J. N. Davis Will Advise the Portland Committee.

MORE THAN $20,000 ON HAND

Foreman of Portland Workmen Will Return Today to Confer as to the Final Disposition of the Fund.

The return of J. N. Davis, in charge of the Portland workmen at Heppner, expected today, will give the Portland relief committee an idea of the work that must be done at Heppner. Mr Davis has been specially instructed to investigate conditions along Willow Creek, and will be to explain what the relief commit-

There is now more than $20,000 on hand, There is now more than $2,000 on hand, which the local committee will disburse at Heppner and in adjoining districts. A part of this has already been spent, some in providing provisions, plothing and bedding required during the early hours of the town's loss, and a portion in keeping a big force of workmen busy in clearing sway the debris that was washed down by the fined. by the flood

Various estimates have been placed upon the amount the Portland committee has sent or guaranteed. The fact that the bills for services rendered at Heppner have not been returned makes the total uncertain, but it will probably not amount to more than $11.99. The committee can now see that at least $5.990 will be tendered it to relieve the situation, and the disbursement of the amounts not already guaranteed is a perplexing problem for the local workers

Despite the fact that numerous inquirles have been directed toward ascertaining the needs of the Heppner people in the permanent rebuilding or restoration work. the answers have been unsatisfactory and vague. It is realized by the local commit-tee that so long as any semblance of chaos prevails the Heppiner committee will not be able to return a definite statement of the requirements of the people of that community. It is just possible that Mr. Davis will have been able to gather a summary of losses and needs that will aid the committee.

Judging from the sentiments of commit-teemen and the present showing from Heppner, an effort will be made by the local organization to close up its accounts soon. The money on hand is very apt to be turned over to the Heppner committee or a delegation sent from this city to disor a delegation sent from this city to dis-burse as the future may require. The Heppner relief committee will probably soon relegate itself to the subordinate position of exercising general supervision over future benefits. The entertainment to be given by the American-born Chi-nese, a boxing exhibition and the sham battle to be held on July 4 are the prin-cipal events for the future. The proposal cipal events for the future. The proposal cipal events for the future. The proposal for a basehall game on Sunday has been received and subscriptions continue to pour in. But apparently there is no longer any necessity for an organized effort on behalf of Heppner, and the committee will close up its affairs as soon as possible. The Evening Telegram, which has maintained a subscription list from the beginning, turned over $16.30 late yes-terday afternoon, which is included in the total named. In addition, $100 was puld in by Waterhouse & Lester through the Journal, and the citizens of Rainier con-tributed $70. The employes of Oceanic dock added $55, the employes of the Northern Pacific Lumber Company $40, and Eu-reka Council, No. 394, Knights and Ladies of Security, gave $25 each to Heppner and

The Fourth of July auditing committee The Fourth of July auditing committee held a meeting yesterday morning and found that $750 was left after paying the bills that were presented. The Fourth of July committee has sent collecters out to bring in that portion of the fund that is yet uncollected. It is altogether probable that not less than 2500 or $2500 will be turned over to the sufferers from this account. Since the acrical benefit Tuesday have not been ad

BIG SHAM BATTLE PLANNED.

Third Regiment to Unite With Regulars From Vancouver.

For the benefit of the Heppner flood sufferers a big sham battle is to be given on the Fourth of July on the Irvington race track. The Third Regiment of the Oregon National Guard, assisted by reg-ular soldiers from Vancouver Barracks, are to present the biggest and noisiest battle ever heard in the state. Definite plans for the benefit hattle were made last evening at a meeting of repre-sentatives of the citizens' Fourth of July committee and the officers of the Third Regiment in the rooms of the Commercial Rub. Now that the fund previously raised for a usual celebration of Inde-pendence day has gone to the relief of the Heppner people, the committee will the Heppner people, the committee will support the benefit sham battle as partially taking the place of the expected celebration Every cent of the proceeds is to go to Heppner. The track has been donated without cost, the soldiers will go through the evolutions without charging the committee for their time, and the State of Oregon will supply the powder which is to make all the noise necessary for a proper celebration of the day

KILLED BY ROLLING PILES.

O'Reflly for $5000,

The trial of the $5000 damage suit of Frederick D. Macdonald, father of 4-year-old Maurice Macdonald, who was killed by rolling piles on March 19, 1966, against Drake C. O'Reilly, was commenced yester-day before Judge Frazer and a jury. The fatal accident occurred at the corner of Tenth and Irving streets, where O'Reilly is engaged in building a warehouse. Macdonald sues to recover as ad-ministrator of the child's estate. The piles which were used in the founda-tion were placed on Irving street. According to testimony offered, they were lodged against a billboard which served as a prop. This was afterwards removed, leaving no support for the piles. Maurice, the fittle boy, was playing on the piles, when several of them rolled over on top when several of them rolled over on top of him and crushed him to death. As a proposition of law, Henry E. Mc-Ginn, plaintiff's attorney, argued and read authorities showing that piles of new lumber attract children to play, and per-sons in control of the lumber are bound to plie it safely to prevent accidents. Carelessly piling lumber in a public street or using the street as a lumber yard is a public nuisance. Mr. McGinn read from a decision in which it was held by the court that even where persons have obtained permission from the city authorities to place lumber in a street to be used in building purposes they are under obligation to exercise reasonable care, so that injuries shall not result. It must be

It is alleged that Smith, while president of the company, fraudulently obtained 14107 from the treasury and appropriated the same to his own use, and refused to refund the amount upon demand. The complaint states further that Fleming, Polythons A. Habarille and Pickins. Norway has a fair chance, in these days of steam, to come out of the Arctic Circle by way of the westward passage through Behring Straits. It may interest your readers to know the manner in which the dip of magnetic needle will be observed by the scientific staff of the Gjos. A thin slender bar of steel is magnetized and suspended on its center in a graduated circle, the pivots being sharp-pointed. The bar is then vibrated. When motion ceases, the north and south points are read on the circle. This is repeated four times, then the cast face of the needle is changed to west and a similar set of observations are re-corded. After these 16 readings the needle is removed from the circle and the bar is demagnetized, thus making the north end south and vice versa. The readings are then repeated, thus requiring 32 records to complete one absolute observation. The imperfections of construction are thus eliminated as far as possible. It requires quite a number of these absolute observations to be made before a satisfactory result can be established. On our expedition, such tests as are decribed above were made at a temperature of from 30 to 60 degrees below zero. The patient endurance of the operator can be scarcely imagined.

The scientific, good results to be obtained from the re-location of the magnetic pole—co-related as they must be with deverse meteorological observations—will amply repay the hardships coincidently suffered in this research. These scientific data far outweigh the results ords to complete one absolute observa
