Intelligent shopping is a great lever in lowering prices, and this store is constantly helping people to know merchandise. tells about the goods in its advertisements. It instructs its salespeople to tell about the goods when they are selling them. It has done this for years and years, and Portland women are known the business world over as keen, shrewd shoppers. If merchandise won't stand scrutiny we won't give it room -that's all there is to it. Some things have to be bought on the name -a piano, a diamond, perhaps; but even then you ought to know why one instrument or one stone is better than another before you pay out $500 or $1000. Ask questions. Every price has its reason; every article (except trash-which we leave to the careless stores) its merits.

WASHINGTON July 31.-The postoffice Investigation developed another sensation today, the Federal grand jury returning several indiciments, involving new per ple, for alleged conspiracy and bribery in connection with postal affairs. Warrants have been issued for the out-of-town persons indicted and their arrest ted within the next 24 hours. The grand Jury has not completed the work laid before it. Other indictments may be expected later on, possibly within a week or two. It is understood that two addi-tional cases against one of the parties inofficial, are being inquired into by the grand jury, and the acts of another former high official of the Postoffice Department, already under indictment by the Brooklyn grand jury, are being investigated. Attorney Speaks for Machen.

Attorney Douglas, of Machen's counsel ugh they alleged different transactions and new indictments were designed simply to strengthen the former ones. He said nothing had yet been decided as to Machen's course under the new indict-ment. Machen was in consultation with his counsel this afternoon, and the de-murrer to the previous indictments prob-

It was Mr. Mayor who traced the checks which figured in the previous indictments of Machen, and in weaving the evidence which he placed before the grand jury he visited New York and other cities. Most of the last few weeks he has spent working up lines of evidence and assisting the prosecuting officials in the presentation to the grand jury.

Postmaster-General Payne returned to this city tonight from his trip of about a fortnight on the revenue cutter Onondaga, which was making its cruise along the Atlantic Coast.

HOW THE GRAFTS WERE WORKED

Department Issues an Official Statement of the Case. WASHINGTON, July 31 .- The Postoffice Department today made public the fol-lowing official statement of the cases:

lowing official statement of the cases:
"In 1892, the department, through the free delivery division, entered into a contract with the Fostal Device & Lock Company for the purchase of carriers' satchels for a period of four years. The manager of this company, with whom all negotiations were conducted, was W. G. Crawford, of Washington, D. C. The satchels were to be made of a coated cancas called pegamoid, instead of leather, as The contractor was to furnish tive of the Postal Device & Lock Com sany, to aid him in securing the contract, and to furnish the straps for a specific amount per satchel. Pursuant to this agreement, which was a claudestine agreement, and not a matter of record in the department, every time the Postal Device & Lock Company was paid for a supply of satchels, remittance was made by the company to George E. Lorenz for his part of the compensation.

Paid for What He Did Not Furnish, Mr. Lorenz, however, did not furnish th straps. They were furnished by the de partment through Machen and paid for by the department. Crawford, therefore said Lorenz for the straps which the de partment furnished and Lorenz, to show his appreciation of Machen's liability in furnishing free of charge the straps which he (Lorenz) was paid for, divided his profits with Machen. This con-tract was entered into without competi-tion, and the cases cost Runkle about 20 cents each. The inspectors have conclu-sive evidence that Runkle divided his profits of 6 cents per case with Machen and McGregor. This is annibrous with and McGregor. This is anniogous with the Baltimore case, in which McGregor and Upton figured, and have been both indicted. Machen, Runkle and McGregor have been indicted in this case.

Machen Relieves Contractor. "In 1868, through the free delivery division, a contract was made with Le J. Stern, of Baltimore, for carriers Stern of Dathmore, for carriers satchels. The specifications required Stern to furnish complete satchels including shoulder straps, the shoulder strap being specifically described as a part of the satchel, and to be furnished by the contractor. After the contract was entered into, Stern was relieved by Machen from furnishing the straps, the full price being paid for the satchels. dacher's course under the new indictinent. Machen was in consultation with its counsel this afternoon, and the denurer to the previous indictments probably will be filed tomorrow.

Walter Mayor, a veteran police inspector and for many years previously a special chased by Machen from a New York firm, without compensation. He required this New York firm, however, to pay a commission of 4 cents per strap, which commission was collected by W. S. Long, and divided between Long and Machen. In this transaction Machen not only secured money from Stern for relieving him from furnishing the strap which he had contracted to furnish, but required the man from whom he hought the straps the man from whom he bought the straps to pay him a commission on the straps which he was giving to Stern. Long was used as the intermediary in both transac-tions. Over $22,000 was paid by the department for straps that were furnished to Stern, though Stern had contracted to furnish them himself. Long, Machen and Stern have been indicted in this case for conspiracy to defraud the Government.

The terms allowed Cupper were far in excess of the former cost of painting. The boxes in some of the larger cities were painted frequently, sometimes every year, while in smaller cities in the more remote sections of the country they were painted not to exceed once in five or six years. A part of the money which Cupper received from painting the boxes he paid to W. C. Long, who divided it with Machen.

Division of the Graft,

"The straps for which it is alleged the Government was made to pay twice were supplied by a New York fem, which is said to have acted entirely in good faith. One of the indictments sets out that the firm in one instance made a payment of 11789 to Long, who, according to the evidence cired in the indictment, paid Machen 11999 of this amount. The supply of the straps continued until the postoffice investigation began and supply matters were held up under orders of Fourth Assistant Postmanter-General Rristow. istant Postmaster-General Bristow. It is explained at the department that Crawford had the contract for what were called the A. BOND REFUNDING CASES.

Shaw's Order to Aid National Bank Circulation No Longer in Effect. WASHINGTON, July IL-Operations unler the refunding offer of Secretary Shaw made April 1 last, were practically con-cluded today, although it was announced that all bonds now in transit would be accepted. Up to 3 o'clock, the amount of 2s and 4s received for exchange into 2 cent consols was $80,866,060. Later de cent consols was $80,866.000. Later delly-eries, however, increased this sum by something over $100,000, so that the total will approach $81,000,000.

The Secretary's offer has resulted in a very material increase of the National bank circulation, although the exact bank circulation. amount cannot be definitely determined as several elements other than the refunding of the old 3s and 4s necessarily enter into the calculation. Since March 14, 1906, however, the circulation of National bank notes has been increased from $254,600,736 to $466,622,635, a total of $162,200,905. More than half of this increase probably is due to the operations closed today.

Cretoni, born in 1833, and Langenieux, born in 1824, in going to their cells were so exhausted that they had to be supported by the noble guard in attendant on them. In spite of this there was still no rest for the cardinals, as each held a recention of their friends, relatives and followers, who surrounded the princes of the church, giving them good advice warnings and recommendations, all talking together at the top of their voices and crowding about the cardinals to such ar extent that one of the latter was seen to over his ears with his hands, positively refusing to hear any more advice, accompanying his action with a gesture which eloquently said, "Save me from my
