With Deacon Van Buren at first, Blake in center field and Hollingsworth at short, the Browns certainly presented a brilliant collection of baseballists vesterday afternoon when they met and defeated Mique Fisher's Senators by the score of 11 to 4. and thereby moved into fourth place. It was taking a mean advantage of Fisher and his Senators to switch the line-up of the team. It was still a meaner trick for the management-according to Mique Fisher's musings-to get that brilliant star, Hollingsworth, from the slowly-dying opposition just when he needs games so badly. But the Brown management, while they like Fisher well, like better to get out of the cellar. If money with which to hire players counts for anything, and just our share of good fortune from now on, the Browns will travel upward and on-ward until they become a factor in the pennant race.

Through the underground system President Marshell learned that Hollingsworth was not satisfied with his berth with Dug-dale. That was enough information for Marshall, and he made a hurried call on Hellingsworth, with the result that this clever player became a member of the Browns' brigade. In addition to this, the Browns have not only the fastest but the highest-salaried shortstop in the league. He, if the rumor is true, ranks next to Joe Corbett in point of salary. The result of the game after the fourth and fifth innings was never in doubt. Thielman was serving for the locals, and he unloaded his usual bundle of mysteries. He osoned six of Fisher's "Tads," and Esgan, who has been clouting the ball hard and long, was Thielman's especial bait, for the Sacramento shortstop, in four times at bat, drew two blocks of ozone. Fitsgerald, the opposing twirler, truck out frider. Dovide also drew struck out twice. Doyle also drew a couple of packages. This makes 21 men Thielman has struck out in three games, averaging seven men to a game.

This, however, was only one part of Thielman's good work. He pitched superb ball and let the Senators down with eight scattered hits. Two of these were sides, but as a rule were not costly. Atflukes, and two were good for a couple of acks each, only one of which counted in Behind Thielman was the almost faultless work of the team. Andy Anderson had four chances, three of them difficult and fast, and they drew forth full-throat-ed applause. He also hit the ball in the fourth inning and scored a couple of Nine chances came romping his way, and he accepted them all like the mas-ter of that section of the game he is. He did not get a hit, but his sacrifice helped bring in a run. One of Fitzgeraid's wide ones caressed the hinge of his trousers. and the base he got was good for a run a few moments later. He is extremely fast on bases, and while playing his position watches, if there is more than one runner on the bases, every player in action. In short, he seems to have his eyes on all parts of the diamond at once. The dou-ble from Anderson to Hollingsworth to

Van Buren was a whiriwind.

Blake's work also proved the "dope" on him to be correct. Twice he singled, and he made a daring steal. Only one chance in center field came his way, and that was a rich, ripe American beauty. McLaughlin in the opening inning caught the ball square on the nose, and as it salled out to right of center, it had all the markings of a two-bagger. Biske gets into action at the crack of the bat, and but for this trait he would never have gathered in McLaughlin's long fly. For the ball was not only traveling fast, but was reaching far. Blake was under the sphere when it came down, within a foot of the fence, where the big "5" looms up on the cigar ad. The catch was made within a few inches of the embankment, and in spite of the swift run Blake recovered and threw back to second. The play was so fast that Casey, who was at second, was frozen to the sack.

Neither pitcher was located until the fourth inning. McLaughlin and Eagan singled and both stole second. Sheehan singled and both stole second. Sheehan fouled to Hess. Hogan hit straight at Hollingsworth, and McLaughlin was caught at the plate by a block. Doyle hit hard to Anderson, but Van Buren dropped the bail. The Descon had his hand on the hall when Doyle struck the bag, but the ball was on the ground, and Levy called him safe, and while this was going on two runs were scored. This was the last of Sacramento's scoring until the ninth. of Sacramento's acoring until the ninth, when a single by Hogan, a double by Doyle and a passed ball were good for two Hurlburt got a pass to first in the fourth inning. Van Buren singled, and Nadeau hit to Hogan. He saw Hurlburt racing into third and tried to catch him. The throw was bad and the right fielder scored. Anderson's bingle scored Van Buren, and things were pushed along when Hollingsworth sacrificed. Nadeau came home when Blake singled.

This gave the Browns the lead by one run, and it was the beginning of Pitzgeraid's undoing. Thielman had been a stumind to clinch the game, so he joited out a mind to clich the game, so he jolted out a double-sacker. Huriburt followed with a single. Van Buren did likewise, and he sent Thleiman and Huriburt home. Nasent Thielman and Huriburt home. Na-deau flew to Hildebrand. The bombard-ment disconcerted Fitzgerald, and he walked Anderson. Then he hit Hollings-worth, and he forced Van Buren home when he gave Blake transportation. Jay Andrews hit safely, and runs became gen-eral. A fast infield double play retired the side when it had gone through the bestime order.

TENNIS EXPERTS ARE BEING NAR-ROWED DOWN TO A FEW.

The semi-finals in the men's doubles and consolation handicap tennis tourna-men's doubles semi-finals several days ago. Yesterday Archer and Paget, receive 36, defeated Leiter and Prince, owe 3-5. The first of the three matches played were exceedingly interesting, Archer and Paget winning the first event by a 6-4 score and losing the second, 6-8. The third set went to Archer and Paget, 6-9, placing them in the finals with Fenton and Bellinger. Fenton and Bellinger have been favor-ites since the tournament commenced, the wise ones conceding them the honors. They have a good handicap and are playing a strong game.

In the consolation finals today Cawston will play Rohr, the former having won the semi-finals yesterday in two straight, 6-2 and 6-1, from Newill, who went from the first set to the semi-finals on defaulted games.

HOQUIAM TEAM DROPS OUT. New Schedule Not Satisfactory to the Champions. HOQUIAM, Wash., July 21,-(Special.)-

TOURNAMENT NEARS END At a meeting of the board of directors of the Southwestern Washington Baseball League in Aberdeen Sunday night the constitution was amended and six more games were added to the present schedule. The extra six games are to be played on Saturdays. The Hoquiam team having signed its team for only Sunday games in the league and as each member of the team team to drop from the league.

Hoquiam has the only amateur team in the league and has been in the lead all through the pennant race and is still one game to the good, but will not stand for the amendment, so Aberdeen, Olympia and Centralia will be compelled to get some other team in their place.

NEW SHAMROCK SHOWS STRONG POINTS IN TRIAL.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 21 .- After her narrow margin of victory yesterday, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the nautical blue ribbon was again in racing form today and trimmed her trial horse by 33 minutes, 17 seconds in a 20-mile race. Much of her big victory was due to a fluke, in which she covered miles of water, while Shamrock hung idle in a calm. Another thing which the sail-ors say brought luck to the new boat was that Sir Thomas, after watching the race from the Erin for several days, sailed today on the challenger. Her crew declares that he rarely fails to bring good

The race was to have been for 40 miles, but a shift of wind spoiled the plan and the boats sailed a close reach east-southeast from Scotland ship and back, the last five miles about dead to windward. Sham-rock I was just passing Sandy Hook lightship, four miles away, when the challenger rounded Scotland lightship and

The boats then took a broad reach of six miles south along the Jersey coast in a ten-knot wind. Shamrock III ran away from the old boat about one-eighth of a mile on the way out, beating her by a few hundred yards back to the lightship, and clinching her victory by outsailing her by several minutes in a thresh-up through Gedney's Channel and the ship

The New York Yecht Club attempted to carry out its programme by a 37-mile run from Newport to this port today, but up to 8 o'clock not a single yacht had shown up at the finish. The Columbia was last seen about 5:39 P. M., leading the fleet, at which time she was off Cuttyhunk. Boon after, a thick for shut in, and the wind after, a thick fog shut in, end the wind dropped, leaving the yachts flapping about at the entrance of Vineyard Sound.

The yachts left Newport harbor about 10 o'clock this morning, in a northeasterly breeze. Within 15 minutes after the start 1:54 3-5. the wind died away almost completely, leaving the boats almost motionless. The Reliance and Constitution managed to work down nearly to Buzzard's Bay, where they were becalmed for an hour. Meantime the Columbia, followed by the Visilant micked up a southerly breeze Vigilant, picked up a southerly breeze and slipped ahead. The Columbia round-ed Vineyard Sound lightship, 17 miles from the start, at 5:01; the Vigliant at 5:08. The Reliance managed to get out of the calm at the entrance of Buzzard's Bay and was timed around the lightship at 5:23.
At that time the Constitution was lying absolutely motionless, two miles astern. At 5:30 a fog came up and shut out the yachts from sight.
