BOLD THUCS ESCAPE

Gresham Man Drives Away Two Marauders.

SWAG TOO HEAVY TO CARRY

Ford Metager Fires on Robbers and Compels Them to Desert a Sack of Money Containing $1400.

Gresham's sensational hold-up on Wednesday evening was the theme of many remarks yesterday and Ford Metzger's remarkable exhibition of nerve and gun-play was highly commended, although the commendations were mingled with regrets that he falled to get one both of his masked callers. Gresham a very quiet place at all times, but a this particular occasion it was un-sually so, except at Metager's hall, here the Salvation Army was exhorting sinners to repent and nearly everyone in the town was there. The hour was yet early-only a little after 9 o'clock-when uick succession of gun reports brought whole populace to the streets. Saved and sinners, repentant and unrepentant, flocked to the sidewalke just in time to see two fleeting robbers scooting down the bicycle path toward Portland with

Mr. Metager pumping lead after them in 0-30 doses from his Winchester. Mr. Metager was seen yesterday even-ing by an Oregonian reporter and he told a story of the holp-up that would rival a story of the molp-up that would rivel the exploits of Jesse James. And the story was a true one, as many who saw the finale of the episode can certify. The last customer had gone and Metager was in the seloon alone. He was figuring up the day's receipts from the cash regis when the front foor was softly opened and there came the order: "Hold up your hands!" He faced about to find the mustle of a revolver in his face and his hands went up in a style wholly gratifying to his visitor, but the latter was not satisfied. He took Metager by the wrists and pulled him up on the bar, where he left him by-ing face downward. Metzger was guarded in this position by the other robber, who held the gur while the first one came around behind the bar and secured the money sack which was lying in an open drawer. All this time Metzger was watch-ing his opportunity, which came just at the right moment, and as the man strug-gled with the sack of coin Metzger slid off the bar and dropped his hand on a convenient revolver. convenient revolver.

Metager fired the first shot, which was ered by the robber with the gun, four bullets whistled by Mctager's head at a range of less than six feet. Metager fired only two shots with his revolver, both bullets going through the glass of the front door, on a level with the top of the bar, but missing their human targets by a very small margin.
The man with the sack was still trying to get away but became badly frightened and dropped his precious burden on the floor with the remark:

"Don't shoot, there's your money."
In a moment more both of the men eres outside and Metzger followed up ith a Winchester, firing five more shots at their flying figures as they ran down the path leading toward the schoolhe The saloon is situated in the center of the town and before the shooting was en-tirely over a crowd had begun to gather. The sack of money was found on the floor but open and half its contents scat-tered about. It contained $400 in allver and about $1000 more in small gold and a few checks. The sack is made of heavy canvas and was so nearly full that it was an awkward thing to handle, which ac-counts for its being dropped by the hold-up man who had it in charge. It weighed is pounds and was not tied, so that it would have been a delicate task for a man to carry it off even if he were not

Further than this no good description can be given, except that they spoke good English and ap-peared to be young men. The presence of so much money in the

The presence of so much money in the saloon at one time is accounted for by the fact that Mr. Metager has been cashing checks for the men employed on the new railroad. There is no such a thing as a bank at Gresham and Mr. Metager conceived the idea of discounting checks and brought the money out from Portland that wery day. He missed the car at Lents wery day. LOSS MAKES LOSING.

Committee of City Council Refuses to Issue a Saloon License.

ommittee of the Council for a new license from other parties.

The last saloon-keeper to try his hand at procuring a license from the committee appeared at the meeting yesterday morning. He got a cold reception; in fact, he was turned down.

In fact, he was turned down.

"We won't have a saloon there; it's bound to be like the old place," chorused Councilmen Bentley, Sigler and Zimmerman. Councilman Cardwell, however, thought that as Loss, the would-be saloon-keeper, had rented the place, he should be granted a license. Otherwise it would be a loss to Loss.

will probably take place in the State Circult Court within the next few days.

The property involved is valued at ove $50,000, and in the complaint, which is supported by affidavits signed by Charles T. Wilder, William Denholm and R. D. Inman, gross mismanagement and mis-conduct on the part of Reed are charged. Wilder alleges that prior to December 5, 1901, Reed had purchased certain prop-erty in the town of Rainier, both real arty in the town of Rama mill business and personal, to establish a mill business In which both were to be equally interest-ed, and a deed to an individual one-half of this property was delivered to Wilder by Reed and wife. The complaint recites that pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into on December i, Reed was to organize a cor-poration under the laws of the State of Oregon, to be known as the W. C. Wilder Mill & Lumber Company, with a capital stock of $50,000, and with the principal as trustee for office and place of business at San Franthe lot is $3000. cisco. It was further agreed to transfer each of their undivided one-half interests In the property to the corporation, on the issuance by the company of $15,000 fully paid-up capital stock to Wilder and Reed. Pursuant to this contract, and in con-templation of the formation of the com-pany, it is alleged that Wilder and Reed each deposited to the credit of the concern $15,000, to constitute a capital for conducting the mill business, and that Wilder and wife, also, as part of the plan of organiza-tion, delivered their deed of conveyance of their interest to the corporation. Reed, it is stated, neglected to carry out the agreement, and proceeded no further than the filing of articles of incorporation of the Rainier Mill & Lumber Company, and on or about February 5, 1902, took possession of all the property, together with the sum of $30,000 deposited for the capital, and has established and conducted ever since a mill business under the name and names of W. I. Reed, W. C. Wilder Mill & Lumber Company, and Rainier Mill & Lumber Company. In conducting the business in this style it is asserted that Reed has done so against Wilder's pro-tests, and has refused to carry out the contract which they entered into. The complaint sets forth further that

The complaint sets forth further that Reed has appropriated all the moneys and property, and carried on a mill business under these names against Wilder's rights. The property, it is alleged, had been leased prior to its purchase to the Clatsop Mill Company, and Reed, it is charged, collected three menths' rent at the rate of $15 per month, and refuses to account for the amount. The statement is also made in the complaint that Reed purchased a timber claim at Gray's River, Wash, and entered into a contract with J. L. Black and brother for logging the claim, paying out of the assets of the lumber companies about $7000, but that he appropriated the timber claims him-

Reed is said to have permitted the business to become indebted to himself in the sum of $3,000, and declined to tell Wilder the items making up this amount of money, and the purposes for which it was

It is also averred that Reed has injured the credit of the business and made large deposits of money belonging jointly to himself and Wilder in his own name in banks in Oakland, Cal.: Astoria and man to carry it off even if he were not being shot at by a man known to be the best marksman in Eastern Multnomah.

Mr. Metzger was unable to give a very good description of the two men. One of them was about 5 feet 7 inches high the business overhead the business of money belonging jointly large deposits of money belongin that he falled to keep the lumber properly insured, and that he would not give Wilder proper information about the affairs of the corporation. The complaint states in conclusion that Wilder desires to withdraw from the business, and that the assets aggregate about $60,000, against which there is an indebt-ciness of probably $30,000, William Denholm, an expert, who exam-was impossible without an inventory to tell what property belonged to the busi-ness, its value or character. Mr. Inman, as a result of an investigation which he made, signed an affidavit Side, that the management of the plant had no skill, the lumber was poorly piled and traded, etc. Cake & Cake appear as attorneys for Mr. Wilder.

THEY SOLD HIS LOGS.

Ex-United States Senator George W, McBride yesterday filed sult against Inman, Poulsen & Co. to recover $500 for logs. The complaint states that McBride owns 80 acres of timber land in Columbia County, and that the Gobel. Nehalem & Pacific Railread Company, a corporation engaged in cutting and transporting logs, between January 1, 1900, and June 1, 1902, cut and removed from McBride's land logs to the amount of 1,000,000 feet, lumber measure, and delivered the same to Inman, Poulsen & Co. The logs, it is alleged, were worth $500. Money Cannot Pay Her. Waiter L. McMullin, whose wife has aued him for a divorce and for ill temperary alimony, and attorney's fees, has filed an affidavit stating that he is unable to pay the money. He says he is providing for the support of their child, and that it takes the balance of his income to provide for himself and myke pay. to provide for himself and make pay-ments on debts incurred by himself and his wife amounting to $150.

Corner of East Alder and Sixth, The movement to erect an A. O. U. W. building in East Portland, started by Fidelity Lodge, No. 4, took on a definite form last night by the lodge securing an option till the first of July on the lot on the southeast corner of East Alder and the southeast corner of East Alder and East Sixth streets from Edward Magee, the owner, through V. C. Dunning, acting as trustee for the lodge. The price of A committee had been appointed to transact the business and it was prac-tically concluded last night at the office of F. S. Dunning. Frank Schlegel, master workman of the lodge, drew up the papers which are to be signed by Mr. Dunning, as trustee, and Mr. Magee. This transaction commits the members to aggressive action to get the building. A joint stock company will be formed and incorporated at once, which will take the option off the hands of the lodge as soon as possible. A considerable number members will take stock as soon as i as possible. A considerable number of members will take stock as soon as it is known where the location will be. It is believed that this corner is one of the very best that can be secured for a lodge building. It is near East Morrison street and Grand avenue, on which there are car lines, and removed far enough to be out of hearing of the noise of the care. Several years are Mr. Several years ago Mr. Magee was offered $14,000 for the half block, including the lot on which he has given an option. There has been only an informal discussion of the kind of building that will be required. It is the opinion of the members of the loter that bers of the lodge that a two-story frame building, with a lodge hall on the second, banquet hall on the first floor, will be about what is required.

There are prospects for an active election, and two tickets will probably be in the field. William Shindler, leader of the movement for incorporation, who was elected Mayor when the County Court of Clackamas County erroneously granted a charter, naturally will be put forward by that party. The opposition seems to have confered on B. Fish. It is stated that confered on H. Fish. It is stated that those who were opposed to a city govern-ment will now undertake to capture it at the coming election. There is some talk of Thomas A. Sellwood being a candidate for Mayor. He has always been strongly opposed to forming a city government.

KEEP EVERLASTING AT IT. SAYS MR. OLWELL.

He's a Successful Orchardist, and Knows What He Is Talking About.

"In Southern Oregon," said John D. Oiwell yesterday, "we don't tolerate peat-breeding orchards. Public sentiment won't endure them at all." Mr. Olwell is one of the Olwell Bros., who have made a conspicuous success in apple culture. Their orchards are con-sidered the best in the state. Mr. Olwell represents Jackson County in the Lower House of the Legislature.

"The only reason the Willamette Valley has so many apple pests," continued Mr. Olwell, "is that farmers here do not fight them. You don't see mossy old orchards in our district, nor San Jose scale, nor codlin moth, if an apple grower knows how to protect his fruit not over three per cent of his product not over three per cent of his product will suffer from peets. But he's got to know how and he's got to work."

"How did you do it?" was asked.
"By apraying. We apray five or six times a year. We have just finished spraying for San Jose scale. Early in May we shall seem for condition moth

You are not bothered by it much yet, but you will be bothered by it unless you fight it. For this pest we spray with a mixture of lime, suiphur and bluestone. For codlin moth we use one round of Paris green to 128 suilons. one pound of Paris green to 150 gallos of water."

YOUNG ATHLETES. Boys' Brigade Finishes Active Indoor Work for Senson.

The Boys' Brigade, No. 2, Portland Di-vision, under the command of Captain Alexander Rae, has now finished active indoor work for the season, and the mem-uers are planning for outdoor exercise. Their plans include a baseball team and a Summer camp. The work was originally started among Whitschapsi boys in the Third-street Mission, conducted by the First Presbyterian Church, and surprising results affecting the health and morality of the boys liave been achieved. The main objects of the Boys' Brigades is to teach boys discipline and self-con-trol, to moid them into good citizens is to teach boys troi, to mold them into good citizens and teach them gymnastics and indoor and outdoor games. Mr. Rae took hold of the work, and at first many of the boys found it a big effort to swing clubs, work on parallel bars, etc. Last Saturday night the closing Winter exercises of the brigade were given before an interested crowd in the church-house of the street of the terested crowd in the church-house of Trinity Episcopal Church, Fifth street when 28 young symnasts were put through their paces.
