Why Government Delays the Arrest of Beavers.

WISHES TO CONCEAL ITS HAND

Accused Boodler's Friends Bonst That the Government is Afraid He Will Incriminate Others-To Be Vigorous Prosecution.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 21.-The delay in bringing about the arrest of George W. Beavers, indicted last Thursday for receiving a bribe of over $800 in connection with the purchase of cash registers for the postal service, has led to considerable comment Washington, and it is boastfully charged by friends of the accused that the Government does not care to press the prosecution, for fear of his incriminating others who are higher up. At the same time friends of Machen are loud in their condemnation of the apparently lenient treatment of Beavers, which is in such startling contrast with the hasty manner in which the free delivery man was handled after his indictment. At the Postoffice Department the explanation offered is this: "Beavers resides in Brooklyn, but has not been there for more than a week, according to reports from New York. Beavers is apparently trying to force the Government officers to cause his arrest in New York, for, if arrested in Manhattan, must be accorded a hearing before a United States Commissioner, and in that event the department would be compelled to expose its hand. On the other hand, if Beavers can be taken at his home, the Government need not make known the details of its case prior to the trial. The department explains that the delay is solely a play for advantage, and the hope is held out that Beavers may ultimately be arrested in Brooklyn."

Here is strong denial that Beavers is to be shown any undue consideration, but, on the contrary, it is insisted that he will be accorded such treatment as he justly

Beavers' Rights Admitted.

WASHINGTON, July 21.-Assistant Attorney-General Robb returned here today from Brooklyn, where he consulted District Attorney Youngs regarding the Beavers case. Later it was announced that the Postoffice Department was in thorough accord with the District Attorney's attitude in the case. Mr. Beavers, from the viewpoint of the Government, is entitled to a copy of his indictment if he surrenders in the Brooklyn jurisdiction, and his right to a knowledge of the charges against him, it is claimed, would be thereby protected.

Meet President.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washingtoh, July 21.-Cannon, who is to be Speaker, is very likely to visit the President for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the coming extra sesters pertaining to the coming extra session of Congress, especially financial legislation. The President is carnestly in favor of correctly legislation, and it is eviment to Secretary Shaw changes which will vor of correctly legislation, and it is eviment to Secretary Shaw changes which will be seen to be s vor of currency legislation, and it is evident that Cannon desires to move very slowly in that matter. He said today that it was impracticable to discuss what should be done, and it was equally ab surd to put him in the attitude of "hold- general appraisers. The case was that of ing up the world by the tail," and stopping the wheels of progress. He said that, when the men who compose the 58th Congress come together, they will decide whether anything is necessary. Meanwhile he would no doubt be willing to listen to anything the President has to say on the subject.

CRIME IN INDIAN TERRITORY.

Secretary Hitchcock Will Do Utmost to Bring Guilty to Justice,

WASHINGTON, July 21.-Acting Secretary Ryan, of the Interior Department, today made the following statement with reference to official changes in the Indian

"In view of the articles which have uppeared in the public press, it is proper to state that no complaints pending in the department against any of its officials in the Indian Territory charge any criminal misconduct. Secretary Hitchcock has been for some time thoroughly impressed that there should be a searching investigation of Indian affairs by more effective means than he is authorized to employ by law, If it be true that any of the Federal officials of the Indian Territory have been guilty of criminal acts, no one possessing any knowledge of the fact, or any information tending to prove the fact, has shown any disposition to disclose it to the department or to anybody else, so far as the Secretary knows. The Secretary has no power to compel any such person to tell what he knows. It is hopeful that a grand jury may be directed by the Federal Court in the Indian Territory to take up the matter, because that tribunal can opel witnesses to testify to any facts of which they may have knowledge. The Secretary believes that it is only by such an investigation that any official offenses can be uncovered.

"But whatever may be done along that line, all the power Secretary Hitchcock has will certainly be exercised thoroughly to investigate not only pending complaints but the conditions and situations under his jurisdiction in the Indian Territory.

"Neither Secretary Hitchcock nor any other officer of the department has stated

GOVERNOR OF WYOMING SAYS SOMEBODY STANDS IN.

Tells President of Abuses Connected With Forest Reserves-Treeless Land is Included.

OMAHA, Neb., July 21.-Governor Fentnore Chatterton, of Wyoming, in a letter ncorporated in an article which appeared in the second issue of the Omaha Commercial, makes the charge that a corporation in Washington is profiting by what he calls the mistaken policy of the present administration regarding forest re-serves in the Western States. He says this corporation buys up the claims which settlers are forced to abandon, relin-quishes them to the United States Government and receives in exchange scrip which is then filed upon valuable lands. The Omaha Commercial article, in which is included Governor Chatterton's letter, follows: "The forest reserve-policy of the present administration is of the most intense interest to those Western States which are seeking the development of their semi-arid lands into cultivated districts and their population into numbers proportion-ate with the magnitude of their areas.

"The administration has, seemingly through no other reason than had advice, been creating forest reserves in the Westhas, seemingly ern States without regard either to the wishes of the people of these states, or conditions existing as to locality or climatic conditions.

The late Governor De Forest Richards, of Wyoming, in an interview which some months ago created a furore in Washington, and, indeed, throughout the country, lamented the execution of this policy. He asserted with vehemence that its continuance would result in Wyoming, and posstbly other Western States, sending a delecation to the next Republican convention which would be antagonistic to President Roosevelt's renomination.

"The Wyoming senatorial delegation as-sured the President that Governor Richards' views were wrong, but evidence has been piling upon evidence which shows that policical chicanery must be behind the present forestation movement, while the same evidence proves the truthfulness of the late Governor Richards' views. "Although the forestation of the Western States is not and should not be made a political question, it is apparent to astute politicians that political enemies of President Roosevelt in his own party have been misleading him upon the question. "Governor Richards' views were upheld throughout Wyoming and are today. For a confirmation of this statement the ecctor of the Omaha Commercial requested of Governor Fenimore Chatterton, present executive of Wyoming, a written statement as to the real views of the people of Wyoming upon this question, Governor Chatterton makes the following response: "'Editor Omaha Commercial: Dear Sir: In response to your request for a statement of Wyoming's position on the forest-reserve question, I will say that the ques-tion does not contain one lots of politics. It is a simple business proposition, not only in the interest of the livestock in-dustry but in the interest of the small ranchman and the merchant, and as these nterests affect all others it is a business problem which interests the entire state. Everyone favors the preservation of the forests, for they are nature's conservators of the water which we must have for irrigation, but we do insist that these reserves be forest reserves and not game preserves. We desire the protection of our onle and their industries first. The game is amply protected by strict state laws and an effective corps of game wardens.

"'We insist that the forest reserve should be confined to the area of the for-est itself, under the reasonable supervision of men having practical knowledge of the proper methods for the preservation of the timber and the conditions existing in our livestock industry with regard to grazing in the parks and the open mountains above timber line. E these two things can and ought to be nanaged without detriment to the inter The right to graze on the foothills and in the parks of the mountains in the Spring and Summer is absolutely necessary for the preservation of the stock industry, because those portions of the state denominated as desert—the plains can only be utilized in the Winter when mer range is worthfess without the Winter range. Both are a necessity, both have their indispensable uses to the stockmen. 'Great care should be expressed in the

" 'No reserve should be created without first meandering the outside line of such forest growth as is of use for retarding the melting of the snow, and such line should be the boundary line of the reserve and all reserves heretofore created should be at once reduced to such area.

" 'As now created, our reserves include hundreds of thousands of acres of pasture and agricultural lands upon which there is no timber, never has been, and because of nature's laws, never will be. "There are many settlers upon these lands who have not been able to make proof upon their claims as the lands were not surveyed, but who have a squatter's right and thereby the right to make final entry when the Government system of survey is extended over the lands. "Lands which have been surveyed and upon portions of which settlers have hade fund entry; have been included in these reserves and by reason of the curtailment of their grazing privileges, through the autocratic methods of non-resident supervisors, these settlers have had to absorbe their howes. And in had to abandon their bomes. And in many instances these squatters and homesteaders have, for self-protection. been obliged to sell their rights to a speculative land corporation in Washington, who relinquish to the Government and obtain land scrip which they sell at a large profit.

"'We are unalterably opposed to these methods which threaten a great industry and which have been brought about through the ignorance of Government officials as to the conditions prevailing in the West. We are simply endeavoring to show these officials the mistakes made and hope and believe they will, when they understand the situation, take proper action. "We suggest that in the future it would be wise for the department to con-fer with the state officials regarding these matters rather than to arbitrarily, from a map on a desk in Washington, reserve certain townships from use by the people who have braved the hardships of the frontier; or to send Eastern men who can have no knowledge or appreciation of the conditions here, to supervise what is of such wital interest to the restdents of the sections most affected.

"'Very truly yours

Signed) "F. CHATTERTON."
Considering the persistent indications (Signed) that certain Republican Interests are seeking to undermine President Roosevelt and prevent his nomination by the approaching convention, the real friends of the President who are acquainted with forest reserve conditions in the mountain Summer range—the mountain parks and foothills—cannot be used in the Winter because of the deep snow. It is, therefore, easily understood that the Winter range range—the desert—is absolutely worthless without the Summer range and the Sum-Rosevelt is led into his present policy by the state of the westward of Nehraska states to the westward of Nehraska look with concern upon the continuation of the westward of Nehraska ance of the forest-reserve policy which he is maintaining.
