SEATTLE, Wash., June II.—(Special.)—Ike Butler pitched steady ball today, and Portland won much more easily than the score would indicate. Seattle could not hit safely when hits meant runs, while the visitors never failed to get the needed hit with men on bases.

Portland took two in the third, when errors by Campbell and Zinssar put Engle and Raidy on the sacks, and they count-ed on Van Buren's drive to center. The next pair were carned, Van Buren beating out a bunt in the sixth, Nadeau following with a hit, and both scoring on Anderson's double. The latter was thrown out trying to make third. The last run came on a couple of passes by Semple and Vigneux' safe drive to right. Schmeer is out of the game with a weak make, and Vigneux took his place. His two high throws to first helped Seattle to two runs. The score:

Brooklyn handicap winner, Irish Lad, Says he does not know definitely when the animal will be shipped to Chicago for the American Derby. After a consultation with Trainer Rogers he was asked a direct question as to whether his horse will start in the Derby.

"Well," he replied, "that has not been definitely agreed upon, but I suppose he will, Mr. Whitney seems to think we ought to try for the Derby, and I should say it is reasonably certain Irish Lad will be shipped to Chicago."

It is not probable that the trainer will go with the horse, as he has a number of horses under his care at Gravesend. It is unlikely that Irish Lad will start in the Suburban, owing to the hig penalty he incurred by winning the Brooklyn handicap.

OREGON, OUR OREGON. Paradise on Earth Found on State

Bordering on Pacific. PORTLAND, June 2.—(To the Editor.)
-The Lewis and Clark Expedition has already showed itself to be an important factor in selidifying and arousing the enthusiasm of the people of Oregon as well as the Pacific Coast States, and will prove a lasting benefit to them all. I do firmly believe that today is the brightest day Oregon ever had. The United States, as well as the rest of the world, are beginning to realize the commercial possibilities of the Pacific Ocean, also the min eral and agricultural wealth contained in Oregon. California, Washington and Alaska. These Coast States will sustain In the distant future the most dense pop-ulation of any in the United States. They have the best of soil, the most delightfui climate to be found on this planet—no extreme heat, cyclones, or cold blizzards; no lightning and thunder, to wreck the nerve-centers of the living, or to shake up the bones of the burted dead. A paradise on earth can be found in the border states on the shores of the Pa-

This statement of truths has certainly caused the farseeing and wise ones of the Atlantic and Middle West, and the think-Atlantic and Middle West, and the thinking world at large, to pack their grips.
For thousands are arriving daily, inveating in timber, mines and lands, securing and harnessing water powers that have for ages plunged from disay heights,
using this God-given power in the mines, and to turn the spindles in manufacturing raw material, which Oregon has in seemingly everlasting abundance. No state possesses greater opportunities than does Oregon for the profitable investment of capital, or for the individual, man or woman, to place his or her feel firmly on the rounds of the ladder of success. One's capital need only be common sense, propthe rounds of the ladder of success. One's capital need only be common sense, properly mixed with pluck, push and energy. Oregon has a climate second to none, having a people the very cream of the earth, some $50,000—only a handful, so to speak, when we consider that Oregon contains $6,000 square miles of land. Her matchless streams abound in the finest salmon and trout in the world, and her forests teem with game. Oregon can salmon and trout in the world, and her forests teem with game. Oregon can truthfully be called "the hunter's paradise," as well as the home-builders' heaven of contentment. For no better can be found. All that Oregon lacks is people. The first of them are now arriving—the 2-cent postage stamp will do the rest, with the great benefits of the publicity given to the Pacific Coast States by the Lewis and Clark Exposition to be held in Portland in 19%.

A Model of the Taj Mahal. Milwaukee Sentinel.

An alabaster model of the Taj Mahat, said to be one of the most perfect pieces of architecture in the world, has been added to the Nunemacher collection in the public museum. The original is located at Agra, India, and was built in 1530 by the grand mogul, Shah Jehan. The model is about eight inches square, and has all the fine carvings that has made the Taj the gem among the buildmade the Taj the gem among the build-ings of the world. The model was made in India, and at the time of its purchase by the museum management was a part of the Arthur Little private collection. The Taj was built by Shah Jehan, the founder of Delhi and the grandest of the grand moguis. The Taj is a mausoleum built for his favorite wife, Argamand Sanu, who was a Tartar Princess, not for her beauty and wit. The tomb 188 feet square and 20 feet to the top the dome. It is raised on a plinth white marble 312 feet square, which which is white marbie 312 feet square, which is 18 feet above the level of the garden. In all the world no Queen has had such a monument. It took 20,000 workmen 22 years to build it, and all India furnished the material. It is made of white marble, and all the architectural details are heightened by being hisid with precious stones in flower combinations and frets. Hartford, Conn., Times. Some people will be astonished to hear that the Ordnance Department of the Army has been obliged to contract with the Erhardt Company, of Dusseldorf, Ger-many, to build 50 of the new 3-inch field guns for the United States Army, for the reason that the ordnance manufacturing money to be spent abroad on this contract is over $2,000,000.
