Detectives Hampered in Running Down Murderers.

THEY KNOW WHO KILLED CALOF

Two Fruit Venders Accused of Committing Crime, but the Suspects Did Not Stay to Be Arrested.

Max Calof was murdered June 22. On the following day Detectives Snow and Kerrigan secured evidence tending to iden-tify the murderers but in hope of locating them best the information. em kept the information to themselves. By July 1 the detectives had secured evidence enough to warrant them in trying to capture Leo Griggs, also known as sughnuts," and Charles Leslie, fruit wenders, whom they believed guilty of murder.

Under date of July 1, the following letter was sent to Chief of Police George W. Wittman, of San Francisco, by Chief

"During an attempt to hold up two fruit peddlers, father and son, in their own barn in this city on June 22, 1963, two highwaymen shot and killed the father and made their 'getaway.' As far as the case stands at present, we suspect two hobo fruit peddlers, who were in our city but a short time, and if captured I think we have a good case against them. If they are in San Francisco they will be found among peddlers and commission houses. One is well known to some of your detectives. His description is as fol-

I am informed that Dietrict De-tective Graham knows him well. His people sent letters to Portland lately, but as he left our city immediately after the murder, the letters were returned to your Leo Griggs will undoubtedly communicate with his people. It being his first experience in that line of work. Griggs worked as fireman and water tender and oller on a transport between San Francisco and Manila, and may endeavor to ship again His partner Leslie will be likely to be found in your neighborhood, as he was beading that way.

"We have an exceedingly strong case against these two men as being the parties who committed this murder and are very anxious to apprehend them.
"Kindly do everything possible to locate them and if successful, arrest and wire at my expense and I will send an officer for Yours truly,

"CHARLES H. HUNT. "Chief of Police." "Chief of Police."

"We have evidence enough to convict these men if they are caught," said Detectives Kerrigan and Snow yesterday in talking of the murder. "And we have known who did the work since the day after it was committed."

"And you have not located or arrested them in all this time?"

them in all this time?" "We have not been able to do anything," they said. "We begged to be eent out after them, but were met with the excuse that there was no money on hand with which to pay our expenses. If we had gone after them ourselves the expense ney would have had to come out of our n pockets. The matter was laid before the Chief and before the Mayor, and we were not allowed to go after the men when we had proven beyond a doubt that they were guilty. Communications have been sent out giving a description of the men, and there is some chance of locating the men in this way." Evidence Against the Men. Asked for their evidence the detectives

In his haste to escape Lee Griggs lost his hat. We found it the next morning and it has been identified beyond a doubt. Leslie at one time worked for Nathan Calof, and his voice was recognized by him during the robbery.

"A neighbor named Tom Duffy saw Doughnuts running from the scene and can identify him as the man that did the shooting. Doughnuts was also chased for secondary. Designates was also chased for some distance by Sam Kafke, and was seen by Mrs. Brown, a colored woman. "Both men had been hanging around Portland for some time and doing no work. It was known that they were both broke," and the next morning they were both cone. We found the morn than had both gone. We found the room they had occupied and it had not been used the night of the murder."

As final convincing proof the detectives say that they can produce evidence to show that the two men accused had planned to hold up and rob a peddier by the name of Goidblatt on that night. Gold-light and accuse the control of the blatt did not come home on the regular time, and they turned their attention to young Calof. Calof's father ran out, and was shot three times by them in their effort to escape.

Owing to the fact that the detectives were not allowed to follow up the crimi nals they are still at large and their whereabouts are a mystery. They think that Griggs went South, and that Leslie went North, but have not been able to prove this fact. They are sure that both men disappeared directly after the murder and that neither has been seen since.

WATER FRONT AGITATED BY A FALSE REPORT.

German Ship Emille to Return to the Coast With General Cargo-China Steamer In.

A report became current on the beach esterday morning that the Grande Duch-see Oiga had arrived in the river. Those nostly interested in the safety of the overdue French bark breathed a sigh of relief, but they were doomed to disappointment when it was learned that the rumor was without foundation. It is now a year and ten days since the vessel left Shields with general cargo for this city, and 125 days nce she put in to repair damages caused storms on the first part of the passage. Unless the vessel, or some other, soon reaches port, the Saxon will be left the sole graincarrier in the river, as the Arctic Stream and the Rhuddian Castle are both ready to depart. The latter vessel cleared yesterday for Algoa Bay with 114,300 bushels of wheat shipped by T. M. Stevens & Co. The value of her cargo is $3,544. The Arctic Stream did not get away yesterday, as expected, but will probably leave down today or tomor-row. The Saxon is still disengaged, as efforts which were made to secure her a lumber charter fell through and there is no prospect of grain business in sight at a figure that would satisfy her owners. In the meantime, Captain Smith is put-ting his ship in first class shape and supplying himself with a new set of false eeth for a long stay in port.

While the arrival of some of the long list of cargo vessels is anxiously awaited, additions are being made to the fleet at the other end. The latest to go on the list is the German ship Emilie which will llie is one of last year's grain fleet from Portland. She left here February 14, with of barley and reached Ipswich on the 6th The big German ship Alice is also ed to be en route to Portland from reported to be en route to Por Hong Kong for wheat loading.

fer Flag to Lord Templetown. Captain Horse, of the former Canadian ship Lord Templetown, which was regis-tered at Victoria until in the effort to get her under the United States flag with the expected transfer of the Pacific West Indies to Uncle Sam she was made a Danish vessel, registered at St. Thomas, D. W. I., is in Victoria to make arrangements to have the vessel again registered as a Canadian vessel. The Lord Templetown is now loading lumber at Port Gamble for Cape Town, and when at Port Townsend Captain Horse endeavored to nduce Collector Ide, of Port Townsend, to allow him to take to Victoria the Danish register which was surrendered to the Collector when the vessel arrived and en-tered on June 20, and this the Collector would not do unless the vessel cleared from Puget Sound.

The Lord Templetown, which is owned at San Francisco, was formerly flying the Union Jack, but in the effort to get her under the Stars and Stripes she was given a temporary Danish register when at New York on June 15, 1902, and her me port was given as St. Thomas, In the effort to secure a permanent Danish register at that time agents were sent to Copenhagen and St. Thomas

BIG DREDGE FOR SNAKE RIVER, Five Carloads of Parts Shipped by

Joseph Supple. Joseph Supple has sent off five carloads of parts of the big gold dredge he is building for W. Raber and others to be operated on Snake River. The parts are sent knocked down, and will be put together at Glenn's Ferry. Mr. Supple will start a crew of men up there today, who will ut the dredge together in a short time Mr. Raher is in the East at present look-ing after the machinery, which has to be manufactured largely for this dredge. manufactured largely for this dreage, which will be the most extensive mining machine ever built for the Snake River. At Supple's boat yard a small stern-wheel craft is being built 60x10, which is for this same company, and will be a tender for the big dredge.

Supple is building a private bath house for Fred Morris, the banker, which will be used in connection with his handsome bonthouse, anchored near Ross Island. It will be 36x15 feet, and will be protected by an awning attached to stanchions. The Annie Comings, formerly the William M. Hogg, has received a new wheelhouse at Supple's yard.

CAPE HORN SEALERS.

Big Catches Made by the Several Schooners.

fleet of seven schooners operating off the Falkland Islands and Cape Horn which were dispatched from Victoria and Halifax by Victoria sealers, have taken 20,900 skins. Some have been hunting two seasons, others but one. The catches are reported by one of the sealers in a letter as follows: Edward Roy, Captain Baker, 3,985; Florence M. Munsle, Captain Robbins, 3,780; Ola M. Balsom, Captain R. Balsom, 3,500; Florence M. Smith, Captain Ryan, 3,360; E. B. Marvin, Captain Anderson, 2,400; Beatrice L. Corkum, Captain LeBlanc, 2,300; St. Clair, Captain Gilbert, 1,700. These catches represent the total catches since the vessels have been on the southern hunting grounds. A letter from one of the hunters of the Florence M. Smith says a cable has been received from the Victoria Sealing Com-pany, of Victoria, ordering Captain Ryan to take the vessel to Halifax, and similar instructions have been sent to Captain Anderson. The schooners can be outfitted reaper in Halifax.

ASHORE IN STRAITS OF MAGELLAN. Kosmos Liner Theben May Become a

Total Loss. For the third time since the Kosmos line has been running its steamships from Homburg to San Francisco disaster has overtaken the fleet and the big Theben, which left April 18 for the German home port, is hard and fast ashore near the Straits of Magelian. The cabled report of the disaster is meager, but contains the satisfactory information that passen-gers and crew are safe. The vessel and cargo, it is thought, will become a total loss. The place where she struck is de-scritted as Gray Channel, in Smyth's Channel, near the Straits of Magellan The Theben has a net registered ton-nage of 1963 tons. She is 368 feet long 6.9 feet in beam and 27 feet deep. Sh was built in Germany in 1897 and is com manded by Captain A. H. Schultz. She was a splendidly equipped vessel, with comfortable quarters for passengers and plenty of room for carrying all kinnds of freight.

now on the ways at the Centerville ship-yard, in about two weeks. This scow is being built for the Pacific Coast Con-tracting Company, of San Francisco. It will be the largest ever built on the bay. The dimensions are 300 feet long and 50 feet wide and she will draw ten feet of water. Her carrying capacity will be 1500 tons. As soon as completed she will be towed to San Francisco. Theben for £10,000, and the ship at £5000 on the principle of "No cure no pay."
The German steamer Theben, Captain Schuitz, sailed from San Francisco April 16 for Hamburg, and, as before reported, grounded in Gray Channel, but afterward got off badly damaged and subsequently was run ashore at Cunningham Island July 14 to prevent sinking.

GLADSTONE PARK, July 21 .- (Spe cial.)—This was woman's day at Chau-tauqua, and one of the most successful of the season in point of interest and at-tedance. It required two long trains to bring back to Portland the people who emained through the evening musical programme.

The chief interest of the day centered around the grand concert tonight, the ad-dress of Mrs. Robert J. Burdette in the afternoon and the address in the forenoon of Rev. E. W. St. Pierre, of the Salem penitentiary, on "Prison Reform." There was a noticeable increase in the attend-ance of women from Portland, many of whom brought lunch baskets, while others were entertained by friends camped among the 250 tents on the ground. The selections were excellent. Those which seemed to strike the audience with greatest favor were the quartet from Rigoletto, the indies' double quartet from Treble Cleff Club "Carmena," and "The Month of Maying," the sextet from Lucia di Lammermoor, and Mrs. Sheldon's rendition of "Irish Folk Song," in which she made an extraordinarily fa vorable impression. Another hit was made by Melvin Dodson in the recitation 'A Turkey Bath."

When Mrs. Burdette spoke on Care of the Junior Citizen" she had a fine audience. Among her auditors were Governor Chamberlain and ex-Governor and Mrs. T. T. Geer, who are camping on the ground.

The Junior Citizen. In outlining that which must be done for the junior citizen by public opinion Mrs. Burdette urged upon women the creation and maintenance of high personal standards of the sacredness of true womanhood, the sanctity of the marriage tie, the effort for mniform divorce laws, one and the same moral standard for both men and women. She made an earnest plea for simpler living, in order that chil-dren might be saved from an inheritance of extravagance and display.

"I wish to decry," she said, "the tend-ency of parents to put upon the schools all the responsibility of the education of the child, upon the church all the moral training, and upon the state, through legislation upon certain evils, all the dis-cipline of the child. You cannot dele-gate to institutions and to government the duties of parenthood."

In speaking of uniform divorce laws, Mrs. Burdette said: "It is an appalling fact that divorces in the United States are increasing three times as rapidly as the population. If that ratio continues, by the close of the century separations by death will be fewer than separations by dis-cord. The first remedy is a high standard to be held in the hearts of our women that they will not be on with the new ove because they can so easily be off with the old. But until all women shall be thus protected by this safeguard of their own determination we should set about weak or thoughtless women the restric-tions of uniform divorce laws for the protection of society. We have come to an this social disease and but national legislation will stay it. And no one but the women of this country-of your own state, of your own community and of your home, can arouse the public sentiment. And I lay upon your sleeping consciences this burning coal from the pure altar of mother-love, and plead with you for the love of the children, the junior citizens of the republic, that you act for the preservation of the home. The diversity of laws in the different states makes it quite possible for a man or woman to be single in one state and at the same time married in another. A man may legally change his wife, the wife can legally change her husband, but there is no process of law by which they can change their children. And thus the sad condition exists of children liv-ing in the home with one parent who holds the most sacred relation given to humanity with a man or woman not their parent, while the real parent is somewhere out in the world, probably leading the same life. For statistics have shown that more than three-fourths of the divorces in the United States are procured for immediate re-marriage to another person already selected. "We must continue the denunciation of polygamy in Utah." she said. "There legal polygamy no longer exists, but consecutive polygamy, as carried on in all the states under sanction of the law, is more productive of present evil and immorality, and is more dangerous to the future of the nation, through these little citizens, than simultaneous polygamy that may be carried on in violation of the laws, in Utah. Until there is a di-vorce law in every state forbidding remarriage of divorced persons, except un- lis der strictly prescribed conditions, mothers may well look with dread upon the future of their sons and daughters who have not within themselves the saving tandard of true marriage in the of God-a holy sacrament, and not a mere

'Where are the walls of your city?' the stranger asked the King of old Sparta, whose proud boast it was that her women had never beheld the smoke of an enemy's campfire. Where are the waits of your invulnerable city? And the King pointed to the young men of the state, standing in the serried ranks of the citizen soldiery. 'Behold the walls of Sparta.' Where are your jewels?' The Roman society woman, bedizened and weighted with gems and ornaments, asked the noble Cornella. The Roman nother drew closer to her side her two boys-the Gracchi, the noble youth whose names live forever in history-These are

"Let then your hearts," said Mrs. Burdette in conclusion, "throb with the pride of motherhood, O women of America, The splendor, the strength and glory of the Nation is yours, all yours. You are the mothers of the junior citizens!"
