MARQUAM GRAND THEATER. Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, Augustus Thomas' "Arizona."

THE BAKER THEATER—Evening at 8:15, "Christopher, Jr."

AN UNLUCKY FAMILY.-A rather AN UNLUCKY FAMILY.—A rather remarkable incident in connection with the late numerous fires in this city was the fact that three different members of one family, who lived far spart, were all put to loss by different fires. First, Dr. Skiff, a dentist, lost all his furniture and tools to the fire at the Dakym build. tools in the Tire at the Dekum build-ing. He had no insurance, and his loss was quite a serious matter to him. Next, the house of William Faber, at Eleventh was quite of William Faber, at Eleventh and Market streets, was gutted by fire, and they suffered considerable loss. Mrs. Faber, especially, lost a lot of nice things which she had collected during her visit to Germany, many of which cannot be replaced, Mr. Skiff was on hand extending sid and sympathy during the fire, as his wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faber. Next, E. Hochappel, of T. M. Stevens & Co., whose wife is Mrs. Faber's sister, had a lot of sait burned in the fire at Victoria dock. He was pretty well insured, so his loss was not heavy. Mrs. Faber would like to move back to Albany, where she lived for ack to Albany, where she lived for nany years without her house being urned, but Mr. Faber has decided to epair his house and remain here. Mr. lochappel will build a home close by Mr. Faber's place, with the understand-ing that as lightning never strikes twice in the same place, there will be small chance of them all being damaged by fre ngain. Mr. Skiff will probably locate

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF GAMBLING.—
Residents of Sunnyaide have for some time been aware that gambling was going on at Wickline's hilliard rooms, on Thirty-fourth and East Yambill streets, and as many boys were frequenting the video they determined to put a sign to and as many boys were frequenting the place, they determined to put a stop to this. At 8 o'clock Sunday evening, Policeman Howley, of the Boye & Giris Aid Society, raided the place and captured eight young fellows, six of whom were William Kayser, Fred Garner, G. W. Newbury, F. C. Petty and Oliver Wickline, proprietor of the place, who were playing poker, and the other two were looking on. These two testified that they saw money exchanged for chips and that it was a genuine gambling game that was being played. The billiard rooms kept by Wickline adjoins the grounds of the Sunnyside School and is kept running day and night. The people in that vicinity have become thoroughly disgusted with the place, and are determined that it should not be carried on there any longer. The prisarried on there any longer. The pris-ners were let off for this time with a eprimand, and Wickline, having promsed that he would no longer allow gam-bling, was allowed to take his poker chips and depart.

BOY'S NARROW ESCAPE.-A freight train of the Southern Pacific usually comes into Portland down Fourth street about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoons. The train comes down the grade slowly and the trainmen are often annoyed by boys trying to crawl upon the cars. Last Sunday a lad about 12 years of age grabbed at the ladder on the side of a ox car as the train was nearing Yam ill street, intending to clamber up on pp of the car. If he had been boosted at a little he would have succeeded, but he could not get on the ladder unassisted, and finally lost his hold with one hand and was dragged along, holding by the other to the bottom of the ladder. He was afraid to let go for fear of falling the state of the ladder. ing under the wheels. He would probhave been crushed to death had not ably have been crushed to death had not D. P. T. Longworthy happened to spy him as the train was passing Morrison street, and rushing out into the street grabbed him and pulled him away from the train. The police have tried to pre-vent boys from attempting to board these trains, but there cannot be a policeman

CAUGHT A MILK THIRF.-For some time A. C. Goudy, assistant superintendent at Olds, Wortman & King's department store, who lives at 400 South Fourth street, has been annoyed by having his supply of milk left by the milkman stolen very early in the morning. He finally decided to set a trap for the thief, who sometimes took all the milk and some-times left part of it. He suspended a large bucket of cold water over the piace where the milk was left and waited for the thief to arrive. He came about the

the grip, but expects to be able to at-tend to business today. The clerks in his office are kept very busy now, as is usual at this time of year, by persons getting divisions of their property recorded. Those who have sold a piece of their property wish to be relieved from any longer paying taxes on the piece sold, so they have a valuation of what was sold and what is left made and put on record. In some cases there are many record. In some cases there are many pieces of property to be divided. More than usual this year, as much property is changing hands. In the matter of the purchase of right of way by the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company, the amount and waite of about 100 tracts in-cluded in the right of way has to be CONTRACTORS SEEK CONTRACTS - The city will receive proposals next Priday for the construction of five sewers and improvement or repair of eight streets. These streets are in the district about the intersection of Eleventh street with Hoyt and Johnson streets. Six of them are to have macedam improvements with cement sidewalks. The Auditor's office will be haunted for days by people wishing to propose bids, and who have to look through the City Engineer's estimales in order to make them up. There are about ten contractors anxious to bid on the sewers and a dozen or more to bid on the street improvements, each of whom will put in a bid for the construction of the cement sidewalks. As bidders are so numerous, the work should be taken at reasonable prices.

C. SMITH IS DEAD .- F. C. Smith F. C. Smith Is Dran.—F. C. Smith, aged 68 years, for 30 years a resident of Portland, and well known here, died yesterday morning at 28 North Twenty-second street. He is survived by a widow and five daughters. Mrs. C. C. Smith, Mrs. R. H. Wallace, Mrs. Laura B. Darden, Mrs. W. C. Holman, of Portland, and Mrs. L. H. Lyman, of Holena, Mont. YHARNS FOR THE GOOD OLD DAYS—An old-time citizen, formerly connected with the trucking business, was yesterday moaning for the good old days when a line of American clippers ran between New York and Portland, the Tillie Starbuck and others, between 188-7 and 1885. Then merchants would import 200 or 60 tons of goods at a time. When times got hard they took to bringing out goods in carload lots, and gradually many manufacturers moved out West and then outputs could no more be sent to New York to be shipped around the Horn to Portland. This made a big difference to those in the trucking business here.

Sweated Coins Turn Up.—Half a dozen gold coins, is, 120 and 120 pieces, were seen at the First National Bank resterday, all of which have been sweated by reducing their diameter. The 120 piece has been robbed of over $1.50. The coins, it is supposed, were all sweated by the same gang, as the work is the same on each. As they are no longer legal coin, they will be sent to the mint in San Francisco to be recoined.

HIS BOY KIDNAPED?

G. E. Brashear Says So, But Chie of Police is Skeptieni.

G. E. Brashear rushed into the polic station last evening with the news that his 12-year-old son Hugh, who attends the Stephens School, had been kidnaped. The officers, having heard many such stories before, were rather skeptical.
"When did the boy leave home?" the father was asked.

"This afternoon; he did not come home from school, and I know that he has been kidnaped; he was a good boy, and you must find him," said the distracted

"Did he ever run away from home?"

the inquisition.

"Well, yes, he did try to leave home ence, but I know he has been kidnaped."

"Did you punish him when he came home?" asked the Chief.

"Indeed, I did, and he deserved it, too, for running away like that," replied the fond regent.

fond parent.
"Would you have punished him if he came home late from school, or did you whip him frequently?" was the next question of the Chief.

"I have always told him that he would be licked whenever he came home late, and he expected it."

"I guess your boy is safe, and is put-ting off that licking that he knows is coming as long as he can," said the Chief, and the worried father left the station, still convinced that his boy was aboard a ship, and fast being carried toward the roiling ocean waves.

COMES TO HIS REWARD.

Thompson for Receiver at La Grand--Knowles' Selection.

nomination of Asa B. Thomp of Pendieton, for Receiver of the La Grande Land Office, is a piece of politi-cal pie. The pie was served by Senator Mitchell, who feels immensely indebted to the Pendieton gentleman. Mr. Thompson, in the Legislature two years ago, voted for Mr. Corbett for Senator, but being staked out for Mr. Mitchell, he changed his vote at the jast hour. He is now come to his reward. The choice is regarded as a creditable one, for Mr. Thompson has capacity to discharge the duties of Receiver feithfully and well.

The nomination of John W. Renry Bachman's Horse Runs Until He Drops Dead.

Henry Bachman, who lives in the country near Portland, will have to walk back home.

His horse yesterday became frightened at a street-car, and, after running until the buggy was a total wreck, huried his weight against a telegraph pole and dropped dead.
The scene of the end of the exciting run was at East Morrison street, between Grand and Union avenues. The pedestrians were attracted by the excited charger and attempted to stop him. He only-changed his direction, however, and charged into a telegraph pole.

One of the greatest, if not the greatest dramatic successes seen in this genera-tion, one of world-wide fame, and which has already been translated into the French, German, Spanish, Italian and French, German, Spanish, Italian and Russian languages, August Thomas' "Arisana." with its cowboys, dashing cavalry officers, love, intrigue and patriotism, opened a week's engagement at the Marquam' Theater last night, and was received by a brilliant and kindly audience. At the end of the famous scene in the third act, where Tony Mostano (Frank Campeau), a vaquero, fatally shoots Captain Hodgman (Leslie Matthews) because the latter had blighted a girl's social prospects, there were delight. girl's social prospects, there were delighted cheers from the gallery and six different curtain 'calls before the applause would cease,

The story told in the play is too well known to require description. "Arizona" was last played in Portland April 7, 8 and 9, 1902, and was such a great success then that arrangements have been made to inthat arrangements have been made to insure its now being played one entire week. Several former favorites were recognized in the cast—Dustin Farnum, J. W. Cope, Frank Campeau and Ben Deane—and were applaudel as they stepped on the boards. The play has "Arizonal" written all over it. The atmosphere of that warm, alkall plain in the Aravaipa Valley is forethly brunght before one slone. ley is forcibly brought before one, along with the alkali dust on its characters.

For a faithful portrayal of the proprietor of a typical Arizona ranch, rugged, fearless and picturesque, J. W. Cope is bead and shoulders the best actor in the company. He puts now meaning in his lines: "We take a man on here and ask no questions. We know the minute he throws his saddle on his horse whether he understands his business or not. He may be a minister backsliding, or a rob-ber saving his last lung, or a trainrobber on his vacation-we don't care. All we ask is, 'Will he stand the gaff? Will he sit 60 hours in the saddle, holding a herd that's tryin' to stampede all the time?" He stirred the house when he said: "That's Arizona! We're a little shy on water, but we've as much charity for woman as you can round up in the gos-pel of St. John."

Dustin Farmum was admirable as Lieu tenant Denton, and when he stated: "I'n worse than no soldier at all. There's a girl's name sings in my ears, and I don't hear the bugle." there were smiles. He gave an impetuous, stirring picture of his gave an impetuous, stirring picture of his soldier's part. Frank Campeau is well known in this city, from his visit as Sam Driscoll in "Pedd'nhead Wilson," and with last year's "Arizona." No one could possibly improve on his Tony Mostano. Edith Lemmert made the most of the thankless, unwelcome part of Mrs. Bonham, the woman who ruined her peace by seeking to become one of the principals in an elongement. Area Multipeace by seeking to occome one of the principals in an elopement. Agnes Muir made a satisfactory Bonita Canby, a part once played by Elsie Esmond in an "Ari-zona" company.
