Validity of Sailor Boarding-House Statute Questioned.

SAID TO BE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Buit to Have Legislation Set Aside Entered by White and Smith, Who Would Have Peace Officers Enjoined From Arresting

Suit to have the sailor boarding-house license law declared unconstitutional and to enjoin the various peace officers from enforcing it was filed in the State Circuit Court yesterday by Harry White and William Smith.

The defendants named in the complaint are S. M. Mears, Herbert Holman and Edward W. Wright, comprising the Board of Commissioners for licensing sallor boarding-houses; District Attorney John Manning, Sheriff W. A. Storey, Constable W. E. Jackson and Constable A. D. Keenan, Ben Biglin, Harbor-Mas-ter; Charles Hunt, Chief of Police, and William Reid and Waldemar Seton, Justices of the Peace.

The court is asked to restrain and enjoin the defendants from molesting Smith White in their business of conducting a sailor's boarding-house or hotel in Portland for the purpose of boarding, lodging or harboring sallors, seamen or apprentices or persons seeking employ-ment as such, without first having obtained a license from the Board of Commissioners, and from pursuing Smith and White therefor or causing them or their employes to be arrested or crim-

Smith and White further pray that if they are not entitled to this relief a writ of mandamus will be issued by the court compelling the commissioners, Mears, Holman and Wright, to issue a license to them authorizing them to carry on their business of keeping a sailor boarding-house,

The complaint recites the license law passed by the last Legislature and states that on July 2, 1908, Smith and White applied to the Board of Commissioners for a license, presented satisfac-tory evidence of their respectability and competency, and of the suitableness of their boarding-house accommodations, of-fered to file a bond in the sum of $5000. but that the commissioners refused to grant the license.

The act of the Legislative Assembly to license sailor boarding-houses is alleged to be unconstitutional and passed in violation of section 20, article 1, section 23, article 4, and section 30, article 4, of the bill of rights.

It is alleged that the act grants to certain citizens privileges and immu-nities which do not apply equally to all citizens of Oregon; also that Herbert Holman is not qualified to act as a of the State Senate at the time of his business of keeping a sailor boarding-house is asserted to be legiti-mate, and Smith and White say they have invested large sums of money in it and established a substantial, profitable trade. They allege that if they carry on the business without a license they are threatened with arrest and prosecution.

The case was set for hearing before Judge Cleiand on Thursday.

NO MONEY FOR THEM.

Chicago Commission-House Wants Back Money Loaned Sheepmen.

Suit to recover $22,520 on a sheep deal has been commenced in the State Circuit Court by the Mailory Commission Com-pany, of Chicago, against J. E. Sherar Sherar & Shurte since 1899 have been engaged in buying and selling sheep in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Minnesota, Illinois and elsewhere, and became indebted to the Mallory Commission Company, so it is alleged in the com-plaint. This indebtedness on December 9, 1901, amounted to $30,000, which was afterwards reduced to $22,530. The money advanced by the company, it is asserted, was used by Sherar & Shurte in the purchase of 5674 ewes in Montana, of which all but 2542 were afterwards sold and the money remitted to the Mallory Commission Company, and credited. The remaining sheep were brought into the State of Washington and a chattel mort-gage was executed by Sherar & Shurte in favor of the company, covering the flock, increase and all wool. The mortgage was recorded in Kittitas County.

Notwithstanding the mortgage and in violation of the confidence reposed in them, it is averred that Sherar, who was in charge of the sheep, without any notice to his partner, Shurte, sold the entire band of sheep to John A. Little, of Antelope. This was done in March, 1900, be-fore lambing time, and before the wool was clipped. The purchase price was

The expense account against the sheep at the time was $1710, and it is alleged that the sale of the band before lambing or clipping was contrary to good business judgment, and that the price paid was grossly inadequate. The complaint further recites that Sherar and Little both knew of the existence of the chattel mortgage and of the claim of the Mallory Commis-sion Company, and that they conspired eion Company, and that to defraud the company.

Little, it is alleged, executed to the First National Bank of The Dulles a chattel mortgage on the sheep to secure $1500, and mortgage on the sheep to secure $1500, and it is further asserted by the plaintiff that Sherar has deposited $7500 in the bank, which he alleges to be the net proceeds of the sale. In this connection, however, the Maliory Commission Company says the money was borrowed from the bank by Little for the purpose of lending apparent bona fides to the purchase, and it was not intended that the money should was not intended that the money should was not intended that the money should be used by Sherar as his own, except as security to Sherar for his part of the profits which he and Little should derive from the fraudulent transaction. But Sherar, having become alarmed by demands upon him, intends to claim the sale of the sheep was genuine and withdraw the money from the bank, and use it se his own.

The wool clipped by Little, stored at Ellensburg, and the money in the bank, has been attached by the Mallory Company, and the appointment of a receiver is asked for. The bank's only part in the transaction is that it loaned, or has in its control, the money referred to. O'Day & Tarpley, and Williams, Wood and Lintbicum appear as the piaintiff's at-

DAIRYMEN ARE ANXIOUS Condensed Milk Factories Use Up All the Supply.

Proprietors of creameries throughout the Willamette Valley are inclined to take rather a gloomy view of the situa-tion in regard to their business. They say that the number of cows has been increasing and the Willamette Valley was in the way of becoming one of the greatest dairying sections of the country, but these prospects now appear to be blighted.

There are two things which tend to in-

There are two things which tend to in-jure the creamery business. One is the labor question, it being almost impossible to secure men to milk cows, and the other is the condensed milk business. The establishments for condensing milk are increasing. The one in operation at For-est Grove is said to be the largest on the Coast, and the one at Hillsbore is to be extended and will take in the small one extended and will take in the small one at Glencoe. There is also talk of one being established at Tillamook. There is no limit to the market for their product. Soveral dairymen discussing the situ-ation yesterday said the condensers are borhood of a condenser.

The milk condensing business is against the increase of cows, as all the milk is the increase of cows, as all the milk is used up by them, and there is no skim milk left to raise calves on. Farmers who desire to raise calves to increase the numbers of their herds will have to invent some substitute for milk to feed them on. They can obtain an irregular supply of food for their calves from the condensers in the shape of condensed milk which has fermented. In all cannelles of condensed milk or anything else, there is always a percentage of "swellheads," that is, cans the contents of which have fermented or undergone a change which renders fi untit for human consumption. Milk of this kind is not spolled for calf food. This supply, however, is irregular.

Milking calls them out early and late, and they do not like this.

Milking machines have been brought to such perfection that they milk cows very well, imitating even the motion of a milker in squeezing and releasing the grasp of the teat, but the cows do not take kindly to the machines, and will not "give down" their milk freely to them. The only solution of the labor question is to find men who will milk or cows. pany, of Chicago, against J. E. Sherat and Charles H. Shurte, doing business at Ellensburg as Sherat & Shurte; John A. In the early days of sugar-beet raising, the growers had great trouble in finding men who would weed the young beets. This trouble has been overcome in some districts by the introduction. districts by the introduction of Mormon families with from 10 to 20 children, all of whom are utilized for weeding beets in the season. Whether any such relief can be secured by dairymen remains to be

If practically all the milk produced in this region is to be made into condensed cream to send abroad and no calves can be raised nor butter made, a not pleasant condition of affairs will be brought about.

THIS STRIKE IS WANING Telephone Linemen Are Not Receiving Much Support in California,

The strike of the telephone linemen does not appear to be in a flourishing condition. They have thus far gained nothing particular in their fight against the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, and have in many places not even received the support of the central labor bodies, which correspond to the Federated Trades Council in Port-land. No action has been taken by the local council in regard to the strike of the linemen and the members appar-ently do not wish to become entangled in the feud.

In California the turn of affairs is going decidedly against the linemen, according to the following bommunication from the San Francisco headquarters, received at the local office yesterday:

"Strike leaders have notified the rank and file, unofficially, that their cause in Southern California is lost. The Council of Labor at Los Angeles has turned down the request for a boycott. All outside points in California are in very good shape except Oakiend.

"The Building Trades Council of San Francisco has ordered Local No. 6, Inside Wiremen's Union, to have such of its members as formerly worked for the telephone company report back to work not later than Thursday next, the Council taking the stand that it is merely a sympathetic strike and not for any griev ance. This means that if union men do not report for work next Thursday morning the Inside Wiremen's Union will be expelled from the Building Trades Council.

"The men are coming back, one by one, on commencing to find that the bulletins issued by the strike leaders are misleading, and also that the fact of men sending in their union cards and returning to work in various towns is being suppressed.

"There are more men at work in San Francisco this morning than was the case the day after the strike opened. It is not thought that the leaders of the strike Linthicum appear as the plaintiff's attorneys. Judge O'Day states that he received a letter yeaterday stating that Little acted honestly, and is willing to turn over the property on the return of the money which he put up.

Francisco this morning than was the case the day after the strike oppened. It is not thought that the leaders of the strike will be able to hold the men together any length of time, as there is great feeling of dissatisfaction among the men out of work."

Railroads Will Favor Lewis and Clark Fair.

SELLING DATES TO BE CHOSEN

Round-Trip Rate From Chicago of $50 Is Probable-Transcontinental Passenger Association Will Act at Its Next Meeting.

Though the Transcontinental Passenger Association did not act upon the recommendation of a special committee for low rates to Portland during the Lewis and Clark Exposition, there is a reasonable certainty that the question will receive favorable consideration at the next meeting of the association. In any event, the round-trip rates from Eastern points will be as low as any rate ever granted for a Pacific Coast meeting. This broad assertion is made by railroad men who are familiar with the situation, and is made with a knowledge of the fact that a rate with a knowledge of the fact that a rate as low as $50 for a first-class round trip from Chicago has been given to Coast

The directors of the Lewis and Clark Fair who appeared before the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Associa-tion held in Portland a short time ago asked for a round-trip rate equal to the one-way fare between Portland and East-ern points. They are apt to receive a much better fare.

The special committee which has had the matter in charge has been composed of the general passenger agents of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, O. R. & N., Oregon Short Line and Southern Pacific, Charles S. Fee, chairman of the committee, will come to Portland before the next meeting of the passenger association is held, to confer with the directors of the Pate relative to special selling. of the Fair relative to special seiling dates.

The railroads will not, as a matter of course, throw the low round-trip rates open for the entire six months the Fair will be in progress. This, it is held, would be a policy that would have a ruinous effect upon general passenger traffic, and the coads will insist upon certain limitations to their offer. The selling dates, however, will be fixed at the suggestion of the Lewis and Clark board of directors.

While it is not stated that this is true.

Several dairymen discussing the situ-ation yesterday said the condensers are going to drive the creameries back into outlying sections, as it is difficult for a creamery to maintain itself in the neigh-borhood of a condenser.

The outly condenser is against and there was no one in Chicago who and there was no one in Chicago who could give a correct idea of the number of days when it would be advisable to put the low rates into effect. This condition however, is irregular.

Fee would take up the question of Lewis and Clark rates when he visits the Coast, agree that it is very difficult to procure milkers. Farm laborers will have nothing to do with milking cows, and men en-gaged for this purpose will not stay long. been granted for a Const celebration or Milking calls them out early and late, and meeting. This assurance covers the rates > low as any other city has ever received would seem to indicate that the Northern Pacific intended to guarantee a $50 round-trip rate from Chicago.

The immense advantage of the $50 rate can be understood when it is considered that the regular first-class fare between Portland and Chicago is $51.50. The rate war between St. Paul-Chicago lines has cut $3,50 off this figure, making the one-way rate now in effect $58. The round-trip fare that will probably be given the Lewis and Clark Fair is $8 better, therefore, than the directors had anticipated and asked.

The disposition of all the Western lines is toward granting the low round-trip rates during the Lewis and Clark Fair. This feeling is so strong that it is de-clared some of the roads would put the low fares into effect if the Transcontinental Passenger Association withheld its approval. The possibility of the passen-ger association's objection is, however, very remote. With more information at hand the rates are very apt to be author-ized at the next meeting of the passenger

GARDENS WIN FLAGS.

Highland Improvement Association Awards Prizes to Contestants.

Last Spring the Highland Improvement Association, through the liberality of George M. Hyland, offered two flags as prizes for the best flower or vegetable garden, the competition to be open to boys, and prizes to be awarded July 2.

A committee from the improvement association inspected the gardens on that date and found two of them so nearly alike in merit that they decided to give first prize to both of them. The fortunate first prize to both of them. The fortunate recipients were Frank Lilburn, 440 Pres-cott street, and Harry Stokes, 455 Prescott street, each of them receiving a wool bunting flag, 3 by 6 feet. The second prize was awarded to Frank

Taylor, of 482 Prescott street, Frank is only 8 years old, but had worked diligently and succeeded in producing a very creditable flower garden. He was given a bunting flag 2½ by 4 feet.

While the girls were not mentioned Edna Murray, of East Fourteenth and Wygant streets, tried her hand and did so well that the committee decided she should not be disappointed. A special prize, consisting of a beautiful silk flag, was provided for her.

All of the boys and girls now see that it pays them to compete and there is no doubt that a much larger number will enter the lists next year.

The stolen horse was the property of Charles Tilden, of Vancouver, Wash. The two men had gone to his livery stable Sunday night and hired a horse and buggy. As soon as they were out of sight they whipped up the animal and came directly to Portland. They drove to a North-End livery stable, and there offered the horse and buggy for $75.

The horse was a fine one and worth. The horse was a fine one, and worth much more money, and the owners of the stable became suspicious at once. One of

COLLIDES WITH WAGON.

W. Cusick Receives Serious In-juries Beneath the Wheels,

Serious if not fatal injuries were sustained by R. W. Cusick, an employe of the Union Meat Company, as he was going to his work yesterday morning. While riding down Morrison street on a bicycle he collided with a delivery wagon and was badly crushed beneath the wheels. His jaw and shoulder blade were broken, his ear ground to a pulp, and it is feared that his skull was injured. He was still alive last night, but was suffering intense pain, and was so restless that the strong-est drugs failed to quiet him.

Just how he fell beneath the wheels is told differently by all witnesses, but the general opinion seems to be that it was entirely accidental. Cusick was riding near the street-car track, and went to turn out on account of an approaching car. In crossing the rail of the track his wheel caught and caused him to fall. The delivery wagon coming along at a good speed caught him beneath the wheels, and it is regarded as almost a miracle that he was not killed instantly. The patrol wagon was summoned as soon as the accident happened, and the injured man was taken to the Good Sainjured man was taken to the Good Sa-maritan Hospital. Dr. A. J. Giesy was called and every possible attention was given the injured man. It was thought last night that he had chance of last night that he had chances of recov-ery, but his condition was pronounced as

When seen yesterday he said that he was sorry his attempt had falled, and that he would yet take his own life. It was supposed at the time that he had done the deed in a fit of drunken frenzy, for he had been drinking for several days, but his statements yesterday seem to show that the deed was premeditated.

Taylor is well known in Portland, having lived here for a period of about 11 years. He resides at $50 Corbett street. Prior to entering business for himself last January Taylor was employed by the City & Suburban Railway Company as bridge construction foreman, at a salary of $125 per month.

Making Thorough Repairs.

The repairs that are under way at Engine No. 7's house, on the corner of East Third and East Pine streets, are most thorough, and will leave that build-ing in condition so it will not have to be touched for several years. The floor where the horses stand is being renewed and the quarters both below and above are being enlarged by appropriating the vacant space at the east end of the building. From the back end of the building, formerly used as a jall, the steel cage has been taken out to make room for the enlarge-ment. New doors will be placed in the

Summer Reading

The paper-covered volume is inseparably associated with the leisure hours of Summertime. As usual at this season the book store has a big counter section devoted to reading matter for Summer's idle hours. Selection is only restricted by the limitation of publishers' presses. Anything which you would be likely to inquire for, which has been published in paper form is 10c, 15c, 25c.
