CHINAMEN MAKE WAY FOR PROGRESS The march of improvement has reached Aider street and the result is the tearing street, the second and third stories of which have long been occupied as a Chinese lodging-house, and the ground floors as Chinese markete. The eidewalks in front of it have long been cumbered with displays of stale fish and vegetables. The lot, fexion, at the northwest corner of Third and Alder streets is owned by the cetate of Charles Wiegand. On the Third-street end of the lot stands the office of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Rallroad, and in the rear end the buildings occupied by Chinese Messus. Ellis & Thompson, real estate agents, have leased ings occupied by Chinese. Messrs. Ellis & Thompson, real estate agents, have leased for a term of years the rear end of the lot with a frontage of 55 feet on Alder street, which includes the two buildings occupied by Chinese and a lean-to shed at the rear of the railroad office. They will erect thereon f. two-story brick building to cost $6000. The work of learing down the lean-to shed was commenced yeaterday, and the pile of lumber thrown in the lean-to shed was commenced yesterday, and the pile of lumber thrown in the street seemed large enough to build a Noah's Ark. The demolition of the other two buildings will follow at once, the Chinese having been notified to vacate them by April 1. They have been departing in squads for several days, and there will soon be no more Chinese markets on that part of Alder street. As a large restal is said for the wooden building on the is paid for the wooden building on the corner it will remain there for a time. It is understood that Mesera, Ellis & Thomp-son have proposale to lease their build-ing for a vaudeville show from outside parties in that business. ROSEBUSHES ARRIVE FROM SOUTH .- Sev eral of the most enthusiastic amateur rose culturists of the city were examining a large pile of resebushes in front of a Front-atreet seed store yesterday, part of a lot of 10,000 2-year-olds, just arrived from California for the benefit of citizens who wish to aid in making Portland a city of roses for Exposition year. The bushes were carefully packed in small bunches, the roots of each packed in mose and wrapped in paper, and were pronounced the cleanest and most thrifty ever seen. The expressions of delight heard as the tags on the bundles were examined and the names of all the latest and most beau-tiful varieties found among them would be on the control of the being 2 years old and well grown, give the purchaser a good start on a rose garden, to be at its best two years hence. They are not so far advanced in putting forth eaves and shoots as roses in the gardens sere are now, although they come from the warm south, as they have in preparaion for shipping been kept in cold cellars. The 10,000 which arrived yesterday are only a part of several times that number which have been received here this Spring. Those who believe in planting rose hedges along the sidewalks now have a chance to do so.

WHY ARE LOGS CHEAP?-The brice of sawlogs having dropped 50 cents per 1900 feet since the first of the month, without any apparent reason, a meeting of the principal loggers of the Columbia River. about a dozen in number, was held in this city yesterday to consider the relation of the logging interests to the present un-precedented prices and demand for lum-ber. The matter was fully gone over and discussed and it was decided to hold another meeting soon to consider what ar rangements should be taken to guar against unreasonable cuts in the price of logs later in the season. The loggers, who were present at the meeting yesterday, represent a daily output of over 1,000,000 feet of logs, and comprise about feet of logs, and comprise about all who are extensively engaged in the logging business. As there has been no reduction in the price of lumber they cannot see any necessity for a cut in the price of logs, nor is it definitely under-

SALT CANNOT BE SOLD .- A diver who has salt Cannot HE Sold.—A diver who has been going down among the wreckage of Victoria dock, lately destroyed by fire, and overhauling the debris at the bottom of the river in search of anything of value that might be recoverable, has created some amusement by seeking buyers for a lot of the sait owned by Stevens & Co., which was stored in the dock. He says he expects to recover a lot of this sait and which was stored in the dock. He says he expects to recover a lot of this salt and was anxious to dispose of it. He was advised to recover the salt before seiling it, as most to whom he offered it appeared to consider "buying a pig in a poke," a much more reasonable manner of investing money than putting it into "rait in a river." There is no doubt about all the salt which went into the river still being there, but how it is to be sacked is a conundrum which even the sacked is a conundrum which even diver cannot answer.

PREMANENT EXHIBIT WITHOUT A HOME.

The Permanent Exhibit on Washington street, which has so long been an attraction to people visiting the city is to be removed at once, or at least se soon as temporary quarters can be found. The room must be vacated by April I, and the new quarters in the Mohawk building will not be rendy for a month. So temporary quarters must be found. This is no easy job, as there are so many persons being crowded out of rooms and buildings now and so many of them are looking for temporary quarters. A large part of the ann so many of them are stoams for tem-porary quarters. A large part of the exhibit is already packed for removal, and much of it will not be unpacked until the new permanent quarters are ready for oc-cupation. It had been hoped that the exhibit could remain intact until the new room was ready for it, but the lessees of the old room many have it by the force of the old room must have it by the first of the month, without fail.

the month, without fail.

Green Things Kenp Growing.—When cool, showery weather succeeded the warm sunshine a day or two ago many were pleased to think that the progress of veretation would be checked, and that the blooming of fruit trees might be delayed a little so that the blossoms might not be in danger of being injured by late rains. Nothing of this kind has occurred, however, as the moist, balmy air and gentle showers have been more favorable to the progress of vegetation than the warmer weather was. Buds of all kinds are bursting into bloom everywhere, and plants are pushing up out of the moist soil with such rapidity that they can fairly be seen to grow, and in the sardens flowers are putting out fluch ahead of time. It is an old saying in the East that "April showers bring Mayflowers," but here March showers bring Mayflowers and many others beside.

MISSION SOCIETY MEETS Women of Baptist Organization Elect Officers for Coming Year.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of Oregon in the parlors of the First Baptist Church yesterday morning and afternoon the different committees on missionary work submitted their reports, the society decided to join the Women's Baptist For-eiga Missionary Society of the West, with hesdquarters at Chicago, and the anlogging business. As there has been no reduction in the price of lumber they cannot see any necessity for a cut in the price of logs, nor is it definitely understood how this was brought about. It is thought probable that some logger who had a large lot of logs on hand and was desirous of getting rid of them in a hurry may have cut the price to effect a sale, and as something of the kind may occur again and lead to lous by others, the loggers will try to devise some way of preventing this. Millmen disclaim any concerted action in the matter and say the price of logs is regulated by supply and demand.

VERNON, THE NEW SUBURB Sightly Tract to Be Opened to Builders of Homes.

One of the prettiest portions of the city is the elevated heights above Irvington, is the elevated heights above Irvington, about one-half mile east of Union avenue, and it will now receive a new name, because it has been christened Vernon, and will be opened next week as a residence property and divided into building lots by the new real estate corporation of Grindstaff & Biain and Potter & Chapin. They will act for the owners of the property, Joseph Simon, Samuel Simon and Ben Selling. T. B. Potter is the president of the new corporation, and before very long the new suburb will be an accomplished fact, dotted with comfortable homes. So that the property can be the more easily reached, the corporation has made a contract with the Portland Railway Company to build a one-mile trolley-car track from Union avenue, at a cost of 30,000, and on completion will present it to the trolley-car command. $10,000, and on completion will present it to the trolley-car company to operate. The owners are to spend $45,000 on street improvements in Vernon. There will be over seven miles of graded streets, with water mains, and 15 miles of good sub-stantial sidewalks in the new property. It will soon become one of the favorite residence sections of the city. Work has already started on improvements.

The Wisard of the Nile." Louis P. Bruce NetocrisR. S. Drake

In presence of one of the most brilliant audiences that ever graced the Marquam Theater, the comic opera "The Wizard of the Nile," slightly altered from the text given by Victor Herbert and Harry B. Smith, was sung last night by the members of the Multnormah Amateur Athletic Club, and was quite a successful affair. For male chorus singing, fun, ballet, tuneful music and beauty of scenery, the show is probably the best ever given by the Multnormah Club. The previous shows are: 1893, "Babes in the Wood;" 1894, "Mr. and Mrs. Cleopaira;" 1895, "The Hawalian King Pro Tem;" 1895, Multnormah Minstrels, and 1896, Multnormah vau. deville. The theater was crowded last night, and the audience was largely made up of prominent society people. Those who gave box parties were: A. D. Charlton, F. W. Leadbetter, H. L. Pittock, C. F. Swigert, Dan Moore, Fellx Friedlander, L. J. Goldsmith, Arthur St. Clair Gay and Brandt Wickersham.

When the curtain arose in the opening In presence of one of the most brilliant Brandt Wickersham.

When the curtain arose in the opening scene showing a representation of a pub-lic square in Alexandria about 1999 E. C. with the pyramids in the distance, dusky Egyptiane singing "Ah, Father Nile, Keep Us in Thy Care," there was a hearty burst of applause all over the house The most stirring chorus, one which sets the blood tingling, is the oriental march: Bang, bang, the most harmonious gone.

The music in this chorus was taken up with a will, and the echoes rang in one's ears long after the opera was over. There was a delighted smile when the gracious Princess Cleopatra arrived in her barge, although the programme stated that she and her father were both raised on Blank's beet. The singe was filled with artistic groupings, and first stepped from the barge a baby girl, Miss Lucille Dunbar, making an exceedingly pretty plc-ture. Next came gally-attired attendants, and last a very beautiful plcture, with fair hair, red lips, white teeth, sparkling eyes, peachy cheeks, a crown of gold on her bead, and wearing a gorgeous gown— Louis Gerlinger dressed as the Princess. That was all, but he made a stunning girl. He looked like some fairy queen, and

"Bob" McCraken proved to be a king among funmakers, and he kept the house in roars of laughter. It was thoughtful of some one to send him a bouquet, the principal portions of which were a broom, beets, cabbages, turnips, parsley, and oth-er vegetables, all tied together. The colection gave the singer inspiration to make more jokes, and he paid his compliments to Mayor Williams, Chief Hunt, Colonel Hawkins, and several other city officials, in his lines. "Bob" is undoubtedly a nattral-born comedian and a maker of laugher. He can give points to Frank Dan-ela Louis P. Bruce made a pretty Si-noons, and sang well. So did N. C. Zan, as Cleopatra's music teacher. Mr. Zan has a good baritone voice. Stuart Maguire both acted and sang admirably as Cheops. His manner in acting is easy and his vocal method a good one.

Then those Sadle girls! It is impossible to describe such beauty and witchery in cold type. Their dancing and grouping are like an alluring dream. Of course they were encored, and they came back and kissed their hands to the audience. Many deluded young men, from other cit-ies down the river, who were present last night went away home insisting that the Sadle girls are real girls. The beautiful brunette Sadle girl who adorns the left-hand side of the stage, facing it, made an

One of the chief characters in the place is that of Jessie an 8-ventody product whose of Ieschet characters in the piece is that of Jessie, an 8-year-old prodigy, whose interpretation of this part is truly wonderful. Praise for "Shenandoah." General H. B. Compson, after witness-ing a performance of "Shenandoah" this ing a performance of "Shemandoah" this week at the Baker Theaster, remarked to a friend that it was wonderfully realistic. "I was on the battlefield that day," said General Compson. "When Sheridan and his men dashed to the front, the Union his men dashed to the front, the Union infantry was thoroughly routed, but when the cry of Sheridan was heard, every man, with renewed courage, followed the man on his big black charger and saved the day. It was a grand fight, and I tell you that the battle scene in Shenandoah' brought back old recollections. It is a good play, and excellently done at the Baker Theater." Tonight will be the last performance.

"Miss Hobbs" to Make a Visit.

With the usual enterprise displayed by the management of the Baker Theater, Jerome K. Jerome's delightful comedy, "Miss Hobbs," has been secured for one week, starting with the matinee tomorrow. "Miss Hobbs" has only been seen on the Coast in San Francisco, where Henry Miller and his excellent company presented it last Summer. It will be new to Portland theatergoers.

"Miss Hobbs" is one of the few well-constructed plays, the comedy is high-class, and in the hands of the Baker Theater Company it will be given an excellent production. On Friday night of next "Miss Hobbs" to Make a Visit.
