Both addresses were heard by immense crowds of people and were received with the greatest enthusiasm.

Boom of Cannon Welcomes Him.
President Roosevelt's train arrived in Topeka an hour late. Over 12,000 people assembled at the site of the new Y. M. C. A. building to welcome him.

Dinner With the Governor.
The ceremonies occupied twenty minutes. Then the President and his party were escorted to the carriages and driven rapidly to the Copeland Hotel. Fourteen carriages were in the procession.

to the Governor; William Allen White, of the Emporia Gazette; E. W. Howe, of the Atchison Globe. Among those present at the dinner at the hotel were: Dr. John F. Mann, treasurer of the Y. M. C. A.; H. G. Burt, president of the Union Pacific; B. F. Youkum, president of the 'Frisco; W. A. Wyckersham, president of the Atlantic & West Point; L. J. Peck, president of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe; T. J. Nichols, New York; H. A. Parker, St. Louis; Colonel John J. McCook, New York.

Address to Y. M. C. A.
After dinner at the Governor's residence the party proceeded to the Auditorium, where the President delivered an address to the Y. M. C. A. convention.

The President did not arrive at the Auditorium until 10 o'clock, having been detained at the dinner given by Governor Bailey. During the early part of the evening speeches were made by prominent railroad officials who are delegates to the convention. The President spoke for about 45 minutes, and afterward held a short reception. At 11 o'clock the entire party was driven back to the depot, where the night will be spent on the President's train.

Nothing can be done with a man who will not work, he said. "We have in our scheme of government no room for the man who does not wish to pay his way through life by what he does. A rich man is bound to work in some way that will make the community better for his existence. Capacity for work is absolutely necessary, and no man can be said to live in the true sense of the word if he does not work. If a man is utterly disregardful of the rights of others, if he works simply for the sake of ministering to his own base passions, if he works simply to gratify himself, small is his good in the community. He is of no real use unless, together with the quality which enables him to work, he has the quality which enables him to love his fellow, to work with them for the common good of all."

THE MEMBERS OF THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS, representatives of foreign governments and other official guests assembled at the St. Louis Club at 10:30 A. M. and were driven from there to the Exposition grounds. The carriages during the drive were arranged in strict accordance with the rules of diplomatic precedence, and once the line was formed the carriages, escorted by four troops of regular cavalry, were driven rapidly toward the fair grounds, where a breakfast was served on their arrival at 12:15 o'clock.

PARLIAMENT OF MEN.

Francis Thus Describes Gathering of All Nations.

Mr. Spencer then introduced President Francis, of the exposition, who spoke as follows, in extending the greeting of the exposition to the representatives of foreign countries:

The universal Exposition of 1904 extends a cordial greeting to the distinguished representatives of foreign countries who favor us by their presence on this memorable occasion. An assembling of a parliament of men, an accomplishment never limited in number and whatever its object may be, is characteristic of a high civilization; but when that convention is made general in its character as this, it indicates marked progress in the establishment of a better understanding between interests and policies long antagonistic and at variance.

The cycle of 100 years whose close we have just passed, incomparable as it was in the discovery and the invention and the application of forces and methods in the physical world, and remarkable as it was for advancement in every line of thought and research, will be surpassed and distanced by the new century upon which we have entered if the material potentialities and the intellectual faculties of mankind can be utilized and trained to the highest and noblest ends, and that the uplifting of the human race and the promotion of its happiness.

Encouraged by All Nations.
The international exposition whose dedication you honor by your presence was conceived in an effort to commemorate a great achievement which has proved a potent factor in increasing our wealth and sustaining our institutions and perpetuating our independence.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 1.—The Interior Department has decided to create a forest reserve in southwestern Oregon. In the Rogue River country, a strong recommendation to that effect having been made by the Geological Survey.

The exterior limits of the withdrawal embrace 1,180 acres of land, mostly mountainous and heavily covered with timber, but a great portion of the land within the withdrawal is held in private ownership, much of it having been originally included in the railroad grant, and is held now by the company or its grantees.
