DOESN'T THINK MUCH OF BUNKER HILL.—A native son of Oregon, who is making a tour of the East for the first time, visited Boston last week and writes home that he went over to Charleston to see Bunker Hill. Since he has seen it he does not think so much of the British. It will be remembered that the battle of Bunker Hill, which was fought 128 years ago, was one of the most celebrated battles of the war of the Revolution. The Americans were entrenched there, but the British, after a long and bloody contest, remained masters of the field. The native son mentioned has always felt grieved because the Americans were driven out of their stronghold by the British, in spite of the fact that they had to climb the hill to get at them. His ideas about hills were different from those of people who have not lived in Oregon. After seeing the "Hill," which is only 110 feet high, and climbing to the blood-stained field on top where the battle was fought, and finding in the center of the grounds a monument in the shape of an obelisk more than twice as high as the hill (221 feet), he feels better satisfied. He thinks the Americans were not placed at any great advantage by their elevation, nor the British entitled to any great credit for climbing that hill. He also called to mind the Britisher who some 22 years ago climbed Mount Hood on the Fourth of July. When near the summit he sat down to rest and looking down the grand old mountain exclaimed in astonishment: "Oo'd a thought the blasted 'ill was so 'igh?" So the native son is coming back to Oregon perfectly satisfied and glad to live where "hills" are worth mentioning.

EXPLANATION OF TOUGH MEAT.—An old-time citizen who is slightly addicted to the pleasures of the table, and who has been complaining of late of the scarcity of good meats, met, when coming out of a market last Saturday, the well-known stockman of past years, Ben Snipes, who had raised and marketed many a drove of prime beef steers. He asked Mr. Snipes if he were still raising beef cattle and was told that he had given that up ten years ago, and was now dealing in real estate in Seattle. "The days of making money on stock ranges are past," said Mr. Snipes. "The days of good, fat, juicy, grass-fed beef are past also," said the citizen. "Right you are," said Mr. Snipes. "What is the reason?" asked the grumbler. "There is no range any more like there used to be," replied Mr. Snipes. "The ranges have to a great extent been fenced in, and the grass about eaten off what is left. When there were square miles of good grass for a band of steers to range over, they fattened quickly and made prime beef fat, juicy and tender. Cattle can be fattened on hay and grain now and made into first-class beef, but it does not have the fine qualities of good grass-fed beef.

NO EXCEPTIONS MADE TO RULE.—A press dispatch was published yesterday in regard to some silks and embroideries found in the trunks of the wife of Captain Harts, United States Engineer, on her return from Japan. It states that the goods had been seized and he might have to pay a fine to the amount of $3000, three times their value. This was deemed rather harsh treatment of Captain Harts and his wife, who lived for some time where Captain Harts had charge of one of the United States engineer offices here. He was sent abroad in the service of the United States, and after being in Japan long enough for Mrs. Harts' wardrobe to become pretty well exhausted, she provided herself with materials to replenish it and had to bring them home. She could not have the goods made up there except in native style. There is such a thing, said a Government official yesterday, as being over strict in such matters. The lady friends of Mrs. Harts feel particularly sorry for her, as now it may be sometime before she has anything but Kimonas to wear.

CHERRIES AND TOAST.—A citizen of epicurean tastes, the manager of a large manufacturing and exporting concern, has invented a new and delicious dish of toast and cherries. He recommends it highly as wholesome and soothing, but his modesty forbids the mentioning of his name in connection with it. His recipe is: Toast in slices, browned a delicate golden color, and quite hot. Pit cherries, place them on a chafing dish or stewpan, with sugar and water; quantum sufficit. When properly cooked spread on the toast and consume at leisure. The use of black cherries gives the dish a rather pretty coloring, but Royal Ann cherries will leave no room for complaint. All who like novelties will do well to give cherries on toast a trial.

WHY NOT make a trip to the famous Yellowstone National Park? You can do so at a very moderate expense. Special excursion tickets are on sale daily at the Northern Pacific ticket office, No. 255 Morrison street. This is the best month in the year to visit the Park, and the Park Association are fully prepared to take care of all the tourists desiring to make the trip. Call at the office, No. 255 Morrison street, for Park literature and full particulars. All arrangements will be made for you prior to starting on the trip. *

SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE TO GLADSTONE PARK FOR CHAUTAUQUA—Southern Pacific Company will run special trains during the session, July 14 to 26 inclusive, leaving East Washington Street Station 7:45, 8:40, 9:35, 11:30 A. M., 12:30, 1:20, 2:20, 3:30, 4:10, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:15, 8:30 P. M. Last train leaves the Park for Portland 10:00 P. M. City & Suburban streetcars connect at East Washington street. Purchase round trip tickets on streetcars or at Southern Pacific ticket offices. *

WOULD COLOR THE SIDEWALKS.—Complaint is made by an elderly man with weak eyes of the glare of the new cement sidewalks in the sunshine. It compels him to wear smoked glasses. He says the Executive Board would do well to require some coloring matter mixed with the surface finish of the concrete walks. This has been done in some places to the satisfaction of everybody. The Board many consider the suggestion.

LOW EXCURSION RATES to all points East will again be placed in effect by the Northern Pacific on July 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, and again on August 18, 19, 25 and 26. Full particulars in person or by letter canbe had by calling on or addressing A. D. Charlton, assistant general passenger agent, 255 Morrison street, Portland, Or. *

IF YOU are contemplating a trip East this month you can avail yourself of very low excursion tickets over the Northern Pacific on July 12 to 15. For full details call on or write A. D. Charlton, assistant general passenger agent, 255 Morrison street, corner of Third, Portland, Or. *

COLUMBIA RIVER SCENERY.—The steamer Bailey Gatzert, of the Regulator line, makes round trip to Cascade Locks daily, except Monday, 8:30 A. M.; Sundays, 9 A. M.; returning 7 P. M. Music and excellent meals. Round trip ticket, $1.50. Phone Main 814.

VALUE OF CAPTAIN LOVE'S ESTATE.—The value of the estate of the late Captain Lewis Love is the subject of much discussion these days, and the valuations arrived at are very different, running all the way from $500,000 to $1,500,000. His land claim, or farm, is the principal item of his estate. It comprises 400 acres within the city limits and nearly as much more adjoining outside the city. A considerable portion of this is covered with brush and it is said that the yearly income from the whole has not been enough to pay the taxes thereon. It is practically impossible to say what this land is worth per acre, but it is roughly estimated at from $400 to $500. It is improbable that the tract could be sold for anywhere near this sum at present, although if it were cleared up, laid out in town lots and small tracts, it might bring more than that in a few years. It is said that some ten years ago, before hard times came on, he was offered $1600 per acre for it and like many others declined to sell at that time. He missed the opportunity of a life time. He owned seven brick buildings, large and small, in the business district of the city, some very valuable, and all rented at fair rates, also one wooden building. He is supposed to have had money loaned on mortgage and in notes, as he was a thrifty man and spent but a small part of his income. Nothing definite is known as to the amounts he had out, as he never made any return of them for taxation, though he did once furnish a list of mortgages on which there was no tax. The value of his estate is a matter of no particular interest to any one except his heirs, but people will talk about other people's business. A conservative estimate is $800,000, which is probably as much as the property could be sold for now, but by careful administration of the estate it might be made to yield $1,000,000 in a short time, and in a year or two it might bring considerably more.

WOUNDED BY TOY RIFLE.—A lad of 16 years called on a well-known physician of this city a day or two ago to have a slight wound in the base of a forefinger inside the hand treated. It was only a slight puncture made by a toy rifle on the Fourth of July, but his arm was badly swollen on account of it and blood poisoning had set in. The puncture was probed and the probe passed up some distance into the palm of the hand, where some foreign substance was encountered. After considerable trouble two circular wads of pasteboard were extracted and the wound having been properly disinfected and dressed relief soon followed. The surgeon says that if the cause of the trouble had not been discovered the arm would soon have been in such a condition from blood poisoning that it would have been necessary to amputate it in order to save the lad's life, and even then his injury might have proved fatal. He strongly favors a law forbidding the sale of toy rifles to any one, or allowing dealers to keep such useless and dangerous nuisances for sale. The successful effort made in this city this year to prevent the use of such weapons and the firing of crackers before or after July 4 is a step in this direction which was also taken in several large Eastern cities and was highly commended. Such destroyers of quiet and menaces to life can very well be dispensed with in cities especially. Edgar Poppleton, a son of Dr. E. Poppleton, was shot in the heel by a bullet from one of these toy rifles while in bathing on the beach a few days ago and Dr. Poppleton was called to the beach yesterday to look after the wound.

GRANDSTAND NOT REMUNERATIVE.—An allusion made to the leaky condition of the grandstand at the Irvington racetrack on the Fourth, and an intimation that it was about time that it was replaced by a new one, has ruffled the temper of Captain E. W. Spencer. He says the stand cost $5000, and was examined by Architect Lazarus just before the Fourth and pronounced sound, fit for the sham fight crowd, and capable of holding all the people who could get into it. Such was proved to be the case. The rain on that occasion came without orders and no one is to blame for it. He says about all classes of people have had the use of the stand on all sorts of occasions ever since it was built, and no one has received anything in return but abuse, except himself, and he was once presented with a testimonial. It becomes tiresome giving up the use of good property year after year for nothing. He does not want any more testimonials nor abuse, and is happy to say that the stand is now bringing in $1000 a year.

WOULD CURE HER AMBITION.—A young woman of this city who is stage struck, devotes her spare time to getting up schemes to get herself on the stage. She has a friend who does not approve of her ambition and who loses no opportunity to show her the folly of it. A day or two ago he pointed out to her on the streets a little girl connected with a troupe performing here, who was going along the street carrying a big valise almost as heavy as herself, while a big lubberly fellow walked along beside her without ever offering to relieve her of the burden. Another day he showed her a young woman who used to have the leading part in "The Belle of New York," and was a beautiful and virtuous girl. She is still pretty and virtuous, but because she is so has been reduced to singing in a chorus. By calling her attention to these phases of a theatrical life, her friend hopes to cure the young woman of her hankering for the stage.

GLAD CONTEST IS OVER.—There has been great pulling and hauling among the friends of the various candidates for the honor of being chosen Queen of the Carnival. For several days last week the contest among the friends of the two leading candidates has been at fever heat, and it looked as if the contest lasted much longer some of the candidates would come to pulling hair. One candidate had the police force from the Chief down working for her and it is said that another furnished $300 to be spent on votes. Probably all concerned were pleased when the contest came to an end Saturday evening by the election of Mrs. Jackson, wife of the County Jailer.

WATER DIDN'T HURT IT.—The full basement with concrete floor, which had just been completed under the building at First and Taylor streets, occupied by Lewis & Staver when the water filled it, has been found in first-class condition since the water receded. An elevator is now to be put in there as soon as the water will permit, but it will be necessary to sink a shaft 12 feet in depth to reach the elevator main. The second story of the building is to be furnished up as a lodginghouse at once. Two years hence two more stories are to be put on for a sort of family hotel. This is a sample of the improvement in progress and planned for First street.

GOVERNMENT WANTS CHEMIST.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on August 5 an examination will be held in this city for the position of assistant chemist for the purpose of filling such position in the Geological Survey, at a salary of $1,200 per annum. Persons desiring to compete should call on Z. A. Leigh, secretary, Board of Examiners, Postoffice Department, city.

LIQUOR LICENSES IN ST. PUAL.—The statement of City Auditor Devlin in regard to the number of saloons in St. Paul as compared with the number in Portland, and the fact that a liquor license there costs $1000 a year, has attracted much attention from both saloonkeepers and other citizens. Many are of the opinion that it might be a good plan to make the price of liquor licenses $1000 a year here. This would tend to increase the city's revenue from the liquor traffic and at the same time reduce the number of saloons, and would do away with many of the most undesirable ones. Some, however, are opposed to the idea of regulating the liquor traffic by license while others say that it is the only way, as other regulations do not regulate at all. As the license in St. Paul is regulated by a state law, which makes the cost of license in cities of over 10,000 inhabitants $1000 a year, and in towns of less population $500 a year, it is not improbable that the next Legislature may be asked to take up the question here. Mr. J. E. Strother, a St. Paul man who was in Portland on Saturday, when asked how it worked to have so few saloons in that city, said that probably Auditor Devlin did not discover that in the Midway District of St. Paul, the residence section abutting on the limits of Minneapolis, there are many "blind pigs," that is, cigar stores, candy stores, lunch counters, etc., where known and respectable citizens can get their thirst for almost any kind of liquor assuaged. Mr. Strother said that the old feeling of hostility between the people of Minneapolis and St. Paul, arising principally from the fact that one city was mentioned many times in the scriptures, while the other was not mentioned at all, had all disappeared since their bounderies had met, and residents of both cities now get along harmoniously.

CANDY STORE PROPRIETOR ARRESTED.—L. Chambers, who owns a candy store in the Newcastle block on Russell street, was placed under arrest last night charged with attempting to assault Ester Wels, aged six years. The complaint was made by Mrs. Nat Brown, mother of the girl. Chambers is well known in Portland, having been a resident here for many years. Before electric car systems were established in Portland, he was a driver on one of the horse cars. The little girl went to his store yesterday to buy five cents worth of candy. The mother became alarmed when she did not return at once, and questioned the girl regarding what had kept her. She gave as the reason of her delay that Chambers had taken her in a back room and would not let her go home.

THOUSANDS OF TIES GO TO SALT LAKE.—The Salt Lake region seems destined to leave parts of Oregon as destitute of timber as that arid region is. At the rate young trees are being cut down to supply piles for a railroad across Salt Lake and the logs being cut into railroad ties for street railways in Salt Lake City a vast amount of land will be denuded of timber in a short time. From one mill alone 70,000 railroad ties have lately been shipped to the Consolidated Street Railway Company of Salt Lake, all of which have been treated. The last shipment of the lot started out Saturday. It is a good thing that some method of preserving such sleepers has been discovered as this will tend to delay the denudation of Oregon timber lands.

CLAMBAKE FOR ELKS.—The Elks are preparing to have a stag social some night this week. A committee has also been appointed to make arrangements for a grand clambake, to come off early in August, and to be on the grand scale of the bake held 12 years ago. One of the principal things the committee are to attend to is to select a place where plenty of clams right fresh from the flats can be secured and to see that an abundant supply of green corn, lobsters, crawfish and all the necessaries for a first-class feast are provided. The Elks are getting ready to attend the Woodmen's carnival and expect to have the evening of July 24 set apart for them, if the committee appointed can make arrangements to secure that date.

TO CLIMB CASTLE ROCK.—M. M. Ringler, physical director, a party of Y. M. C. A. boys, now camping at the Cascades, will ascend Castle Rock next Tuesday. Steamers Bailey Gatzert, Regulator and Dallas City will approach as near as possible to the hugh rock on that day, and give the boys the regulation salute. Passengers on the steamers will do well to bring their cameras along and take advantage of the opportunity to get an interesting snapshot of the rock and daring adventurers. Steamer Bailey Gatzert will leave Alder-street wharf 8:30 A. M. *

WOOD BLOCK PAVEMENT.—The wood block pavement laid on Yamhill street, between Third and Fourth, eight years ago, is being taken up. It will be replaced with a pavement of preserved blocks. The unpreserved blocks are not as a whole in bad condition after eight years' use, and the new pavement may be expected to remain sound much longer.

PARIS TO PORTLAND.

Napthali Kohn, a Former Resident of This City, Returns From Europe.

Napthali Kohn, a former resident of Portland, returned to the city yesterday, after a six years' absence in Europe. Mr. Kohn was in business here for many years and is still a large property holder in the city. His visit at this time is in connection with his Portland interests, and for the purpose of visiting his brother, Charles Kohn. To an Oregonian representative at the Hotel Portland last evening he said:

"I am delighted to be in Portland again. I stopped only two days in New York. It was very hot there and I was anxious to reach Oregon, which is God's country. It is not the same Portland which I return to, however. When I left the silver agitation was at its height and business conditions were very bad. The city has grown wonderfully since and is on a sound basis.

"My residence abroad has impressed me with the great opportunities Europe offers as a market for Oregon fruit. The fruit raised in Germany, France and England is vastly inferior to the Oregon products, and the supply is very limited. Why, do you know, that fruit is the greatest luxury found throughout Europe and only the wealthy can afford it? I have frequently paid 30 cents for a single slice of lemon at Paris hotels. Peaches and apples are almost as expensive. American apples are sold all over England and the Continent, but they do not come from Oregon and are not nearly so good as those raised here. With the modern facilities for transporting fruit, the Oregon growers could place their product on the London, Paris and Vienna market in fine condition and sell it at prices undreamed of here. I should like to see them investigate the matter and am convinced it could be made a source of great profit."

Mr. Kohn will remain in the city for some time, and it is not improbable that he will remain permanently.

AMUSEMENTS

Shields' Vaudeville.

Frank Bowman, illusionist.
The Leonis, horisontal bars.
Eva Thatcher, refined Irish comedy.
Charles Chenoweth, cornet virtuoso.
Dacey, Chase and Ward, "Fun in a Gymnasium."
Wise and Milton, comedians.
Dan McGreavy, monologuist.
Kehoe and Rainer, comedy dispensers.
Kelly and Kelly, singers and dancers.
Polyscope.

Every seat was taken at Shields' Park last night, and many people were turned away for lack of room. The weather was pleasantly cool, but comfortable, and the vaudeville programme was all that could be desired. Mr. Shields has never placed such a diversified offering before his patrons, with every face new in the bill.

Talk about welcoming an old friend. Eva Thatcher, who recently appeared here at the opening of the present vaudeville season, is one of this week's attractions, and she received a glad welcome. The most of her work is new, and was as amusing as ever. She paid her respects as usual to the "sheepskin" drummer in the orchestra, and one of her new songs is "I'm a Happy Irish Girl." Charles Chenoweth, the cornet virtuoso, again delighted his hearers with his rapidity and beauty of execution, and his fine tone.

Frank Bowman is very clever at the tricks in which he manages to make cards disappear into the air and his sleight of hand work is so good that the eye is completely deceived. One of his new tricks is turning water into wine and vice verse, and he also did the canary trick where he makes the audience think he has placed a live canary in a paper bag, and then fires with a revolver into the bag. Of course, Mr. Canary turns up safely in his cage. Bowman's last trick is his own disappearance. Apparently, he places himself in a cage with iron bars, but comes to light among the audience. Kelly and Kelly, a young man and a 6-year-old little girl won a generous share of applause by their laughable act, in which they propound riddles, etc. The little girl is a good dancer, Kehoe and Rainer work hard and make fun. Kehoe asks: "Who is the best looking woman in Portland" His comrade answers: "Give me the Goddess of Liberty on a silver dollar—when you're broke. Dan McGreavy, a colored comedian, gives a most laughable dressmaking talk, and the two Leonis are seen in graceful, thrilling horizontal bar work.

Wise and Milton, a man and a woman, sing two amusing parodies "Holy City" and "Ah Want to Be an Actor Lady," and their jokes are good. Dacey, Chase and Ward have an interesting boxing contest with gloves, in which the comic element is not forgotten. The fine views of Multnomah Falls, thrown by the polyscope, again won praise. The same entertaining bill for this week.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Richard J. Jose's Minstrels Open at Marquam Tonight.

Tonight at the Marquam Grand Theater that greatest of all American ballad singers, Richard J. Jose, at the head of his own famous minstrel organization, under the management of Selby C. Oppenheimer, will begin an engagement of two nights. Associated with Mr. Jose, a prince of good fellows, is no less a singer than William McDonald, the famous basso, and "Will Scarlet" of "Robin Hood" and prime favorite with the only "Bostonians" and their audiences everywhere. Frank Cushman, the only legitimate and recognized successor to Billy Emerson, the emperor of minstrelsy, and a comedian of quaint genius and rare humor. William Keller Mack, the well-known and unctious comedian, known by all lovers of farce comedy from Maine to California, and 40 artists and singers of national reputation. A perfect ensemble, a great chorus, a strong company, carrying their own elaborate scenery and costuming, and complete electrical effects for the great first part. All lovers of minstrels, of comedy, judges of good voices and good music, have certainly a treat before them in the coming of this company to the Marquam. Their route up to date has been one proud record of unbroken successes and ovations everywhere. It is a show one cannot afford to miss and should not do so, for it is high class in every respect and feature and its equal does not come this way very often and should be taken advantage of when it does. The parade will start from the front of the theater this morning at 11:30 o'clock. Curtain this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Opening Night at Empire.

Tonight the Empire Theater presents an entire change of programme to the amusement-seeking public, and the entertainment offered at this home of polite vaudeville for the coming week is fully up to the high standard set by the management. Two minstrel men of much renown head the programme. No ebony knights of the tambourine are better known than McIntyre and Primrose. A tramp juggler and a light-footed soubrette, known as Christy and Willis, are among the features that make their first appearance tonight. Conroy and Pearl do a little negro foolishness to make sad people merry, while Marsh Craig, the marvellous equilibrist, is guaranteed to astonish anybody. Hayward and Hayward are two new novelty entertainers, and World and Kingston, who made such a hit when they appeared at the Empire some weeks ago, return in a brand new sketch.

Baseball Teams to Attend.

Both the Los Angeles and Portland baseball teams will occupy the upper boxes at the Marquam Grand Theater this evening as guests of Manager Heilig of the theater and Selby C. Oppenheimer of the Jose Minstrel Company, to witness the performance of this celebrated company.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. J. Patterson, a Baker City business man, is in Portland.

Samuel Schmidt, a cold storage man of Astoria, is in the city.

Jay Sedgwick, of Tacoma, Northern Pacific tax agent, is at the Portland. *

C. L. Ireland, editor of the Sherman County Observer, is registered at the Imperial.

Dr. William F. Amos has returned to Portland after a four months' absence in New York.

J. B. W. Johnston, a prominent Washington railroad man, well known in the politics of that state, is at the Imperial.

Richard Lee, of the Astoria Budget, accompanied by his wife, spent Sunday in the city. They returned to Astoria last evening.

Mrs. C. S. Cranston, of Tacoma, widow of a Northern Pacific trainman killed recently on the Oceosta branch of that line, has brought the body of her late husband to Portland for burial.

Russell E. Sewall, ex-District Attorney, has been confined to his residence on East Third street for the past two weeks with a severe attack of typhoid fever. The disease is now past the critical stage. He is beginning to improve and prospects are favorable for his recovery.

Miss Ada Hendricks, one of Eugene's society girls, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. DeWitt Connell at their home, 232 King street, and will remain in the city all this week. Last Friday night her hostess gave a dinner party in honor of Miss Hendricks, when covers were laid for ten.

From One Prison to Another.

BOSTON, July 12.—James M. Bradley is back again in the state prison at Charlestown, out of which place he walked in 1892. Bradley arrived today from the Texas state prison, where on July 4 he finished a sentence. He is wanted here to complete a five-years sentence. Bradley was a member of the famous "sewer gang" that escaped from the prison in July, 1892. He was captured in New York on November 2, and returned to the institution. On November 24, 1892, Thanksgiving day, while the spectators were filing out from an entertainment that was given in the chapel, Bradley walked out with them and all efforts to find him have failed until recently when a tip was given out that he was in the state prison in Texas. He will now be tried for escaping from an institution while serving a sentence.

Electric Flat Iron

It is always hot, always ready, clean and bright. No matter where you want to use it, whether in kitchen, sewing room or laundry, it is but a small matter to connect it to the electric light circuit. It is quickly heated and remains heated as long as the current is on. Especially in the sewing room, where a hot iron is often needed, will this be appreciated from the fact that it requires no fire and no running to and from the kitchen.

THE PEOPLE ALL
In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in every one's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now, "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
