Special Officer Caswell at Work.— Since the high water invaded many cel-lars along the city front, business men have been allowed to pile boxes, etc., on have been allowed to plie boxes, etc., on the sidewalks in large quantities. Special Officer A. Caswell has been busy looking after the disposal of garbage, the grates on one side of the crematory having been broken out by throwing dead horses on them, and much of the dry garbage hav-ing, therefore, to be burned on the dump. The new grates have arrived, and the crematory is in order again, and Caswell crematory is in order again, and Caswell crematory is in order again, and Caswell is now turning his attention to his special duty of looking after streets and sidewalks. He was yesterdny attending to having shade trees trimmed where this is needed, and making note of pinces where the grass has been allowed to grow too long between the edges of sidewalks and the curb and lot line. The ordinance requiring grass in such places to be cut requiring grass in such places to be cut will be strictly enforced, and where blackberry vines, fern, etc., have been allowed to grow on the front of lots so as to encreach on the sidewalks, the owners will be required to put them properly in order. Officer Caswell will report to Mayor Williams every morning, and will be on duty every day. Now that the water is going down, property-owners will be required to disinfect cellars which have been flooded as soon as the water leaves them a very proper processition as leaves them, a very proper precaution, as many of them are emitting very bad odors already. Boxes, etc., removed from cellars and now obstructing sidewalks will have to be put out of the way as soon as possible. Officer Caswell will also keep an eye open for the persons who are beginning to tack advertisements on electric poles along the streets, in violation of the city ordinances, and will see that such advertisements are removed, and those who put them up fined.

Not Anxious to Work on Bridges .- A contractor who wanted a lot of men for bridge work up-country called on an em-ployment agent yesterday to see what the ployment agent yesterday to see what the chances were for getting them. He was told that there were plenty of men about town wanting work, and that common laborers were paid $2.5 per day. The greater number of them wanted to go into the country, but if asked to do bridge work, the first thing they would ask was where they would be boarded, and what kind of a room they would be and what kind of a room they would be furnished with. The contractor said he was building bridges along a mountain stream at points a mile or two or three miles apart. His men had to live in camps, and move occasionally, as he had not been able to build hotels with ele-vators in them at every bridge site. The agent said he could send out any number of men, but they would be dropping off at all sorts of places, and some would want to go to work in grain fields; and it was not likely that more than half of those sent would ever reach camp. Many those sent would ever reach camp. Many men are shipped from Portland to California and Nevada to work on railroads. They get very low rates, $\mathbb{1}$ to $\mathbb{3}$, and when they have gone as far as they want to, they get off, and not half of them ever reach the railroad they were sent to work on. The only way an agent or employer can keep any hold on such fellows is to rest hold of their becomes and send is to get hold of their baggage and send METHODIST CAMP MEETING AT CAMBI. Extraordinary preparations have been made for the annual camp meeting under the auspices of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Canby, it will begin July 5 and close July 12. It is the 'ntention to secure a larger attendance this year than ever before, though there have been from 7000 to 8000. though there have been from 7000 to 800 persons present at times. In connection with camp meeting, the ministerial asso-ciation of the Salem conference will be in session on July 6, 7 and 8, and the citizens of Canby will have a Fourth of July celebration on the camp ground. There will be representatives from all the Methodist churches in the state, and the Methodist churches in the state, and the public generally is invited to attend. There will be good speakers, and an interesting programme has been prepared. Two sermons will be preached daily, at if A. M. and 8 P. M. and spectal music will be afforded all campers in the beautiful grove on the grounds, and a good supply of water. The Southern Pacific Company has made special rates for persons attending, who, on paying their fare to Canby, will be given a receipt, which will entitle them to return tickets at one-third fare. The gates will be free this year, and Rev. C. T. McPherson, pastor of the M. E. Church at Canby, and the people of that town will do all in their power to m. ke the stay of vicitors on the camp ground as agreenable as possible.

SCATTERED A SHOWER OF MILE.—A record-breaking wagon-smashing and milk-distributing runaway came off in South Excitand yesterday morning. A team attached to one of the milk wagons belonging to Ludi & Anderett was standing at the intersection of Hamilton avenue and Corbett strest, just where the "S" cars of the City & Suburban Railway Company end their trip, while the driver was serving a customer. A car came up and stopped, and the conductor was swinging the trolley around, when one of the horses took fright at the action, and they started off full speed down Corbett street Instead of turning up the Slaven road, they managed to get on the trestle of the car line to Fulton, which is about 50 feet high and curved. They went across this on a clean run and escaped unhurt. When they were across they concluded to go down to the old Terwilliger place. In getting off the railway track, they twisted one wheel off the wagon, and after run-ning a short distance, straddled a cedar tree; that is, one went on each side of it, and left no place for the wagon to go. When it came in contact with the tree, it went all to pieces, and a shower of milk cas and milk was rained all around. The horses came through all right, but there was not much of the wagon left.

GATES ON STEEL BRIDGE WORTHLINS. -The old wooden gates on the steel bridge have been in use for a dozen years or more, and are no longer in condition to bar the passage of people. They are also too short, owing to the sidewalks on the bridge having been widened, so that a space of two feet on each side is left through which people are constantly crowding when the gates are shut. There is a vast number of foot passengers and teams through the bridge between 5 and 7 P. M., and many will push through the ramshackly old gates, despite the efforts of the tenders. The superintendent is kept in a constant state of worry on this account, and some day an accident will happen and some one will be hurt on account of crowding past these gates. He is hoping that new gates, long enough to shut out all travel, will soon be sup-piled. The bridge has been very carefully managed of late, and if there were proper gates supplied, the chances of accident from opening and closing the draw would the springs in question were beneficial, but said the objection to the place was that there was no way of getting to or from the baths, except through a barroom. "There is always a dice box on the counter." said he, "and you know the counter." said he, "and you know that you could never pass it without throwing for the drinks." This may be a crowd yesterday. It was supposed that the Chinaman had been endeavoring to pointer to proprietors of springs to put secure the white child to add to his flock, or something of the sort. On investiga-tion, it was found that the nurse in charge of the baby was acquainted with the Chinaman and his family, and was THE NORTHERN PACIFIC Railway Company will place on sale on the 24th of this month and each following day till June 20, inclusive, and on July 15 and 16 and August 23 and 25, very low excursion rates to points East and return. STRANGE DEATH OF A SAILOR.-Portland doctors are at a loss to account for the death of Michael Carroll, a sallor, at St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday. He was taken to the hospital apparently but slightly injured by a fall on the steamer lone, but rapidly grew worse, and passed away yesterday without any apparent cause of death. Carroll was about 40 years of age, and a strongly-bulk man-He had been troubled for some years with a nervous disease, but it had not rendered him unfit for work. He was in the habit him unnit for work. He was in the habit of drinking to excess, and on June 23 lost his balance on board the vessel, and, in failing struck his head a hard blow. His scalp seemed bruised and slightly cut, but as far as could be determined, no bones were broken, and he was not rendered unconscious. He seemed dazed, however, and was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital. From the time he was picked up his condition became worse. After he had been From the time he was picked up his condition became worse. After he had been in the hospital for a short time, he became unconscious. Every known means was resorted to to restore him to consciousness, but he continually grew weaker, dying yesterday morning. Little is known of the man's family. He said that he had a brother in Everett, but thus far the hospital authorities have not been able to locate him. He came to Oregon from St. Louis 22 years ago. from St. Louis 23 years ago.

WHY SAVIER STREET IS MUDDY.-The rather muddy condition of Savier street at present is explained by the fact that the so-called "improvement" of that thoroughfare was nothing in reality but a "dress-up" job, which was commenced last Fall, and has been worked on at in-tervals during the Winter, and is not completed yet. In front of some lots not over four cubic yards of crushed rock was No Place for Internates.—Two persons who have been under the weather of late, as their friends imagine, from looking too often on the wine when it was red, and the whisky when it gives its tracks are so low that it was impossible color in the glass, were yesterday plan-ning to go to a colebrated hot springs. A friend, who had "been there," both as to the malady and these particular springs, advised them to patronize some other reit before the street is finally accepted, and then it will look quite respectable.

OREGON INFORMATION BUREAU.—In the rooms of the Oregon Information Bureau, in the Union Depot (second floor), is a representative exhibit of the resources of Oregon. Persons interested in the settlement and development of the state may avail the measure of the state may avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this display. They will find it both pleasant and profitable to visit the rooms. Those having a few moments to spare, awaiting the arrival or departure of trains, can employ the time advan tageously by calling at the rooms and providing themselves with literature, which they can mall to their friends outside the state, whom they desire to see located here. New additions are being added from time to time to the already varied display, which consists of fruits, grains, grasses, cereals, minerals, manufactured products and a number of woods Information and literature are furnished SHAM BATTLE COMMITTEE TONIGHT .- A meeting of the sham battle committee has been called for this evening in the Commercial Club, at 8 o'clock. Meier, Paul Bates, Paul Wessinger, F. A. Bancroft, Lee Clark, L. A. Arata, A. B. Steinbach, Ralph W. Hoyt, George Si-mons and Harry Roe. The military com-mittee, consisting of Colonel Edward Ev-erett, Major C. E. McDonell, Major G. C. von Egioffstein, Cantains F. S. Baker and von Egloffsteln, Captains F. S. Baker and R. O. Scott and L. H. Knapp, will also be present. At the meeting tonight the final programme for the sham battle to be given on July 4, at Irvington Park, will be drawn up, and all subcommittees are requested to be prepared with reports as to expense and other details.

FONES CASE IS POSTPONED.—The case of Patrolman A. C. Fones, who was suspended from duty pending the action of the police committee, will be acted upon today. A meeting of the committee was called for yesterday afternoon to consider the case, but as officer Fenes did not ap-pear for trial, his hearing had to be postponed. He will be represented by C. M. Idieman, and Jack Cavanaugh, of the City Attorney's Office, will handle the case for the city. Fones is charged with having been implicated with J. R. Watkins, nightwatchman for P. Johnson & Co., in the robbery of the Johnson build-ing. The members of the committee say that his case will be investigated thoroughly, and that they will know the en-tire facts.

Nor ANXIOUS TO GO TO THE PHILIP-PINES.—None of the Oregon teachers ap-parently wish to go to the Philippines, for the examination set for yesterday was sary. In the lower grades no more train ing is required than in this state. T salaries range from $900 to $1500 a year. MAY FILL WOODS GULCE.-In anticipa tion of demands for a fill or fills on Woods-street guich, City Engineer Elliott is having surveys made at several points where there are bridges, and will have estimates of the cost prepared. The guich is not wide, but there are a number of old bridges on it. It is difficult to estimate the cost of a fill in such a place, as it depends upon the facility for procuring the earth to make the fill, and in case it is necessary to put in a plant especially for this purpose, the outlay will be considerable. DROWNED MAN WAS FRED FOSTER.-The name of the man who was accidentally drowned from the steamer Dalles City on the Columbia River, below Bingen, was Fred Foster. His family lives on the Tualatin River, N<sub>2</sub> miles below Hillsboro. He went to work on the stemmer at Hood River about three weeks ago.

Taken all in all the high-class vaudeville bill given at the Empire last night was the strongest, best and most entertaining given so far at that popular place of amusement. It had also an interesting local flavor, from the fact that a Portland singer, Miss Brooke Eltrym, made her debut, and won instant favor. She is a pretty girl, and she has a good voice. When she first stepped on the boards, she received a cordial welcome. "The Great received a cordial welcome. "The Great White Throne" was the first number she gave, and when she sang the last note there was a shower of applause, and also handsome bouquets awaiting her. His voice is a wonderful one in depth, timbre, and beauty, and it electrified the audience. His enunciation is fine, and this was especially noticed in his first song, "The Turnkey," and he went down the scale until peop wondered when he was going to stop. He got two designing encores and responded with "Asleep in the Deep" and the cele-brated "Yeoman's Wedding Song." He has one of the best bass voices ever heard acrobatic and boxing work, are top-liners. Their tumbling and high-kicking acts are clever, and they nearly brought down the house with their buriesque boxing. After indulging in "fake" punches, numerous uppercuts and lightning rushes, they af-fectionately kissed each other at parting, Coleman and Mexis gave exhibitions of wonderful shooting, using real bullets. Both-of them shot marks off each other's heads, but the climax came when Cole-man made bullseyes off targets placed around his partner's head and body. Both Shields' Park Popular. There is a popular place out at Thirteenth and Washington streets called Shields' Park. It is popular because there are amusement features of the highest order going on nightly. It is a theater in the open with all the comforts of the best-regulated playhouse in the country. Since Sunday the Park has been filled at each performance. Sunday night was a record-breaker, and last night was an-Persons who know what good vaudeville is say that no better or capable artists have appeared in Port-land. What more attractive act can be desired than that of Hugh Emmett, the desired than that of Hugh Emmett, the ventriloquist, ask the people. Then there are the Polomas in operatic duos. Standing at the top of the list comes the Athlon-Wisson-Clark Company, of Chicago, in their comedy "What Happened to Brown." Hooley and Kelton in first-class Irish comedy and Rooney and Forrester in character work and John J. Welch in his especial monologue, skits and dang.

Brilliant Comedy at the Baker. The presentation of "Arabian Nights" at the Baker Theater this week by the Baker Stock Company is most attractive. In this brilliant comedy the Baker company, always strong in comedy work, promises to excel itself. The play is cleverly written, the situations are original and the acting is above criticism. The parts allotted to two of the younger members of the company, Lillian Rheades and Howard Russell, give ample opportunity to display their talents, and the chance is not neglected. During the progress of the play Miss Rhoades sings two songs, one of them being Anna Held's latest success, "The Maiden With the Dreamy Eyes." George Allson is extremely funny as Arthur Hummington, a wealthy young married man with whom a pretty circus girl is infatu ated. His efforts to explain to his mother in-law how this lively young performs happens to be in his house are very mirth provoking and call forth shricks of merriment from the house.
