STAY BY OLD LEAGUE

Portland Kennel Club Will Not Withdraw.

MAY JOIN EASTERN BODY LATER

But an Effort Will Be Made to Take All the Clubs of the Pacific Kennel League, Too.

The members of the Portland Kennel Club, as a club, are strictly in favor of holding the next benchshow under the roles of the Pacific Kennel League. Next year, if proper concessions are granted and the other members of the lengue are willing, steps will be taken to affiliate with the American Kennel

Growls and barks were heard at the meeting of the Portland Kennel Club last night in the rooms of Justice of the Peace Reed, in the Ainsworth Building. The purpose of the meeting was to decide whether or not the next bench show, which is to be held in this city about April 15, should be under the auspices of the American Kennel Club or the Pacific

Kennel League The members gathered at the hall or time, all cager for the coming debate, but owing to some mismanagement the key to the hall was not to be obtained. A minutes were whiled away talking dog until the key arrived, when business was commenced at once. By way of putting the members at their ease, President Tucker said that some of those who had neglected to pay their dues could do so.

President Tucker called the meeting to order and stated what the business of the ing would be. Then the oratory be-

Mr. F. V. Holman secured the floor first. He said in brief: "Our winnings are not recognized by the American Kennel Club or any other organization as we stand now. When we have a show and our dogs win and are declared chamolons, how does it benefit us? Our dogs are not in the stud-book. This league is merely local in character. We call our dogs champions, but they are not recog-nized as such outside of our own little league; therefore, I say, let us drop this little organization and join the one that is National and world-wide in its scope and have our winnings amount to some

Then the secretary, Mr. W. W. Peaslee read a communication from other clubs of the league, the tenor of which seemed to favor joining the A. K. C. at some fu ture time, if the proper concessions were elved and if the Pacific Kennel League clubs would go in as a body.

Mr. W. B. Fechheimer came forward at this point with a communication containing some resolutions from the Pacific advisory committee of the A. K. C., stating with what ease and rapidity the Portland Kennel Club could join the A. K. C. Mr. Kennedy spoke of the loyalty of the club, and said the club ought to stand by the clubs that had en loyal to the local organization. Mr. Kennedy's remarks were well put and re-ceived with applause. Walter F. Burrell spoke along the same lines as Mr. Kennedy, adding that he thought any action now would be hasty, but later on things might be different.

this point W. M. Davis began his talk. By way of opening his remarks he said: "I am a new member and have not taken much action heretofore, but from now on just watch me. I have a pup or two at home that I am willing should win prizes in the Pacific Kennel Club. The P. K. L. is good enough for Portland. And another thing, we must be loyal to the other clubs on this circuit. And as for these concessions and other nts that the other fellows talk about, I am like the man from the wellknown state, 'I will have to be shown.' Mr. Davis sat down and beamed around on the crowd after his effort.

"I always like to answer a man from ike County," said Dr. Harry F. McKay, but I want to tell you gentlemen that begins at home. We must be ourselves first. I think the same as Mr. Holman. I do not give a snap of my fingers for winnings in the P. K. L. They amount to nothing to me. What we want to consider in this matter is, 'Will it be a financial success?' This is what we want to find out, and after this meeting, whichever way the vote goes, it makes no difference to the individual members of the club. We will still be friendly and make the next show a humsident Tucker then put the question to the house, with the result that the meeting decided to stay with the present organization. About 12 were in favor of going to the American Kennel Club. ut 30 voted them down, he next show will be held about the idle of April, and the members of the b intend to make it a success. There will be a great many more dogs at the next one than there were at the last

Perfect weather prevailed, and the track was fast. Kenilworth was favorite for the race, but Krishna, who made his first appearance in two months, received strong support. To a good start Krishna went out in front, and led for about five fur-longs. Then he tired and was passed by Peter J. Dr. Eckman expressed himself as believing New York to be not a bit better than the South in siding against the negro in what has come to be regarded as a question of rights.

"That Abraham Lincoln was a Chris-tian," said Dr. Eckman, "is not to be answered by referring to his opinions and beliefs on creeds and partisan religious faiths, which he so freely criticised. Lincoin found only three of the 22 ministers of Springfield, Ill., ready to stand by him in the advocacy of the abolition of slavery, and refused to join the church, not being able to understand this turning from the advocacy of freedom. He was Christian in spirit and purpose, believing in the love of God with all his heart, his soul and mind,"

The prayer was at the end of a sermon on "Lessons from the Birthday of Abraham Lincoln."

CREW TAKEN FROM A DISABLED VESSEL IN A GALE.

Heroic Action of the Sailors of a Little Fishing Schooner-Wind and Weather in March.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 16.-The little fishing schooner Kineo came into port the British schooner E. H. Foster, of St. John, N. B., abandoned Saturday. The Foster was well out into Massachusetts Foster was well out into massachusetts. Bay when she was caught in a northwester. She lost all her silis, besides springing a leak. The helplese vessel drifted before the gale for half a day, the water constantly gaining on the pumps, despite the efforts of the crew. Finally the Kineo hove in sight, and, seeing the signals of distress, bore down on the Foster.

The sea was running high, and Captain Streams, of the Kineo, called for volun-teers. Every man on the little boat stepped forward, and the first one who jumped into his dory had a finger cut off by the boat suddenly bumping against the Kineo. Two dories were finally launched, and the transfer made in the teeth of the gale.

The vessel was picked up off Cape Cod by the Baltimore steamer Howard and towed into Boston.

MARCH WIND AND WEATHER. Forecast From the North Pacific

Pilot Chart. The North Pacific pilot chart gives the following forecast of wind and weather in the North Pacific Ocean for the coming month:

To the northward of the 45th degree the wind will veer from east-northeast (with falling barometer) through south to northweast (with rising barometer). Immediately under the coast the more fre-quent direction will be southeast. To quent direction will be southeast. To the westward of the 125th degree the most frequent direction will be northwest. Gales from all quarters will be strong, and will occur at brief intervals. Between the 40th and 45th degree north the same sequence of winds will accompany simi-lar barometric conditions, the percentage of southerly winds diminishing, of the northerly winds increasing, as we leave the coast. To the southward of the 40th degree the prevailing direction will be northwest, and winds with easting will e rare, especially under the coast,

Continuing southward along the coast, orthwesterly winds may be expected as far as Acapulco, extending not more than 300 miles off abore. From the lith to the 5th degree northeasterly winds will prevail, and between the 5th degree and the line and to the eastward of the 90th de-gree southwesterly winds becoming successively southerly and southeasterly to the westward of the meridian.

An elongated trough of low barometer (pressure 29.65 inches) extends east and west south of the Aleutian Islands. Around this trough the prevailing winds blow in a direction contrary to the motion of the hands of a watch, imparting to the winds in the higher latitudes a westerly

The northeast monsoon attains a maximum strength and constancy along the stretch between Macao and Chusan. In the vicinity of the mainland it exhibits a marked tendency to follow the coast. Here it also weakens slightly by night, and at the same time blows somewhat offshore, often permitting a vessel close under the land to make headway against it. The monsoon brings thick tainy weather on the northern and eastern coasts of Formosa and Luzon, making navigation difficult. Dollar Under British Flag. Owing to the failure of the Dollar Line to get its steamers under the United States flag by registering them at St. Thomas, D. W. I., in the hope that the islands would be acquired by the United States and the vessels taken over, the vessels, steamers and sailers, are to be again put under the British flag. In furtherance of this purpose the vessels are to be registered at Victoria, and a com-pany has been incorporated there known as the Stanley Dollar Steamship Company, with a capitalization of $6,000, to take over the steamer Stanley Dollar, formerly the transport Egbert, which is carrying lum-ber to the Orient. The officers of the company are Robert Dollar and R. J. Tyson, of San Francisco, and J. H. Law-son, R. Seabrook and R. J. Ker, of this city. On her return from the Orient the Stanley Dollar will go to Victoria to be registered and receive her papers. The steamers Arab and Wyefield are also to be Captain Dade reports an un-eventful trip. The weather was good all the way until the coast was reached, when she ran into the gale that has been stirring things up lately. The Bille was off the river five days before she could venture in. She is under charter to Eppinge & Co. to load wheat for Mossel Bay, South Africa. The vessel was taken prior to her arrival, and gets a rate of 26s 3d.

Captain Murphy has been succeeded by Captain Ryan in the Baroda. The Tellus will take down big-pumps from Victoria for the bark, and they are expected to keep her free from water during the trip up the coast.

Bidston Hill's Repairs Completed. The Bidston Hill has moved up from Davidge's dock to Mersey. Captain Crowe, who took the contract for repairing the ship, has completed the work to the entire satisfaction of Captain Jones, the master. The Bidston Hill, it will be remembered, struck a submerged rock on the way up the river, and dented several of her forward plates. She is now ready to receive cargo.

Under the treatment pursued before irrigations were established, six weeks was deemed the duration of an acute contracted disorder. If it proceeded beyond six weeks it was considered to have gone into chronic condition. From statistics compiled from our practice in the past five years, covering over 600 cases, we can show that 90 per cent of our patients have recovered in fourteen days or less. It is, therefore, equally proper to hold that a case not entirely cured within two weeks must be considered a chronic one and some complication has arisen for which the patient should see a specialist.
