PORTLAND GETS IT

Railway Conductors Choose Meeting Place for 1905.

WOMEN LEND STRONG SUPPORT

Boston Makes a Game Fight, but Reckons Without the Fair Sex, and Is Defeated by a Regular Landslide.

PITTSBURG, May 19 .- (Special.)-Portland tanded the blennial convention of the Order of Railway Conductors in 1905 almost without an effort tonight. So complete was the landslide in its favor that the rollcall of the delegates was not finished when the vote was taken. Less than two-thirds of the names were called when it was discovered that it was no use to go any further.

Portland had the meeting cinched. Ros ton had made a game fight for the convention, but it reckoned without the women. Almost unanimously the wives of the conductors gave their aid to the Portland comers, and when it came to a test their strength was shown. The choice was tremendously popular, and the added attractions of a trip to the Pacific Coast already promises to make the attendance two years hence even greater than it was here. The convention when closed tonight was the largest and most successful ever held by the order.

Among the last work of the convention was the re-election of F. C. Smith, of Detroit, as grand inside sentinel, and U. C. Ferguson, of Ogden, Utah, as grand outside sentinel. The convention of the ladies' auxiliary will probably close with to-morrow's session. The auxiliary re-elect-ed Mrs. J. H. Moore, of Toledo, O., grand

GATHERING OF CONFEDERATES. Veterans' Joy at Meeting Somewhat

Dimmed by Illness of Chief. NEW ORLEANS, May 19.—Today at noon the 18th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans was opened United Confederate Veterans was opened in the great auditorium at the Fair Grounds. The weather was perfect, and over the beauty and success of the day there was but a single shadow, and that promises to disappear before the morning. This was the illness of General Gordon, the commander-in-chief of the organization. He was not well when he left was the commander of the organization. his hotel for the auditorium, and has not been in his usual health for several days. He was not able to attend the afternoon sension at the auditorium, and remained quietly in his room, receiving no visitors. His condition is in no manner serious, and he expects to be present tomorrow. General J. J. Levert, commander of the Louisiana division of the Confederate Vetgrans, called the assembly to order, and introduced the chaplain, Rev. J. W. William Jones, who delivered an eloquent invocation. Then in succession came speeches of welcome to the veterans from Mayor Paul Capdeville, of New Orleans; Governor W. W. Heard, of Louisiana, and others. The Governor said:

"Veterans, the outcome of the struggle that you carried on four long years against the most powerful forces and armaments that the world has yet seen, manner or sense can obscure glory and fame that you won for Dixle's land. It is not extravagant to say that the 600,000 Confederates confronted a coalision of his address General Gordon led to the front of the platform Mrs. Stone-wall Jackson and said:

"It was my fortune, and I will never cease to thank God that it was my fortune, to follow, to know well and to love Stonewall Jackson. He is not here, but the best half of him is here in the person of his wife. Comrades, I present to you Mrs. Stonewall Jackson." Wild there sweet the hall. "And here's a young the stone of the said of the stone of the said of the said of the said of the said."

OFF FOR OREGON. Jackson," called out the General, leading forward a pretty girl, Miss Julia Jackson Christian, the grand-daughter of the famous soldier. As he spoke he kissed her, and the cheers were redoubled for the General and the girl.

the General and the girl.

John H. Reagan, the sole surviving member of the Davis Cabinet, then made an address, and an adjournment was taken until the afternoon. After the speech the cheering for General Gordon was resumed with re-loubled energy.

The address of Judge Rodgers consumed the entire afternoon. The convention will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Sons of Veterans met at noon by to Crescent Theater, but transacted no usiness beyond listening to welcoming addresses and appointing various committees. The feature of the evening was the ball given by the Washington Artil-lery at the Armory.

It is alleged that the complainant, de siring to make interstate shipments of coal from mines at Irwin, Johnstown. Jeanette and Marchand, at divers times notified the road to furnish the cars, but that the cars were not provided, but at the same time cars were being furnished to competitors.

In its answer the Pennsylvania Company alleges that the plaintiff is not regularly engaged in mining coal, but is a druggist. During the antifracite strike last year, it alleges the plaintiff and others purchased the right from farmers to dig coal, and after hauling it to some siding of the company, loaded it by hand from the

At first, it is alleged, the railroad grant-ed requests for cars for such service, but, realizing that if this plan became more general, injury would follow not only to the railroad, but to the public, the railroad determined to refuse to furnish cars for such loading.
