EXCELLENT CHORAL PROGRAMS

Roman Catholic and Episcopal De nominations Make Day One of Special Significance, While All Congregations Decorate

Amid the strains of stately religious music in churches banked with beautiful white flowers, Easter Sunday was celewhite flowers, Easter Sunday was cele-brated in Portland yesterday. Every church in all the city remem-bered the day by special services. In memory of the risen Christ appropriate music had been prepared, while gardens and hot houses had been depleted to make each place of worship a place of beauty. In the Roman Catholic and Episcowal In the Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches especially was the day of spe-cial significance. To these denominations Easter Sunday is the greatest sacred day of the year, and as such was appropriate-

The Easter services at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception were unusually impressive, His Grace, Most Reverend Alexander Christie, pontificating at the high mass. A few minutes before 19730, the time for the high mass, a procession composed of the assistants of the mass escorted the archbishop from his residence on Stateenth and Davis streets to the main entrance of the cathedral. The procession was led by the cross-bearer, Joseph O'Farrell, escorted and followed by the altar boys of the cathedral. The mitre-bearer, Fred Martin, who followed, preceded the crosfer-bearer, Ignatius McNamee; William B. Coonin, master of ceremonies; Rev. P. J. Kennedy, sub-deacon; Rev. P. J. Carroll and Rev. M. A. Quimlan, C. S. C., deacons of the mass; W. J. Marr, C. S. C., deacon of honor; Rev. J. D. McNailly, assistant cession composed of the assistants of the honor; Rev. J. D. McNally, assistant priest, and Most Reverend Archbishop

As the procession entered the church, the choir sang Eppe Farcerdos, by Rampis. While the pontificant was changing the vestments, Mrs. Walter Reed sang "The Resurrection," by Middlinger. Gullmant's Mass was sung, the kyrie being after the old Gregorian style and of a very solemn and impressive character.
The Gloria was principally of solos, which were beautifully rendered by Miss Kathryn Lawler, Mrs. Waiter Reed, Messrs. J. W. Belcher and Edward At-

The Credo et Incarnatus was rendered by a female trio composed of Mrs. Reed, Miss Lawler and Miss Connolly. The Miss Lawler and Miss Councily. The music is especially adapted for female voices and was beautifully sung. The offertory, Regina Coell, by Lambillati, was sung by Miss Lawler, This was also especially adapted to Miss Lawler, many admirers of her voice, as well as Professor Epping, remarking the selection is having been the best she has rendered this season. The Sunctus which was en-The Sanctus which was entirely a choral part, was taken from Gulimant's Mass, and was sung by the

Instead of the Benedictus, Miss Lawler and Mr. Beicher sang a duet. The Agnus Dei was taken from the mass and was of a choral character. After the mass, benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given by the pontificant of the mass, Miss Lawler singing a solo, O Salutaris, and Messrs. Epping and Bel-cher singing a duet, Tanturn Ergo. As the procession left the church, escorting the Archidshop to his residence, the great chorus from Gound's "Redemption," "Unfold, Ye Portals," was sung by the The sermon was delivered by Rev. W.

Dr. Marr discussed the universal craving of mankind for happiness, stat-ing that true happiness could only be found in the spirit of Christ and and childlike innocence. The sermon was eloquently delivered and declared by many to be a masterpiece. Monsignore S. X. Elanchet, chaplain of St. Vincent's Hos-pital, occupied a position of honor near the altar during the services. The nitars were beautifully decorated with Easter Illies, smilax, hyacinths and Oregon grape, and were resplendent with ds of candles and electric lights. The altar of the Spered Heart was dece rated with Oregon grape and a profusion of red carnations, the effect being most

The music was under the direction of Professor J. Adrian Epping. The at-tendance was one of the largest ever in the cathedral, chairs being placed in the aleles and rear of the church, as well assist the gallery, wift the church, as well as in the gallery, wift the choir, to accommodate the congregation.

The contribution was received for the benefit of students studying for the priesthood in the diocese of Oregon.

The services at St. Lewrence Church, Third and Sherman streets, were unusually impressive. Large congregations attended the earlier services of the more tended the earlier services of the morning and crowded the church at 10:30 o'clock. The celebrant of the solemn high mass was Rev. Dr. Reidhoar, of Columbia University, he being assisted by Rev. Hughes, the pastor of the church, and Rev. H. D. Gartland.

The altars were exquisitely decorated with smilax, palms and more than 100 calla illies in full bloom; the many wax candles and groupings of electric lights midding brilliance to the effect. The music was of the finest ever heard in the church. the tones of the large organ blending harmoniously with the sweet voices of

That the resurrection of Christ was the inal test of his divinity and the proof of his mission on earth to establish a church by which man might be delivered from the consequences of Adam's fall, was the gist of Father Hughe's sermon. He said in part: "Human science can neither give human life nor combat death, and once the eyes are closed and the heart has ceased to beat, no human power can has ceased to beat, no human power can cause the heart to beat again. God ale who gave life and took it away, can restore it; can start the blood coursing through the arteries and veins again; light up the eyes, unkindle thought and make the corpse a living man. Christ promised that he would die and rise again, and he has fulfilled that promise. He is the only one who has raised himeelf to life." High mass was celebrated at St. Patrick's Church at 10:20 by Rev. W. R. Hogan, pastor of the church. He also delivered an eloquent sermon on "The Resurrection of Christ." The high mass was followed by the benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. The altars were beautifully decorated with Easter Illies. beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, Cregon grape, paims and emilax and were brilliantly lighted by hundreds of wax candles and miniature electric lights. The attendance was large, filling the church and crowding the floor space in the rear of the pews.

Addistributed along the choir left the corners of the gallery on either side of the corners of the gallery bannisters. The effect was very beautiful. Rev. W. B. Hollingshead, the pastor, preached an appropriate ermon. The Sunday school gave an Easter programme.

The music at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Williams avenue, Aibina, was the feature of the impressive Easter services enjoyed by one of the largest congregations which ever gathered in the audi-scrium. The choir, under the leadership of M. J. Keating, gave Weber's Mass-"Regina Coell" was sung with duet, and the famous "Allelulla" chorus was given with fine effect, leaving the large audience

At St. Francis' Church, East Eleventh and East Oak, the auditorium was crowded to the doors. First, low mass was given at $120, followed by high mass at $1220. Marzo's beautiful mass was rendered by the choir, reinforced by a string quartet. J. W. Alstock was director and Miss M. Owens presided at the organ.

All of the other Catholic churches con fucted similar Easter services, the music and decorations being of the best to be secured in the city.

In St. Mark's Episcopal Church the day began with low mass in the early morning. High mass, delivered by the rector, Rev. John E. Simpson, opened the regular morning service. The entire interior of the building was a soilid bank of illies. The altar was draped with tasteful white hangings, while potted plants lent beauty to the windows. As a warm invitation to all had been extended, the church was crowded. The processional, "Alieluia! the Strife Is O'er," from Palastrina, began the special musical service, which was as follows.

The evensong service was equally beautiful. Portions of the morning service were repeated, and Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab sang as an offertory, "Hosanna! an Easter Song," by Jules Granler. The congregation knelt to sing the vesper song "Now the Day is Over." "Now the Day Is Over."

The special music was rendered by a vested choir of men and boys, Dr. William Cumming, choirmaster; Miss Inex Cumming, organist, assisted by Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab, soprano; Miss Prehn, alto; Fred Pierce, tenox; Dr. Cumming, base.

The plain interior of Trinity chapel was transformed for the Easter services. Fragrant masses of Easter lilies were the setting for the first Easter service for this congregation outside the now demoished Trinity Church. As in the other churches, boly communion opened the celebration of the sacred day. A remark-ably beautiful service of special music had been prepared by Carl Denton, the cholemaster of the church. After the processional, "We March, We March to Victory," was sung, the order of services was as follows:

"Christ Our Passover" Schilling

There were three interesting services.

There were three interesting services in the First Christian. In the morning in the First Christian. In the morning in the First Christian. Evangelist Wilson told the story of the life of Christ until his crucifixion. There was a very large attendance. In the after-noon there was a string meeting for chil-dren, which was largely attended and full of interest. In the evening he preached upon the resurrection of Christ, and at the close of the meeting several joined the church. The singing at the evening servening serveni ice was unusually good, and songs appropriate to Easter were rendered.

Those who attended the Easter services of the Grace M. E. Church remembered the day in a substantial way. The collecthe day in a substantial way. The collec-tions gathered at both services for the church beneficences were extremely lib-eral. Special music was sung by the choir at both the morning and evening Sunday school and made a short address at the evening service. The church was at the evening service. The church was tastefully decorated with lilies, carnations and Oregon grape.

Enst Side Churches.

The East Side Episcopal churches were not behind those of the West Side in their observance of the sacred day. Services at St. David's Church were continued throughout the day. The morn-ing service was specially beautiful. The following musical programme was given:

At Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church, a very large congregation was present at the morning services, when the choir rendered come special Easter music, under leadership of E. S. Miller. The features at this church were the decoration Over 750 lilles were received from Califor e also nia. On the face of the grand organ a large cross was worked out in lilles, while mass of the profusion of lilles assembled in bouquets

> At the Sunnyside Congregational Church, 250 lilies from California were used in the decoration, and these were placed about the altar and among the evergreen. The entire services of the day were appropriate to Easter. In the evening the chorus choir rendered the Easter cantata, "The Gallican."

A very pleasing surprise was in store for the members of Mispah Presbyterian Church, Powell street, at the Easter servloss yesterday morning, and that was the beautiful pulpit, made of Oregon hard-wood, which stood on altar platform for the first time when Rev. Jerome McGlade, pastor, opened the services. It was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Preston. Com-munion was held to the communion was held in the morning, and five were received into membership. In the evening a fine mussical programme was rendered, with an address by the pastor.

BABIES IN FLATS.

Dignity of No House Sacred to Childhood.

Chicago Chronicle.

The constitutionality of a law may be doubted which undertakes to restrict a landlord in the choice of tenants. The or-dinance requiring agents, owners and proprietors not to discriminate against families blessed with children has not clear legal value, although admirable abstractly in its aim.

But if legally valid, one paragraph in the ordinance opens the door of every flat in the town to push the babes out. The mischievous paragraph must have been indited by a Machiavelli of the agent

Part of Old Swede Rock Recovered. Philadelphia North American.
Members of the Delaware Society of Colonial Dames at Wilmington, who were much exercised over the explosion last Saturday which blew to pieces the big rock where the Swedes first landed in Delaware, are relieved to learn that a large piece of the rock has been recovered. Some time ago it was decided to mark the spot, and workmen were put at work blasting out enough of the original rock to be carved into a memorial tablet. The workmen put in an overcharge of dynamite, and the explosion which followed shook the city. When the dust had cleared away it was impossible to find a piece of the rock much larger than a lump of coal.

Indignant over this the Colonial Dames held a meeting and passed resolutions condemning the workmen. All hope of marking the historic spot was abandoned but Monday a large section of the rock was found burled in the marsh along the Christiana River, several hundred feet from where the explosion occurred. The Colonial Dames were notified of the find, and sorrow was turned to joy. The stone will be carved into a memo-rial tablet, and will be dedicated on March 29. It will be placed in the yard of the McCullough Iron Company, where the original rock was situated.

John Summers, an old hotsi-keeper of St. Paul, who died auddenly a few days ago, bequeathed two-thirds of his estate, amounting to about $100,000, to the Protestant orphan asylum of this city, without conditions of any sort, the remaining one-third going to his widow.

'In the morning at breakfast I was served with a most delicious cup of coffee, which I drank with great pleasure, but I noticed my hostess watching me carefully, finally I asked for a second cup, and she burst out laughing and re-marked, 'so your folks don't like Pos-tum.' I was astonished, and said, 'this is not Postum, is it? She sent for the package in order to satisfy me, and it was exactly like the one mother had. Then I learned that our failure was caused from not boiling it long enough so when I reached home I told mother I had found a new drink for her, and went into the kitchen and made it from went into the kitchen and made it from her old package of Postum. She was so delighted with the new drink that I told her it was Postum, and it was amusing to see her perplexity. She looked at the package and read it over. At last she said: 'Alice, how did you ever do it?' I said: 'By simply following the direc-tions.' She exclaimed: 'Why, I did not know there were any directions.' No; let us thank all the gods; the peace or dignity of no flat is sacred to childhood. Where parents coop children up in flats the superficially repressed old Adam is bound to break out. Repression always produces emphasized expression.
