HAS REAMES SHOW?

Governor Chamberlain Thinks Democrat May Win.

CAN OVERCOME PLURALITY

Because of Hermann's Poor Standing With the Administration—Believes Democratic Plank Will Receive Popular Support.

SALEM, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—"I believe Mr. Reames has a good chance of winning," said George E. Chamberlain, the Democratic Governor of Oregon, when he was asked today what he thought of the Congressional contest in the First District. "I notice that Mr. Hermann's friends are counting upon a Republican plurality of some 7000 votes, and they say that a Democratic candidate cannot overcome this enormous plurality. It is true that Mr. Tongue was elected by 7000 plurality, but I do not believe that the normal Republican plurality is more than 2000. This advantage the Democrats can overcome.

"In the first place, there is wide dissatisfaction among Republicans over the nomination of Mr. Hermann. I would not undertake to discuss the merits of the controversy between the ex-Land Commissioner and his superiors at Washington, but I can see that the people feel that to send Mr. Hermann to Congress would be a rebuke to the Administration. Whether Mr. Hermann was right or wrong, it is apparent from his enforced resignation from the Land Office that he is persona non grata with the Administration. It will be argued in his favor that to send a Democrat to Congress would be a rebuke to the Administration, but I believe the voters of the First District will be of the opinion that to send Mr. Hermann would be a direct slap at President Roosevelt and his Secretary of the Interior, and to leave Mr. Hermann at home would be an indorsement of the Administration. I think the people generally, without regard to the merits of Hermann's troubles at Washington, take this view of the situation.

"Then, again, a very large number of Republicans are firm believers in tariff revision. President Roosevelt has been an advocate of tariff revision until recently, when he seems to have been persuaded to accede to the wishes of some of the party leaders. The Republican party is now opposed to revision, while the Democrats favor it. The platform adopted by the Congressional convention at Albany last Saturday contained this plank:

"There is an overwhelming demand from a vast majority of the people for a revision of the tariff along rational lines. We repudiate the absurd proposition of continuing high protection on the products of gigantic trusts, now grown plethoric with wealth under governmental favors.

"This is a doctrine which has the support of large numbers of good Republicans. We do not ask for absolute free trade, but for a revision of the tariff, which would mean free trade as to certain trust-made articles which are now needlessly protected. The only National issue in this Congressional contest is the revision of the tariff. The people are in favor of revision and the only way they can make their wishes known is by voting the Democratic ticket. In voting that ticket they will be indorsing the views long entertained by President Roosevelt and always entertained by the Democratic party, and will be rebuking those Republicans who have permitted the trusts to influence National legislation.

"From any point of view, I believe Mr. Reames has a strong advantage in this campaign and if the fight is well conducted he should win. If a choice is to be made between two men, I believe the people of the First District will secure a Representative who can get the most recognition from the Administration if they select Mr. Reames. If the choice is to be made between two platforms, I believe the people will most clearly express their opinion upon the live political questions if they vote the Democratic ticket. I do not expect that any considerable number of Republicans are to be converted into Democrats, but I believe that a very considerable number will vote for a Democratic candidate who represents their opinions and desires rather than for a Republican candidate who does not."

PRESBYTERY OF WILLAMETTE.

Elects Commissioners to General Assembly to Meet at Los Angeles.

BROWNSVILLE, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—The Presbytery of Willamette gathered again in the Presbyterian Church at 9:30 A. M. yesterday. After the reading of the minutes, Rev. W. H. Holt, D. D., and Rev. J. V. Milligan, of Portland, and Rev. W. M. Covert, from the Presbytery of Solomon, Kan., were invited to sit as corresponding members.

Rev. Robert Twead, from the Presbytery of Highland, Kan., and Rev. Robert Ennis, from the Presbytery of Southern Oregon, were received as members.

Rev. L. A. Tchorigian was dismissed to the Presbytery of East Oregon, and Rev. J. M. McComb was dismissed to the Presbytery of Arizona.

Standing committees were appointed by the moderator. A commission was appointed to visit La Fayette and look into the situation with the view of dissolving the church there. Another commission was appointed to visit Deadwood to take steps to dissolve the church organization. A committee was appointed to visit Liberty and report on the condition of the church there.

The call from the Woodburn Church for the pastoral services of the Rev. Lewis M. Anderson was laid on the table until he comes from the East and connects himself with the presbytery.

At the afternoon session Rev. D. M. Davenport was elected commissioner to the general assembly, to meet in Los Angeles, Cal., in May, with Rev. J. E. Snyder alternate. Elder William Riddle, of Independence, was elected the elder commissioner to the general assembly, and Elder John Moir, of Salem, as alternate. The moderator was ordered to fill vacancies on the foreign mission committee.

It was arranged to hold the next meeting of the presbytery at Independence.

SALOONS MUST CLOSE SUNDAY.

And Gambling Must Cease Entirely in Lewis County.

CHEHALIS, Wash., April 15.—(Special.)—Sunday saloons and gambling in Lewis County must cease at once. Today County Attorney Langhorne and Sheriff Henry Urquhart issued a letter signed by each of them, and directed to every city saloon-keeper in Lewis County, as follows:

"The question concerning the opening of saloons on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, has reached such a stage that we deem it best for all concerned that in the hereafter all saloons must remain permanently closed on Sunday; closing to take place promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night. We therefore caution you against the opening of your saloon on Sunday and trust that this caution will be heeded so that it will not be necessary to make any further arrests on account of violation of the Sunday law relative to the opening of saloons on that day. Further, we notify you that gambling in any form or shape must cease at once. Remove all gambling tables, tools and implements of every kind upon receipt of this notice."

Attorney Langhorne says that Sheriff Urquhart and himself found that about a good third of their time had been taken up by arresting saloon-keepers on complaints for violating the laws referred to. The cases have cost the county hundreds of dollars for jury fees, etc., and the cheapest and best method for the interests of the taxpayers is to stop the business in every town in the county.

MORE POWER FROM SANTIAM.

Will Give Albany Increased Light and Power Service.

ALBANY, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—The Albany Canal & Water Company, which recently purchased the electric lighting plant in Albany, has completed arrangements for making extensive improvements in the plant. The work will be under the supervision of S. R. Inch, an expert electrical engineer from Montana, who is already on the ground. The power-house will be moved and the new structure will be much larger and more stable. The new location will give an additional fall of 12 feet to the water from the Santiam Canal, thus increasing the power about 25 per cent.

A new 300-horsepower Corliss engine has been purchased, and a 150-horsepower generator of the alternating current polyphase type will be installed. The street-lighting system will be entirely changed. The present system will be supplanted by what is known as the alternating constant current series system, using inclosed arc lamps.

The most important phase of the proposed change is the 24-hour service. Heretofore Albany has had no electric power during the day time. Those industries not situated on the water front have been forced to use steam for power, and the puff of gasoline engines can be heard on any of the principal business streets. The electric lighting service will be largely improved and power will be available for any factories that may be established.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO POSTOFFICE.

Removal of Postal Headquarters Much Noticed at Salem.

SALEM, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—The center of travel in Salem changed today when the postoffice was removed to the new Federal building. All mail deliveries were made today from the new office. Yesterday all streets led to the old postoffice building on Commercial street; today they lead to the new building in the center of the block bounded by State, Church, Court and Cottage streets. While the new location is a little removed from the ordinary business center, it is more convenient for the general public. Postmaster Hirsch and his assistants moved their equipment to the new building after office hours last night, and were ready to serve the public as usual this morning. Aside from the trouble of changing box keys, the removal occasioned no inconvenience whatever. The people of Salem are rejoicing today over the completion of the structure.

Only two rooms in the second floor of the building are occupied. One of these will be used by clerks and carriers as a reading-room while off duty, and the other will be used by the Civil Service examiner.

There are several large office rooms on that floor that may be used by any Federal officers who may be assigned to offices here.

WILL RECEIVE DEATH SENTENCE.

Zidmair Murdered His Partner and Concealed Body in Sawdust.

LIVINGSTON, Mont., April 16.—(Special.)—A special to the Record says: Martin Zidmair was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in this city at 8:17 o'clock tonight and will receive his death sentence Monday morning, April 27, at 10 o'clock. He was found guilty of killing George Rieder, April 10, 1900, and concealing the body. The two men were at one time in the sawmill business together, but quarreled and afterward had frequent altercations. The last quarrel was about a canthook, and Rieder is said to have grasped an ax, when Zidmair shot him dead with a rifle. The body was buried in sawdust but afterward Wiedenbaur, who helped conceal it, confessed. Zidmair's plea was self-defense, and he alleged that Rieder had ruined his daughter and afterward was the indirect cause of his wife's committing suicide.

Small Wreck on Southern Pacific.

SALEM, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—Freight train No. 222, collided with the rear of freight No. 226 in this city this afternoon. No one was hurt and the only damage done was the smashing of the caboose and one flat car of No. 226, and the breaking of the pilot on the engine of train 222. Both trains were northbound.

When the last train came slowly in Engineer D. Fish applied the air brakes and was about to step from his train when the train ahead started and the rear brakeman signalled him to proceed. He released the air and when the train ahead suddenly stopped he had not sufficient air to stop his own train.

The accident occurred at the exact spot where Fireman Silas Fish, a son of Engineer Fish, was killed about a year ago when his engine ran into a half-open switch.

Deposits in the two National banks of Walla Walla, Wash., at the close of business April 9 last totaled the sum of $2,236,888.84, as compared with the total of $2,282,495.79 February 6, 1903, a decrease in total deposits of $55,606.95 during that period. The reason assigned for the decrease is the withdrawal of money to be expended in crop production.

Construction of the $100,000 plant of the Walla Walla Gas & Electric Light Company, on the south fork of the Walla Walla River will commence within 30 days. It is the intention of the company to supply not only Walla Walla with power and light, but also the Oregon cities of Pendleton, Athena, Adams and Weston. Sixty-five miles of high-voltage wire will be used in transmitting the electric fluid from the plant to the several cities.

SISKIYOU MINE BOUGHT

PATSY CLARK INTERESTED IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Development Means Much for Industry in Southern Oregon—May Become Great Copper Center.

JACKSONVILLE, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—It is reported here on good authority that the Elliott Creek copper property, in the Siskiyous, near the state line, southwest of Ashland, and owned by Crescent City, Cal., people, has been sold to Patsy Clark, a Spokane mining operator, for $210,000, of which $65,000 is paid down, the balance to be paid in installments. The property is said to be one of the finest copper properties on the Coast, and has had some development work done on it.

The new owner will begin at once to develop the mine with a crew of 50 men working in three eight-hour shifts. A daily stage line will be put into operation by Mr. Clark between Jacksonville and his newly acquired property as soon as the stock and coaches can be provided.

While these mines are located in California, they are practically in Southern Oregon. Joe Creek, on which the claims lie, empties into Elliott Creek, and this in turn flows into Applegate River, all of which head on the north slope of the Applegate and flow down and across Josephine County. The only means of reaching the mines is from this side, a good wagon road leading to them along the Applegate from Grant's Pass. The mines cover some 320 acres or more. The region, though isolated, is a rich and promising one, and for several months past has been the scene of great mining activity. Copper is the principal metal, and the bodies of this that have been uncovered in the several claims being opened are said to surpass in richness and extent the famous veins of the Iron Mountain and other Shasta mines farther north and just over the divide of the Siskiyous. In fact, it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Joe and Elliott-Creek deposits and those of Waldo, across the line, are a part of the Shasta copper belt.

There are 16 claims in the properties purchased by Patsy Clark. On some of these considerable development work has been done. The ledges range from six to 20 feet in width and carry values in both copper and gold. The average copper values are about 9 per cent, with from $3 to $6 a ton gold. It is the intention of Mr. Clark to operate his newly acquired properties on an extensive scale. Each and all of the claims are to be thoroughly and systematically opened up. Following this, large smelters will be put in and the mines worked as extensively as those father south. To do this will require a railroad into the district, as the present means of hauling in coke and hauling out matte by wagon over bad mountain roads is far too inadequate for anything but a very small property. A railroad will necessarily have to be built into the district. Already speculation is being made as to the probable route of this line. That it will connect with the Southern Pacific goes without saying, unless it should make connections with the proposed Oregon & Pacific, which gives promise of opening up a new route from here to San Francisco.

With the opening up of these immense copper properties, those of the Waldo Smelting & Mining Company, those of the Preston Peak Company, and those of the Mountainview Copper Company, all of which mines are situated in virtually the same or adjoining districts, Southern Oregon will become the greatest copper center in the world. They are all enormous propositions, and will necessarily move slowly; nevertheless, all are preparing for work, all are shaping themselves for the beginning of business, all are arranging for railroad connections with the main market centers, all are to be developed and equipped with smelters and worked on a mammoth scale, all present vast bodies of high-grade copper ore, and all are managed by men of means and enterprise.

CONNOR WAS INSUBORDINATE.

So Commander Bedell Has Removed Him From Council.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 16.—(Special.)—The most critical stage of the controversy over the change of the dates of the annual encampment of the Department of Washington and Alaska, G. A. R., was tonight reached, when Commander B. C. Bedell, of this city, announced that he had notified Charles R. Connor, a Spokane member of the elective council of administration, of his removal. "Unsolicited legal advice and other good causes and reasons" are assigned by the commander for Connor's removal. His successor will be named in department orders to be issued soon.

The commander today received the announcement from Abraham Garl, of Burlington, a member of the elective council of five, that he had changed his vote in favor of no change in date. This leaves the elective council tied, with the deciding vote in the person of Bedell's appointee, who will be in sympathy with him and opposed to any change. It is almost a certainty, said Commander Bedell tonight, that the encampment will not be held during President Roosevelt's visit to Spokane.

Shaniko and the Smallpox.

SHANIKO, Or., April 14.—(To the Editor.)—We, the undersigned citizens of Shaniko do hereby certify that the articles appearing in The Morning Oregonian of April 10 and 13, regarding smallpox in Shaniko are not true facts, and that existing conditions have been greatly exaggerated and misrepresented. Our local physician, Dr. S. L. Perkins, did not, to our knowledge, treat the first case for poison oak, or say that the patient had poison oak. He notified the city authorities that the disease was smallpox, and immediate steps were taken to quarantine and prevent the spread of the disease.

The patient did not die within three days, as reported, but died on the seventh day after Dr. Perkins was called to attend him. Dr. Perkins has worked hard to get the epidemic under control and his services have been very satisfactory to the citizens.

PRINEVILLE CASES ARE ON THE ROAD TO RECOVERY.

Quarantine Closely Observed—Dr. Hutchinson Scores Mail Clerk for Nondelivery of Vaccine Points.

PRINEVILLE, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of the State Board of Health, who has come here to investigate the alleged smallpox epidemic, today made the following statement:

"The situation at Prineville is improving steadily. No new cases have been reported for the last ten days and all the original cases except one are running a favorable course, two cases being practically well—little Miss Boyd and Mrs. Smith. The one exception is Mr. Dilion, who died on the 15th. His case was practically hopeless at the start. The other four cases are doing well.

"There are three good nurses in attendance, and the quarantine is closely observed. The school children have been vaccinated and general vaccination is in progress. This would have been completed by now had it not been for the criminal stupidity of the mail clerk on the O. R. & N. train arriving at Biggs, who failed to deliver mail for Shaniko and other points including Prineville. This mail contained our only hope of vaccine points, of which we were entirely destitute. The incident will be investigated by the State Board of Health and the guilty parties punished as they deserve."

ONE DEATH FROM DISEASE.

Athletic Young Man Falls Swift Victim.

PRINEVILLE, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Howard Dilion, of Prineville, died of smallpox. On the 5th of the present month he took active part in a game of baseball, and Monday, the 6th, complained of being ill. The next day, Tuesday, he went to bed and on Wednesday broke out with some kind of disease, which, at that time, was not known to be smallpox. He was, however, taken to the public shelter and all that was possible done for him without avail.

Dilion was a native of California and about 24 years old. He came to Prineville in 1885, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leander Dilion. The unfortunate young man was a fine specimen of physical manhood and always first to take part in anything of an active nature. He was also a member of Reserve Hose Company, No. 2, volunteer fire department of this city, and leaves a large number of friends in this community.

The situation here is unchanged except patients are not getting along as well as it was hoped they would.

CREAMERIES RUN OUT.

Forest Grove's Condensed Milk Factory Gets the Business.

HILLSBORO, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—The condensed milk factory at Forest Grove has won its first big victory in this county, and close observers now have no hesitancy in saying that the advantage is to be a permanent one. The Farmington creamery, one of the finest in the county, and having the largest patronage of any of the creameries on the West Side, yesterday struck its colors to the new concern, and voted to close the institution for the season. The Blooming creamery will not resume, this stand being burned down a few weeks ago. Other county creameries are small, and it is confidently asserted that only those specially enjoying favored localities, will survive the onslaught of the Forest Grove and Glencoe factories.

The Forest Grove factory is now hauling milk a distance of 14 miles, and its wagons are running to every accessible neighborhood. Milk is hauled for 5 cents per hundred weight, and $1.35 per 100 pounds is the prevailing price paid for 4 per cent milk.

SALMON ARE SMALL.

But the Quality Is Excellent and Quantity Great.

ASTORIA, Or., April 15.—(Special.)—The delivery of fish to the canneries last night and today was much greater than on the corresponding days of last season, and every cannery on the river was in operation. This makes an excellent outlook, and with the prospect of cooking fish every day from the opening of the season an unusual condition is presented, as this early it has been customary to cook fish not oftener than every other day.

The amount of gear already in the water is small and does not represent over 30 per cent of the gillnetters, while the traps and seines have done nothing yet. The salmon are very small, not averaging over 10 or 12 pounds, but their quality is of the highest, as is customary this early in the season.

Lynch and Tobiason on Trial.

ASTORIA, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—The trial of Paddy J. Lynch and Theodore Tobiason, on the charge of kidnaping, was called in the Circuit Court this morning, and the whole session until the noon adjournment was consumed in the selection of a jury. The jurors selected were:

T. B. Morrison, Chris Schmidt, R. Basel, H. F. Coffey, Andrew Birch, J. F. Bartoldus, John Hanson, G. P. Parker, F. E. Wright, C. P. Looney, S. D. Adair and B. F. Allen.

The taking of testimony was commenced this afternoon, and will probably not be concluded before tomorrow. The specific charge against Lynch is that about the middle of March he shanghaied Charles W. Gardner, on board the British ship Foyledale, bound from this port for Chile. The charge against Tobiason is that he signed Gardner's name to the ship's articles.

Dropped Dead on Street.

ASTORIA, Or., April 16.—(Special.)—Edward Segerstrom, a local saloonkeeper, dropped dead on the street while on the way home, about midnight. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, under the auspices of the Red Men, with the interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Opium Smuggling in Montana.

HAVRE, Mont., April 16.—Government officials believe they have unearthed the first case of opium smuggling brought to light on this section of the border line in many months. John Teges, employed in Harlem, 14 miles east of here, as a barber, is alleged to have been caught in the act of conveying 50 pounds of the drug to a friend in Great Falls. It is said smuggling has been carried on in the vicinity across the Canadian line for some time.

Affections of men, commonly described as "weakness," according to our observations, are not such, but depend upon reflex disturbances, and are almost invariably induced or maintained by appreciable damage to the Prostate Gland. Under our local plan of treatment, directed toward reducing the enlarged and swollen Prostate, immediate results, as indicated by increased circulation and renewed strength, are observed. Our colored chart, which we send free on application, is interesting to any one wishing to study the anatomy of the male.

Special attention given to Varicocele, Stricture, Rupture, Piles, Hydrocele, Contagious Blood Diseases and Acute and Chronic Urethral and Prostatic Inflammation.
