Browns Win Once More From Sacramento.

GAME PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

Fast and Brilliant Fielding With Favoring Close Decision Mainly Responsible for Portland's Victory.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE. Yesterday's Scores, land, 2; Sacramento, 0. San Francisco, 7; Seuttle, 5. Oukland, 2; Los Angeles, 1. Standing of the Clubs.

They pinched off that crew of baseballists from Sacramento in hig time, those Browns of ours yesterday afternoon, and sent them back to the bran runless for the second time this week. They did it with lise Butler on the firing line, and the big feliow certainly got even for the last two unmerciful trouncings be has received on the mound at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn streets. The sbut-out presented to Mique and his men, while it was marred in one spot by Captain Graham who stepped to the press box while the game was not yet a minute old, and announced that he was continuing the rame under protest, was one of the most second time this week. They did it game under protest, was one of the most int played on the local diamond this School. Thomas was opposing Butler, and if clever work in the box could count for a win, he would have been entitled to it. He pitched in rare form and not one of the fifteen men who faced him during the first five innings got to first base. He wasted nothing and the order of retiring wasted nothing and the order of returns the Browns was on one, two, three. While this was going on, Butler was being touched for four bingles, and it was only fast and brilliant fielding behind him and a break in our favor on a close decision at first, that saved him. The close decision came in the first inning. Blake had made a great catch of Caser's long had made a great catch of Casey's long fly and Hildebrand had beaten out a bunt. McLaughlin smashed at Van Buren. The Deacon after gathering it in, hesitated a McLaughlin smashed at Van Buren. The Deacon after gathering it in, hesitated a second in order to make a throw to first, and neeing no one there started after the runner. He swung at McLaughlin as he passed him. As to whether Van Buren tagged the runner or not, opinions differ, but Levy called him out and the next instant there was an indignation meeting with Captain Graham and Umplies Levy the leading characters. Every member of the Sacramento team surrounded the official and they must have handed him a lovely package, for he lost his temper. Graham took the signs and retired towards the bench, leaving the others to abuse Levy. While the chow-chow was going on. Hildebrand, who was at second, made a dreuit of the bases and tried to claim the run on the ground that Levy had not called time. Hildebrand made the run home when he saw the ball get past Butler and roll to the field. It was a trick of course and if Levy had stood for it, it would have been clever, but the game official ordered him back to second base. It was then that Captain Graham claimed his protest because the run was not allowed.

Ike Francis was the first Brown to locate Mr. Thomas and he greeted his find in the sixth liming by driving out a daisy cutter that was good for two stations. Wise Hildebrand was playing deep or it cutter that was good for two stations. Wise Hildebrand was playing deep or it would have gone on record as a triple. The leftfielder made a beautiful throw to Eagan, and came within an ace of nipping the new third baseman, as he sprinkled the dust and pebbles like a gravel train. Vigneux followed him Butler smacked one and drew a pass. Butler smacked one into Thomas' hand and Francis was nailed at third. The big pitcher was safe at first and got a chance to score after Vigneux had slipped home on his stomach when Hildebrand juggled Huriburt's timely single. Van Buren bunted successfully and Butler scored on Nadenu's cessituly and souter scored on Nadeau's out to Doyle.

This was all of the scoring in spite of the fact that Blake drove out a two bagger. He was doubled out with Francis who flew out to Hildebrand. He misundetatood rush singles for time orders and was caught at the plate. A bit of a hard try and a slide would have scored him sure, for Graham was receiving the ball on the bound and it was coming to him | Seattle ... It so happened that his run was not needed, and because he did some excellent work in his garden he is forgiven. If Vigneux would inject about two drachms of tobasco into him before the game starts, he would perhaps show better form.

Nadeau made a perfect throw from the outfield and caught Townsend at the plate. This and his catch of Eagan's plate. long drive that was within a few inches of the fence near the foul line, were fast and clever plays. In the seventh inning Sarramento was on the verge of scoring and only clever head work killed them off. Sheehan had singled and got to third when Van Buren allowed Doyle's drive to get past him. Sheehan and Doyle tried to work the double steal, but Vigneux was after them and by a bluff of throwing to catch Doyle at second, he pulled Sheehan off third and then whipped the ball to Francis. A race followed and finally Vigneux tagged Sheehan, Graham was ozoned and lost his temper and said things to Levy for which he was plagtered with a $5 fine.

The farther this man Francis goes the better he shows. In every game he imng drive that was within a few inches better he shows. In every game he improves, both in his fielding and batting and by his work he has silenced the members of the hammerfest society. While at the hat in the seventh inning he fooled Thomas into making a balk and got Blake advanced to third. Hlake was playing deep off second, and Thomas was watching him and not the batter. was watching him and not the batter. Francis quickly took advantage of this and just a second before Thomas started to deliver the bail he stepped out of the box. Thomas swing has arm as if to throw and when he saw Frincis out of the box he paused and made the balk. Both teams played a spiendid fielding game and Sacramento, with the exception of a tumble by Casey, played a perfect game. Without exception, the Undertakers played their best game yet. They ers played their best game yet. They have lost their besting eye and to that more than anything is due the great slump the team has taken on this trip North. The score: PORTLAND.

He treated Charley Rellly's club just as dirty as he did ours, and if the chance presents itself he will double-cross Portland. I did not file a protest to Hollingsworth coming back as soon as I heard that he was with Portland, for the reason that I wanted to give the manager a chance to get another man. son. Just why Morley was willing to have Hollingsworth play with Seattle and not Portland is not a very deep mystery, but his action, if the story is true, smacks very much of the "dog in the manger," and is not for the good of the league.

After Hollingsworth had jumped to the Pacific Nationals, he realized that he had made a great mistake, and wrote Morley begging the Loo Loos manager to take him back. This Morley refused to do, and he stayed with Reilly's team in the Nationals until he became dissatisfied with the management. Dugdale was supposed to have bought his release from Reilly, but that was one of those deals where they wink the other eye.
