RECEPTION HERESATISFACTORY

Final Arrangements for Entertainment of Chief Executive Will Be Made Tonight-Major Clark Arrives Today.

The arrangements made by the Portland ommittees for the reception and enterainment of President Theodore Roosevelt have been approved by three representa-tives of the Secret Service, who have since gone over the route and inspected buildings the President is to visit in the Puget Sound cities.

The entire route over which the President is to travel in his parade, the hotel he is to occupy during the evening and the stand from which he is to speak at the City Park, were all inspected by the representatives of the Secret Service, and the arrangements were found to have en satisfactorily made by the local comane precautions taken by the Secret Service were not made by the President's orders, it is understood here, but that branch of the Government service is mak-ing every effort to guard against acci-dent on its own motion. With the Presidential party and traveling ahead of the be a force of Secret Service men numbering 45. These special agents are charged with the duty of investigating thoroughly every arrangement made for the President's care, watching his party while in each city visited and aiding the police in every movement made by the officers. These are precautions which it has been declared to be necessary, in order that carelessness may not be allowed to creep into any of the reception plans.

Every Precaution Taken. The value of the Secret Service agents' work was illustrated at Olympia, where the committee in charge of the Presi dent's entertainment had planned to drive him across a bridge which the townspecple realized was not perfectly safe. While it is not likely an accident would have oc curred during such a drive, the possibility existed, and the watchfulness of the Se-cret Service men prevented any possibility of trouble arising.

While no statement as to the effect of the Secret Service agents' visit has been given out, it is understood slight changes were made in the programmes elsewhere in the Northwest at the suggestion of the Secret Service men. These alterations in the programmes were not of prime im-effect that admittance to the hotels where be is staying must be by card. This plan will be followed while he is in Portland.

Final Arrangements Made Today. The final arrangements for the enter-alnment of the President will be completed at a meeting held in the Commer cial Club this evening by the reception committee. This will be the last gather-ing prior to the arrival of the President, all matters pending will be settled at that time.

Invitations were sent out yesterday by the committee to the guests of the city who will ride in the carriages provided for the parade on May 21. There have been arrangements made for 32 carriages, in which the city's guests will be driven to the Park. The local guests will assemble at the Hotel Portland and be driven to the Universe. the Union Depot to meet the special train. The carriages will be drawn up about the depot, and as soon as the Presidential party arrives the special committee will provide for their scatting and the parade will be ready to move without any delay. At the Park those guests in carriages are to follow the Presidential party to the Major Clark Arrives Today.

Word was received yesterday from Ma-jor William Hancock Clark, grandson of the famous explorer, who is to be a guest of the Lewis and Clark committee at the ceremonies at the monument site, to the effect that he would reach Portland this afternoon. Major Clark is accompanied by his wife, and their arrival today is in plenty of time to participate in the cele-work of decorating Portland's streets for the Presidential parade is being rushed by the decoration committee. Comparatively few of the business houses have been decorated, but there remains plenty of time for that work. About the Portland Hotel the decorators are busy arranging for the beautiful display of electric lights and National colors. The electric effect promises to be unusually brilliagt.

Grand Marshal Beebe Gives Instructions as to Parade's Formation.

Grand Marshal Charles F. Beebe yeste day issued orders modifying those previ-ously given regarding the insertion of the human flag into the Presidential parade and other general instructions to be fol-lowed in the parade's formation: Headquarters General Committee on Ar-rangements of Reception to the President, Portland, Or., May 13, 1963.—Orders No. 2: So much of paragraph No. 6, general or-ders for the parade in honor of the visit

PROGRAMME OF MONUMENT DEDICATION.

The site of the Lewis and Clark nument, the corner-stone of which is to be laid by the President, is in the small circle directly above Park avenue. Holders of tickets, not assigned to carriages, will therefore find it more convenient to reach the platform by that entrance. The ceremonies are expected to begin at 4:30 P. M., and all ticket-holders must be in their places by 4 P. M., as none will be admitted after the arrival of the President. Tha programme is as follows:

"Hall to the Chief," by the band, Invocation, by Rev. A. A. Morrison,

CITY IN GALA ATTIRE. Flags and Roosevelt Pictures the Principal Decorations. The decorating of the city for the Precident's visit will be completed today. Already the entire route to be traversed in this city by Mr. Roosevelt is gay with flags and festoons of bunting, and every window-nearly-bas its picture of the famous man. Even the President's best friends would not call him a strikingly man-too much of Dutch ancestry allied with the most forceful Americanism for that perhaps-but copies of his portrait are displayed by practically every dwelling and shop win dow in town. It is a fact that the por-trait of no other public man has ever been so much in demand in this town as that of Mr. Roosevelt. It is estimated that 15,000 to 20,000 pictures of him have ben sold here recently at prices varying from 5 cents to 50 cents. Even in Chinatown numerous pictures and flags give evidence that patriotism and public spirit are not lacking there al-

Of course the "button" man is abroad. From various much-frequented street corners one hears the vociferous solicitations to buy a "Rough Rider hat badge," a "strenuous pin," a "Roosevelt button." And as regards flags and bunting gen-erally Independence day here never saw a greater display. Certainly no other single guest of the city ever passed under so much of it here as will the President

To Decorate the Postoffice,

Nothing has yet been done in the way f decorating the Postoffice building in onor of President Roosevelt's visit to this city. Postmaster Bancroft was seen vesterday looking over the west front of the building and was asked what he was going to do in the way of decorating it. He said he intended to ornament the west front, opposite the Portland Hotel with vergreen and flowers. He had at first hought of tearing down the old porches a this front of the building, but finally

PRESIDENT'S CHORUS MUST HAVE TICKETS.

The only entrance to the music platform on the occasion of the laying of the corner-stone of the Lewis and Clark monument, by President Roosevelt, on Thursday, will be at the head of Park avenue, which can be reached by taking the Washington-street car to St. Clair street, and thence up St. Clair street to Park avenue.

Those who are to sing in the chorus can obtain tickets admitting to the music platform, on application to the con-402 Marquam building, on Wednesday, May 20, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., on Thursday morning, from 10 to 12, or at the Taylor-Street Church, Third and Taylor streets, on Wednesday evening, from 8 to 9:30.

All members of the chorus must be in their seats on the music platform not later than 4 P. M. on Thursday.
