DAVIS CASE UP AGAIN. Crawford Says State's Claim Is Not Outlawed.

SALEM, Or., March 30 .- (Special.)-At SALEM, Or., March 20.—(Special.)—Attorney-General Crawford today filed a petition for rehearing in the suit of the State of Oregon upon the bond of George W. Davis, the defaulting clerk of the State Land Board. Mr. Crawford raises several questions not presented in the briefs in the case when it was tried by his predecessor, Attorney-General Blackburn, the principal contention being that under the language of the stipulation of facts it is not agreed that the defaucation acta, it is not agreed that the defaication ook place prior to January 1, 1895. At orney-General Blackburn tried the case apon the theory that the defalcation oc-curred prior to January 1, 1886, and as-the suit was commenced more than six years later than that time, the courts years later than that time, the course held that the state's claim was outlawed. It was generally understood that the stipulation into which Attorney-General Black-burn entered, expressly agreed that the conversion occurred prior to the date mentioned, but Attorney-General Crawlord does not view it in that light. He says in the restitute for scheening.

does not view it in that light He says in his petition for rehearing:

"All the stipulation shows is, that up to and including the Mst day of December, 1894, Davis had collected $805,874.43 and had State Treasurer's receipt for the same period of only $22,854.55, leaving an apparant balance of $90,861.56 in his hands, which he did not pay over until after the ance on the 31st day of December, 1894, and falled to pay it over until the second day of January, 1886, afford a conclusive inference that such payment was not made within a reasonable time regardless of any other circumstances or conditions, actual or possible, the court cannot so conclude as matter of law and determine that Davis did not make "immediate payment" thereof, and thereby committed a breach of that obligation of his bond. Also, it is obvious that any conclusive inference of an actual conversion from the same facts would be even more difficult to susfacts would be even more difficult to sus-

"Davis could not pay the money over on the intervening first day of January, 1886, as that was a legal holiday and the ordinary methods of collecting and pay-ing over money in large amounts through drafts and checks on banks, of which the court must take indical notice furnishes. icuie. court must take judicial notice, furnishes a ready explanation of the only delay in payment which the court can say as a matter of law occurred in this case, and is The women inspectors of immigration at New York are to be dismissed from the service when the 50-day trial is ended. a ready explanation of the only delay in payment which the court can say as a matter of law occurred in this case, and is of itself sufficient to preclude any legal conclusion that the payment was not made within a reasonable time."

In support of his contention that the defaication occurred after January 1, 1885. Mr. Crawford cites the report of the Legislative investigating committee, which says that the books of the office were correct and all moneys accounted for on February 2, 1886. This report has been claimed as a settlement between the state and Davie and his bondsmen up to that time, but Mr. Crawford chooses to view it as evidence that all money had been accounted for up to that time, and that the shortage occurred later. It being agreed that nearly $10,000 was converted by Davis, and there being evidence that it was taken after February 25, 1895, the reasonable inference is that the actual defaication occurred on July 21, 1895, the reasonable inference is that the actual defaication occurred on July 21, 1895, the reasonable inference is that the actual defaication occurred on July 21, 1895, the reasonable inference is that the actual defaication occurred on July 21, 1895, the reasonable inference is that the money paid after that date was the earne money collected. The money paid, he asserts, may have been money paid, he asserts, may have been money paid, he asserts may have been money collected at the end of the term. The Attorney-General also argues in his petition that even if it be astablished that the defaication did occur prior to January 1. Numerous authorities are quoted to sustain the contention that where there is no proof showing the time of a misappropriation, the precumption must be that the defaication did occur prior to January 1, 1895, the fraudulent concealment of the conversion should prevent the running of the statute of limitation until such time as the state had an opportunity to discover the wrong. If Mr. Crawford's view of the effect of etipulation is correct, the state may reco could do better than men in detecting girls who were imported for immoral purposes. They have not been successful at this, but have succeeded in raising any number of storms in the Treasury Department at Washington. Respectable women coming to thie country filed scores of complaints about the insulting questions asked them by these female inspectors, and in not a few cases of the indecent manner in which they were searched. And meantime it is not known that they have turned back any undesirable immigrants who would have escaped the male inspectors.

PHILADELPHIA. March 20.—A panic was precipitated at the People's Theater here tonight when the actors in "McFadden's Row of Flats" were mobbed by a throng of Irish-Americans. Eighteen men were arrested and held without ball, charged with inciting riot.

The disturbance occurred in the first act. While Arthur Whitlaw was singing "Mr. Dooley," he was greeted with a shower of rotten eggs, and some person in the audience fired a pistol. In an instant there was a panic, and women and children were trampled upon. None were seriously injured, however.

The police were notified, and three patrol wagons filled with policemen were dispatched to the scene. The disturbers were inclined to restst arrest, and there was a lively encounter, but the riotous element was quickly subdued. The Magistrate before whom the prisoners were arraigned refused to accept ball for them.

Major P. C. B. O'Donovan, now president of the Gaelic League, occupied a box at the theater. After the occurrence he said his presence was due to a desire to judge for himself if the attack made on the play in New York Saturday night was warranted. He said he saw nothing offensive in the performance. EUGENER. Or. March 30.—(Special.)—Hon. Aaron Jones, of South Bend. Ind., grand master of the National Grange organization, arrived in Eugene this afternoon and was enthusiastically received by local members of the order. The mission of Mr. Jones is to revive interest in the Grange and to bring to life the dormant institution. A meeting was held this afternoon in Frank's Hall, which was attended by members of the order from various parts of the county, and there is little doubt but that several Granges will be revived in the county. Kansas City Star.

It was fully understood when Kansas was honored by giving its name to one of the largest and finest battleships in the United States Navy that this compliment would involve the cost of a senseless and puerile agitation over the prevalent custom of christening such vessels with champagne. It was a foregone conclusion that the fematics and pharisees who are R. Chitzen, Fark and Madison; 154 feet.

This vote conveys the hopeful inference that there are enough people in Kansas who have tired of the "jays" and "Reubens" who make that state a laughingetock to suppress these tireless pests. There is nobody who will bear closer watching than a goody-goody Kansan. That is so well understood that the field which this sanctimonious operator formerly cultivated with so much success has become perceptibly circuscribed. He

"WEAKNESS."

Affections of men commonly described as "Weakness," according to our observations, are not such but depend upon redex disturbances, and are almost invariably induced or maintained by appreciable damage to the Presiste Gland. As this may not be perceived by the patient, it is very frequently overlooked by the physician.

CONTRACTED DISORDERS.

Every case of contracted disorders we treat is thoroughly cured. Our patients have no relapses. When we cronounce a case cured there is not a particle of infection or inflammation remaining and there is not the slightest danger that the discase will return to its original form or work its way into the general system. No contracted disorder is so trivial as to warrant uncertain methods in treatment, and we respectfully rollect those cases that other doctors have been unable to cure.

Also Cure Varicocele, Hydro-cele, Stricture, Piles, Etc.
