OF PORTLAND COMMISSION. ERS PILE A SUIT.

They Seek to Condemn 500 Feet of Water Front-Owners Will Not Accept Offer of $5000.

The Port of Portland yesterday filed a demnation suit in the State Circuit t to have a jury decide the value of (0) feet of water-front property at St. Johns, which is desired for the dry dock This 500 feet is south of the 1000 feet purchased by the Port of Portland m Hartman, Thompson & Powers for 219,000, and, according to this figure would

The defendants comprise Reuben Weeks and Wife, Oak Lumber Company, Guy G. Willis and wife, J. Q. A. Bowlby, Melinds W. G. Coffran, R. Weeks, trustee, Alice Welch, Mary Coffran and Helen Anderson. The compleint is brief and sets forth that the Port of Portland has power and authority by the act of the Legislature governing its duties, to acquire a site for the dry dock, and is given the right of eminent domain to take and appropriate private property necessary or convenient

The lands owned by the defendants cought to be taken are described, and it is alleged that the lands are not occupied by any one, and that the lands and reparian rights adjacent thereto are necessary for

It is further stated that the property is orth about $500, but the parties are un-ble to agree upon the price. The defend-nts demand much more than the sum. Williams, Wood & Linthicum are the attorneys for the Port of Portland.

BOY TO HAVE TWO HOMES.

Young Martin Will Live With Father

One Year and Mother the Next. Bertha B. Martin, who was granted a vorce from W. E. Martin yesterday by Judge George, entered into a very un-usual agreement that a boy 5 years old, the issue of the marriage, is to remain in the custody of the father for a year. Then she is to enjoy the society of the child for 12 months, and they are to alternate year each thereafter in caring for the ld, unless a different order is entered

The Martins were married in McMini viile, in July, 1895, and recently have lived in Astoria. They separated some months ago, and the father retained possession of the little boy. Mrs. Martin went to the home in the absence of the father and carried away the child, taking it aboard a steem launch which was in wait-g, in charge of a friend. Mr. Martin covered possession of his young son, and since reached an agreement with his through his attorneys, John H. and Smith, and her lawyer, W. S. Ward. When the suit for a dissolution of the matrimonial bonds was called for trial esterdey morning before Judge George Martin's attorneys announced that there

It was necessary for Mrs. Martin to prove a case against her husband, and she was called to the witness stand, and testified concerning the differences exist-ing between herself and the defendant.

She said that since their union they had resided in no less than 19 different pla She stated that Martin was in the habit of cursing and abusing her, and called her vile names in the presence of other persons. She referred to one occasion in an ster-house in Astoria, and another time hen her husband was about to go on a inting expedition, and she expressed a desire to attend a dance. He objected in ost positive terms, and tore her watch from her dress, and also tore her dress. She related that while they were living at Cottage Grove he assaulted her and threstened her life, and she ran to a saloon and ummoned a Mr. Barker to assist her. On cross-examination Mrs. Martin said he continued to remain with her husband because he promised to do better, and she was in hopes that he would. She gave her ige as 25 years.

Mrs. Selbert and Miss Sappington corroborated some of the evidence given by Mrs. Martin. The latter also testified that at Tillamook Martin choked his wife when their baby was only two weeks

"You say you have arranged for the disposition of the child?" inquired Judge George, after the evidence was all in. The arrangement was again stated by the attorneys by which the child is to remain with the father for the first year. "The testimony has been of a one-sided character," remarked the court, "but I have to presume that it is true, and that being the case I can hardly see how the mother can consent to leave the child in custody of the father, a man who, from what has been submitted here, is totally anfit to have charge of a young boy. Mrs. Martin, are you willing your child should remain with the defendant?" Attorney Smith hastened to explain that there had been threats on both sides, and that one had taken the child from the other, and had finally agreed regarding Denver & Rio Grande Ratirond. The $6000 damage suit of Max Moses, a raveling salesman for a New York wholesale clothing house, against the Denver & Rio Grande Ratiroad Company, was dismissed in the United States Circuit Court esterday by stipulation. A reasonable ettlement was made with Moses.

On May 2, 1801, near Glenwood Springs,

a mass of rocks from the mountain stid down on top of the train and came through the roof of the Pullman car. Moses occupied an upper berth, which was demolished by the rock, and he alleges that he was badly injured. He said he lost much valuable time ever since the ac-cident and estimated its worth at $6000

Court Notes.

Jack Steber petitioned the County Court yesterday for appointment as guardian of Raymond Liabastre, a minor, whose father, Amand Liabastre, deceased, left father, Amand Liabastre, decease an interest in an estate in France.

H. H. Northup, guardian of George Cuity, an incapable, filed a report in the County Court resterday showing property valued at $868. Mr. Cully is living on a farm of 48 acres which he owns. Recently he petitioned the court to be allowed to manage his own affairs, alleging that he is able to do so. Judge Northup in his report suggests that the competency of Cully be inquired into by the court.

In the suit of E. W. Baughman and John Johnson against Mrs. Hannah M. Taylor, to recover a balance due of $60 for erecting a 15-story building. Judge Sears yesterday dissolved on attachment of 15 acres of land which is held by Mrs. Taylor as a homestead. The hor law provides that a homestead shall con-sist of not more than one block in a city nor more than 160 acres outside of an incorporated town, and that a homestead shall not be reduced to less than one lot nor less than 30 acres, irrespective of value. Mrs. Taylor's 15-acre homestead is consequently exempt.

He came to Oregon in 1872 with his parents, and spent his early life on a and spent his early life on a farm in Clackamas County. He came to Portland when 24 years old, and was employed by the Oregon Transfer Company for several years, and later by the Southern Pacific Company. Before his death he was compelled to resign his position with the Postal Department on account of ill health. He is survived by his wife. He was popular with all who knew him, and an esteemed member of Portland Camp No. 107, Woodmen of the World; Knights of Pythias, Eagles and National Association of Letter-carriers.
