

HEPPNER IS CLEAN

Sanitary Conditions Are as Good as Before the Flood.

NO BODIES FOUND YESTERDAY

Search Is Still Made by a Force of Two Hundred Men—Three Small Boys Who Were Made Very Happy.

HEPPNER, Or., June 25.—(Special).—For the first time since the fatal 14th of June a day has passed without bringing to light the body of some unfortunate victim of the flood. Late yesterday evening the bodies of John Stein and Ora Kelley were found.

Stein was an accountant in the First National Bank of this city. Shortly before the flood he had gone to his room to take a nap. When found he was lying on a lounge with his arm locked around the side of it, and many believe that when the flood struck the house where he had his room the house was crushed and he was killed and afterward carried eight miles down the valley to where he was found lying just as he was when the wall of water came upon him. This morning his body was heroically sealed and shipped to Portland for burial.

Ora Kelley was the son of Thomas Kelley, who lived in Heppner. His body was found near that of Stein's. He was lying on a lounge with his arm locked around the side of it, and many believe that when the flood struck the house where he had his room the house was crushed and he was killed and afterward carried eight miles down the valley to where he was found lying just as he was when the wall of water came upon him. This morning his body was heroically sealed and shipped to Portland for burial.

The working force is now cut down to 20 men and 20 teams. This force will be kept at work searching among the drifts which line the valley from Heppner to Lexington for several days yet. The payroll now runs about $500 per day, which sum will be reduced as the working force can be lessened.

The increase of the relief fund has been very gratifying, as shown by the following list of contributions which have arrived today:

Many who were to the country or to the home of friends temporarily are now returning, and the call on the relief committee for supplies of groceries and clothing has been largely increased. Eighteen tents and 10 cook stoves had been given out at 6 o'clock this evening. This indicates that the people are preparing permanent places of abode instead of living temporarily wherever they can find a shelter.

The rooms of the relief committee are piled high with bedding, clothing and various other supplies. This department of the work, supervised by Mrs. Britton and Mrs. Lucas, has some of the most interesting cases of urgent necessity. Yesterday three ragged and dirty urchins showed up in front of this establishment. They were immediately taken in tow by the disinterested and their pedigree and wants inquired into, from which investigation it was learned that their mother was dead and they had no near relatives except their father, who was at work on a section hand. They were given in charge of a male attendant, who took them into the back yard, procured a tub of water, soap and scrubbing-brush, and proceeded to give the young hopefuls a thorough bath. In about an hour the trio emerged from the room of the committee looking much better, and their particular taste. One had a decidedly military appearance as he strutted about in a Bishop Scott uniform. A second wore a black velvet coat and a summer hat large enough for Prince Bismarck, while the third seemed impressively happy in a pair of velvet pants with bows on the knees, a ruffled shirt front and a cocked Tam o' Shanter.

The housekeeper is doing a thriving business. Yesterday he was busy strengthening up the house of William Ayers, Sr., and half a dozen similar jobs are awaiting him. The people are already beginning to figure on rebuilding their homes, and it is generally predicted that within three years Heppner will be a larger and better town than ever.

BAKER CITY FUND GROWING.

From Various Sources the Sum Will Reach $4000.

BAKER CITY, Or., June 25.—(Special).—The Heppner relief fund is steadily growing in this city. The committee in charge believes that more than $4000 will eventually be raised. Rev. Father Desmaria, of the Catholic Church, delivered a lecture Tuesday evening at the Opera-house on "Old Mexico," and raised about $50 from the voluntary contributions of those present.

The White Swan Band gave a concert last night, which realized about $100, and several more entertainments are booked for the week, which will help to swell the fund.

Over $170 From Independence.

INDEPENDENCE, Or., June 25.—(Special).—Independence has raised over $170 for the Heppner fund. A paper was circulated one day here by Mayor J. M. Stark, and the citizens of Independence both sent contributions from Independence.

Hogquam Making Up a Fund.

HOGQUAM, Wash., June 25.—(Special).—The citizens of Hogquam started a subscription fund this afternoon for the relief of the Heppner sufferers. Numerous subscriptions have been made, and they expect to realize quite a sum to send them.

Seaside Raises Celebration Fund. ASTORIA, Or., June 25.—(Special).—The residents of Seaside are making preparations to hold a celebration on the Fourth of July. At a mass meeting held last evening over $100 was raised and committees were appointed to have charge of the affair. Senator Mitchell has been invited to deliver the address.

Dundee Gives Handsome Sum. DUNDEE, Or., June 25.—(Special).—A box social was held at Groth's Hall Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Heppner sufferers. Over $200 was realized. In addition to this sum, some money has been sent from here by the Woodmen of the World. This makes a pretty good showing for a town of 125 population.

Harrisburg Lodges Add to Same. HARRISBURG, Or., June 25.—In addition to $100 already forwarded to the relief committee at Heppner from this city, the United Artists have subscribed $11 and the Degree of Honor $10, making a total for Harrisburg of $21.

NEW PRESIDENT IN CHARGE

McMINNVILLE COLLEGE WELCOMES PROFESSOR BRUMBACK.

Presidents of Other Institutions Take Part—Meeting of Alumni—Other Changes in Faculty.

McMINNVILLE, Or., June 25.—(Special).—One of the pleasantest events of commencement week at McMinnville College was the installation of her new president, Professor A. M. Brumback. A. M. Brumback, who had been on foot for some time. At 3 o'clock on Wednesday an appreciative audience gathered in the college chapel. It was President Brumback who had planned this first of McMinnville's public installations, and it was due in large part to his efforts that the event was a success. Upon the platform besides the retiring and the incoming president, representatives of the board of trustees, the faculty, the alumni, the city and of three sister institutions—Pacific University, Pacific College, and the University of Oregon.

The first speaker, Hon. Jacob Wortman,

SUPERINTENDENT OF OREGON CITY SCHOOLS.

OREGON CITY, June 24.—(Special).—Miss Addie E. Clark, of this city, who was recently elected City Superintendent of the Oregon City schools, is a native of Missouri. She prepared herself for the work of a teacher by attending the McMinnville College, from which she was graduated in 1899. The three following years were given to teaching in Polk and Yamhill counties. Seven years ago Miss Clark came to this city, and for two years was employed as a grade teacher in the West side school. She then accepted a similar position in the Barclay School, where she has labored for five years. During the last two years of that period Miss Clark served as principal of the Barclay School, in that capacity, as well as in all of her relations with the schools, Miss Clark has been very successful.

Mayor of McMinnville, in a few well-chosen words, extended the greetings of the city to the new president. Rev. A. J. Hunsaker, of the board of trustees, spoke briefly. Professor Emanuel Northup, on behalf of the faculty, told of his confidence in the new president. After several years' intimate association with him, the alumni were ably represented by A. E. Latourrette, Esq., of Portland, of the class of '94, who, while expressing sincere regret at the retirement of President Boardman, assured President Brumback of the loyal support of the alumni.

President Farrin, of Pacific University, was listened to with much interest. He welcomed the new president into the family of college presidents. President McGrew, of Pacific College, in a few spicy words extended the hearty greetings of his institution. President Campbell, of the State University, after a few words of regret at the retirement of President Boardman, whom he spoke of as having done very much for the educational betterment of the state, assured the new president and the college of the regard and well wishes of the State University.

President Brumback's introduction was a signal for hearty applause on the part of students and friends. After words of appreciation for the greetings accorded him, the new president, in his usually quiet and thoughtful manner, spoke for the future of the college, and the results of education.

The new president is a young man, a Western man, a man of science, a man well known and loved, a big man physically, by mentally and morally. He is himself an athlete, an investigator in science, a competent and thorough instructor, a humble follower of Christ, a man of friendly and cordial relations with all, and in the evening occurred the alumni banquet. After an able address by Hon. C. V. Galloway, friends repaired to the banquet hall, where the menu was discussed and toast was given.

Besides the election of Professor Brumback to the presidency, there are a few other changes in the faculty. Professor Fargo, who for the past year has had charge of the science work in the absence of Professor Brumback, is elected to the chair of geology and biology, president Brumback retaining the professorship of physics and chemistry. WAS OF THE 1853 IMMIGRATION

Mary Crook Greney was born near Putnam, Ga., June 22, 1853. She crossed the plains with her parents, who had resided in Illinois since 1830, in 1853, coming by way of the South Pass, Fort Boise and Cut Columbia River route. They settled in Columbia County, on May 1, 1854, she was married to John Gelsendorfer, who came from the plains in 1848, from Pittsburg, Pike County, Ill. In May, 1862, they removed to the present home.

Mrs. Gelsendorfer was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church. Her family history has some things of unusual interest. Her parents were natives of Buckingham County, Virginia. Her maternal great-grandfather was Peter Brown, who came over in the Mayflower, and her maternal grandfather, Thomas Brown, was a Revolutionary soldier of the patriot army. Her paternal great-grandmother, Tabitha Pledge, daughter of a Scotch settler, was sentenced, according to the custom of the time, to transportation to the colonies for taking a windfall apple, to become the wife of some colonist.

On her arrival, McKinney paid 400 pounds of tobacco as passage money and was married to the girl. Mrs. Gelsendorfer was highly respected and greatly beloved.

His River Mission. Mr. Kershaw decided to spend $1000 during the coming year on the Columbia River in hatchery work. This will enable the department to double the capacity of the plants at Chinook, Wind River and Kalama.

The establishing of a hatchery on Gray's River has been abandoned for this year, as Mr. Kershaw has been unable to visit the river and select the site.

Graduates of St. John's School.

OREGON CITY, Or., June 25.—(Special).—The annual closing exercises of St. John's Parochial and High School, of this city, were held at Shively's Opera-house to-night. A splendid programme was given by the students of the school, and the address to the graduating class was delivered by Rev. Alexander Christie, archbishop of Oregon City. George Endres and Miss Katie Sullivan were the graduates.

Senator Nelson at Everett.

EVERETT, Wash., June 25.—United States Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, is here visiting D. M. Clough, ex-Governor of the same state.

Forty Ministers and Two Hundred Delegates at Turner.

TURNER, Or., June 24.—(Special).—The convention of the Christian churches of Oregon is a great success. There are nearly 40 ministers in attendance, and over 200 delegates from many churches. The sermon by Rev. Allen Wilson Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock was highly instructive and productive of good results. He preached from 2 Kings 1:14, "According to the saying of the man of God." Two immediate results of the sermon were eight confessions and three by statement.

Christian Women's Board of Missions programme was taken up, and much interest was manifested in this part of the convention work. After the appointment of the new president, Mrs. G. B. O. Humbert, an able address was delivered by Mrs. E. C. W. B. of Monmouth, on the subject, "Information," the first part of the C. W. B. motto. This address was listened to with marked attention. Mrs. Cora Green, of Eugene, followed with an address on "Inspiration." This was, indeed, an eloquent address. She showed that inspiration in laboratory work is dependent upon information derived from a close study of mission fields. Mrs. Clark Bower, of Albany, spoke on "Realization." This is the third word in the C. W. B. motto. This address was ably written and well delivered, and was highly appreciated by the C. W. B. M. workers present, and also by the visitors.

Mrs. M. G. Himes, of Nebraska, spoke on "Worker's Conference." This address was well delivered, and was very instructive.

The reports of the district managers, secretaries and treasurer and superintendent of the young people's work showed a healthy growth of the organization during the past year. Following these reports the able address was delivered by Rev. Forrest a missionary returned from Calcutta, India.

TURNER, Or., June 25.—(Special).—An interesting feature of the convention is the able address delivered by Rev. Wilson, of Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Wilson is one of their most successful evangelists. Many thousands have responded to the invitation of the gospel under his ministry.

At 3 A. M. Thursday, Dean E. C. Sanderson lectured on the subject, "The Bible and Modern Scientific Discoveries." At 10 A. M. the Sunday school work of the convention began. After the appointment of the usual committees, the reports of the district managers were called for. Those who reported showed that the Sunday school of their district generally were in a flourishing condition. Nearly 300 additions to the church from the Sunday schools of the state were reported. This shows good work done by the teachers.

The report of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ware, of Eugene, showed that good work was being done by the Sunday schools throughout the state.

At 11 o'clock Rev. Allen Wilson delivered a very interesting and instructive sermon to the children; his subject was "Bible Stories." This talk delighted the large audience of children that had assembled to hear the sermon. Two boys made the "good confession" at the close of the discourse.

At 2 P. M. the song service was led by Singing Evangelist A. R. Davis, after which an address on "Children's Day" was delivered by A. McLean. He said every Protestant religious body generally has a children's day. The children in the Christian church and in the Sunday schools gave $50,000 last year. The children are being trained to give. The church of the future will be more liberal as the result of training the children. The day is coming soon when the Christian church will give $1,000,000 every year for missionary purposes.

The song "All Is Well With My Soul." This was well received by the convention. Next followed an address by Mrs. Mary Benton, of Elgin, Or., entitled, "The Bible School a Stepping Stone to the Church."

The subject, "Boys' and Girls' Rally Day" was presented by Rev. N. H. Brooks, of Pendleton. He said boys' and girls' rally day should be observed because the children like it; because the parents can be reached; because the truth can be disseminated, and to teach the children and parents the needs of the home.

The nominating committee reported as follows for State Sunday School Board: For president, Mrs. Clara G. Eason, Eugene; vice-president, Robert O'Brien, The Dalles; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ware, Eugene; recording secretary, Harry Benton, Elgin; treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Wigmore, Eugene.

The committee on future work reported and recommended that Bible school teachers, so far as possible, abandon all lesson leaves while before their classes; second, that all Bible schools send delegates to attend the Sunday school conventions; third, that children's day, rally day and decision day be observed each year; fourth, that 2 cents be apportioned each member of the Sunday school; fifth, that one hour each day during the convention be given to Bible school conference work, and that the services of the best worker or workers possible be secured for this purpose.
