

LAST OF DE FALCO

Italian Murderer Kills Himself at the Penitentiary

BY CUTTING HIS THROAT

Uses the Dull Blade of a Cell Knife and Pierces the Throat

SALEM, Or., April 13.—John De Falco,

the Italian convict who was serving a life sentence at the penitentiary for killing his wife in Portland on February 26 through jealousy, ended his existence at the prison today by cutting his throat and severing his windpipe with an instrument known as a cell knife, with a blade about one-inch long.

De Falco cut his throat some time this morning, but did not die until 4 o'clock this afternoon, despite the efforts of the prison physician to save him. A doctor was summoned as soon as the deed was discovered, and sewed up the wound, but De Falco, in his determination to die, kept up a fierce struggle until he lost everything loose again and expired more from loss of blood than anything else. He had been at the prison only two weeks, and had not spoken a word to any one since his incarceration.

It is supposed that De Falco was insane. It will be remembered that he killed his wife by chopping her into pieces with a hatchet and then attempted to commit suicide by jumping from a bridge in Portland. During his incarceration in the prison De Falco was not worked in the shops, but was taken out daily for exercise. This morning a cellmate was taken out to the shops, and later the cell doors were opened for the other prisoners who were to go out for exercise. The chain guard ordered that De Falco remain in his cell and went up to investigate. He found the man sawing at his throat with the dull knife and tried in every way in his power to make him desist. Three men were required to overpower him.

PURSUIT OF McKINNEY

Several Poses on the Trail of the California Desperado.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 13.—Jim McKinney, the bandit and desperado, who has killed four men and for months defied the officers of California, Arizona, and Nevada, is now being pursued by a posse of men from the mountains. He was seen yesterday, and a fierce running battle with a posse ensued. He was thought to be wounded, but succeeded in making his escape on horseback.

This latest encounter with McKinney occurred at Fugate's ranch, on the south fork of the Kern River, three miles from Kernville. The bandit came down from the mountains early in the morning, and was headed for Linn's Valley as fast as his horse would carry him, but Deputy Sheriff McCracken and posse intercepted him and opened fire. McKinney put spurs to his horse and dashed off.

Then commenced a running battle that equaled some of the engagements of the Evans and Scott days. The posse members of the posse had instructions to shoot to kill, and McKinney knew it. As he raced away ahead of the posse he turned in the saddle and fired a bullet from his flying at the pursuers. It missed the mark. McKinney succeeded in reaching the brush and eluding his pursuers.

McKinney apparently was not wounded, and there is no question that he is surrounded or driven into a tight place, he will make a desperate fight for his life. Deputies McCracken and Warren Rankin, reinforced by James Barry, W. A. and Lee Rankin, are in pursuit. News of a battle is expected at any time. A posse left San Francisco this morning to head him off at White River or Linn's Valley. Sheriff Collins and his posse left the Handaburg country last night for Kernville overland.

McKinney's horses were seen in the vicinity of Isabella today, and McKinney is believed to be either in hiding somewhere in the vicinity or in the brush at the base of the mountains. Some believe that he is coming toward the mountains, and that a desperate attempt to leave the country by train.

Short Career of a Desperado.

PENDLETON, Or., April 13.—Word reached here yesterday of a startling episode in the life of John J. Burch, a desperado, an employe on the Oregon coast in crazy fashion and adopting Tracy-like tactics. Burch worked for E. L. McCoombs, of Monument. He obtained a wife and ammunition and a horse. A. Sweeney, the first man he met in the road, off his horse, which he took. Then he went to McCoombs' ranch. He forced H. H. Hove, and came here, and shot McCoombs down from an apple tree. Burch then fled. He then located McCoombs, who had a wife, with Burch after him, shooting. Burch shot Deputy Sheriff Murphy at Monument, and then fled. The incident Tracy swung off his horse and prepared to fight it out. Murphy shot and Burch's horse plunged so hard that it killed the animal. Burch was then landed in the Canyon City jail, and will be tried in May.

NORTHWEST DEAD.

CHARLES THEODORE HELIBORN. ASTORIA, Or., April 13.—(Special.)—Charles Theodore Heliborn, who for many years had been one of Astoria's most respected citizens, died at 9 o'clock this morning at his home during a peaceful slumber, and surrounded by his wife and family.

Mr. Heliborn, 72 years old, was born in Münster, Germany, 27 years ago, and when 2 years of age came to this country, stopping at Cincinnati. A few years later he moved to Mankato, Minn., where he engaged in the manufacture of furniture, conducting an extensive and successful business. He eventually moved to Astoria, where he was engaged in the lumber business, and was at Mankato, the Sioux Indian war that followed, serving with distinction as a Lieutenant in one of the Minnesota volunteer regiments. At the close of the war he received an honorable mention for distinguished service and bravery. In 1864 he married Miss Alma Dorcas, who survives him. In 1874 Mr. Heliborn came to Portland as superintendent of the cabinet work on the new Federal building, which was being erected in Portland at that time. Two years later he moved to Astoria with his family and established the furniture business here, which he has since conducted. During his residence here he served two terms as County Treasurer. The deceased possessed a large circle of warm, personal friends and held the confidence and respect of the entire business community. He leaves behind him a wife six children—Otto F. Miss Olga, Miss Theresa and Charles A. M. Heliborn, of the city; Mrs. Otto A. Bierbeck, of Honolulu, and Mrs. John M. Rodgers, of Portland. The funeral will be held from Grace Episcopal Church Wednesday afternoon, with the interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Dr. O. G. Chase.

HOQUIAM, April 13.—Dr. O. G. Chase died at 3:30 yesterday morning. He was 73 years old and had always been very active in politics, municipal affairs and the upbuilding of Hoquiam. He came here from Yokohama in 1899 and had since been a constant resident since. Of late years he had built many homes and early in the '90s constructed the Ogden block and what is now the City Hotel. A portion of recent years was spent with his family on the north beach, where he had a summer resort known as Chase's Sanitarium.

THE ELGIN MURDER.

Regarded There as an Unprovoked Affair.

ELGIN, Or., April 13.—(To the Editor.)—Seeing that reports are muddled in regard to the Halgarth murder of March 20, I will state the facts of the case for the benefit of the readers of your paper. Friday evening the citizens of Elgin and vicinity were terribly shocked by the news that A. M. Halgarth, a farmer and blacksmith living four miles east of Elgin, had been shot about 7 o'clock that morning by Woodson Gray, a neighbor. The crime was committed in the schoolhouse, Halgarth being one of the School Directors, where Gray's boy had been suspended the day previous. Gray said: "Yes, I am going to clear up some of them lies you told yesterday." He then began to abuse Halgarth, and told him to come out in the road; that he was fixed for him. Halgarth told him he had told no lies.

Halgarth then started to get over the fence, whereupon Gray drew his revolver and began shooting, one shot hitting Halgarth in the right breast. Halgarth then got over the fence, and grasping with Gray, succeeded in throwing him down. Gray called to his son to get his knife and kill Halgarth. The boy then cut Halgarth six times in the back and once in the arm. Halgarth got the gun from Gray, when Gray begged for his life, saying, "You have the advantage of me." Halgarth shot up, attempted to get away, but was taken from behind and held down. He was then taken to the Elgin hospital, where he died about 10 o'clock. Halgarth was a well-known and respected citizen, and his death was a great loss to the community.

Gray, after the shooting, went home, leaving his boy and another son, who was overtaken by another of his sons and persuaded to return home, where the officers awaited him. He and his son were taken to Elgin and lodged in jail until the next day, when they were taken to Union and kept until Monday, and then were kept back to Elgin for preliminary trial. They were placed under $20,000 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. Gray has the reputation of being a bad man, having made two or three demonstrations with a gun previous to this. He has done what it seems he always wanted to do—kill somebody—and will probably receive his just reward.

INVITED TO WALLA WALLA.

G. A. R. Encampment of Department of Washington and Alaska.

WALLA WALLA, April 13.—(Special.)—Owing to the vote of the council of administration as to changing the date of the G. A. R. encampment of the Department of Washington and Alaska, together with the determination of Commander R. C. Bedell, of this city, not to yield to the desire of the Spokane committee that the encampment be held in the city, the G. A. R. will not be held in Walla Walla in June, or any other date agreeable.

SEARCH FOR EGAN'S REMAINS.

Party Forming in Montana to Search the Mountains.

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont., April 13.—A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Illinois Central, has arrived here, and is organizing a party to go into the mountains and search for the remains of his brother, Benjamin Egan, formerly superintendent of the Great Northern, who became lost and perished in the region about Belton, while hunting deer last December. Egan will enlist the aid of all the oldest and most experienced mountaineers in the country. There is a standing reward of $100 offered for the recovery of Egan's remains. The party will be composed of men who are well-versed in the mountains, and will be equipped with all the necessary gear for a long and arduous journey.

BOY DRAGGED TO DEATH.

Thrown From a Horse, He Became Tangled in a Rope.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., April 13.—James Fleming, the 12-year-old son of E. G. Fleming, was thrown from a horse this morning and was dragged to death. He became tangled in a rope that was fastened to the bridle of the horse. The incident occurred while the boy was riding with his father and a friend. The horse was startled and reared, throwing the boy overboard. The boy was dragged along the ground for some distance before he was found. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Salmon Workers' Union.

ASTORIA, April 13.—(Special.)—The Salmon Workers' Union of Astoria, which was organized last Friday evening by General Organizer J. F. Welch, of the American Federation of Labor, has elected officers as follows: Michael Ludescha, president; Charles Newman, vice-president; Alf J. Gustafson, recording secretary; Henry A. Gustafson, financial secretary and treasurer. A charter has been sent for, and as soon as it arrives the work of extending the membership will be commenced. It is the intention to take in every white man connected with the business of handling or packing salmon, including the cold-storage employees and fish-buyers, with the single exception of the Chinese, who have a union of their own. As about 300 persons in Astoria and vicinity are eligible for membership.

Testing Big Defense Guns.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., April 13.—Tests of the heavy guns with which Uncle Sam has provided a triangular system of defenses on Port Townsend Bay are now in full swing, having been inaugurated at Fort Flagler late last week. Today heavy bombardment began early and continued until dusk, full practice charges of 135 pounds being used for each discharge. The series of tests, which were of 13-inch pieces today, will be continued in the entire armament of heavy and medium guns, mortars and rapid-fire batteries has been tested.

Will Locate Scandinavians.

MILES CITY, Mont., April 13.—Congressman John Lind and a party of Minnesotans arrived here today, and will traverse the country adjoining the Yellowstone River in search of a site on which will be located a colony of Scandinavians. Lind has proposed to find homes for several thousand.

Costs the Dealer More.

But Oyle suits discriminating smokers.

CANNOT HELP SWEARING

STRANGE AILMENT OF A MAN ON TRIAL AT WHATCOM.

Has No Control Over His Organs of Speech and Is Not Responsible for His Vile Language.

WHATCOM, Wash., April 13.—According to a number of prominent physicians who testified on the stand today, W. Smith has no control over his organs of speech, and is not responsible for his vile and obscene utterances on the streets, which have terrified women and children in every town in this state, which he has visited since coming here a year or more ago.

Smith admitted today, on his fourth trial for using obscene language, that he uttered the exclamations credited to him in the indictment, but gave as a defense that there was no intent, and that he was powerless to restrain himself. He was given a partial pardon, and was not to be sentenced to prison, but was to be confined to a mental hospital.

PROHIBITION NOMINEE FOR CONGRESS

W. P. ELMORE, OF BROWNVILLE, OR.

W. P. Elmore, of Brownville, Or., prohibition nominee for Congress, First District, is a native of Tennessee. He was born in Jefferson County, on February 4, 1850, came to Oregon in March, 1878, and engaged in farming and stockraising near Brownville. January 1, 1883, he was married to Mrs. Louis Carroll, who is the youngest daughter of Hon. Hugh L. Brown, a pioneer after whom Brownville was named. He moved to Eastern Oregon, near Heppner, and engaged in the sheep industry for six years. Returning to Brownville, he bought stock in the Bank of Brownville, of which institution he is now president. He was formerly a Democrat, and was elected to the Legislature as a Representative from Lin County in 1892. He left that party in 1898 and has since been active in the Prohibition cause. He was prohibition standard bearer for Congress in 1900. Brownville closed the saloons during his administration as Mayor, six years ago and continues the policy, electing on last Monday no-license men by increased majorities.

Every utterance of this kind was preceded by a hiccupping and violent and spasmodic twitching of the throat muscles.

Three prominent physicians of the city who have examined the prisoner told the court that he was suffering from paraphasia, a form of a disease more commonly known as St. Vitus's dance.

The prisoner is rational in every respect, consequently he cannot be committed to the asylum, nor can he be sent to the penitentiary. In the City of Spokane, where he resided before coming here, he says that he was arrested more than 40 times, and paid more than $1000 in fines on account of his infirmity.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

The court then ordered his examination by six physicians, and every one of these gentlemen signed a certificate, which he introduced in evidence in the trial today.

The local physicians told the Judge today that the defendant did not know what he was saying until after he heard the words uttered.

MALFEASANCE IN OFFICE

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST WATER BAILIFF MARSHALL.

Said to Have Offered to Permit Fishing Out of Season for a Consideration.

ASTORIA, April 13.—(Special.)—A formal complaint, charging Water Bailiff Marshall with malfeasance in office, was filed with Sheriff Linville, it is asserted, last Saturday. Marshall was at Clifton and made a proposition to certain fishermen that if 20 of them would pay him $5 each in advance they would be permitted to fish without molestation until the commencement of the open season. The men asked what assurance they would have that they would not be arrested by other officers and the bailiff replied that he would see that they were not. Marshall was on Gray's Harbor, Van Dusen was on the McKenna River, and they need not fear the Oregon City men, as he understood the arrangement. The fishermen refused to put up the money, and the bailiff then went to another man, who is not a fisherman, and offered him $10 if he would make the proposed arrangement with the fishermen. The man declined to have anything to do with the affair, and immediately reported the matter to Sheriff Linville, who says he will prefer charges against Marshall in the Circuit Court unless the State Fish authorities take action at once. An investigation of the charges is certain to be made and some sensational developments are expected to follow. It is asserted that Marshall has been observing the closed season it is notorious that on the middle river fishing has been in progress for some time, and that during the past few weeks, and rumors have been plentiful that some of the officers were "standing in."

CANTHAGE, Mo., April 13.—Colonel Phelps reached here yesterday after being absent since March 1, most of the time in Arizona, with his invalid daughter. He said:

"I have never been served with a subpoena, though one was sent here for me some days ago. If one was issued for me today in St. Louis, I know nothing of it, and it will be time enough when I am served to answer as to what I will do. I do not leave St. Louis Saturday."

RIGHT TO SEPARATE.

Mutual Agreement Without Legal Divorce Voted in Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 13.—The State Supreme Court today handed down an important decision involving the right of a husband and wife to enter an agreement of separation and without legal divorce being granted, thereby defeating the widow's right to dower in her husband's estate. The Supreme Court reversed the decision of the District Court, and held that such an agreement is against public policy and void, and even if it is a legal contract in Georgia, where the agreement was entered into, it cannot be enforced in Utah, as it is in violation of the public policy of the latter state.

The action was brought by the heirs of W. D. Palmer, deceased, against Mrs. Ida M. Palmer, the widow. Valuable property in this city and in Atlanta, Ga., is involved.

New Methodist Parsonage.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 13.—(Special.)—A contract for the building of a new parsonage for the Methodist Episcopal Church will be let this week. The contract price will not exceed $2500. It will be located on the lot just in the rear of the church north, and it is expected to be one of the most beautiful homes in the city. Much of the success of this move is attributed to the work of Rev. E. J. Todd, the pastor, who has worked for this for a year or more. The present parsonage has been sold, and the proceeds will go into the new building. The church itself has been improved during the past year at an expense of more than $1000. The church is decidedly prosperous.

Astoria Court Notes.

ASTORIA, April 13.—(Special.)—At this afternoon's session of the Circuit Court P. J. Lynch and Theodore Tobolsen, indicted on the charge of kidnapping, were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Their trial was set for Thursday, April 20. The men are accused of abducting Charles Gardner on board a ship bound for South Africa.

Lyman Way, indicted on the charge of the larceny of two horses, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for June 23 and his bonds were fixed at $200.

Idaho's First Sugar Factory.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 13.—A party of Salt Lake business men left tonight for Idaho Falls, Idaho, where they will participate in the celebration attending the laying of the cornerstone of Idaho's first sugar factory tomorrow. An elaborate programme has been prepared, including addresses by Governor Morrison, Idaho, President Joseph G. Smith, of this city; Hon. William E. Borah and others. Business will be entirely suspended throughout the day at Idaho Falls.

Thirty Years for Train Robbery.

BUTTE, Mont., April 13.—George Howard, alias Joe Kirby, convicted of taking part in the hold-up of the Burlington express near Homestead, was today sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary. The extreme penalty for the crime, 29 years, but the ten extra years were added under the prior conviction act.

Farm Dwelling Burned.

AURORA, Or., April 13.—(Special.)—The farm dwelling of George S. Smith, about three miles east from Aurora, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday evening. The house was rented to William Kielling, who lost all of his household goods. There was $200 insurance on the dwelling.

Kelleher Brought to Portland.

ASTORIA, April 13.—(Special.)—Weather Observer Kelleher, of the North Head Signal Station, who recently had his leg injured, was taken to a Portland hospital.

Try Pearline for washing Blankets

it saves at every point

Coarse things easily washed

by delicate women. Fine things safely

By saying most of the Pearline saves most of the wear.

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE

PEARLINE