Dugdale's Chinooks stepped on the necks of the Greengages yesterday afternoon, and before they withdrew their spikes from that tender part of their anatomy the score stood 6 to 3. Hogg did the serving for Dug's bunch. He ozoned eight, gave eight free tickets to the first way station, jammed the horsehide into the middle structure of Lundbom and at the same time allowed the Greengages only three widely scattered hits. And this was not all of the pranks that Hogg cut up during the session. Twice he sulked like a spoiled baby deprived of the joys of playing in the mud. His first outbreak came when the game was droaning along like a snail traveling up hill. Freeman threw a ball to him that was swift, and he passed a few uncomplimentary things to the big first guardian. Then he got into a tangle with Stanley and Hulen, and for a time it looked as if he would walk off the diamond. In the ninth and closing chapter, after Shay had jolted out a double-sacker, he walked Hanley, who had made a triple in the fourth inning, and Harmon. Then, just to show that he did not fear Dugdale or Captain Hulen, he forced a run by hitting Lundbom. Hulen got so frightened at Hogg's case of sulks that he began to warm up another pitcher.

Umpire Grows Offensive.

This bit of diamond strenuousness and Umpire Huston's driving Slats Davis off the ground were about the only interesting features of the day. Davis got into trouble with Huston because the umpire ordered Lundbom to "play ball" in a most offensive manner. A foul had tipped its way off Lundbom's bat. The Greengage pitcher claimed to have been hit on the finger by the ball, and was endeavoring to ease the pain by rubbing the injured digit in the sand near the home plate. Huston did not believe the pitcher had been hit, and, using a slave-driver's voice, ordered the Swede back into the game. Then Slats broke forth and said things, and for his unrequested comment he was driven to the clubhouse. Shay went to first base, but even this change could not help matters. Parrott's timely swats were sadly missed. He turned his ankle, and it will be days before he is soaking the ball all over the lot. Chick Fisher floated into Grim's camp, and he did some very creditable work at short. Painter went into left garden, and it was with this line-up that the game was played.

It was Hanley's triple in the fourth after Anderson had walked that gave the Greengages their first score, and it was not until the ninth inning that they had another look-in at the home pan. In spite of Hogg's wildness, not a Greengage got as far as third base until that last inning, and this part of the story has been told. With the Chinooks it was different. In the second canto, Drennon hit and was advanced to second on Babbit's out from Davis to Lundbom. Stanley poked out his triple, and, while Hogg was ozoning, he scored on a passed ball. In the fourth inning a two-bagger by Drennon, followed shortly by a double-sacker by Stanley, brought in another run. In the fifth chapter, Hulen drew a fielder's choice and stole third. He scored while Freeman, who had got to first by being hit, was dying at second. Two singles and a double and an error by Harmon gave Seattle the fifth tally. In the ninth inning a compound error by Donahue gave them the sixth and last run. By a fast and heady play, Donahue helped his team out of trouble in the eighth inning. Hulbert was tearing from home on Babbitt's buntation, and Lundbom, Davis and Donahue were after it. Donahue got the ball, and, climbing half over Lundbom's shoulder, threw to Anderson, catching Hulbert just as he was getting in the clear. The score:

HILL NINE WINS IN NINTH.

Heavy Batting Loses Portland Academy Final Game of Series.

Yesterday afternoon the baseball teams of the Hill Military Academy and Portland Academy crossed bats in the final game of the series scheduled among the preparatory schools of Portland. The game was a close one from the start, full of close plays and good work on both sides, and aroused the bleachers to cheers in the ninth inning, when, with a score of 2 to 5 against them, the Hill boys took a mighty brace, found their batting eyes, and batted out a victory by scoring five runs. The final score was 7 to 5 in favor of the H. M. A.

The star feature of the game was the phenomenal pitching of Martin for H. M. A., who struck out 14 men. He was given excellent support by the entire team, Whiting, Alexander, Van Houten and Rountree particularly distinguishing themselves. For the P. A., the best playing was done by Chalmers, Houston, Moreland and Stott.

A neat double play was made in the fifth inning, when Martin nailed a hot liner directly off the bat and whipped it over to first base, thus retiring the side. The teams follow:

H. M. A.	Position.	P. A.
Whiting	c.	Stott

M'CARTHY DEFEATS CHRISTIE.

Contest for Utah Championship Ends in a Free-for All Fight.

SALT LAKE, June 10.—Jerry McCarthy, of Butte, Mont., defeated Jack Christie, of Salt Lake, in the ninth round of a rather one-sided fight here tonight, winning the welter-weight championship of Utah. McCarthy had the best of the going from the start, and in the ninth round Christie's seconds threw up the sponge. The work of the referee was unsatisfactory to the crowd, and at the end of the match was the signal for a free-for-all fight, which was stopped by the Sheriff.

TRY TO BUY AND KILL

Attempt of Pacific National to End Opposition.

BY GETTING BROWN FRANCHISE

Two Offers Were Made for Both Portland and Seattle Teams of Coast League, but Owners Refused to Sell.

What would you have thought if this morning you had read that the Pacific Coast franchises of Portland and Seattle had been sold to friends of the Pacific National League and that the Browns and Parke Wilson's crew had been culled to the cream? This would have set you talking as you never have in your life before, wouldn't it? Well, all this did not take place, but there was a full-fledged rumor that such a plan was not only sanctioned by the Pacific National League people, but that the deals were under way in both cities.

In Portland, after the office boy had sleuthed and played the Sherlock Holmes act for several hours, the rumor proved to be as elusive as a sunbeam, but at the same time enough was learned to almost establish a case. Of course the directors of the Browns were hunted up, but they were silent, oh! so silent. From other sources, however, it was learned that not long ago an attempt had been made to buy the Portland Pacific Coast franchise. A fancy price was offered, but it was not for sale, and from what was said on the subject yesterday it—the franchise—never was for sale. Shortly after the offer to buy the Portland Browns was made, it is said that certain directors learned that the deal to buy the club was for the purpose of getting it out of existence and thereby to deal a deadly blow to the Pacific Coast League.

The second attempt to buy the Browns was set afoot within the past two weeks. Not only have outsiders been trying to buy the club, but a couple of local men with money, believing that the club in the Pacific Coast League would be a money maker in Portland, were willing to purchase it. These men, it might be well to mention, had no intention of buying the club for the alleged purpose of helping kill off the Pacific Coast League. It was outside money placed in the hands of certain local persons through whom the "death-dealing" blow was to be delivered. In a word, the club was to be bought, presumably by men who were to stick with the Pacific Coast—only they did not intend to stick. The deal fell through because the principal stockholders whose money is backing the Browns have no desire to sell.

That this story has some foundation seems certain, but just who is behind it and where the leak came from cannot be brought home. In spite of the silence of certain parties mixed up in local baseball, everything points to an attempt at such a deal. Neither could it be confirmed that President Lucas had given his sanction, or had a hand in the deal. If the scheme could be worked, it would without doubt be rather a neat coup d'etat. There is, however, no chance of a deal of this sort being pulled off in Portland, because, as has been stated, the Browns are not for sale. This is the emphatic statement of the directors. They are with the Pacific Coast League to the end, so that's ended. In Seattle, from what could be learned last night, there is absolutely no chance to work the deal. The men who are financing the Pacific Coast League in the Sound city also declare that their franchise is not for sale.

Perhaps one of the things that might have given some steam to this tale is the presence of Milton L. Schmitt, of San Francisco. Mr. Schmitt is a stockholder and attorney for the San Francisco Pacific National League club. He has been in Portland a week looking over the baseball situation and on personal business. He was seen last night at the Portland Hotel, but denied most emphatically that he was in Portland for the purpose of helping the deal along. He said: "I know nothing about any such attempt to oust the Pacific Coast League from Portland and Seattle. I doubt very much whether such a deal would be permitted under the National agreement under which we joined the National Association of Baseball Leagues. If the thing could have been worked successfully, it would certainly help to crush the Pacific Coast League."

There were other things which Mr. Schmitt told, but they were in the nature of confidence, so they will not be mentioned. The fact remains that two different attempts have been made to buy the Brown franchise.

Glendon and Stovall Did Not Jump.

It was Mr. Schmitt who rounded up the missing Martin Glendon and Jesse Stovall, who, it was thought, had jumped to the opposition. Stovall and Glendon did jump, but it was into several flagons of Portland beer and gin, and not to the opposition.

Stovall and Glendon strayed from McCloskey's fold on the eve of their departure, and it was not until McCloskey counted noses at the train that he discovered that two of his pitchers were among the missing. It was too late to send out scouting parties among Portland's famous thirst joints, so McCloskey wired to Mr. Schmitt, asking him to get the two pitchers on board a train, which Mr. Schmitt did.

The Bay City attorney found the pitchers and saw to it that they boarded a train. Glendon went straight through Helena, but Stovall, whose finger was broken during the game last Sunday, will remain in Seattle until the San Francisco team arrives to play the series with Dugdale when he will return from Portland.

MUNICIPAL ROW CAUSES STRIKE.

Railroad Men Walk Out to Secure Discharge of a Councilman.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 10.—Twelve hundred employes of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, including the office force, struck today, when the company refused to discharge William Davis, a carpenter. Davis, who is a member of the City Council, recently voted along with a majority of the Council to take from Mayor Buck his authority to name the standing committees for the ensuing year, this being the termination of a fight between the Mayor and Chief of Police. Policemen appointed by the Mayor were discharged and others named contrary to his wishes.

Mayor Buck, being a member of the Blacksmiths' Labor Union, his fellow-laborers demanded that the company discharge Davis.

PITTSBURG, June 10.—The number of men locked out by the tie-up in the building trades was increased today to 8500, and this number probably will be trebled by the end of the week.

VETERANS THANK ROOT.

Confederates' President and Secretary Root Exchange Letters.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—After the close of the Confederate Reunion at New Orleans there was an exchange of letters between General John B. Gordon, President of the Confederate Veterans' Association, and Secretary Root. General Gordon wrote:

"My Dear Secretary: Please accept from me and the United Confederate Veterans, whom I represent, the assurance of our sincere appreciation of your generous course in urging the provision for a roster of all ex-Confederates as well of ex-Union soldiers. The readiness of all Confederates to co-operate with you was also fully expressed."

Secretary Root, under date of June 6, replied as follows:

"My Dear General Gordon: I thank you for your kind letter of May 28, advising me of the gratifying way in which the Confederate Veterans look upon my course in regard to the publication of a roster of ex-Confederates and ex-Union soldiers. I beg you to believe that I fully appreciate and highly prize this expression. I think next to the splendid fighting which was done on both sides in the Civil War, the re-establishment of friendly relations and common sympathies between the two sections within the lifetime of the very men who fought so desperately against each other is a high title to respect for Americans by all the world."

Did Not Affect His Wells.

UNION, Or., June 10.—(Special.)—The case of Cavanna vs. the Oregon Sugar Company, which occupied three days in the Circuit court, has been decided in favor of the company. It was claimed that the defendant company placed refuse matter on the ground at the sugar factory, the seepage from which contaminated the wells on the plaintiff's farm, three-eighths of a mile away, and damages in the sum of $8000 were asked; but the jury did not think the factory was the cause of the poor water in plaintiff's wells.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 10.—(Special.)—Portland won today by 10 to 3 because George Engle pitched championship ball, and every member of the Browns got into the game and backed him up both at the bat and in the field. The one error made by Portland was that of Anderson, and it came on a hard chance. He got the ball, but the play was fast and he threw a little wide. Hess caught the ball, and it looked as if the runner was out, but the umpire decided otherwise.

Raidy made two fine running catches, and Schmeer played a great game at third. One of the hits off Engle was a scratch, as Schmeer got the ball, but his weak ankle turned under him as he started to throw. The work of Nadeau at the bat was a feature. He beat out two bunts, and cracked the ball out hard on two other occasions. Zinssar's home run was a fluke. Van Buren tried to scoop the ball, but missed and it rolled into the tall grass and was lost.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, June 10.—(Special.)—The track men today chose Alfred Gilbert, the present track captain, to head the athletic team again next Spring. Mr. Gilbert, who registers from Portland, is one of the best all-round athletes in the state. On the track he has proved himself a sure point-winner, doing over 20 feet in the broad jump and 10 feet 5 inches in the pole vault. He also excels in all kinds of indoor athletics, being an expert performer upon the bar and rings, a clever bag puncher, and has beaten the world's record in the long dive before the Multnomah Club and defeated Edgar Frank, champion bantam weight wrestler of the Northwest. As soon as school is out Mr. Gilbert will leave for the Chautauqua, N. Y., Summer school, where he will be brought into contact with the best athletes and trainers of the country, and will take a course which will help him much in his athletic work here next year.

Already every member of the present track team, with the exception of Walker, ope of the distance men, have assured Captain Gilbert of their intention to return to Pacific, and with what new material can be developed this institution will have the strongest track team in its history.

A meeting of the student body was called today to consider means of raising money to defray the indebtedness of the athletic department. A statement of the finances showed a total deficit of over $100. For several years it has been almost impossible for the athletic management to meet the expense of hiring football coaches and track trainers with the somewhat limited resources. To put athletics upon a more solid basis it was voted to petition the trustees to increase the individual athletic fee from 50 cents to $1 per term, and $3 for the school year. To meet the present indebtedness the treasurer was instructed to borrow the necessary amount and give as security an order upon the incidental fee of the first term of the next school year. The proposed increase of the athletic fee to $3 per year places the entire incidental tax for each student at $6 for the year.
