ROME, July 7, 8:35.—Although the pope is still alive, Cardinal Oreglia begins to be the center of all Vatican affairs, as it is considered that the moment is close at hand when he will assume the supreme power in his capacity as Cardinal Camerlengo. Engineers Schlefer and Manuce, who are called architects of the conclave, as their office consists in waiting up for the cardinals when they have gathered for the election of a new pope, have placed themselves at the disposal of Cardinal Oreglia, as has also Prince Chigi, who holds the office of marshal of the conclave.

In all the churches masses are celebrated and these are attended by an extraordinary number of the faithful, who pray for the recovery of the pontiff.

There is considerable excitement around the Vatican, and numerous persons are going to and coming from the pope's bedroom. The relatives of the pontiff, Cardinal Rampolla and Pope Leo's private secretaries, however, remain in the chamber. Cardinal Rampolla has been receiving members of the diplomatic body at all hours of the day and night.

Several large books kept for the purpose have been signed by members of the Roman aristocracy, high ecclesiastical authorities, notable personages of the papal court and distinguished strangers who have called to inquire regarding the pope's condition.

All the papal military bodies in permanent service are earning the two months' extra pay which they receive in case of the death of the pope and extra pay for two additional months from a new pope.

Up to 8:35 A. M. the telegrams received at the Vatican from all parts of the world number 352. They include many from America, among which is an especially affectionate one from Cardinal Gibbons.

Architects to Wall Up the Cardinals' Report for Duty.

ROME, July 7, 9:35 A. M.—When Dr. Mazzoni went this morning to the Vatican, Dr. Lapponi made a full report to him as to how the pope had passed the night. Then both entered the sick room.

Pope Leo smiled benevolently at Dr. Mazzoni, but seemed not to have sufficient strength to speak. The doctor asked: "How is your holiness?"

To this inquiry the pontiff, in a faint voice, replied: "I have no illusion and am resigned."

Then he raised his eyes, while his lips moved, evidently in prayer.

The doctors then proceeded to make a most minute examination of the patient, listening to his breathing and testing his lungs, and found that the pneumonia from which his holiness has been suffering is now complicated with pleurisy and the pontiff has paralysis of the fingers. Pope Leo passed a restless, sleepless night.

The pope this morning having expressed a desire to read the Osservatore Romano and the Voce Leta Verita to see what they were saying about his illness, special editions were prepared and sent to his holiness.

ASKS FOR LAST PEEF AT SUN.

Pope on Arising Requests His Physician to Open the Window.

ROME, July 7, 3:35 A. M.—Another morning has broken on the pathetic scene within the simple chamber of the Vatican where Pope Leo lies dying. As the soft light of dawn penetrated into the room the pontiff whispered to his devoted physician that he desired the shutters of the windows to be opened, saying:

"I wish to see once more, perhaps for the last time, the rays of the sun."

It was just a short while after the pope came back to consciousness from a sleep which Dr. Lapponi had induced by a strong dose of chloral. His sleep was so deathlike that artificial respiration was continued, and Dr. Lapponi, every few minutes, leaned anxiously over the couch to observe the illustrious patient and listen to his hardly perceptible breathing. Pope Leo awoke wet with perspiration, feeble to the extreme and his voice hardly audible. The fits of coughing had brought pains in his chest and shoulders, and, thinking his end was now near, he said to Dr. Lapponi:

"Tell me when the time really comes." The doctor assured his holiness that he believed the danger of his immediate passing was averted for the night and for today.

These seemingly last moments of Pope Leo are full of solemnity. Perhaps his last hours would be less melancholy and sad if the august sufferer were less conscious of the circumstances and his mind less clear as to the duration of the time remaining to him before he enters eternity.

Although his physical powers are at the lowest ebb and his breathing becomes more labored, the pope's mind is clear, as is manifest to all around him by his bright, expressive eyes, and the few words he now and then utters in uttering. The scene is so touching that those present can scarce restrain their tears.

Count Camillo Pecci, the pope's nephew, whom the dying man kept by his bedside yesterday, was so exhausted late last night by his confiding emotions that he had to be taken from his uncle's room, completely worn out.

A few moments before, as he stood beside the bed, Pope Leo laid his hand on his head with paternal affection, saying: "Take courage."

Shortly after 10 o'clock at night the pontiff received the extreme unction. At 9 o'clock his condition seemed so hopeless that only a short time apparently remained before he would glide into his last sleep. At Dr. Lapponi's initiative a hasty consultation of the pope's relatives, Cardinal Rampolla and other ecclesiastics was held, and it was decided that extreme unction should be given.

The pontiff received the announcement with his usual calmness, and though scarcely able to speak audibly, he said he knew his time had come, and he was ready to appear before the sublime tribunal with full trust in the divine mercy.

Monsignore Pifferr, Pope Leo's confessor, administered the extreme unction, and when the ceremony was over his holiness sank back on the pillow with apparent great relief that all was done, and he was entering into rest after his long pilgrimage.

After the administration of the viaticum, telegrams hoping for his recovery were shown to the pope, and he appeared to be much gratified. One of the strangest features in his condition is the interest the pope takes in telegrams inquiring about his health. Yesterday, having heard that a French lady whom he had received in audience a few weeks ago had telegraphed a message of sympathy, he asked to see the message, and when Monsignore Pifferr brought it he was not allowed to look at the message.

From the piazza of St. Peter's the groups of watchers can see figures fitting to and fro past the lighted windows of the palace, an unusual number of which are illuminated.

It is considered certain that the visit to France of the King and Queen of Italy, now arranged for July 15, will be postponed. In the event of a fatal termination of the pope's illness King Victor Emmanuel will not be able to leave the kingdom until the successor to the pontifical throne has been elected and installed.

HIS PHYSICIAN HAS NO HOPE.

Those Who Think the Pope Will Recover Are Cherishing an Illusion.

ROME, July 6.—The Associated Press correspondent interviewed Dr. Lapponi during his brief absence from the Vatican today. It was easy to read in his pale face the signs of anxiety he felt.

"Unfortunately," said Dr. Lapponi, "I cannot give you any really consoling news. I cannot share the optimism which is spreading today, which is not owing to a definite change for the better, but to the spirit of the pope, who is giving further proof that his indefatigable energy continues."

"The truth is that the pontiff's condition is stationary, which means that it is very grave. I will go so far as to say that, although he may live for several days, it would be cherishing an illusion to think he may recover, unless some unforeseen crisis occurs. His pulse has become, to use a medical term, evanescent, which means almost imperceptible. The

MORE MILITIAMEN TO SCENE.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 7.—Governor Dubin was very much agitated by the information from Evansville.

"If this condition continues," he declared, emphatically, "I shall go to Evansville myself and declare the city under martial law."

At midnight he began ordering out additional militia companies. The first was that from Vincennes which was rushed to the scene of the riot on a special train. The New Albany company was called out and placed under arms ready to move on a moment's notice, arrangements having been made for a special train which would hurry the soldiers to the scene.

The governor was indignant that the Sheriff of Vanderburg County had not quelled the riot in its incipency. "He should have sworn in 1000 deputies instead of 100," he said. "If he had performed his duties fearlessly in the first place without trying to shift the responsibility to the state this thing would not have happened."

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 6.—Following four days of rioting and general lawlessness, this city tonight saw the most terrible of its experiences with rioters. Seven persons are dead and 14 are known to be injured, and at least that number more are thought to be hurt. The dead: Edward Schiffman, painter; top of head blown off with rifle.

Hazel Allman, 15 years old, daughter of Joseph H. Allman; shot in breast with shotgun.

John Barnett, shot in right lung; died in half an hour.

August Jordan, 19, musician; bullet wound through heart.

Ed Rule, 23 years old, laborer; shot through body and head; killed instantly.

Two unidentified dead men, lying in front of the jail.

The wounded: Fred Schmidt, driver Cook's Brewery Company, seriously shot in leg and arm, taken to his home; Fred Kappler, son of

(Concluded on Second Page.)

City Fireman Henry Kappler, buckshot charge in face and body wounds, serious, will die; Lee Hawley, laborer, shot in leg; Robert Miller, shot in cheek, not serious; Charles Presky, aged 17, grocery boy, shot through left wrist and bullet wounds in both heels; Theodore Beam, aged 20, shot in right side, painful flesh wound; John Fares, aged 48, shot in head and hip, may die; Albert Kasas, soldier, shot while picking up wounded rioter, hit in right arm, not seriously. Six other rioters were seen to fall, but got away, before their names were learned.

Four members of Company A, First Regiment, suffered bullet and light gunshot wounds on the body. One of them was shot through the shoulder, another through the ankle, and the other received two slight scratches. The Deputy Sheriffs were slightly wounded.

Militia Fires on the Mob.

At 10:30 o'clock the members of Company A, First Regiment, Indiana National Guard, after a day's vigilant guarding of the County Jail, and 100 Deputy Sheriffs, under Sheriff Chris Kratz, fired point blank into a mob of 100 men gathered on Fourth, Division and Vine streets, surrounding the Vanderburg County Jail, and attempting its capture. From 7 o'clock this morning until the hour of tonight's catastrophe the crowd surged about the jail, calling the militiamen vile names, assaulting them with stones and berating the Deputy Sheriffs who guarded the jail. The mob had gradually become more and more excited, and its manifestations of uneasiness more frequent, and at 10 o'clock it was seen that nothing could prevent an assault on the jail.

At 10:30 o'clock the rioters pressed forward with determination, and innocent onlookers and the curious followed. Slowly they forced the militiamen back toward the jail, until the alleyway between Division street and the stone building was reached. Then the leaders with a bicycle in their front as a shield to the bayonets of the soldiers, attempted to enter the alley and storm the alleyway entrance.

Soldiers Use Their Bayonets.

Captain Blum, of the National Guard, ordered a charge on the rioters. Gradually the crowd was forced back, the soldiers using their bayonets and butts of their guns. Suddenly a rioter fell. A soldier tried to drag him to his feet, but before he could do so was assaulted by a rioter. Stones and boulders began to fly through the air. A soldier was struck with a rock and fell. A rioter was knocked down with a gun butt and then a shot was fired. The one shot started a fusillade of musketry and shotgun fire from the defenders of the jail, and a scattered return fire from the rioters. Fully 300 shots were fired from the jail windows, the Courthouse steps immediately opposite, and the soldiers in the streets. No one knows who fired the first shot. The soldiers say it was the rioters.

Governor Dubin is said to have instructed the authorities not to jeopardize the safety of the jail with half-way measures. The soldiers and deputies fired into the retreating mob of men, who ran into Division street. For 15 minutes the firing continued. When it ceased, the soldiers had the place. In front of the staggering band of 18 soldiers lay the dead and wounded. Moans and shrieks of agony and fear came from the injured.

Mob Leader's Head Is Blown Off.

Ed Schiffman, a painter, who was seen in the front ranks of the mob, during the evening, lay on the sidewalk, the top of his head blown completely off and his brains oozing on the sidewalk. A short distance from him lay another man, and close by another young man lay dead with a bullet wound over the heart. All over the street, crawling and moaning, wounded rioters and onlookers tried to ease their pain and escape by getting away from the jail. On Division street, lying between her grief-stricken father and mother, the little Allman girl was dead, with her breast torn away by a buckshot charge. She was out driving with her parents, who were attracted by the noise and stopped a few minutes to watch the excitement. In the ward of the Courthouse wounded rioters lay, and back of the line of soldiers two of the militiamen had fallen.

On the jail steps stood Sheriff Kratz.

LONDON, July 7.—President Loubet's visit is the subject of leaders in all this morning's papers. The visit itself, coupled with the spontaneity of the genuine enthusiasm and pleasure shown by people of all classes, is taken as an earnest of future closer relations between the two nations, making for the world's peace.

LONDON, July 6.—President Loubet, the first President of the French Republic who has ever represented the French nation as the guest of the British court, arrived in London from Dover soon after 4 o'clock this afternoon, and was greeted at the Victoria Station by King Edward and the Prince of Wales, accompanied by Cabinet Ministers and a host of other distinguished persons.

His first day in London closed with a state banquet at 8:30 P. M. at Buckingham palace. It was the most brilliant function the dining old palace has witnessed for a long time. The company included all of the high officials of the kingdom.

The scene about the palace was animated. Fully an hour before the appointed time the courtyard was filled with state coaches. Four of the King's carriages were sent to York House, where President Loubet will reside while in London, to convey the Presidential party, which arrived at the palace shortly before 8:30.

The corridor of the palace was brilliantly illuminated, and the conservatory was filled with a choice collection of tropical plants and was decorated. Tri-color incandescent lamps forming the
