

"INS" TO HOLD ON

Minor Federal Jobs Under Civil Service.

SAD BLOW TO HON. BILL BANKS

He Can't Get That Job and the Battered Barn May After All Rear Its Unslightly Front Before Him.

The new Civil Service rules put in effect by the President last Wednesday will shut out many gentlemen who aspire or who hunger for office. Recently there has been a fierce scramble between a number of estimable gentlemen for minor jobs in the Federal service, such as those of Deputy District Attorney and Assistant Postmaster in Portland. The new rules will end that scramble and will make the "ins" exceedingly glad and the "outs" exceedingly sad.

By the new rules Edwin May, at present the Deputy District Attorney, will be retained in office whether Brownell or Cleveland succeeds to the attorneyship. By the new rules all pledges made to William Wallace Banks by Senator Fulton are set at naught so far as Mr. Banks' aspirations for appointment as Deputy District Attorney. May was greatly rejoiced when he heard the glad tidings yesterday, and jumped so high that he almost struck the ceiling. When Banks scrambled aboard the Fulton hand wagon at the last minute of the "last night" of the Legislature he declared that he was determined to go to his heart's choice even though he and his wife were after should have to live in a barn.

The new rules prescribe that the "classified service" shall include officers and employees in the Executive Civil Service of the United States. The rules also provide that after appointed or employed, in positions now existing or hereafter to be created, of whatever function or designation, whether compensated by a fixed salary or otherwise, except persons employed merely as laborers and persons whose appointments are subject to confirmation by the Senate.

CAMPAIGN SOON TO OPEN.

Democrats Will Make Vigorous War in First District.

Democrats are going to open their campaign in the First district very soon, perhaps next week. Sam E. Lathrop, chairman of the State Central Committee, and of the executive committee of the district, is expected to arrive from Baker City in a day or two. He will fire the first Democratic shot, probably from the Democratic headquarters at Eugene. Eugene will probably be the citadel of Democracy in the district, partly because of its good hotel accommodations and partly because of its central location. The party will send its orators after Hermann into every nook and cranny of the district. The names of the speakers are Chamberlain, H. D. Fry, of Salem; C. V. Galloway, of McMinnville; Alex. Sweek, of Portland; Sam White and his candidate, A. E. Reams. The executive committee has one member from each of the 17 counties, who will manage the campaign in their respective localities. E. W. Montague, of Portland, is secretary of the committee, but J. E. Lathrop, of Portland, has been named by Sam White as assistant secretary and will do the active work of secretary in the district.

PIM GETS FOUR MONTHS

Old Man Sentenced for Theft of Trunk and 120 Pennies.

Because he appropriated another person's trunk and 120 in pennies from a child's bank, an elderly man named W. H. Pim will spend the next four months in the County Jail. The case came before Municipal Judge Hogue yesterday. Mrs. Thomas Smiley, of Tacoma, was a passenger from The Dalles when the steamer Regulator arrived in the city last Saturday night, and the trunk check also carried No. 34. W. H. Pim was also a passenger, unknown to Mrs. Smiley, and his baggage consisted of a roll of blankets, the number of his check being No. 18. Pim asked to get his check to an expressman and Mrs. Smiley's trunk was handed to him by mistake. He saw that he had received some other person's property, but instead of correcting the error, he took the trunk, took from it a child's bank containing $1.20, and sold the trunk to a dealer for $1. In the meantime, Mrs. Smiley was anxiously searching for her trunk, and ultimately lodged a claim for $50 damages against the company owning the steamer. Detectives Kerrigan and Show were placed on the case, and they located the missing trunk in a second-hand store along Front street, where it had been placed by Pim. The latter's arrest followed. "I look at this trunk merely to get even," declared Pim, yesterday. "I meant no harm by it."

WORK ON FIRST STREET

Contract for New Pavement to Be Let Today.

Property owners on First street are pleased to know that the contract for improving that street from Stark to Madison with wood blocks treated with carbolicum will, without doubt, be let today. The present pavement of untreated wood blocks has been down about five years, and is in rather a dilapidated condition. A majority of the property owners petitioned for a new pavement of the treated wood blocks, after seeing how well the treated blocks on Fourth street have stood the wear and tear for the year they have been down, and with the understanding that the city will accept the pavement as good for ten years. The street railway companies will improve their right of way on the street and replace the present tracks with long heavy grooved rails, so that they will not be such a nuisance to teamsters as the

PRESENT TRACKS ARE WITH THE RUTS WORN ALONG SIDE OF THEM.

Mr. Russell & Blyth, while on a visit to Great Britain, will investigate the various kinds of wood block pavements in use in the large cities there, and the different methods of treating them, and will report to City Engineer Elliott on his return. It is probable that the Executive Board will also let contracts today for the improvement of Alder street from Sixth to Lowlandside with asphalt.

It is intended that Morrison street and Washington street, as well as Alder, Third street and Seventh, and Sixth and Ninth, shall all have good asphalt pavements before long, and a little improvement on Fifth street will make it a fine street.

POLICEMEN ON THE CARPET

Commissioners Investigate Charges Against Patrolmen.

Complaints have been made against Police-men Welsh, Quilton, Johnson and two other policemen whose names are given at a meeting held yesterday by the police committee of the Executive Board, but no decision was arrived at until the policemen's side of the stories are heard. The whole of the charges may be summarized as follows: The resignation of Policeman H. H. Parker was accepted, and ex-Policeman Dan Conners was recommended to fill the vacancy. A communication was received by the committee from Thomas G. Mills, proprietor of the Standard Hotel, complaining that Policeman Axel C. Welch had forcibly dragged him from the hotel. Bermin's report had humiliated him. Mr. Mills wrote that he had gone to the depot to return a baggage check he had found.

Chief of Police Hunt reported that a policeman had given a receipt on an occasion when a man accused another man of robbing him, yet the policeman did not make the arrest. The policeman's excuse was that the victim refused to sign a charge. The accused man has since been arrested. General Beebe remarked that while he was on his way home after attending a reception given by General Fustler at Vancouver, he stepped into a cigar store early yesterday morning and found a policeman seated on a chair telling yarns with the proprietor of the place, instead of the receipt given by the policeman. The policeman admitted that he was then on duty.

J. V. W. MONTAGUE DEAD

Well-Known Business Man Stricken With Heart Failure.

J. V. W. Montague, of the firm of Montague & King, died suddenly last evening of heart failure. Sitting in his chair, talking to the family of his son, R. W. Montague, his head fell back, a sign of instant death. Mr. Montague's death was entirely unexpected, as he had been in average health up to the very moment of his death. He left two sons and two daughters. Mrs. R. B. Lamson and Miss Carrie R. Montague. The sons are James J. Montague, of New York, and R. W. Montague, of Portland. Mrs. Montague died some years ago. A member of the firm of Montague & King, Mr. Montague has been well known in the business world of Portland for the past 12 years. He was born in Keene, N. H., in September, 1831, and came to Portland from Iowa in the early '60s. Mr. Montague was a trustee of the First Unitarian Church and a prominent and respected man in business and church affairs. His son, James J. Montague, was for several years connected with The Oregonian, and is now on the editorial staff of the New York American. A telegram was immediately sent him last night apprising him of his father's death, but it is not expected that he will be able to come from New York to attend the funeral. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made, but it is probable that the funeral will be held tomorrow.

QUAINT CHARACTERS.

St. Lawrence Dramatic Club Will Present "Down East" April 21.

Those who have been fortunate enough to have seen that sterling character comedy, "Down East," will admit that it made a lasting impression. The many quaint characters, brimful of homely humor, keep the audience in the most delightful frame of mind from the rise to the fall of the curtain. True stage pictures of every-day characters found in the villages of Eastern States make "Down East" one of the principal dramatic comedies of the present time. The St. Lawrence Dramatic Club, one of the best theatrical organizations in this city, will present this delightful play on the 21st inst. at the Grand Hotel. The advance sale of seats the house will be crowded. The cast is very strong, every part being placed in capable hands. Numerous rehearsals will insure perfection to the minutest detail. An evening of true enjoyment is promised to those who attend the performance. The following ladies and gentlemen are in the cast: Lois Langford, Kate Schindler, Flora Joseph, Joseph Driscoll, Edward Murphy, Gerald Kavanaugh, Charles Alphonse, Andrew Cain and Ed Brennan.

GUS ROUTH UNDER ARREST

Charged With Selling Liquor Without a License.

Gus Routh, who formerly conducted a saloon under the notorious Cosmopolitan at Third street, near Everett, was before Municipal Judge Hogue yesterday charged with selling liquor without a license, on the complaint of Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald, and was held in $200 bail for a further hearing April 21.

There is a peculiar story back of the case. J. W. Marshall was recently fined $10 by Municipal Judge Hogue charged with selling liquor without a license, and pending an appeal to a higher court, he is now out on bail. Mr. Fitzgerald has information showing that Marshall really had been engaged to run a saloon for Routh on Third street. License Inspector McEachern allowed the saloon to run, thinking that the City Council would grant Marshall a license in a few days. But Councilman "Fleg" happened to be passing just then, and he demanded why the place was allowed to be open for business. In the investigation that followed, Mr. Fitzgerald discovered that Routh was behind the scheme and the arrest followed.

Paying Their Assessments.

Property owners are paying in their assessments for the widening of Vancouver avenue between Morris and Alberta streets, and when all have paid steps may be taken to have the street improved. The widening makes Vancouver avenue uniformly 60 feet wide and puts it in shape for improvement whenever the property owners desire to have it done. Purify your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla which will give you an appetite.

TO TEST FIREMEN'S NERVE

MUST CLIMB DIZZY LADDERS AND RUN SPEEDY DASH.

Chief Campbell Will Head His Men in the Physical Examination Under Civil Service.

Not only must the firemen run 90 yards in 15 seconds as did the patrolmen, but they must climb ladders hand over hand, carry a 90-pound weight up another ladder, and jump from the dizzy heights of a second-story window into life-line. Chief Campbell is to lead the procession which is to take the athletic tests under the Civil Service regulations. The entire fire department, except the engineers, will participate in the athletic feats which will be held about May 1. After a lengthy discussion as to marking, relative merits of the different tests, and so forth, the Civil Service Commission at its meeting last evening, decided that the firemen are to pass three of five prescribed tests in order to be eligible to a place in the department. The only part of the examination upon which the Commission insists is that of carrying the Babcock extinguisher to a second-story window.

"If a man can't carry a Babcock that far he can't be a fireman," said Chief Campbell. The members of the Commission relied upon the Chief's word for this and accordingly made their decision absolute. The physical tests are as follows: carrying a Babcock extinguisher, weighing 90 pounds, to a second-story window, 30 feet from the ground; ascending and descending the aerial ladder run up to 70 feet; jumping into a life-net from a second-story window; climbing five rungs of a ladder hand over hand, up and down; running 90 yards in 15 seconds. The Babcock test was made compulsory because it is something which every fireman may be called upon to do at any moment. When a small fire is discovered in the upper floors of a building, the Chief calls to the men below to bring up the Babcock extinguisher, and in many cases this can only be done by climbing the ladder. The extinguisher, which is strapped to the back of the carrier, is a bulky instrument weighing 90 pounds.

The nerve test is that of the mechanism of a hook and ladder truck and is operated from a turntable in the bed of the vehicle. Though supposed to do a fairly safe, it is a somewhat hair-raising performance for a greenhorn to feel the ladder sway under him when at a height of 70 feet. The men of the department are so used to it that they do it almost every man now in the department can pass them.

Much latitude is allowed by the tests as given by the Commission. It was the original intention to allow so much latitude for each of the tests, placing that of carrying the Babcock extinguisher at 20. As it was difficult to arrange the other marks so that an applicant might fall on the aerial ladder and still be the whole marking system was abandoned. Instead the applicant must take the Babcock test and any two of the other.

"We don't want to shut out any man because he cannot climb five rungs of a ladder hand over hand, or another man because he cannot run 90 yards in 15 seconds," was the chorus heard at the meeting. "And gentlemen," said the Chief, "if you make the tests too hard the boys will say that they are required to do a lot more than the patrolmen. I understand, of course, that a fireman should be more of an athlete than a policeman."

Part of the test will probably be held in the gymnasium of the Multnomah Club. When it will take place is a matter as yet undecided. "Near the first of May, but perhaps in April," said P. L. Willis. Chief Campbell will be the first man to go over the ladders and through the entire test. "The men can't refuse to try them," said the Chief. The Commission appointed Mr. Campbell the chief examiner of the occasion. He asked that at least one member of the Commission be present to judge of his performance.

The Chief did not think that the speed test would trouble the fire-ladders to any extent. "Why, of course, they can do it," the Mayor said he would be willing to bet he could do it himself," said he. As Mayor Williams was not present to contradict this statement of his speed it remained unquestioned. The Commission wishes any one who has positive evidence as to the immoral character of any man in either the fire or police department to come before the Commission and give it openly, or to forever hold his peace.

"People meet us privately and tell us of horrible things which policemen and firemen have done, but when it comes to making a sworn statement it is another thing," said C. W. Hodson. "Why, a man sat in that chair the other day and told me of all kinds of crimes, but when committed by members of the department I tried to get the names of those he indirectly accused but then he backed out. If, however, the man whom he thinks are guilty get places under the Commission, he will tell every one what a lot of corrupt men we have in the city's employ. When charges are brought against a man he will know very little. In one or two cases applicants have ready got into trouble and we will ask their vouchers to come before us and tell why they swore to the moral character of such men."

TURNED THE TABLES.

Man Who Accused a Woman of Assault Is Fined.

Mrs. L. D. Reed, of Ninth street near Couch street, and was held in $200 bail for a further hearing April 21. The Commission wishes any one who has positive evidence as to the immoral character of any man in either the fire or police department to come before the Commission and give it openly, or to forever hold his peace. "People meet us privately and tell us of horrible things which policemen and firemen have done, but when it comes to making a sworn statement it is another thing," said C. W. Hodson.
