the 1905 Fair in the East.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 24.—The Oregon Elks who attended the recent Grand Lodge and carnival in Baltimore, went sightseeing in Washington today. The party includes Dr.
E. B. McDaniel, of Baker City, district deputy grand exalted ruler for the state; P. W. DeHoff and wife, of The Dalles; George B. Small, of Baker City; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patterson and Robert Wallbrunn, of Baker City; Dr. W. H. Byrd and daughter, Miss Winnifred, of Salem. The other members of the Oregon delegation, John Lamont and H. C. Hipple, of Portland, J. H. Pearce and Rev. L. Fryzla, of La Grande, are visiting in Philadelphia.
The party will reorganize and spend Sunday at Atlantic City. They were joined in Baltimore by A. W. Patterson and wife, Mr. Patterson representing Heppner lodge.
Throughout the Grand Lodge carnival the Oregon contingent industriously distributed among Eastern Elks a vast amount of literature advertising Oregon and the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and in the parade, decorated their carriages with streamers bearing the words, "Oregon Elks, Lewis and Clark Fair, 1905." The delegation found that the Fair is but slightly known in the East, and say it should be extensively advertised in order to give it the prominence it deserves.

WANTS TO SUCCEED HANNATom Johnson Desires to Be Senator, but Not Governor.

ington, July 24.—Tom Johnson wants to succeed Mark Hanna in the United States Senate. To a group of 15 leading Democrats of his state, he has made known his aspirations, and made it equally plain that he does not desire the gubernatorial nomination.
Johnson hopes with the aid of ex-Representative John J. Lents and a number of other Democratic leaders to conduct a campaign that will result in the election of a Democratic Legislature, and in event of success, counts upon being chosen as Hanna's successor.

More Rural Routes for Oregon.

be established September 1 as follows: Clackamas, Clackamas County, with one carrier; Crabtree, Lane County, with one carrier; Dallas, Polk County, with one carrier; Sherwood, Washington County, with four carriers.
James A. Winchell has been appointed regular and Saul C. Butcher substitute rural carrier at Ellensburg, Wash.

HEADS THE FAIRH. W. Scott Is Elected President.*NAMED BY DIRECTORS*H. W. Goode Is Made Director-General.*ADOLPHE WOLFE RETIRES*Special Committee Reports On Plan of Organization.*NO SUCCESSOR TO W. W. COTTON*President Will Have General Charge of Lewis and Clark Exposition Affairs, and Director-General Will Have Business Management.*LEWIS AND CLARK FAIR OF-FICERS.

H. W. Scott, president.
H. W. Goode, director-general.
J. N. Fleischner, first vice-president.
W. D. Wheelwright, second vice-president.
Samuel Connell, third vice-president.
Henry Reed, secretary.
First National Bank, treasurer.

The directors of the Lewis and Clark Fair yesterday elected H. W. Scott president and H. W. Goode director-general.
A resolution adopted by the board authorized the new director-general to visit San Francisco, Nashville, Atlanta and New Orleans, where exhibitions of practically the same size as that planned for Portland have been held, and consult with the officers who made these fairs a success.

Under the resolutions adopted by the board the director-general will have charge of the business management of the Exposition. He will give practically all of his time to the work and will be entirely responsible for the administration of affairs at the Exposition grounds. The president's duties have been lightened considerably. It was declared yesterday that the president would be compelled to "sit on the safety valve" and to consult with committees, heads of departments, officers of the association and in a general way keep in touch with Exposition affairs.
Other officers elected were: J. N.
Fleischner, first vice-president; W. D.
Wheelwright, second vice-president;
Samuel Connell, third vice-president;
Henry Reed, secretary; First National Bank, treasurer.

Adolphe Wolfe has filled the position of second vice-president and auditor of the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Had he been willing to accept the responsibilities of the position, the directors were inclined to elect him first vice-president and ask him again to take up the duties of auditor.
Mr. Wolfe, however, was compelled to decline both offices.

Auditor Not Elected.

The board of directors did not elect an auditor. The question has been considered several times and there seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of selecting some one who will accept the position of auditor and devote his entire attention to the accounts of the Exposition Company.
It was decided yesterday to leave the question with the finance committee, which will consult with the president and secretary, reporting at the regular meeting of the board on August 14.

No successor was elected to W. W. Cotton, who resigned as director of the Exposition Company. Mr. Cotton's plans for the coming year will take him out of the city most of the time, and he could not devote the attention to the work that he believes necessary. A special committee of five will recommend a new member of the board.

A special committee of five had been designated at a previous meeting to take up the question of the organization of the board, and its report upon the best plan of organization was adopted. The committee recommended the election of Mr.
Scott as president, and defined his duties as those prescribed in the by-laws of the company. It was explained that the president would not be expected to give his attention to the detail management of the Exposition affairs, that this could be better done by a director-general. A business man selected from the business men of Portland, one thoroughly in touch with local affairs and able to give his attention to the business management of the Exposition, was urged. A salary of $500 per month and expenses was suggested.
The committee recommended H. W. Goode as director-general, and the recommendations were approved. Mr. Goode will assume the duties of his office on September 1, but in the meantime he is authorized to visit those cities which have held similar expositions and study the plan of operation they followed.

Report of Special Committee.

In explaining the committee's recommendations, W. D. Fenton said:
"The committee has been considering this question very carefully and when we met yesterday we found that all were of the same mind. It was considered impossible to elect as director-general any save a business man. One who has not been in business would either have no particular interest in the Exposition or he would have outlived his usefulness. The question was brought up of securing the services of an expert in exposition affairs and bringing him here at an expense of from $10,000 to $20,000. Such a man would have to come out here and learn our resources and the peculiar conditions which exist on the Coast. On the other hand we considered the question of electing a man familiar with commercial, historical and all local conditions and who would bring to this enterprise the experience of a practical business man and the enthusiasm of one whose interests lie here.

"It would be too much, we believed, to ask Mr. Scott to take upon himself the entire work of presiding over this corporation and assuming the management of the Exposition. We have put a large responsibility upon him as it is. He will be called upon almost daily to consult with committees and those engaged in the Fair work. He will have to sit on the safety valve and protect the interests of the corporation.

"We have elected a man who has large interests here, but whose affairs are so well in hand that he has promised to give the Fair his time and make the Exposition a success. Mr. Goode is tactful, resourceful, and has the confidence of the men behind him. Mr. Goode will be cheerfully and agreeably supported by the president of the company, who will give all the time he is able to spare to the enterprise. Mr. Scott is in the vigor of his career when he will be able to be of the greatest benefit to us."

Mr. Fenton spoke of the work planned at St. Louis, which will give the Louisiana Purchase Exposition the greatest electrical display ever seen at any point in the world. He stated that Mr. Goode would probably be able to secure a repetition of this display in Portland, and in any event would be able to provide the grandest electrical display ever given on the Pacific Coast. This, Mr. Fenton believed, would be one of the most enjoyable features of the Fair.

Remarks of Mr. Scott.

Before his formal election Mr. Scott explained his position, saying:
"On my own behalf, I have to say that I am not insensible to the honor that you would confer upon me. Yet I cannot say that I thank you for it, for while it may be an honor, if successful, it is also a very heavy burden. Nothing but a sense of the fact that it is a great public requirement would induce me to consider it for one moment or to think about it at all. No inducement in the way of any honor it might bring or any salary which might be offered would be the slightest temptation to me in such a matter. I have not felt that I have been the proper person to take this honor and this labor, and yet it comes with a pressure that I do not feel I am well able to resist, for every man has a responsibility in the community and I have mine.

"The honor of Portland and of Oregon must be considered; must always be in view. We must do the very best possible with the resources in our hands. We must not forget the historical and general significance of this centennial occasion in relation to the prosperity and growth of this country and with the Pacific Commerce which is now opening to us. One great matter to be studied will be the methods of co-operation with the State Commission. I think that the State Commission and the executive committee of the State Commission will have a disposition to co-operate to the fullest extent and with the very best judgment in the work that we are to do. Without such co-operation we shall fail.

"Concerning Mr. Goode—I think he is a very suitable man for the position. He is connection with the failure, but he will not say anything. The statement of Tay-
