NEEDS A MILKING MACHINE.—Dalrymen complain bitterly of the difficulty they have in securing men to milk cowa. Some of them have had orders for milkers with comployment agencies for weeks with poor success. Many men have been sent out, but when they find that they are wanted 19 milk cows they will not stay. This is not so much to be wondered at when men are sent to dairies down along the Columbia, where they have to go to men are sent to dairies down along the Columbia, where they have to go to milking about 3 o'clock in the morning, a thing which few like to do. The wages paid milkers are about 185 a month, with board end lodging, of course, and in the Winter time the work is not so bad as it is under shelter. A few days ago a man who has been in the dairy business some distance up the Willamette Valley for over a dozen years, and has a fine some distance up the Willamette Valley for over a dozen years, and has a fine herd of Jersey cattle, about 100 in all, wrote to the commission men here with whom he has been dealing that he wished to dispose of his cattle and business. The surprised agent wrote back to inquire why this dairyman desired to sell out, and yesterday received a letter stating that he was tired of the trouble of looking for men to milk his cows. He has a fine lot of cattle, and all the culls having fine lot of cattle, and all the culls having a fine lot of castle, and all the culls having been disposed of for beef, and he wants from $40 to $50 for his cows—40 of them he holds at $50 each. 2-year-olds at $50 and yearlings at $30 each. That a man who has been in the business so long and has such a fine stock of cattle should sell out on account of difficulty in procuring milkers does not promise well for the increase of the dairying business in this section. Buts Supplies for Alaska to work through the fishing season have to be well fed or they will not stay there. An agent ordering stores for a cannery there yesterday where some 75 men are employed for about four months was yesterday ordering supplies. First he ordered three tons of butter, the roils to be placed in barrels and covered with pickle. This butter will be from California, for Oregon butter is too scarce and dear to order by the ton for cannerymen yet. The goods ordered by the agent comprised some articles which, it seemed strange, should be sent to Alaska, such as mackerel, codfish tongues end sardines, canned cysters and clams, all of which abound in the waters of Alaska. Deviled ham, beef tongue, canned soups and Irish stew and canned beets, carrots and parsnips seemed more appropriate for Alaska, There was a large assortment of crackers and biscuits ordered, and canned berries and jams of all kinds, coffee, tea, clgars and tobacco galore. The outfit for operating a cannery during the season, outside of tin, comes to between fit for operating a cannery during the season, outside of tin, comes to between $10,000 and $12,000, but if the season is a favorable one and fish plentiful, this is a mere trifle.

CONFECTIONER'S JUST WEATH.—An angry confectioner was trying to ascertain from the authorities at the City Hall yesterday how it was that a "Dago" could occupy a stand on the street in front of his store to seil peanut candy by paying $2.50 per quarter when he had to pay an occupation license and taxes, as well as an excessive rent. He insists that if such follows are going to enter into competition with him in business they should pay something for the use of the street. The confectioner was asked how these street vendors could afford to sell peanut candy for 16 cents per pound when the peanuts shelled cost 6 or 7 cents per pound. He said sugar was only 5 when the peanuts shelled cost 6 or 7 cents per pound. He said sugar was only 5 cents per pound, but in making the candy sold on the streets only slucese was used, which was very cheap, and then when one buys a pound of the stuff he gets about ten onnees, except on dusty days, when it weighs heavier. Any one can afford to sell goods cheap who can use the street for a place of business and Down.-Superintendent Donaldson, of the Street-Cleaning Department, says he is getting streets generally pretty well cleaned up. He has 55 men all told employed in the department now, and 12 ceams are operated. He has an idea that the force will have to be cut down a little the first of the month to reduce expenses. Some of the men with hoes will be let out. Superintendent Donald-son was standing under an umbrella on a corner yesterday figuring on preparing for sprinkling the streets when nature throws up the job temporarily. The men who use the hoes will have to make room for men who can drive sprinkling carts, but just how soon these will be needed is not yet known. The city has not yet become wealthy enough to keep street scrapers and street sprinklers at work at the same time. A week ago many were complaining because the street sprinklers were not out.

Sheriff's and Assessor's offices, has been cleaned and whitened, more lights put in and a broad shelf placed along each side for convenience of those wishing to examine records. The eight steel cars which have taken up so much room in the office and have been wheeled into and out of the vault night and morning are to be arranged permanently in the vault. This will give much space needed in the office, and as a drayload of oid papers have been removed from the vault, which is light feet, there will be plenty of room in there also. It was decided not to be necessary to procure steel fittings for the vault at present, as the new arrangements made will answer all purposes for some years. When the cars of records are run in the vault to stay the wheels will be taken off them and they will be arranged so as to be easily accessible and convenient and to take up as little room as possible. Tax and assessment rolls as far back as 1855 will be at hand for the numerous attorneys who are constantly wanting to examine them. The hanges made will meet with the approval of all who have to haunt the Recorder's office, as there will now be room enough for comfort.

REPAIRS ON ROADWAYE.—The city repair gang yesterday commenced the work

REPAIRS ON ROADWATE.—The city repair gang yesterday commenced the work of repairing the elevated roadway on Northrup street, between Twelfth street and the terminal grounds. This bridge was repaired not long ago, but as it is only 30 feet wide and there is a great amount of heavy traffic passing over it, it soon wears out. The holes now in it will require 24 planks to repair. There has been a lot of stuff dumped along under it, and a 13-foot fill would be all required to make a permanent roadway there. The bridge on Seventeenth street, between Marshall and Quimby streets, carries a great amount of traffic and is exponsive to keep in repair. Over 100 planks have been used in patching it within the past two months. It will be a good thing for all concerned when this place is filled. In all there are some 20 bridges and devated roadways in the city to be kept in repair and to be rebuilt occasionally. The bridge across the guich between Washington and Morrison streets near the Exposition building, has lately had some 15,000 yards of earth dumped through it, which brings the embankment up to the intermediate cap, and leaves about 25 feet still to be filled. The bridge is now being straightened up and the roadway being brought to grade and repaired, as in its present condition it is barely safe for traveling over.

MULTNOMAR CLUE'S MENAGERE.—Members of the Multnomah Athletic Club REPAIRS ON ROADWAYS.—The city repaired, as in its present condition it is barely safe for traveling over.

MULTNOMAN CLUE'S MENAGERIE.—Members of the Multnomah Athletic Clubwill soon be able to start a menagerie of their own. A large monkey has its home under the grandstand on the club grounds, where it has lived all Winter, and no one has been able to catch it. It is said that the monkey belonged to the last dog and pony show, which visited this city, having escaped one day when the dogs and monkeys were being given an airing. The man who has charge of the grounds has fed this monkey and so kept it alive all Winter, but how it managed to live through the frosty weather without a warm place to sleep in is not known. Sunday a fox was seen on the grounds of the club. A number of members sitting out on the pack porch saw the fox come out from under the old Exposition building and start to cross the grounds, but on some one calling to it, it at once ran back under the building out of sight. A fox could probably find rats and mice enough in such a place to live on, but when or how it got there no one knows. Just how many other animals are concealed on the premises is not known, and it will probably take some time to accumulate enough to make a good menagerie, but a monkey take some time to accumulate enough to

Unable to Tax Loan Associations—
The County Court of Umatilla County has written to County Assessor McDonnell to ask what method he has adopted in the matter of assessing building and loan associations. It is stated that in Pendleton they have a local association transacting business to the amount of about $75,000 annually, and that neither the stock nor the association is assessed. Quite a block of stock in the Equitable Savings & Loan Association of Portland is held in Pendleton, and stockholders in the local association say it would be unfair to assess their stock unless outside associations are assessed also. Assessor McDonell has the painful duty of informing the County Court that building and loan associations in this city do not pay any taxes. They were brought be-STREET-CLEANING FORCE TO BE CUT pay any taxes. They were brought bebut succeeded in convincing the board that they had nothing that was taxable, and it is his understanding that they did and it is in understanding that they and the same with the city, so, although they do a large amount of business, they pay no taxes. This information will doubt-less be very agreeable to the association in Pendleton.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE - Arrange ments have been completed by the To-Logeion Society of the Portland High School, and the freshman class of Wil-iamette University for a debate, to take place in Salem, May 22. The question was selected by the freshman class and reads as follows: "Resolved, that the United States Government should adopt a system of sileoping subsidies with or United States Government should adopt a system of shipping subsidies, with or without rebates." The To-Logeion Society has chosen the negative. The society has chosen the negative. The society has chosen Claude McColluch and Arthur Pinkham, June '%, and Lioyd Magness, June '03, as its representatives. Nathan Biackburn will act as timekeeper. Each speaker is to have it minutes in which to speak, and both affirmative and negative will have a four-minute rebuttal. The To-Logeion Society defeated the freshman class two years ago in a debate on the Philippine question.

PERMIT TO EXPORT HLK.—Game Warden Quimby has issued a permit, at the request of Chief Deputy Charles A. Vogelsong, of the California Fish Commission, to allow the transportation out of this state of the five elk detained at the stockyards by the Game Warden's orders. The elk were raised in this state and are as tame as any ordinary cattle, but the law prohibits the exportation of game from the state, and for this reason Mr. Quimby caused the animals to be detained at the stockyards. Upon an official statement from Mr. Vogelseng stating that the elk were to be used for propagating purposes in a park at Los Angeles, the Warden issued the necessary permit, which lies in his power alone to grant, and the animals will be sent to Los Angeles today. geles today.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY FOUND.

Many People Who Reside in Portland Today Were Taxed in 1850 -An Old Record.

While engaged in cleaning out an old vanit in the Recorder's office at the Court-House resterday, the original assessment roll of Multinomah County was found, and was turned over to Assessor McDopell. It is dated in 1858, the year in which Oregon was admitted into the Union as a state, and the last page of the book contains the name of John M. Breck, Assessor. The book is a very small affair, less than half an inch in thickness, about a foot in width and a foot and a half in length. It looks a joke compared to the present assessment roll consisting of numerous ponderous volumes, one of which is a load to carry. The total valuation of the assessable property in 1858, was 18,81,215. The volume contains considerable information of an interesting character concerning pioneer residents and husiness firms, and quite a number of persons whose names are there contained are at 11 living to Portland.

attract the attention of numerous alleged relatives, who assert that they are entitled to the property, and think it a hardship that it has not been distributed to them long ere this.

Tobine Nelson, who states that she was a slater of Wilson, Martin Thompson, Oscar Anderson, Willie Anderson and Hannah Bockman, who contend that Wilson was their uncle, yesterday filed a petition in the County Court asking for a decree declaring that they are the only legal heirs.

About a year ago these same parties filed a suit in the State Circuit Court which was tried before Judge Cleland, who decided that the proof was not estificient to establish their relationship to Wilson. The Supreme Court subsequently decided that the State Circuit Court has no jurisdiction in escheat cases until the estate in the County Court has been fully ad-ministered. This administration had not been concluded when the suit in the State Circuit Court was tried, consequently Mrs. Nelson. Martin Thompson and the others, have employed Attorney William M. Cake to present the matter in the County Court. Christine Enger, of San Francisco, who claims to have been Wilson's only sister, is also still fighting for the property. She also lost a case tried in the State Circuit Court before Judge George.

British Ship Riversdale, last February, was diamissed.

An information was then filed against Harry White and Smith charging them with harboring a seaman, and they plended guilty, and were fined as stated. The money was paid at once. The District Attorney after hearing the evidence adduced at the trial of James E White, who was convicted of kidnaping, became convinced that there was not sufficient testimony to convict Harry White and Smith of the same offense. He therefore consented to file an information against the men of harboring a seaman and to accept the pleas of guilty and the payment of fines. There was much less evidence against Smith than any of the others, in fact hardly any at all, and for this reason, his fine was less than that imposed on White. James E White has not yet been sentenced because a motion for a new trial has not been disposed of

A Word for the Telephone Company PORTLAND, March 30 .- (To the EditrORTLAND, March 30.—(To the Edit-or.)—My attention has just been called to an article in The Oregonian under date of March 10, wherein the "Twenty-eighth-Street Improvement Association" makes damaging statements against the teledamaging statements against the telephone service in general, and the telephone girls in particular.

This complaint is unfair, as well as it is unjust, and is made by people who do not understand the situation or give the company the credit due it. During a recent visit to the East, I had a good opportunity of testing the relative merits of the telephone service of the Eastern cities and that of Portland, and I know that the service here is much better than elsowhere.

In my business I have occasion to us the telephone probably oftener than any other business place in the city, and I can vouch for the courtesy, attention and po-liteness shown us at all times by the employes in the telephone office.

There are a great many people who believe that they are all right, and that the

Their letter is uncalled-for and devoid of truth, and every fair-minded business man in the city will coincide with me.
