Nadeau and Zinsar Timely With Their Hits.

BUT ENGLE GETS TOUCHED UP

Twelve Hits Are Scored Against Him, Which Slow Fielding Did Not Cut Off—Waterloo Comes in the Sixth.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 8—(Staff Correspondence)—Sacramento 5, Portland 1.

This score tells only in part how the Browns came to being shut out this afternoon at Oak Park. Cy Young, No. 2, who who-did-it Mike Fisher for McCloskey's team, because he found too many bouncers at Stockton, and begged Fisher to forgive him and make him safe again into the Senatorial fold, certainly pitched himself back into the hearts of the fans whom he deserted.

Game Lost in the Sixth.

Yesterday the Browns lost the game in the fourth inning. Today they let go their grip in the sixth chapter. Up to this time the game was a superb pitchers' battle. Engle had decidedly the best of the argument. Three hits had been made off his delivery, and the teams behind him took part in three double plays. Never, according to the best-informed fans in Sacramento, did a ball team put up such a splendid exhibition of fielding as did the Browns up to the sixth cap. But the hands on the clock of hard luck reached the striking hour, and with the sounding of its chimes rang out the death knell to any possible chances of the Browns' winning. Up to this time Engle had sent the Senators back to their bench in the glaring sun in funeral order.

Santa Clara Defeats Butte. SAN JOSE, Cal., April 8—The Butte Miners were defeated in their first practice game today by the crack Santa Clara nine by a score of 4 to 2.

Stovall Jumps to Nationals. SAN FRANCISCO, April 8—It is stated that Stovall, of Seattle, has jumped to the Philadelphia American and National League clubs.

No Game at Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—Rain today caused the postponement of the game between the Philadelphia American and National League clubs.

First Trial of Reliance April 23. BRISTOL, R. I., April 8.—The principal work on the cup-defender Reliance today was the closing of the seams and spaces at the hutto with cement. It is the hope now that the Reliance will be rigged and ready for her first sail trial on April 23.

Engle Saves a Shut-Out. It was Nadeau's second triple-sacker, and a beautiful drive into right field by Zinsar that saved the Browns from a shut-out. Nadeau is without doubt the best left fielder in the league, and he is not only a clean, clever fielder, but he is fast and a heavy-sticker. He is also quick and fast on the bases. It has been through his clever playing that the Browns have been close up in the score column.

DRAWN THE TOP PRICE

Mack Mack Sold to J. R. Bowles for $1150.

Thirty-four Head Sent Under the Hammer for $8130, an Average of $239 Each.

Mack Mack, one of the neatest appearing horses that has stepped into the track at the Multnomah Fair Association's grounds, drew the top price at yesterday's selling. The bay gelding went to J. R. Bowles, of Portland, at $1150. Mr. Bowles paid the top price the day before for San Toy, the 2-year-old chestnut filly that is declared by horsemen to be one of the fastest pacers in the state. Mack Mack has a trotting record of 2:15 1/2, and is one of the gamest performers that ever stepped down a track.

Yesterday's selling went away over the record of the previous day on prices paid. For instance, William C. who was owned by Chris Simpson, of Portland, also the owner of Mack Mack, went at $400, after the most spirited kind of bidding. W. O. Tribe, a trainer at the Salem fair grounds, Mack at Everett last season, immediately the price of William C. at $160, and they sent it up to the figure where the bay stallion went to Mr. West at $900. There was no uncertainty in their offerings, and the fight between the two for the horse was so fast it gave no one else a chance to get into the bidding.

There is a pretty strong bid on the part of Fred Brooks, of North Yakima, will load Mack Mack into his car and send the well-known stallion over into the irrigation district of Washington. Mack Hanna has a record of 2:15 1/2, and beat Mack Mack at Everett last season. Immediately thereafter Mack Hanna had the bad grace to injure himself, and he was out of it for the remainder of the season.

LUCAS MOVES TO TACOMA

President of P. N. League Changes His Headquarters.

He Wants to Get on the Firing Line, He Says—Dugdale and His Seattle Park.

President W. H. Lucas, of the Pacific National League, will move his headquarters from Spokane to Tacoma about May 1. The move is to be made by Mr. Lucas for the purpose of getting closer to the center of the baseball circuit. The League's expansion to include Los Angeles and San Francisco leaves Mr. Lucas president of the Spokane in one corner of the circuit and rather inconvenient for a man who is liable to be called at any time to visit any city in the West.

Mr. Lucas, who is stopping at the Portland Hotel, made the announcement last night that he intended to make the change. There have been a number of rumors about concerning the possible change for several weeks, but up to the present no confirmation of the story has been had.

The president of the League is at work upon the schedule for the baseball season. This is practically completed, and copies of it may be sent out within a day or two. The schedule is not to become public property until Sunday, though at the meeting of League members held in Tacoma a general outline was given. This showed the dates of opening and the number of games to be played in each city. Nothing further will be shown until the schedule is published simultaneously all over the circuit.

It is the intention of President Lucas to spend much of his time on the road during the coming summer. He intends to see the performance of the different teams as often as possible, and to keep a close check upon the work of his umpires. Moreover, he intends to become thoroughly familiar with the situation in each city.

"The expansion of the League makes it necessary for me to keep going pretty fast," he explained. "The best umpires could not come up on his merits prior to June 1, and if Dugdale resorted to dilatory tactics, the case might even be continued longer. In any event, he will begin the season with a clean conscience, and the Pacific National League there is a feeling that the electric company will not push the case further."

The calendar in Judge Tallman's Court is so crowded that the case against Dugdale could not come up on his merits prior to June 1, and if Dugdale resorted to dilatory tactics, the case might even be continued longer. In any event, he will begin the season with a clean conscience, and the Pacific National League there is a feeling that the electric company will not push the case further."

At any time there is apt to arise a question that the president of the League has to decide, and often a personal visit to the city where the point or appeal is raised becomes necessary in order to lose no time and to accomplish the best results, the president must be located where he can respond immediately to such calls.

"We intend to give the public good baseball this year, and to do so everybody in the League must work in harmony. This is already assured, and I expect one of the best seasons we have ever had."

Money to Carry on the Fight. Syd Hart, a brother of Harry Hart, president of the San Francisco National baseball club, and a stockholder in the organization, is at the Portland on a business trip. He expects to leave within a day or two for San Francisco. "Every report from Manager McCloskey indicates that the San Francisco team this year is going to be one of the strongest in the League," Mr. Hart said last night. "We do not place any restrictions upon McCloskey when we told him to gather a team. We simply sent him East to get good men, and I believe he has succeeded. I am confident the team we will have will be much stronger than the rival organization, and that we will give the people a better quality of baseball."

"We realize the fight we are up against. It is a war in which quality will win, and we are prepared to give the people quality. We will have invested $50,000 before the gates are opened for the first game, and our expenses during the year are going to be heavy, but we went into this thing with our eyes open. We knew we would have to spend money, and we expected we should lose money during the present year. But we are in this fight to win out a fight with organized baseball, and we will do it."

There have been several stories circulated to the effect that we had been offered stock for sale, and natural inferences were drawn from this story. Now there is nothing to such reports. We have had all kinds of offers from prominent business men of San Francisco to contribute or to buy stock, but my brother has given the uniform answer that we had no stock for sale. Five of us are interested in the team, and propose to carry it through.

"The reception San Francisco has been giving us has been flattering. There have been all kinds of assurances of support through patronage, and the baseball fans tell us they will give us the heartiest kind of a welcome. I do not think there is any question but that the League will be popular in San Francisco. What the people want is a good class of sport, and that is what we intend to give them."

The San Francisco baseball patron is a rooster. He likes the game, just as San Francisco likes all kinds of sport. The baseball public is entirely fair in its support of all teams. The visitors are always accorded fair treatment, and a good play by a rival team is as thoroughly appreciated as one by the home team.

"I think the people of San Francisco are going to like McCloskey. They know him well enough now by reputation, but they have not had any personal acquaintance with him."

"McCloskey is one of those kind of men who are always fighting hard for victory. He is out on the baselines rooting for his team and coaching them to victory. He is a good steady man to have in a game, always working and studying his teammates. That is just the kind of a man the San Francisco public likes."

"The names of the members of the San Francisco team, so far as it has been chosen, have been given out. There are one or two exceptions of the names of men whose names it would not be advisable to give at present. One, for instance, is a pitcher whose release we had to arrange for from an Eastern club. But the public will know within a few days just what kind of a team we will have on the field."

CHALLENGER A FLYER

Shamrock III Still Shows Heels to Shamrock I.

Leads Old Yacht on Every Tack in Three Trial Runs in Fresh Breeze Off Weymouth.

Weymouth, England, April 8.—With topsails set in a good 12 to 14-knot breeze off shore, promising fast racing, and a thorough test both of speed and gear, Shamrock III and Shamrock I started today off down the wind for a leeward and windward trial. Shamrock III was good, but Shamrock I drew into the wake of the cup challenger, getting between her and the wind. This advantage enabled the old boat to draw up somewhat, but the challenge opened away fast and ran in such fashion as helped to dispel doubts as to her speed when off the wind.

When the boats were three-quarters on the way to the Shambles lightship, the wind drew more westerly and Shamrock III had to run a course considerably more to the westward, throwing her stern as they tacked for the Shambles. Shamrock I led around the lightship. The times were: Shamrock I, 10:46:20; Shamrock III, 10:48:20.

The boats were all home as they came on the wind and the challenger gaining fast and a trifle faster went right past and to leeward of the older boat before they had gone a mile to windward. After holding the lead for 30 minutes Shamrock III came about and passed wide across the bows of Shamrock I, and taking up a position ahead and wide to windward, putting higher and faster the challenger gained on every mile. The freshening wind caused some sea as the boats beat back, but the challenger stood up well to the wind and took the lead for the Shambles in the bows of Shamrock I as they turned into the bay. The times as they beat into the bay at the finish of the first round were: Shamrock III, 11:46:14; Shamrock I, 11:47:20.

The challenger gained exactly two minutes on a seven-mile beat to windward. As the two yachts rounded the Erin, Shamrock I was set for the lead, and the Shambles. Smarter work on board Shamrock I enabled her to make up 30 seconds of lost ground. They made fairly level racing down the wind, Shamrock I not gaining so far as the first couple of miles. The wind held fresh and fairly steady, allowing an honest trial of speed. Both boats were equally served by the wind and sailing practically in the same water it took a little over 50 minutes to run the seven miles, and the boats turned the Shambles on the second round as follows: Shamrock III, 12:42:37; Shamrock I, 12:44:57.
