

TO JOIN THE NINE First-Baseman Shaffer Left for San Jose.

TAKES A HEAVY BAT WITH HIM

Former Helena Captain Spends a Day in Portland and is Joyfully Welcomed by the Fans of the City.

Armed with his "Lizze" a bat that was as thick one way as it was long the other, Charles A. Shaffer, late captain of the Helena remnants, left last night for San Jose. This "Lizze" was made by special order at the Nicolai Bros. Co. factory, and the order for this bat, which the fans hope will be a factor in bringing the Pacific Coast pennant to Portland, was a gift from the former player from John C. Almsworth, president of the United States National Bank. The bat was turned from a piece of ash that had been seasoned two years. That was not all. As soon as other fans heard of the order there was a hot-fog for the planing-mill. They saw the good-natured man turn the rough piece of wood into the bat. They reverently touched the virgin wood and made wishes like children, then laughed like school boys caught cribbing. In the years to come, "Lizze" the Browns capture the flag for Portland. When Shaffer is in the hour frost of age has whitened their hair, they helped to select the wood that made the bat ("Lizze"), that "Pull-em-up" Shaffer used that helped to win the pennant for Portland.

Shaffer's arrival in Portland yesterday morning was a signal for the gathering of the fans. They came from east, west, north and south, they came from all over town. They looked him over much as they would have a race horse, then said: "He looks good to us." Then they recounted marvelous stories about his playing, his slugging with his "Lizze" and the laughs he never forgot provoking during a game. In fact, never was a ball player made so much at home as then this man, with the peary teeth, whose smile made the crowd smile, too.

During the afternoon Shaffer had a long consultation with the directors of the club. He was given a year and a ticket. And Shaffer smiled. The directors smiled, too. Then the first-baseman began humming "The Bird in the Hand" and "Happy as a King." Shaffer was happy. The reception he received here made him so, and he promised to play ball better than ever in his life here. To those who know the man, however, this promise only means that he will play his usual game of ball, which is always as good as it is better than the other.

Shaffer has been playing the National game since 1900. He is a native of Senator Quay's state. The breeze that shifted the dust about the little town of Brownburg, Pa., blew baseball into his hands. He said: "I'm glad to be in his direction. It said: 'Tag-you're-it' and he has been ever since. When he graduated from the sand lot, the eyes of the baseball world were turned to the catcher. This was because he had a parrot in a cage, but this did not daunt Shaffer. He wanted to be a catcher and he was. In 1900 he caught on the Danville team in the Western League. Like Little Ebb, who sometimes doubles in brass, he played firstbase also when the player who guarded that station was "reeling." In 1901 he played first base with Williamstown, Pa., but it was not until he was playing on the initial sack for Altoona, Pa., did he show signs of his hitting and run-getting abilities.

He closed the season with the Danville team. In 1902 he was wearing the uniform of the Savannah team. The life of the league was brief, but it was long enough for the fans to take note of his batting. The year 1904 found him in the Sucker State as a member of the Peoria team of the Western Association. While with this team he was assigned to the left garden and closed the season batting over .300. 1905 again found him in left field, but with Omaha. Omaha slumped before the season was months old and he was traded to the Athletics and closed his batting career in the 300 division. In 1906 he was a Texas Leaguer, playing with Houston, the town that captured the pennant that year. His batting this year was the best he had. From Texas to Norfolk, Va., is a big jump, but 1907 found him in that historical Southern town. Money is just as necessary to a baseball player as it is to the mare. Norfolk did not have money and in consequence Shaffer was traded to the Patterson team of New Jersey. In 1908 Shaffer captained and played first base for the Clinton Park team in the New York State League. The East was good, but Shaffer liked Horace Greedy's advice, so in 1909 he was playing with Cedar Rapids in the Western Association. The absence of Uncle Sam's green lithograph put this team to the bad and Shaffer joined the Youngstown, O., team in the Interstate League. Shaffer was a business man in 1909 and did not play. In 1901 he was captain of the Rockford, Ill., team, and in 1902 he was captain of the Helena team. During all these years his batting average above .300 and often led in base-running.

STUNTS DOES GOOD STUNT. Wins Mile Race by Small Margin—Discipline for Jockeys.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Fine weather prevailed at Oakland today, but the track was somewhat heavy, due to the rain of last night. Only two favorites scored, but some other events went to well-played horses. The mile race resulted in a good finish, Stuntis winning by a narrow margin from Greyfield, while James F. was a close third. The Ledean won the 1 1/4-mile race and pulled up very lame.

Jockey Coburn was today reinstated, with the understanding that he will not be allowed to ride on the tracks of the new California Jockey Club. The stewards suspended Jockey Coburn owing to recent unsatisfactory riding. Results: Six and a half furlongs, selling—Pat Mortyway won, Legal Maxim second, Dolph Withthoff third, time, 1:28. Oregon Track Captain Will Act as Regular Trainer.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, March 3.—(Special.)—The Athletic Council has decided not to employ a regular trainer for this year's track team, so Captain C. A. Payne and Physical Director C. A. Burden will direct the training. Manager Earl has received numerous applications for the position of trainer, and instead of the applications from men who demanded too high a price for their services, Captain Payne has been a member of the "variety track team for three years, and is one of the fastest middle-distance runners in the Northwest. He was captain of the team that won the state championship last year, and he thoroughly understands the work of training athletes. Manager Earl expects to arrange meets with Willamette and Pacific Universities, Albany College, Oregon Agricultural College and the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club.

WILL TRAIN ELSEWHERE.

Jimmy Britt Decides to Change His Quarters From Multnomah Club.

"Beginning with today Jimmy Britt, who is to fight Jack O'Keefe on Monday night, will put the finishing touches to his training at 115 Second street. This was determined upon yesterday, when the California learned that not all the directors of the Multnomah Club were in favor of his training at the club. As soon as Britt's managers learned that a vote of the directors was necessary before the privilege could be granted, they told the club officials that, rather than cause any embarrassment, other quarters would be secured. The courtesy of the club, was, however, extended to Britt.
