UNION, Or., July 5.—(Special).—The annual encampment of the Eastern Oregon Veterans' Association, G. A. R., was held here yesterday. The programme was opened by a parade through the streets headed by Kellogg's Drum Corps to Nodine's Grove, where the exercises were held.

OTHERS HAVE GOOD STOCK

Albany's Impromptu Horse Fair May Lead to Extensive Display.

ALBANY, Or., July 5.—(Special).—The large assembly of the general public at the fair which was a feature of the Merchants' Street Fair and Carnival just ended in Albany, has caused Linn County people seriously to consider the advisability of holding a general county display of livestock in Albany at the close of the harvest season next fall.

Candidates for Chief

It is freely predicted, however, that no matter what may be the outcome of the case, Chief Sullivan will leave the police force when it is concluded. This Mayor Humes is quoted as saying in a statement that he will not be a candidate for re-election, it is insisted that he will clear up the police department to satisfy the public and that it can be done with clear regard to propriety.

SENATORS VISITING ALASKA

Senator Patterson Declares Himself for a Territorial Government. SEATTLE, Wash., July 5.—(Special).—The Post-Intelligencer from Skagway says that Senator Dillingham, Patterson, Nelson and Durham will leave there tomorrow for Dawson on the way to Nome. The steamer called at several Alaskan ports on the way to Skagway, and the Senators were given an opportunity to meet and talk with the people.

Ex-Governor Lord at Salem

TIPS GIVEN OREGON LOCATORS

SALEM, Or., July 5.—(Special).—The fraudulent representations of "locators" to the public have, apparently, been reduced to the plans of the Government regarding irrigation projects reveals the fact that in the past some men have had inside information, and that they have been able to use it to their advantage. The warning of the Geological Survey to the public against these locators may save intending settlers some money, and to that extent it will make up for the looseness of the Federal Land Department in the past.
