about the matter and they referred me to Dr. Allen. I told Cantrell, whom I knew then as William Rufus, to return in a few days." Dr. Alexander said he made arrange ments and employed Cantrell to clean skeletons for $25, and advanced him $3.50 to buy overalls and a meal ticket, Alexander testified that he made efforts to secure dissecting material in different parts of the state without avail. About this time, he said, he took Cantrell's clothing out of a pawnshop and stood se-curity. On one occasion in July, 1902, he said, he talked with Cantrell about pro-

Later the attachment was lifted a bond for double the amount being filed. The office of the Ryan Company is filled with investors withdrawing their funds and there was a similar condition of affaire at the headquarters of other like investment companies here. Crowds of men and women filled the offices of several co-operative turf com-panies this afternoon. All were excited and demanded the return of their investments. A squad of police was detailed to prevent any trouble. Several women fainted in the dense crowds, and were removed to places of safety, but other wise no trouble occurred and a steady stream of investors filed notices of withdrawals until late in the day. Some ex-citement occurred in the Nulsen build-ing by the fainting of women, but a platoon of police rushed to the scene and

The two men were en route from Dawson to the Koyukuk diggings. They left Dawson October 10. The fifth day after being lost their food became exhausted. The men were in desperate straits. They had no gun with which to shoot game, and not a living soul nor a place of refuge was known to be within hundreds of miles. In their desperation they could not nor In their desperation they could not par-ley over proprieties of nicety. Lowry's faithful dog, his companion for three years, was the only available source of food. The dog was killed and eaten But the flesh of the one animal did not last long. The two enervated men traveled two days more without a mouthful of food, when they came upon a young porcu-pine. This they ran down and clubbed to death, and devoured, partly roasted. Twenty days after they had started out the men wandered into a woodchopper's camp on the Yukon, almost dead. After a lew days they were nourished sufficiently

O. R. & N. CO. DISCLAIMS RESPONSI BILITY FOR ACCIDENT.

Alleges That Complainant Who Fell Through Hole in Wharf Was Very Careless.

The O. R. & N. Co., in answer to the suit of W. P. Hiatt, a longshoreman, for $10,000 damages, avers that Hiatt fell through an opening in the Alaska wharf on the night of October 8, 1902, because of his own carelessness. The driveway of the wharf, it is stated, was being repaired by Robert Wakefield, a contractor. It is 20 feet wide, and Wakefield's men had torn away four feet along the water side This left 16 feet in width, which, it is alleged, was ample space for Hiatt to walk over as he was going home from his work on the steamship Elder. claimed that the place was well lighted, and Hlatt had no excuse for walking through the open place. Wasting Time. The trial of the suit of the City Lumber Company against Michael Tautfest, to recover $244 for lumber furnished for a building erected at Eighteenth and Pa-cific streets, occupied the time of Judge Frazer yesterday, and will be continued today.

J. H. Hitchings appeared as attorney for the defendants, and the court and the counsel did not at all agree concerning the kind and quantity of testimony to be drawn from the witne Judge Frazer several times indulged in such remarks as "Get down to the issue of the case," "Here you have been fooling away time all day." At another time, when the counsel asked the bookkeeper of the lumber company if she kept a record of a transac tion, Judge Frazer said, impatiently: "Of course she kept a record of it. You might as well ask the young lady if she eats breakfast in the morning."

Mr. Hitchings persisted in thinking he had a right to conduct the case after his own notions, notwithstanding the inter-ruptions of the court, and kept hard at it up to the adjournment hour.

Tautfest, as a defense, states that he bought the lumber from Mr. Dempsey, manager of the Albina Lumber Company, and therefore does not understand why Reason Advanced by Defendants for Huntington's Fall.

Elizabeth Smith, who owns the Occidental Hotel building, at the corner of First and Morrison streets, J. W. Sweeny and Charles Carter, contractors, deny that Thomas Huntington is entitled to recover damages from them because he fell into an excavation on the evening of October 13, 1902. At the time of the accident a cement sidewalk was being laid in front of the hotel, and the sills of the building were undergoing repairs. A temporary plank walk was put down, Huntington says the boards were loose and he tipped over and fell into a deep hole. In his complaint filed in the State Circuit Court in an action for $500 he alleges that as a result of the fall three of his teeth were knocked out, that he was internally injured and was confined in the hospital for two months.

The defendants, in their answer, assert that Huntington fell into the excavation because he had a "jag" on, and that if he had been sober he could have walked across the planks in safety, as many other persons did.

Four affidavits have been filed in the State Circuit Court in the suit of S. Silverfield against S. Frank to compel the de-fendant to remove a high board fence which has been erected between the properties of the parties on Twelfth street.

The affidavit of G. H. Vore, an architect, states that he was employed by Silverfield to prepare drawings for flats to be built on Silverfield's lots, that he drew the plans and the contract, which was let for the construction of the flats, but was afterward postponed. Silverfield, in an affidavit, states that, on ount of the fence, he delayed building R. I. Eckerson, who transferred certain property to Silverfield, and R. Citron, an attorney, filed affidavits reciting that only an iron fence was to be placed between the Silverfield and Frank properties. The high fence has been partly constructed, and Silverfield asks to have it taken down. The case will come up for preliminary hearing soon. The fence is on the de

A motion for a new trial has been filed in the suit of Balfour, Guthrie & Co. against the Northern Pacific Lumber Company. The motion is based on the grounds of insufficiency of evidence to sustain the verdict; that the verdict is against law, and that Judge Cleland erred in instructing the jury. The case has al-ready been tried four times, and has been twice appealed to the Supreme Court.

Balfour, Guthrie & Co. seek to recover $3300 on account of two shiploads of lumber loaded for them by defendants and sent to Chill, part of which, it is claimed, was not the kind ordered. This was in 1896, and the case has been pending in one form and another ever since. The defendants say they lived up to their con-tract, and have come out victorious in the litigation so far.

Trunk Pacific.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 10 .- It is stated today that the Grand Trunk board is about to abandon the Pacific project. When the proposed extension to the Pa-cific Coast was mooted it was supposed that it would be an easy matter to secure public aid for the line, but now it is agreed that with the big fight that is being put up against the proposed subsidy, in which many railway interests are arrayed against the Grand Trunk, it will be practically impossible for the scheme to be carried out. It is believed that the directors consider that an abandonment of th project, substituting a short line, possibly into the Northwest, would be better than suffering a defeat in the Legislature foilowing an application for financial aid.

DELEGATION OF SELLWOOD CITI-ZENS GOING TO SALEM.

Interest in Free Ferry Across th Willamette Seems Active, and Passage of Bill Advocated.

A delegation of about eight representacitizens from Sellwood and Fulton will go to Salem today to lay before the Multnomah delegation full information concerning the cost of building and operating a ferry across the Willamette River between those two points. Among thos who will go are Judge Caples, F. Zimmerman, D. M. Donough, A. N. Wills and some others.

Mr. Donough, president of the Sellwood Board of Trade, said yesterday: "We want to correct the statement made that we have given up the effort to get the free ferry, for we of Sellwood are just as earnest and want the ferry just as much now as ever. Nor have we lost the slightest interest in the cause. It was published that Sellwood had given up the fight for the ferry, but that was a very

"We shall go to Salem tomorrow and give the delegation all the information that has been asked for on the subject. We shall show that it will cost about $15,000 to build a ferry that will answer our purpose. It is not expected that this ferry should be run longer than about 16 hours per day. We have had assurances that the delegation is strongly inclined to favor what we ask, as being reasonable and perfectly fair for the south end of Portland, with its growing industries and population.'

The cost of providing a landing for the ferry on both sides will be comparatively small, and especially so for the Sellwood side, where the former ferry landing can be fixed up. On the west side the cost will be a little more. An incline of some length will have to be provided.

Special attention given to Varicocele, Contagious Blood Diseases and acute and chronic Urethral and Prostatic Inflammation.

Consultation free, and no charge what-ever for treatment of any case in which a cure is not effected. WE DO NOT ASK FOR A DOLLAR UNTIL A CURE IS EFFECTED If you cannot call, write for our colored chart of the male anatomy, details of our successful Home Cure System, etc.

Circumcision Skillfully and Painlessly Performed

The dignity of our profession does not permit us to speak too freely of our accomplishments, yet it is the duty of a recognized and legitimate physician to say sufficient that the public may distinguish him from the impostor. This we are entitled to state. Our practice is the largest on the Coast, built up by the personal recommendation of one patient to another. It can be stated, too, without fear of contradiction, that previous to our announcements of the importance of ure-thral and prostatic inflammations as factors in the disorders of men, that treatment was conducted in an unsuccessful manner.

Our brilliant cures and the copying of our methods by others is evidence of our superiority.
