WOMAN PUTS BANTAM TO PLIGHT .- A crowd of men, who were watching the brutality of a tiny bantam rooster on Front street yesterday, received a wellperited rebuke from a woman, who came along, and the bantam also had some of the conceit knocked out of him. The lit-tle ruffian had found a coop full of big roosters on the sidewalk, and was amus-ing himself by walking back and forth on the slats across the top and picking the combs and occasionally the eyes of the imprisoned fowls, who could not make any return nor defend themselves. A lot of men looked on smilingly, enjoying the bantam's luxurious soft snap, but making no effort to see fair plany. Presently a wuman came along, and, taking in the situation, told the men they must be a lot of cowardly curs to stand and see the imprisoned fewis abused, and then she siatted the little bantam with her para-sol, and he thought he had been struck by a typhoon, and ran off trailing his tail feathers in the dust. The most singular thing of all was that the woman went on her way without saying anything more to shame the men.

BRUTALITY TO A HORSE.—The treatment a horse received from the driver of a butcher cart on Washington street aroused the indignation of an old teamster yesterday. The driver of the cart had placed a box with meat or fish in it on the front of the cart, and, in crossing a car track, the box fell off, striking the horse on the rump and failing on his gambreis must have burt him severely. The poor brute naturally kicked up and started to run. The driver sawed on the bit enough to tear the jaw off the frightened brute, and when a man came up and took hold of the bridle and stopped the horse the driver got down and pro-ceeded to beat him with a rope. Then the old teamster came to the front and put a stop to the brutality and proceeded to deliver a brief lecture on driving, the gist of which was that a driver ought to have re sense than a horse, but seldom had. At the end the driver took his seat and

BASEBALL TODAY, 2:30. WASH RIVER SAND .- A man buying rubber valves for a pulsometer yesterday was asked what he used a pulsometer for. He said he used it to wash sand for building purposes. All such sand, though dredged from the bottom of the river, has to be washed. It is dredged by buckets on an elevator and emptied into a wire screen, and the pulsometer keeps a stream of water pouring on it. The light rubbish, as leaves, bits of wood, etc., passes out at the end of the screen overboard, and the sand falls into a vat into ard, and the sand falls into a vat into which water is pouring, and all the clay or "dirt" in the sand flows out with the water less ing only clean sand, which is taken from the tank and placed on the sand dock. Few would imagine that sand

APPLIES CAME Too LATE.—Fifty-four boxes of apples from the headwaters of Hood River, away up near the snows of Mount Hood, arrived here a few days ago as the last of the senson. There were in the lot a few boxes of Yellow Newtown Pippins in very good condition, which are seiling at $2.50 per box, but the shipper is not likely to repeat his experiment of keeping apples too long. The contents of some of the boxes are small, and so discolored and decayed that no one can tell what variety they belong to, and but few want to know.

PIONEERS, PLEASE NOTICE.-The final eting of the Woman's Auxiliary having in charge the preparation of the banquet for the pioneers after the literary exer-cises next Wednesday afternoon was held at the home of the chairman of the auxiiat the home of the chairman of the auxiliary yesterday afternoon. The attendance of members of the auxiliary was large, and an enthusiastic meeting was held as a result of the liberal responses made from many sources to the requests for supplies of food of various kinds. There are a few articles, however, of which there is not yet enough, viz: Hams, bread and cake. So those who have not yet responded will kindly bear this in mind. The pleasure of the meeting was sadly marred by the consciousness that one of the most faithful members of the auxiliary—a charter member—Mrs. J. H. McMillen, was lying seriously ill at her McMillen, was lying seriously ill at her home on Crosby street. Fixe Rie Prox Diller.—A bundle of rye, 5½ feet in height, mixed with vetches 5 feet in height, was brought in for the permanent exhibit yesterday by W. K. Newell, of Diller, as a sample of the hay he has been putting in. Mr. Newell is the Commissioner of Horticulture for the First District, and conducts a dairy besides growing fruit and farming on quite a large scale. He says the rye and vetches were sown the day before Thanksgiving, and cut June 2, and yielded four tons to the acre. The hay is good for horses and cattle, though not quite so good for horses as timothy. As soon as the hay was off the ground, he planted it to corn for ensitage, and so will raise two crops in one year. He has ten acres in vetches, which he will cut and put in a slio next week. When Mr. Newell wont on his farm, it yielded him it bushels of oats to the acre for a first crop. Now he has harvested 110 bushels of oats to the acre, and other things in proportion, the result of having a dairy on the farm. Mr. Newell was surprised to find that the permanent exhibit had not been placed in its new quarters in the Failing building yet, but Secretary Lamberson says he hopes to be in there about July 1. This young star has made a splendid record for himself-producing some of the best plays in the most artistic manner, and surstated that all who wish may attend the public exercises to the extent that there is room in the music hall of the Exposi-tion Building after the pioneers are all seated, but no one will be admitted to the in the most artistic manner, and sur-rounding himself with a capable com-pany. Sents are selling rapidly for this final week and big houses are sure to greet Mr. General Jackson at New Orleans. Mr. Revenne built the first bridge across the Sandy, over which the road to Mount Hood passed in early days. He is now 26 years of age, but spry, active and jovial, and is able to read The Oregonian daily without glasses. The class of attractions which will appear at this theater has never been seen in the West, except in San Francisco, up to this time, and the Empire will afford theater-goers an opportunity from now on to witness "polite vaudeville," a term which has been woefully abused in the past. CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR. Dandruff, Which Is a Germ Disease

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ discase. The germ in burrowing into the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales, called dandruff or sourf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. For sale by all druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detrott, Michigan. --- Kill the Germ.
