Both teams played with snap and ginger, and, while Shleids pluched the better game and had slit-edge support at all times, the work of Semple, considering that this was the fourth time in as many days that he has faced the Browns, was exceptionally good. This ohap has a great baseball head on his young shoulders, and will come in for considerable notice from the baseball rit-ics when he goes south. He has caught the Eastern trick of whipping the ball over the plate when the batter is not in position to swat, and three times yester-day he worked the trick cleverly. Heas, by his good work, has captured the Portland fans. They like the way he handles himself and the markings of a good baseball player are apparent. In ad-dition to getting a two-bagger he diso, by a clever trick of pretending to allow a passed ball, coaxed 2legler to try for home, only to be caught by the jerk of a lambitn's tail by Shields as he came tearing for home. #### The First Victory.

The Pirates started out to take the first game by storm, but they had to reef up the mninsuil before they got out far. With the "Jolly Roger" flying at the staff, Mr. Woaver went to first on a base on balls, and he immediately stole second. Fred Weed, he of Webfoot fame, sent a liner out between second and third which scored Weaver for the first run of the game and put Weed himself on second. But the pace could not stand, for two men went out in order and Burns' high fly to "Tacks" Parrott retired the side.

toward him, and as it neared the base toward him, and as it neared the base he fell on it with such might that it sailed high to the back center field. Andy sped home from first, and when the dust cleared away Little Ira was discovered to be back center field. The same man was at the bat for a starter, and he commanced home" from first, and when the dust cleared away Little Ira was discovered perched contentedly on the second hag as if he were accustomed to such per-formances every day or so. But that ended the fireworks for the inling, and the Greens had to be content with a til score for a moment or two. The third was well under way when Houtz got all the way around to second or Painter's averthrow to Days and in the second first moment or the firework to be the second of second first second for the inling and the Greens had to be content with a til score for a moment or two.

the Greens had to be content with a tie score for a moment or two. The third was well under way when Houtz got all the way around to second on Painter's overthrow to Davis, and then scored on Weaver's three-hagger. Painter, however, redeemed himself an in-stant later, when he made a magnificent stop of Marshall's red-hot liner and got the meant at fact. the man out at first. Weaver was still on third, and he made his tally on the throw-in of a long fly knocked to the cen-ter-fielder by Fred Weed, thus giving the Friscos a lead of two.

A musty decision of venerable Umpire Huston spoiled what was by rights a fine double in the beginning of the fourth, the pivot of which was the quick-acting Donahue. This piece of injustice eventually allowed Glendon to score, which only added to the Pirates' lead.

Greens Turn the Tide.

But the ride was stemmed in the last half of the same inning, when Andy made first on an error of Eksey and went to third helped by a nice hit of Davis. Harmon sacrificed in neat shape, and Andy was booked to come home on Painter's drive, but he was a second late and out. Then a wild pitch half way between third and between third home scored Davis, and the hopes of the Greens were greatly revived. The 'Friscoltes went out in one-two three order in the second. The last was our old friend Martin Glendon, who at one time was considered a hero by every little boy in Portland. Martin played good ball yesterday, but he wasn't up to the game in the second. He smote mightly at the sphere as it hurtled toward him, once, twice and again, but each time he smote the air, and Manager McCloskey gargled sweet words of profamity from his little throne on the players' bench. A double in the fourth was nice to look upon, and again Donahue was the cen tral point, getting the ball from Land-bom and snapping it to "Slats" Davis.

Portland Doubles Score.

In the fifth Portland doubled the score some nice hitting work. Do and then Deisel. But the great Thomas failed to connect. The Brown management is certainly kind to the ludies. Hereafter when the team is playing at Twenty-fourth an Vaughn streets there will be two "ladies days" each week-Thursday and Friday. This change has been made because Thursday is the regular calling day among Portland's smart set, and owing to these social duties which must be attended to, the games cannot be witnessed on Thursday. By giving the women two free days each week, they will be given a chance to see the Browns in action and at the same time not neglect their social calls.
