

FIGHT ENDS IN A DRAW

Hanlon and Yanger Both Fight Like Demons.

CALIFORNIAN LEADS AT LAST

The Chicago Lad Had Him All But Out in the Early Part of the Game, but the Tide Turns in the Ninth.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The Hanlon-Yanger fight at the Mechanics' Pavilion tonight ended in a draw at the end of the 20th round. Referee J. J. Moran was unable to choose a winner between the game little featherweights. The fight was one of the fiercest ever seen in this city.

Both men fought with a view from the referee's side. The first round until the referee gave his decision. So hot was the fighting during the first stages of the battle that it seemed to forestall a quick decision.

From the first the referee's quick eye and slightly the better of the contest. He led the Californian on, and by clever straight leads for the head, occasionally broke through the crouching guard which was known as the "Chicago" guard.

From the 14th to the 20th, inclusive, Hanlon had the better of the fight, on more than one occasion having the Chicago lad all but out and ready to hang on at the slightest provocation. The decision of the referee was a popular one with the crowd, which showed its approval by a great burst of applause.

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Both Men Fight Like Demons, but Hanlon's Blows Are Most Telling.

Round 2—Yanger led with left, and then pushed in two light lefts to the face. Hanlon missed right and left for the body and blocked several jabs for the face. Yanger hooked right through Eddie's guard to the head.

Round 3—Yanger led with left, and then pushed in two light lefts to the face. Hanlon missed right and left for the body and blocked several jabs for the face. Yanger hooked right through Eddie's guard to the head.

Browns Win First Game on Their Return Home.

TWO FANS WHO MISSED IT

While the Rare Event Was Happening They Were Away—Butler's Good Pitching and Nadeau's Catching Bring Success.

There are two faithful fans in this wayward old world of ours that would have been delighted to be present at yesterday afternoon's matinee between the Browns and the Browns. They would have liked to watch their own team win the Brown at the winning end of the game, but they didn't and that's the story.

One of these faithful was right here in Portland—think of it, right in the city and his beloved Browns playing baseball. The pavilion was in an uproar, and the winning was being bawled out that, while he was pondering and fusing over stacks of letters and other things too numerous to mention.

Butler's One Bad Inning. It was good to have the Browns back. It was better to watch them win, but the victory was not making the flavor was more of a passing kind, the kind that makes the memory halt and stutter and the kind that sets the nerves tingling like a hot iron in the hand.

The semi-finals have been better this season than for many years. The fact that many of the players went into the tournament without any practice. Wickersham's training with the baseball team has helped, and, besides, when he has been as fresh as at the start, and ready for another set.

The final, whether played between Rudy and Wickersham, or between the latter and Ewing, is regarded as a toss-up, and a large crowd will no doubt be present Thursday afternoon.

NEW YORK, June 30.—There has been strong competition for American, French and German horse markets in the sale of Chevaly Park stud, owned by the late Colonel Harry Macomber, says a Herald dispatch from Paris.

Reliance Again Wins. She Defeats the Constitution and the Columbia by a Mile.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Three minutes after she crossed the starting line of what is to have been the greatest race over the international course of Sandy Hook today the Shamrock III carried away the traveler by which the main body of the fleet was compelled to withdraw. She may be repaired in time to race tomorrow.

Death Looks Along Auto Course. NEW YORK, June 30.—Every precaution humanly possible has been taken by the Automobile Club of Great Britain, says a Herald dispatch from Dublin, to guard against accidents in the great race on Thursday—every thing that is, except forbidding the race.

CLIPS TIME FOR RACE

Dick Welles Makes World's Record for Six Furlongs.

SECOND SLOW AT THE START

Barrier Goes Up When the Winner's Head is Turned and He is Almost Left at the Start at Washington Park.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Dick Wells set a new world record for six furlongs at Washington Park today, running the distance in 1:11 4-5. He carried 109 pounds. The former record was 1:12, held jointly by Lux Casta and Pummer.

Dick Wells set the mark under remarkable circumstances. He was almost left at the post. When the barrier flew up, his head was turned and then he was left behind at the start. The pace was terrific, but Jockey Knight set out after the field. He closed the gap of ten lengths slowly, but surely. He saved ground on the turn and made under the leaders at every stride and then he was left behind at the start.

Cancers!

The very name makes one shudder. Many think a Cancer incurable and for many years we refused to treat them, feeling that a cure being impossible, we didn't want to take people's money. After years of search we have found a Cancer Specialist whom we CAN TRUST after seeing him remove a malignant Cancer from a man's face; it was done so neatly, painlessly and scientifically we at once arranged to add to the Old St. Louis Dispensary a Cancer Department.
