My Neighbors and Friends: I ought to be the happiest man in all this world by having met with such a welcome, but there is a tinge of sadness—what can I do to repay you for all this, no matter what I might say or do? While I know that I have your confidence and well wishes you have committed me to the achievement of high ends, I feel that I may not entirely accomplish your wishes and expectations. I promise you faithful and hard work. I cannot help at this time of thinking of the time 27 years ago when as a young man I came here and have grown up with you and the city. I have met you all from day to day and when I think of you all it is as friends—yes, even closer, almost as relatives. I know that this grand reception is not entirely for, me, but also for those associated with me and who assisted in the victory. I thank you, Mr. Smith, for the kind words you have spoken and especially for the sug-gestions that I will not only represent this locality but the entire state and every district of it. Such a doubt has been current and it is faise, as you all well know, and I want to say to you, my friends, that they do not understand Astoria or the spirit of Astorians to be-lieve that I will be partial to any district of the state, and here and now I want to say that I do not believe that any such sentiment exists among you, and it will be my duty and pleasure to repre-

Special Cars for the Guests. A mass meeting of Astoria citizens appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. Fulton in Portland and to accompany him here. Two special cars were chartered and invitations were extended to all the members of the Legislature and to many friends of Mr. Fulton. The cars were decorated with bunting, while along their sides were displayed long streamers bearing such mottoes as "Oregon's Senator is Astoria's Pride," "An Open River From Source to Mouth." And at 8 o'clock the train bearing Mr. Fulton, his wife, the ommittee and their guests, pulled out of the Union depot at Portland for Astoria. Among those on the train were Senators Holman, Hunt and A. C. Smith, of Bailey, Banks, and Orton of Portland;

resident, Contractors, For the reasons thus enumerated, the printers signing the statement refuse to go further with the investigation and tate that they will do nothing more to as sist in the investigation until Levy is removed, and another member appointed, They promise, however, to place all o the information in their possession at the disposal of the investigating committee whenever Levy is removed. Levy has but little to say about the natter. He denounces it as a job by the non who he says are afraid that he was probing too deep. W. W. McGuire, for-merly of Portland, has been here for several days as an expert summoned by Levy as chairman of the investigating committee and has been in attendance at all of the meetings held by the investigating committee.

This committee was appointed by the Speaker three weeks ago on motion of Gunderson and at the time, and in fact yet, no crooked work was suspected, but the investigation was called for the purpose of comparing the present cost of doing the etate printing with that under the old system. All of the meetings of the committee have been secret until today, when the House committee met with a like committe from the Senate and the senentional charges were read. The members of the House committee are: Levy Lindsley and Gunderson, and the Senate committee is composed of: Angle, Tucker and LeCrone. At the session this afternoon Angle was chosen chairman.

The representatives of the printing houses whose names are attached to the statement against Levy, have been summoned to appear before the committee in the morning and the scandal will probed to the bottom.

At a late hour this evening Mr. Levy stated that he had received telephone communication from two of the signers of the statement telling him that they did not know what they were signing. He says he has already unearthed sufficient proof that there has been systematic overcharging on state printing to warrant the belief that the entire sum lost to the state will amount to fully $50,000. Represensatiive Vreeland, of New York, was not present, This action of the committee probably means that the measure is dead forever, at least, in anything like its present form.

The committee's action is regarded as a direct slap at the leaders of the House, for all of them, including Speaker Henderson, Payne and Grosvenor, have been insisting for several days on a report on the bill, and at times have made favorably disposed toward the measure, The committee's action was taken in order to relieve members generally from going on record in the House. Since Hanna first became active, the House delegations from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Illinois had caucused individually on the measure, and, with one or two exceptions. Republican members from those states pledged themseives to vote against the bill. These
