WASHING FLUTTERS IN THE BREEZES WASHNG FLOTTERS IN THE MAINTAIN-Clothes lines with all sorts of garments, etc., on them fluttering in the breeze are seen these days in the back yards of many residences where such things are not usual, and many a woman with her sleeves rolled up and her back hair in disorder is seen bending over a washtub. The question of how the family washing is to be done is the reincinel tonle of the is to be done is the principal topic of the day in many families, and many men are out daily on a still hunt for Chinamen who savey washee, washee. One man who was worn out in this kind of a hunt sald severe things about laundries, and re-marked that he would soon put an end to their shutdown, if he had the power, by repealing the exclusion law and al-lowing a few hundred Chinese to come into the country every month. He said they were more useful and more law-abiding than many of the people of South-ern Europe who were allowed to come in in swarms. Another citizen had trouble with a Chinaman, who had been working for his wife every week for years, doing was worn out in this kind of a hunt said for his wife every week for years, doing some washing and mopping floors, cutting grass and fixing the garden. He had been sick, and had not come around for several weeks, and said he could not wash any more, but would cut the grass, split wood, weed the garden, etc. He was working in the garden one day last week, when the roprietor came in and asked him why he did not come to wash and mop up for his wife. The Chinaman said, "Ne savey," and kept on with his work. The man and kept on with his work. The man said he would pay any price asked, but he did not want to see his wife washing; it is too hard work for her. "Ohl she heap strong," said the Chinaman. This made the man wrathy, and he grasped the loose pants of the Chinaman in his strong right hand and pitched him head first into a huge bush of "crimson ram-bler," and threatened to whale the life out of him if he did not come and wash the of him if he did not come and wash the next Monday, remarking, "Me heap strong, too!" It now remains to be seen who will do the washing Monday.

BAREALLA BRITISH ERNEVOLENT SOCIETY MEETS.-The annual meeting of the British Benev-olent Society was held last Wednesday svening at the British Consulate, a large number of members in attendance. Reumber of members in attendance. Re-orts submitted showed the society to be i a flourishing condition, with about $4500 on hand and out on good mortgages. A large number of distressed Britishers have been relieved during the year. The owing officers were re-elected to serve furing the ensuing year: President, FINED FOR BEATING & MINISTER.-Sim Mays was fined $20 in Justice Reid's Court Thursday afternoon for assaulting W. L. Biackweik, a minister of the Gospel. The trouble originated over some chickens, the property of the pastor, that were deter-mined to use Mr. Mays' garden for a feeding ground. Mr. Mays complained to Rev. Mr. Biackweil, and was told to send his little dog after the fowls, and in this manner make them afraid to return. The next time the chickens trapassed on the forbidden ground they were promptly put to flight by the dog. The reverend pastor, testified the defanse, resented the insult to his cherished fowls by chasing the canine away and striking him with a anine away and striking him with a lub. Mr. Mays interfered, and the pas-tor undertook to chastise him, striking

tor undertook to chastiss him, striking his neighbor over the head with a two-by-four. When the reverend gentieman saw defeat clouding about him, the witness said, he retired to his home, where, with a Winchester rifle, he kept Mr. Mays from leaving his house until dark. When Rev. Mr. Blackwell appeared in court, his left optic resembled a hole burned in a Government blanket, a strong evidence of the puglistic accomplishments of Mr. Mays, whose occupation is that of a sturdy woodcutter. The defendant, Mays, told his story to the court, but his wit-ness told a tale that was essentially differ-ent in many particulars, and Mr. Mays was compelled to pay a fine. He says that he will appeal the case. SHAD PLENTIFUL IN MARKET.-Shad are

SHAD PLENTIFUL IN MARKET.-Shad are being taken in considerable numbers down the Columbia, and the markets in this city are well supplied with an excellent quality of these fine fish. At present ahnd roe is at its best, and is one of the chief delicacies of the market-much nicer than it will be later, when the roe is be-coming ripe. Shad are much more in fa-vor than they used to be, and are being recognized as they long have been at the East, as one of the best of food dishes. The flesh is white, tender and luscious, and the rather numerous small bones in them are not found so objectionable as some imagine, after one becomes accus-tomed to the fish. The shad is excellent baked, brolled or fried. They grow larger on the Columbia than in the smaller streams of the Eastern Coast, and a large the Columbia, and the markets in this streams of the Eastern Coast, and a large one has no more bones than a small one. Five or six pounds is the weight of a very large shad east, but they have been found here weighing over nine pounds, but not many of that weight. Dealers have been on the lookout for one weighing ten pounds or more, but have not yet ing ten pounds or more, but nave not yet found one. Fishermen and fish dealers should keep a sharp lookout for the larg-est shad, and if one weighing ten pounds, honestly, is found, it should be duly weighed and the weight attested to as-tonish Eastern people. DESERTERS CAUGHT WITH STOLEN Goops-Howard Inman and A. Differding, two deserters from the battery at Van-couver Barracks, were arrested by Officer Mallett at 8:20 o'clock yesterday morning. Before they deserted on Tuesday they broke into the locker of Private John Schmidt, stealing a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes, a hat, a gold watch and a gold chain. Schmidt followed the men when they came to Portland yesterday morning by inquiring on the Vancouver ferry if they had crossed the river. He gave such a complete description of them that Offi-cer Maliett located them within half an hour afterward, making the arrest at hour afterward, making the arrest at Third and Morrison streets. All the miss-ing articles were found, one of the mon wearing the suit of clothes, while the other wore the hat and shoes and carried the watch and chain. Officer Mallett took the men to Vancouver yesterday after-noon and turned them over to the officers at the barracks. As stealing connected with description is a severe breach of Army with desertion is a severe breach of Army rules, the captives will undoubtedly serve time at Alcatrar.

MAT BE BLICKENSDERFER'S BODY .-- The body of Henry Blickensderfer, the young man who committed suicide by jumping from the deck of the steamer American a short time ago, while in a state of intox-ication, is thought to have been found. Coroner J. P. Finley was notified last night that the body of a young man had been found in the river near Linnton, and, as young Blickensderfer was supposed to have been drowned about two miles above Linnton, it is thought that the body is his. At the time of the young man's death no reason was known for the act. He had been discharged as porter in a hotel in St. Helens, and was coming to Blackwood; treasurer, E. A. Wyed; secre-tary, A. C. U. Barry. William Foley and John Cran were elected directors. The following board of relief was elected: Mrs. E. T. C. Stevens, J. C. Robinson, Francis Sealey, James Laidiaw. IMPROVED HAY-RAFF.

promoter: His profits were certain. He did not become rich by buying stock in the open market, but by selling it to the confiding public. When he promoted a new corporation he had set apart for him a goodly number of abares of "preferred" and "common" stock. If the watering, though a deluge, did not preclude the earning of dividends the promoter re-tained a part of his allotmets; if the prospect of dividends were unpromising he unloaded his holdings upon the inno-cent sheep that had strayed into the mar-ket place. tion as a mirth-producer is "Zig-Zag Al-ley," in which the famous Zeb and Zar-row appear at the Marquan Grand The-ater next Monday and Tuesday nights, Ator next Monday and Tuesday anglis, May 18 and 18. It is a happy combination of farce comedy, musical comedy, trick pantomime and spectacular comedy. Be-ing written for the sole purpose of anus-ing, "Zig-Zag Alley" does not concern itself with a cumbersome and intricate plot, but has just enough story to make it interesting as well as funny. Many critics declars it a most excellent cure critics declare it a most excellent cure for the "blues." It is a series of sur-prises, novelties and side-splitting comic situations from beginning to end, and it addition to this it has some remarkable mechanical effects. The company, num-bering 55, comprises a large chorus of lovely women, and the following well-known artists: Ben T. Dillon, Harry Le-Marr. Schrock and Rice, Winnifred IMFROVED HAT-RAKER – A farmer stopped to look at a truckload of hay-rakes backed up in front of a store yes-terday, his notice being attracted by the fact that the "bows" which strengthened the heads were of wire. "This is an iron age, sure enough." he said. "Such rakes used to have wooden bows, and they were constantly getting broken. The wires will be much better and more durable." The merchant said the wire bows suitted him much better than tho old style wooden much better than the old style wooden ones, as when he used to have to bring his rakes around the Horn, many had the bows broken, and were sold at a loss, as it was not possible to get bows turned here, and the farmers used to make new ones out of hazel twigs.
