PRESBYTERY IN SESSION CLERGY AND LAY DELEGATES OF PORTLAND MEET.

Sermon by Retiring Moderator Mo Glade-Officers Elected and Programme Arranged.

The Spring meeting of the Portland Presbytery was opened last night in the Mispah Presbyterian Church, East Thir-teenth and Powell streets. Rev. Jerome McGlade, retiring moderator, delivered the sermon on the theme. "The Ministry of Reconciliation." preaching from the text 2 Cor., v:15, "And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us unto himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the Jesus Christ, and hain given to us the ministry of reconciliation." The sermon was a strong presentation of the text, and commanded close attention. There was a large attendance, most of the Presbyte-rian ministers of Portland being present. From outside the city were Rev. J. Hatch, of Springwafer; Rev. M. Mixe, of Oregon City; W. C. Laube, of Bethany; Rev. Mr. Welch, of Tillamook. Lay representatives were present from city and country churches. After Mr. McGiade had con-cluded his sermon, the following officers cluded his sermon, the following officers were elected: Moderator, Rev. W. S. Holt, D. D.; temporary clerk, J. V. Milli-

To ex-Sena-tor Simon he remarked that there was no place like Portland, and Mr. Simon said he was always pleased to get back home. Mr. Catlin came out here on being appointed receiver of the Oregon National Bank, the affairs of which he wound up to the satisfaction of all concerned. He also established an enviable reputation for himself and made many friends during his residence, notwithstanding that he was a "Democrat and self-supporting." He owns large interests in copper mines in Alaska and is out here now looking after them.

Strengthen Its Organization.

The Chamber of Commerce will en-denvor to enlarge its membership. It now has 35 members, as compared with 150 15 members, as compared with 150 15 members, as compared with 150 15 members are as a secon-pliahed important results in the part year. The project of railroad extension into inferior Oregon has been urged upon the Harriman people, largely by the chamber, and with good promise of success. The chamber has also induced the 0. R, & N, to put a third tug into service on Colum-bia River bar, and was one of the com-mercial bodies of the Northwest which porsuaded the railroads to grant lower distributive freight rates out of Coast cities. The chamber has taken a promi-fient part in all public enterprises that have come before the business men of the city. That there is a place in the commer-cial life of Portland for such an organiza-tion to show the the state to the term The Chamber of Commerce will encial life of Portland for such an organiza tion is shown by the standing the body has gained in the community. Yesterday the trustees appointed a com-mittee to confer with the passenger agents for lower railroad fares to the National Livestock convention which will be held here next January. The committee is composed of S. M. Mears, Henry Hahn, M. D. Wisdom and C. F. Beebe.

The assistant secretary was instructed to draw up an invitation to the National Convention of Ballroad Conductors, to hold their biennial convention of 1965 at Portland.

A communication from the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' Association, ask-ing the chamber to advise Portland mer-chants to import merchandise and sup-plies by rail instead of by vessel, so as to bring out more cars for the lumbermen was referred to the committee on trans-portation. It is not likely that the let-ter will be favorably considered, because ter will be favorably considered, because Portland already imports nearly all its goods from the East by rail, and cheap ocean tonnage is quite as essential to the country as cheap railroad rates. The irransportation committee is composed of L. A. Lewis, Henry Hahn, T. D. Honey-man, A. H. Devers, John F. O'Shea, W. H. Beharrell, A. F. Biles, W. A. Mears, O. M. Scott, E.
