"The Different Store"

"Uncle Sam" works for us thro' our mail order department. All orders by mail promptly filled upon day order is received.

A GOOD STORY Is told of a lad in one of our public schools, who, in response to the question: "Where does the Mississippi rise?" answered "All along its banks." Just so with our bargain list of worthy merchandise this week. The flood of bargains overflows every section from first floor to roof. There's no let up, and even the generous stream which surged thro' a full page of yesterday's Oregonian could not keep in bounds the many exceptional values that clamored for mention. We've endeavored to include the overflow here today with several tributary under-price streams which come rushing in this morning to swell the bargain torrent for today and the week. Particular stress is laid upon the great sale of Walking Skirts, $6.50 and $7.50 values at $3.79 (Second floor, Garment Section). The Great Demonstration of new and beautiful Shell Combs and Hair Pins (First floor, main aisle), and the Sensational Bargains in the Undermuslin Section—$1.25 values fine Lawn Underskirts at 97c (Second floor Annex).

Busy-ness Bringing Sale of Underskirts

(Second-floor Annex)

The unequalled economies of our sale this week of undermuslins are well illustrated by this offering of fine lawn underskirts. Compare these garments with any you can find elsewhere at the same prices and you'll see that in quality of materials, in fullness of size, in daintiness of trimming and in general all-round excellence these are by far the best underskirts you can get for the money. And so it is throughout the entire collection of Undermuslins.

Shoes for Men, Women, Children

It is evident that people are "getting next" to the fact that here they save money in shoe buying. The only difference between this busy section of our "busy-ness" store and the exclusive shoe store lies in the pricings of the goods and quantities shown. The volume of business, as every business man knows, decreases the cost of doing business, and a smaller profit is required. In a word, you can buy better shoes here for less money than you are asked to pay elsewhere.

MORE PAY BY MAY 1

Else Thousands May Go On Strike.

OTHERS WILL WAIT UNTIL JULY

This Is in New York, and Includes Boilermakers, Rockmen and Caulkers—Officers of These Bodies Issue Ultimatum.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Francis J. McKay, of the New York locals of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, said at a meeting of the Central Federated Union today: "Seven thousand boilermakers and iron shipbuilders will strike in the shipyards of this city and vicinity if on May 1 they do not get the increase in wages they demand."

Constantino Landolfo, of the Rockmen's and Excavators' Union, reported that his organization will go out if their demands are not granted May 1.

Business Agent Quinan, of the Pipe Caulkers' and Tappers' Union, reported that 100 pipe caulkers and tappers would strike for increased pay throughout the city and in the city departments if their demands were not granted before July 1.

ARBITRATION EFFECTIVE

Appleton Papermakers Declare Truce and Return to Work. APPLETON, Wis., April 19.—As the result of an unexpected development at the meeting of the Neenah and Appleton Brotherhoods of Papermakers Monday afternoon, the State Board of Arbitration will meet a party to the negotiations, and there seems a strong prospect that an understanding can be reached whereby the strike will be declared permanently off. The Kimberly & Clark Company has agreed to pay the employees full time for the last week. The settlement of the strike was effected through the efforts of R. P. Edwards, of Oshkosh, a member of the State Board of Arbitration.

To Settle Disputes on Award

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 19.—President Mitchell of the United Mineworkers, on his arrival here tomorrow will meet the executive boards of the three anthracite districts and assist in settling the disputed points regarding the award of the strike commission. The miners and local coal companies interpret the award in several instances from different points of view, and a conciliation board will be appointed by both sides to reach a definite understanding. Mr. Mitchell will assist the local mineworkers officials in selecting the members of this board.

Hanna's Eulogium Applauded

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 19.—There was a mass meeting at the Board of Trade Auditorium this afternoon in honor of the delegates to the convention of Amalgamated Iron, Steel and Tinworkers' Association. The principal speakers at the Auditorium were President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association; Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden and Rev. Father Mulvane, of Mount Vernon. President Shaffer paid a tribute to Senator Hanna and his attitude toward organized labor, which elicited vigorous applause.

Offer to Textile Operatives.

LOWELL, Mass., April 19.—The fourth week of the strike of the textile operatives will begin tomorrow, with peace apparently as far off as ever. No attempt will be made to end the strike during the week, but it is possible that next week the agents will make a test of the strength of the organized crafts by an announcement that their gates will be open to all who care to return.

Butte Telephone Strike Settled.

BUTTE, Mont., April 19.—The strike of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone girls was settled today and at 7 o'clock tonight the operators resumed work. All the former employees were taken back by the company without prejudice under a signed agreement for one year. The operators concede the right of the company to remove Miss Macdermot from the position of chief operator to a subordinate position and to install an operator from Salt Lake as chief. It was over the removal of Miss Macdermot that the girls struck.

Pittsburg Painters Satisfied.

PITTSBURG, April 19.—The strike of the painters and decorators, which has been on in the Pittsburg district for nearly two months, was practically settled today at a mass meeting of the Brotherhood. The men agreed to accept $2.40 for a day's work of eight hours, and pay their own car fare to and from work. Last year they received $2.20 and had their car fare paid. This year they demanded $3.00 and car fare.

New Opening for Triggs.

New York Evening Post. The news that Professor Oscar Lovell Triggs, of the University of Chicago, may appear as a theatrical advance agent will give joy to every friend of higher education in America. Such a dazzling promotion for Professor Triggs must at once make college teaching more attractive to ambitious young men. Hitherto the complaint has been that the pay is small and the work leads to nothing more. A young man who might have been a lawyer with an income ranging from $2000 upwards, with a prospect of a seat on the bench or perhaps a brilliant political career, might reasonably have hesitated before becoming a professor with an income of $2000 or $3000 at the utmost, and no brass bands and skyrocket. But Professor Triggs has blazed the way to new glories. For years he has been showing his colleagues that a professor of mettle can himself be both a brass band and a skyrocket. And now a theatrical manager offers him the exceeding great reward of $200 a week to travel ahead of a play called "Romeo and Juliet," place the stamp of professional approval upon this production of a hitherto unknown author, and assure the good people of Indiana and Illinois that in his way Shakespeare is the equal of General Lew Wallace or even Professor William Cleaver Wilkinson, of the University of Chicago. This is fine, and all the more so because if Professor Triggs keeps on developing, he will inevitably become the whole show himself.

STREET-CAR RUNS AMUCK

FORTY-FOUR PASSENGERS MORE OR LESS INJURED. Carriage Is Wreck and Freight Train Derailed Before the Career of the Runaway Is Checked.

PITTSBURG, April 19.—Because an electric brake refused to work, a crowded street car ran away today in Allegheny, wrecked a carriage, broke through the safety gates of the Fort Wayne Railroad, derailed a fast-moving freight train and then went to pieces. Almost all of the 44 passengers aboard the car were hurt, though only one fatally. The injured: H. Hirsch, hurt internally, will probably die. Mrs. Emma Lowe, hurt internally, condition serious. J. E. Mitchell, wife and infant, badly bruised and shocked. Stephen Harrison, both wrists sprained. Bruce Harrison, scalp and face cut. C. A. Rider, Mrs. Vassel Bell, John Bopp, Charles Cochran and Mrs. Emma Booth, all suffered severe cuts and bruises.

Automobile Wrecked, Man Injured.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 19.—E. W. Benedict, a prominent attorney of Topeka, Kan., was probably fatally injured by a street car on Broadway last night, when a heavy electric car of the Broadway line struck the vehicle, dragging it nearly a hundred feet.

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S WORK

Isn't It True, After All, That Male "Invaders" Are in the Majority?

Washington Post. The alleged failure of women to achieve success in the official capacity of inspectors of immigrants prompts the New York Evening Sun to remark that "there are a few trades still left in which mere men have a monopoly." If that be true the male contingent of the human family possesses that which the female does not. We cannot think of any trade or of any profession or occupation of which women have a monopoly. It is often asserted that women have invaded fields of activity which nature evidently intends for the exclusive occupancy of men. Across of rhetoric and oceans of ink have been expended in the exploitation of this complaint. It began in this country more than 50 years ago, and it is still hot up. Although some progress has been made in dispelling the illusion, it is still widely prevalent. Many thousands of men, including perhaps a majority of the clergy, are accustomed to dilute with more of indignation than of logic on the "obstruction of women" into occupations for which their sex is un-fitted. The truth is, the obstruction or invasion was begun and has been continued in the reverse direction. In the old times there were some occupations in which women had a monopoly. For example, women used to make their own clothing and knit hose for themselves and for the male members of the family. At this time the clothing business, in all its departments, is controlled by men. The manufacture and sale of ladies' underwear is in the hands of men. It is true that women are employed at pitiful wages to make these garments, and that most of the retailing of them is done by saleswomen; but, in both cases, the ownership and control belong to men. The tailor—the ladies' tailor—has occupied another field in which women was formerly supreme. The washing of clothes as well as the making of them has been taken over by the men, and the cooking of food has gone in the same direction to a great extent. Ever since the machine began the displacement of women in spinning, weaving, sewing and knitting, there has been a continuous absorption by men of the bread-winning employment of women. We are not presenting these facts by way of complaint. The changes that have been wrought by the machine were inevitable, and their influence is wholesome—not degrading, but uplifting. The transfer to or absorption by men of what used to be women's work has been attended by a perfectly natural movement in the opposite direction. The old line of demarcation between the supposed spheres of the sexes has been obliterated. Of course, there are some kinds of work for which women are not physically qualified, but where is the employment of which women have a monopoly?

CROOKED DEALING AT FARO

A New Yorker Thinks Mr. Jerome Is Mistaken About How It Is Done. New York Sun. "I'm very ready to believe all that District Attorney Jerome says about crooked faro boxes in swell gambling-houses," said a New Yorker, "but there is one thing that I cannot understand, and many others I know are in the same plight, and that is how a dealer who slips more than one card out of the box at a time squares things with the record of the case keeper. A man who sits down at a table and begins to play faro either begins to cheat himself, has some one else do it for him or constantly consults the house case keeper. If he doesn't he is the rankiest kind of sucker, and in my experience rank suckers are very scarce, although those of the common garden variety seem to be plentiful enough. "Now, here is the situation at a faro table: A hand is dealt, and the dealer, at least two sets of cases are being kept. At each turn of a card a record is duly made, showing whether a card won or lost. "A glance at this card not only tells what cards have been played and which won and which lost, but clearly it shows what cards are still in the box. Since faro bank was first played, cases have been kept in this fashion. "If they weren't a man might be playing his money on cards that were all out, and wouldn't get action until a new shuffle and deal had taken place. If he happened to be combining his bets on several cards, think of the percentage against him from the very fact that one or more of the cards he was gambling on were dead ones. "Now, if a dealer, observing the play, slips two cards instead of one, in order to avoid facing a lidden card, or in order to reach a card a little deeper in the deck on a losing instead of a winning turn, how is the case keeper going to account for that lost card on his record? There are 32 cards in the deck and players are entitled to a play on every card after the first turn. "Some way or other the card that was smuggled out must be got back in the box, and while these dealers may be able to get more than one card out at a time, I'd like to see the dealer who can smuggle a card into a faro box while the play is on. "Assuming that a card is to be sneaked out by the dealer, it is fair to believe that he knows at the beginning of the deal just where the heavy play is to be. As a matter of fact, big gambling at faro comes toward the end of the deal, when there are only a few cards left in the box and heavy bets are made as to the order in which they will turn up. "It is stretching things to believe that a dealer can give the case keeper a signal to indicate which card he has smuggled out, but even assuming this incredible by the employment of remedies which are truly nature's own—MEDICAL LAKE specific, are Nature's Own Remedies direct from the hand of the Great Creator. Compared to these, man-made nostrums usually fail. The waters of Medical Lake have absorbed and deposed them. We know better, and reason that in nature's laboratory the components of Medical Lake waters, each a distinct kind of great merit, have been subtly compounded in a manner unequalled in man's pharmacopoeia. There is no safety of the blood which will not permanently succumb to its ministrations.

MEDICAL LAKE OINTMENT

Seal Up the Avenues of Ill

It is small wonder then that MEDICAL LAKE OINTMENT (or cream) possesses healing power which seems marvelous. This preparation is an Ideal Skin Food and beautifier and is the quickest and most agreeable remedy for Sunburn, Eczema, Burns, Bruises, Chapped Hands and Face, and all Roughness and Irritation of the Skin—is the most beneficial in its effects of all emollients and is an article which cannot safely be dispensed with in any household. Medical Lake Ointment if applied (especially immediately after washing) will allay all soreness and assure a soft, velvety surface to the skin. 25c. a box at druggists.

condition, are the players a lot of pin- heads not to know that a card is missing from the deck? Cases are watched nightly closely at a faro table, and the keeper cannot put down a record of a play that has not been made without being observed. It is simply impossible. "Add to all this the fact that several sets of cases are being kept at one time, and not only by the house, but by the players themselves or by some friend of a player."
