 WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(Special)—There are serious times ahead for the members of the Grand Army of the Republic if the Maryland delegation to the National Encampment about to be held at San Francisco continues to advocate the selection of General Nelson A. Miles for grand commander. The various state delegations will go to San Francisco divided as to the wisdom of naming General Miles, especially as it is stated on excellent authority that the grand commandery was promised to General Black, ex-United States District Attorney of Illinois, last year.

Demurrer of Mochen Overruled.
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(Special)—The friends of General Miles persist in a prominent Grand Army commander today, "there will be a bitter fight that may put a stop to all further national encampments. The Illinois delegation is pledged absolutely to General Black, and General Black was traded extensively at the last encampment, so that several other states, including Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, are pledged to his candidacy. I greatly admire General Miles, but if he permits his Maryland friends to put him up for election I am sure he will be humiliated by defeat. He should wait for another year. "During the past year there have been many so-called veterans who saw brief service in the Spanish-American war who have agitated the idea of abolishing the G. A. R. encampments, which are now such a source of pleasure to the country's real war veterans. To abolish the encampments simply to make way for the younger men would be absurd, but there are practical reasons pointed out. It is a severe strain, it is true, for the veterans to make long journeys each year, but it is one of the greatest enjoyments of their declining years to meet in convention and grasp the hands of comrades they may never meet again this side of the grave."

WAR GAME IS STILL ON

NAVAL "ENEMY" SEEMINGLY LETS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN GO BY.

Defending Squadron Keeps Well Off New England Coast, and Is Little Heard From.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 6.—With thick and stormy weather along the coast, it would seem as if the attacking fleet under Rear-Admiral Sande had the best possible condition today in which to win the war game by evading the defending squadron under Rear-Admiral Barker and establishing itself in some one of the numerous safe harbors of the Eastern Maine coast. But at a late hour tonight nothing had been heard from the "enemy," while the reports from the defending squadron during the day were somewhat meager. Several of the swift torpedo-boat-destroyers ran into Penobscot during the day, and a naval tug came into Bar Harbor for the mail. The main portion of Admiral Barker's fleet, however, kept well off shore, and it is believed, continued the work of patrolling the coast between Eastport and Cape Ann.
 Admiral Sande has still about three days in which to make his dash for the coast, and it is believed he will wait until the last moment in order to give the defending squadron plenty of practice in patrolling and take advantage of any relaxation in the vigilance of their work.
 A foreign liner brought in today the last of the attacking squadron, the entire fleet being sighted several hundred miles off shore on the evening of August 4. At that time the fleet was steaming in an easterly direction.

 Some 25 witnesses from his own county and other witnesses from Powell County, where he resided until he moved to Jackson some ten years ago, testified that Ewen's morality was bad, as was also his reputation for truthfulness. At the same time, some of them testified that he was a church-goer, was a constant attendant at Sunday school, and never drank whiskey or gambled. Many of them were confused on cross-examination, especially those from Breathitt County.

MANILA, Aug. 6.—7 P. M.—The effort of the United States Government to introduce its new currency into the Philippine Islands has not met with the success that was anticipated.
