Senate Can Now Dispose of All Business.

INCLUDING BOTH TREATIES

If Morgan's Filibuster and Sugar Opposition Holds Them Up Extra Session Will Be Called-No Hope for Philippine Tariff Bill.

The end of the statehood blockade in the Senate is believed to insure the passage of all bills, including the treattes. Should either of the latter fail, an extra session of the Senate will be

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. S.-The legislative atmosphere is very much clearer today, as a result of the collapse of the statehood bill, and it is now confidently believed that all treaties. Of course, these treaties may go over, as Morgan is prepared to talk very nounced that he shall have all the time he

There is a report that quite a strong railroad lobby has settled down in Washington, which is opposing the canal treaty on the ground that the concessions will lapse on March 4, but this does not seem to be verified, as few of the Senators that are generally found working in the interests of transcontinental lines appear to be interested in defeating the canal treaty. In fact, Senator Morgan, who has so persistently fought the transcontinental lines in advocacy of the Nicaragua Canal, is the man who seems to be making the hardest fight.

Chances of Cuban Treaty.

As to the Cuban treaty, it is still difficult to say whether the beet-sugar interests are ready to support the Louisiana and some other Southern Senators, but so far they do not seem to have shown their hands. It is known that a two-thirds majority exists in the Senate both treaties if a vote can be reached, and it is believed the Senate two-thirds majority can be counted on if the Senate should be called in extra session. There also some doubt about whether the Cuban treaty will be put in operation. even if it is ratified at this session, because of the claim of some House members that they should be allowed to page upon any treaty that affects the tariff.

The desire of the Administration to have the Cuban treaty acted on, however, is more for the purpose of giving a guarantee to Cuba that the promises made to her will be carried out. Cuba is carrying out agreements in regard to coaling stations and a naval base, and the Administration wishes to show that this Government will fulfill its promises and implied obligations. It is known that unless the House passes upon the treaty the constitutional question will be raised, which could not be decided before the next Congress assembles. At that time there is little doubt that the treaty passed by the Senate, either at this or a special ses sion, will be approved by the House, so far as it relates to tariff matters.

Philippine Tariff Bill Doomed. The Philippine tariff bill is going to die. on of Colorado is the head of the opposition, and he will not even grant the additional 25 per cent reduction of the present rate. The rate on sugar and tosoo was increased to 50 per cent, instead of 25 per cent in the House bill at the request of beet-sugar and tobacco concerns but even this is not satisfactory to the beet-sugar interests represented by Patterson and others, who insist that there shall be no further reduction at the present time. This will mean a delay until the next Congress, at which time it would not be surprising to see the duties entirely wiped out, or at least a reduction in the House bill accepted.

FORESTRY AND GAME BILLS. Will Be Reported to House, but Face Opposition

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 25.-The House public lands ittee today onlered a favorable report on the bills recently passed by the Senate, one authorizing forestry officials and rangers to arrest without warrants all persons found violating laws and regulations governing reserves, and the other authorizing the President to create game preserves within forest reservations. This latter bill was amended to provide that there should be one game preserve in each state and in such preserves all killing of wild animals, birds and fish shall be pro-

The Senate bill authorized the Secretary of Interior, in his discretion, to issue per mits for hunting and fishing in these game preserves. Several House members are opposed to these bills and intend to fight them if called upon.

ALDRICH STILL HAS HOPES.

Working Hard to Overcome Oppos tion to His Financial Bill.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. Z.-More strenuous efforts were made today by Senator Aldrich to get an agreement to press the Aldrich icial bill. The Rhode Island Senator has been working among Senators who have shown a disposition to oppose the measure, and he has hopes that it may get The opposition has certainly cooled off somewhat, but still a number of Senators think the measure ought not to pass. The full effect of the bill is not generally understood, although Aldrich made quite a detailed explanation of it yesterday and has been explaining certain provisions to certain Senators to-

WILL FINISH WORK oppose the bill if it comes over to the House, as it is in line with what he has advocated one time or another, but goes much further than anything he has suggested. He thinks that it will give the Treasury Department absolute control of the money of the country and place National banks under more absolute control of the Treasury Department than ever

> Very little opposition seems to be made to that portion of the bill which allows the deposit of state, county, municipal and the deposit of state, county, municipal and other bonds as security, and in fact that is the feature which seems to carry the measure and to give it strength in the Senate. The claim for the bill is that it will give greater elasticity to the currency of the country.

BUILDING FOR BAKER CITY.

Moody's Persistence Secures Approprintion for Postoffice Site.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 26—The Senate public building bill, which was reported by the House committee today, was amended so as to include a few new sites. Among them is 1000 for R site for a Federal building at Baker City, Or.

Representative Moody appealed to the House committee, when it was framing the original bill, for a provision authorizing the purchase of a site suitable for a postoffice and assay office combined, but was not successful. He then presented his case to Senator Simon, who undertook to incorporate it in the Senate bill, but there all new sites were voted down. There being no Federal buildings in Eastern Oregon, Mr. Moody insisted that no other new case was more meritorious than thia, which the House committee finally conceded. It agreed that, if any new ventures should be undertaken, his application should be protected, with the result that it is now in the bill and will remain there unless all new sites are defeated in Representative Moody hopes that, if the purchase of a site is authorized, Congress will finally appropriate sufficient to construct a Federal building large enough to accommodate the postoffice and also business will be disposed of, including the the Federal courts, should the state later on be divided into two districts. While the Treasury Department opposes the estabmuch longer, and the Democrats have an- lishment of all new assay offices, he says there is little hope of such legislation, either now or in the near future.

SENATOR MITCHELL AT WORK.

At Capitol First Time Since Illuess-He Does Business.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wanhington, Feb. 25.- Senator Mitchell appeared in the Senate today for the first time since he was taken ill a month or more ago. He drove to the Capitol and, after a short stay, returned to his hotel, where he is busy trying to catch up with past correspondence.

Senator Mitchell today offered an amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill providing $5000 for improving and maintaining a wagon road through the Cascade forest reserve from a point near McKenzie Bridge across the Cascade Mountains to Three Sisters postoffice. He also presented to the Senate joint memorials of the Oregon Legislature favoring the election of Senators by direct vote and urging the passage of his bill for the relief of Sherman County settlers.

There is aditional uncertainty owing to the possibility of an extra session of the Senate, in case the pending treaties are not ratified before March 4

INDIAN WAR CLAIMS AGAIN. Perkins Wants Court of Claims to Pass on Them.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash ngton, Feb. 25.-Senator Perkins today offered an amendment to the deficiency bill reopening the claims of the States of Oregon and California for the expense incurred in enrolling, subsisting, clothing, supplying, arming, equipping, paying and transporting troops employed to aid in the suppression of the rebellion from 1961 to
