MOVING HOUSES COSTLY .- Moving houses is not only dangerous to shade trees, but it is a risky business for the mover and the man who has them moved. William Fliedner, who has two story-and-a-half cottages at Tenth and Stark, had concluded to have them moved to Sheridan street, where he has some vacant lots, and to erect flats on the lot where they had stood. He entered into negotiations with a mover, but on finding that it would cost him $500 to have the houses moved he abandoned the scheme. The house being moved up Tenth strest to Montgombeing moved up Tenth street to Montgomery and down Montgomery to Fifth only cost the present owner $100, but the expense of moving is so great that he is now sorry that he undertook the job. The houses being moved down Seventh street, it is said, will scarcely be worth the control of them when landed the cost of moving them when landed at their destination. It is, therefore, about as well or better to tear down and burn up houses as to move them unless they are valuable and the course they are to be moved over is free from trees. An old house after it has been moved and fixed up is an old souse still and likely to always remain a rattle trap.

TO KILL WEEDS .- A citizen who always tried to keep the street in front of his residence clean and the gut-ters free of grass and weeds found an employe of the Street-Cleaning Department at work yesterday picking away with a hoe st a few dandelions and yellow dock plants which had pushed up be-tween the sione block pavement of the gutter in front of his house. He told this man that merely scraping away the leaves of these plants did but little good, as they would spring up again at once.
"The rosts," said he, "should be cut off some distance underground by running down s thin knife blade, and that would The street cleaner said he had to thin knife. The property-owner then said that boiling water or steam at a high pressure would kill the weeds effectially. The street cleaner said he was not a steam engine, and he did not know that he wanted to kill the weeds entirely put himself out of work. Sreet-Cleaning Department might send steam engine around and see whether this scheme would work.

FRUIT VENDERS A NUISANCE.-Complaint made of truit venders who collect in the vicinity of bandstands, where a band is playing, and by their outcries destroy the pleasure of all who have collected to listen to the music. These venders are trying to make a living, but in doing so generally manage to make themselves a nuisance. They, however, are traders by instinct, and do not take kindly to honest labor. Selling decayed cherries at 5 cents a quart and giving a pint in the place of a quart and half the pint decayed suits them better. They are useful only commission men who have a lot of aged fruit on hand and can get rid by dumping it on the street peddlers. who in turn dump it on a much-abused public. About a bandstand where a band playing may be a good place to sell fruit, but is no place for the yawping of venders, and they will either have to make less noise or move on.

To Inchease Contractors' Fines.

Owing to the vast amount of street improvement work under way and to be taken up soon and the great dissatisfaction that has been caused by the delinquency of contractors, a quite general de-mand is being made for the increase of the fine on street contractors for delinquency. The fine at present is $5 per day, which is not considered enough, and the Council and Executive Beard will be asked to increase it to $10, $20 or $30 per day, and some even favor placing it as high as $50 per day. There is to be so much street improvement work going on indefinitely that to prevent constant trouble and squabbling between contractors and property-owners something more severe than the present fine for delinquency is considered absolutely neces-The fine will doubtless be kept

No SNAKES AT KLAMATH FALLS.-The latest information from Klamath Falls in regard to snakes is brought in by A. Lindsley, who was there several days before and after July 4. He was all over town, and says he did not see a snake. He saw lots of Pelicans, thousands and thousands of them, moving up and down Link River in long lines, and he says he also saw some whisky which was well calculated to make a man see snakes, but he did not see one there. He saw and killed a rattlesnake within 50 miles of the town, which he thinks goes to prove that he knows a snake when he sees one. He adds that there was quite a sharp frost at Klamath Falls when he was there, which may account for the snakes being out of sight as they hunt their dens in cold weather.

dens in cold weather. NO HURRY TO BID ON POSTOFFICE JOB .-Building contractors are evidently very busy, as none of them have applied for plans on which to prepare bids for the extension of the Postoffice building. Bids for this "fat Government job," amounting probably to somewhere in the neigh borhood of $300,000, have been advertised for several days. The custodian of the building, who has five sets of the plans of the building in his office to supply bid-ders here has had no application for any of them. One request for a copy of the plans has been received from Oakland, Cal., and one from Butte, Mont., but the applicants were referred to the department at Washington, as the plans in the hands of the custodian were not supposed to be

WILL SPEND THE SUMMER IN PORTLAND wife and daughter, is stopping at the Portland. Mr. Pease and his family are great favorites with the society people of

Portiand. For many years past they have made this city their home during the Summer months. Portland enjoys climatic conditions that especially favor this city as an ideal Summer resort. Large numbers of Eastern people now regularly sojourn here during the period of swelter-ing weather in other parts of the United States. With the perfection of its hotel service and with the attractions of its ocial life, the influx of Portland's regular Summer residents is steadily increasing. Mr. Pease, whose home is in San Francisco, has entire charge of the large business of the Goodyear Rubber Company on this Coast. Mr. and Mrs. Pease and Miss Pease will stop at the Portland during the entire time of their sojourn here this season.

Traced by a large amount of plunder that he had stolen, B. S. F. Briggs was yesterday located at the North Pacific Santiarium and placed under arrest. The symnasium of the Y. M. C. overstepped the rights of his office when he took the side of Schlussel's Chinese tenants. "I told Officer Cole at the time crowd and beloing me to protect the property that I had a right to protect, he championed the cause of the Chinese and helped them get away with property that did not belong to them."

WATER SUPPLY FOR POOR FARM.-The County Poor Farm and the hospital for infectious diseases thereon have long suffered much inconvenience from lack of an adequate supply of water. The Street-Sprinkling Department has been hauling a big sprinkling wagon full out there every Sunday, which is made to last through the week. The city and county authorities here at last agreed to have a supply furnished from the city mains and bids have been advertised for laying 7000 feet of two-luch pipe from the bigh-pressure mains to the county farm. This will probably cost about $2500, and will furnish a full supply.

FIRST TIME IN THE WEST Ladies' Suits Made to Your Measure for $14.75,

This remarkable offer has been made once in New York by one of the largest manufacturing suit houses in that city. They did it to keep their help busy during the dull season, and, from the reports they gave us, it did. The sale lasted one week. About 5000 orders were registered. We don't expect quite that much here in Port-land, because there are not as many people in Portland as New York, but if you ladler fully appreciate the tremendous signifi-cance of this offer you will take a corre-sponding advantage of the sale. It is as follows, and absolutely no deviation there-from: For the remainder of this week we Brumberger was yesterday arrested upon complaint of J. Bernhardt, charged with threatening to kill. The happy reunion was effected by A. Walter Wolfe, who acted as an attorney for the old man. His client had said from the first that he had no intention ing to take her back into the home they had both left. Yesterday the old man waived examination, and was bound to keep the peace in $1000 bonds. He was then allowed to go with the parting ad-vice from his counsel: "Go now and make peace with your wife."

"I will," said he. "I am sorry the thing has happened, for I know that I was foolish. I admit that I had been drinking a little more than was good for and the trouble all grew out of and the trouble all grew out of drink."
With these words he left the scene and soon returned. A look of complete satisfaction and happiness was on his face, and he smiled pleasantly as he entered.
"It is all right." he said. "We have made it all up. I have promised that I will not drink and run around, and she has promised to forgive me and come back

The Council comes in for a little touch-ing-up in a petition from a number of ing-up in a petition from a number of property-owners on Holladay avenue, which will be read at the meeting of the Council today. The petition is a remonstrance against the proposed improvement of Holladay avenue from East First to East Fourtsenth street. This street is to be redressed with gravel and cement sidewalks laid.

The remonstrance declares that the improvement will damage the street in ques-tion. Furthermore, it states that it is the belief of the petitioners that the improvement was ordered for the sole purpose of compelling the property-owners to lay cement sidewalks, and thus bring the street within the cement district. The petition concludes by saying that the Council has no jurisdiction to order the improvement.

ALL GROCERS AND DRUGGISTS

Our announcement in yesterday's papers that we were going to offer a very liberal discount on nine of our fine planos, created immediate interest.

Numerous callers at our store yesterday wanted a chance to have their selection included in the contest, but they were a day too early. The contest opens today and everybody is free to try for the prizes.

There are axes in some of our pianos, but they only cut the price. Even if you are ont quite ready to buy, you will be glad you have done it if you save the twenty-five dollars additional. For this sum, taken in connection with our uniformly low prices, brings the price of a plano way down, and it is a well established fact that Eilers Plano House always saves its purchasers from $75.00 to $150.00, according to the make.

How to Get the $25

Out of our twenty-six makes of fine planes, we have carefully selected nine that are representative and popular. The first persons who select their plano from any one of these specially selected lines, will be ahead just £2.00 In one plano of each of these makes we have placed an ax. After your selection is finally made, if you are the first one to hit upon a plano beionging to any one of the makes, which contains an ax, you will receive a clear receipt from us for £2.00. As every plano we carry is plainly marked with its retail price, you can easily convince yourself that you are making a bona file saving. It is not necessary for you to choose the piano which contains the ax; only that it belongs to any one of the lines having a plano with an ax in it. Thus you can suit yourself in style and case finish.

The Planos

Twenty-five dollars off the price of these elegant new 1900 planos is an important consideration and well worth trying for. The planos we have chosen are the very latest finish and the highest standard in every respect. Here is a full list of the planos we carry:

The Weber Plano, of New York; the Chickering, of Boston; the Kimball, of Chicago; the three finest planos in the world; Hobart M. Cable, Bush & Gerts, Vose, Victor, Haddorff, Decker, Jacob Doll, Pease, Steger, Crown, Schumann, Milton, Draper, Hinze, Leicht, Lester, Marshall, Stuyesant, Sherwood, Ricca, Singer, Wheelock, Whitney, Miller and Weser, This is the superb list from which we have made the selection, and the early buyer has nine chances out of twenty-eight.

For the Carnival

This offer is only good during the carnival, and from the interest already manifest, we predict it will not last out the entire time. Anyway, the earlier you come the more chance you have. Remember you can have just as long time and just as easy payments as any of our buyers. Eliers Plano House, Washington street, corner Park. Right at the entrance to the carnival grounds.

A germ at the root soon plays havor with the most luxuriant growth and causes It to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been dis-covered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage, besides removing all impurities from the scalp.
