If Thomas Turnbow Dies His Assistant, J. E. Brown, May Dangle From a Tree Without the Formality of Trial.

COLEFAX, Wash., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—J. E. Brown, a real estate broker, shot and fatally wounded Thomas Turnbow, another real estate agent, at Garfield this morning. Turnbow cannot live. Brown is in jail at Colfax. Lynching is probable, should Turnbow die. A telephone message from Turnbow's brother to the Sheriff's office says a mob is being formed at Garfield, and if Turnbow dies before midnight Brown will surely be lynched. Brown begs to be taken to Spokane or Walla Walla, and offers to pay all expenses. Sheriff Canutt has gone to Garfield and efforts are being made to catch him by telephone to ascertain if there is real danger.

The shooting was cold-blooded. Brown and a number of other Garfield citizens were walking on Main street, Turnbow being with others behind Brown. All others stopped at the hotel and drug store except Brown, Turnbow and Henry Larkin, who were walking in the order named. Brown stopped on the steps in front of the Bank of Garfield, and said to Turnbow:

"What are you following me for?"

Turnbow replied he was not following him, whereupon Brown called Turnbow a vile name and fired, striking Turnbow in the left arm, the ball passing into the body, ranging upward into the neck. Turnbow fell and Brown coolly replaced the gun in his pocket and walked into his office, where he was arrested.

Brown would not yield up his gun to Constable Busey until away from Garfield, as he feared a mob. Threats of lynching were made by conservative men, and had Turnbow been instantly killed, Brown would have been hung. Turnbow is alive this evening, but it is said he cannot live through the night.

Brown has a wife, but no children. Turnbow has a wife and 10-year-old daughter.

Brown bears a hard reputation and was recently fined heavily for beating a man 65 years old and much smaller than he into insensibility with a club because the man had talked about him. Turnbow was unarmed and is a peaceable man and highly respected.

Turnbow did not lose consciousness and dictated a statement of the shooting, which was written and he signed it.

Turnbow was taken to Spokane, where an operation will be performed tonight. The body is paralyzed from the waist down.

OBJECTIONS TO THE ELECTION.

UNION, Or., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The injunction suit filed in the Circuit Court of Union county, restraining the County Clerk from issuing notices of the special election to vote on the county-seat question, has awakened great interest among the people of the county. ### PIANO CRUSHES HIS SKULL

BAKER COUNTY RANCHER WAS TAKING INSTRUMENT HOME.

Thrown Out by Jolt of the Wagon, Unfortunate Man Is Pinned Under the Keyboard.

BAKER CITY, Or., Aug. 8.—Bruce Hawkins, a prominent young rancher living about five miles north of this city, was seriously and probably fatally injured late last evening. He was going out to his ranch from town with a piano in the wagon. His wife was driving and Mr. Hawkins was holding the piano. In crossing a culvert the wagon jolted and the piano toppled over, falling on the ground, catching Mr. Hawkins' head underneath the keyboard. The skull was crushed over the left eye and at the base of the brain. Dr. Herdlein was first called and later Drs. May and Hayes were called and assisted in an operation on the skull this morning. Mr. Hawkins regained consciousness, but the injury is so serious that the outcome is doubtful. Hawkins was married July 22 to Miss Peggy Correll, a prominent young lady of this city, and they were preparing to go to housekeeping on their large grain farm when the accident occurred. Hawkins recently came here from Kentucky.

WILL PLAY MANY GAMES.

Varsity Football Schedule Almost Completed.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The schedule of games for the football season is being arranged, and although all the dates have not been definitely decided upon, Captain Thayer and Manager Graham expect to complete the schedule within a few days. Games will be played with Albany College and the Oregon Agricultural College, both in Eugene, and with the Multnomah Athletic Club at Portland. Arrangements are pending for games with one or two other Oregon teams, while a trip to California is practically assured, games having already been scheduled with the University of California and Stanford University.

For the first time in three years, Oregon will play the University of Washington, although final arrangements for the game have not yet been made. The Oregon players will also meet the Washington Agricultural College during the coming season.

The Oregon eleven for the season of 1903 ought to be a very strong one, as eight veterans of last year will be in college, and it is certain that several well-known academic players will be found in the ranks of the freshmen class. "Locomotive" Smith, the famous Berkeley half-back, who has been signed by Manager Graham as head coach, will arrive in Eugene September 25.

DYNAMITE SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

DROWNED IN CLACKAMAS

N. H. WEIR, OF PORTLAND, TRIES TO SAVE HIS SON.

Plunges Into the River, and Does Not Appear Again—Boy Rescued by Onlookers.

OREGON CITY, Or., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—In attempting to rescue his 8-year-old son, whom he thought was drowning, N. H. Weir, of Portland, lost his life in the Clackamas River, near this city, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The lad, with the assistance of spectators, reached the shore in safety. Chroner Finley ventured into the water beyond his depth, and the father, becoming alarmed for the boy's safety, leaped into the stream, but sank to the bottom and did not return to the surface. Since the Gladstone Chauffeur's grounds, filled with snags and refuse lumber, it is believed that Weir became entangled in the debris and drowned before he could extricate himself. A gang of Southern Pacific bridge carpenters recovered the body ten minutes after its disappearance, but all attempts at resuscitation proved futile. Chroner Finley was notified, but decided that the case was purely that of accidental drowning, and did not require investigation. The body was sent to Portland tonight. Weir was 25 years of age, and is survived by a wife and three children, with whom he was spending the day on a picnic party on the Clackamas River, near the Gladstone Chauffeur's grounds, where the drowning occurred. The deceased is said to have been employed in a clerical capacity by the O. R. & N. Co., in Portland.

CAN OF CHEESE TRAVELS FAR.

Comes Back to Agricultural College In First-Class Shape.

COVALLIS, Or., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Canned cheese made in the cheese-canning experiments of Professor Pernot at the Agricultural College, has been successfully shipped more than half around the world and back again. The cheese, in packages of the sort are not transmissible by mail across the Atlantic. It was originally started to London by mail, but was stopped at New York and sent back to Covallis because packages of the sort are not transmissible by mail across the Atlantic. It was reshipped from Covallis and went to London. There a companion can was opened and the contents pronounced by experts to be perfect cheese in the finest of condition.

The other can was reshipped to Covallis, where it was received and opened by Professor Pernot yesterday. As in the case of the can opened in England, the contents were perfect. A label on the outside related what the flavor would be, control of the flavor having been undertaken by inoculation with a particular germ when the cheese curd was finally sealed up in the can. When opened the flavor was found to be exactly as described on the label. The age of the cheese when opened was 4 months.

A return can from a two-can package sent to Consul H. B. Miller in China, has been received at the college. An accompanying letter from Consul Miller says one can was submitted to a Russian expert there, and that by him the cheese content was pronounced perfect, and its condition after the long trip most excellent. Consul Miller also says that if the experiment be successful, there is a great possibility for the product in China, where there is a strong demand for cheese and all other products in small, original packages.

The can returned by Mr. Miller has not

INADEQUATE MAIL FACILITIES.

ST. HELENS, Or., Aug. 9.—There is a little war among the business people of St. Helens at this time over the inadequate mail facilities between the county seat and Houlton Station on the railroad, about a mile distant. Twice a day a messenger makes the trip on foot between the two places. On July 1 the schedule was changed, with the result that there is no close connection with the mails leaving for the north and west sections of the county. As a consequence, the public is suffering considerable inconvenience and is crying for a change.

BEUTTE JAIL YAWNS

Murderers and Highwaymen Escape Easily.

GET THE DROP ON THE JAILER

Planner of the Outbreak Is Run Down by Horseman, and With One Companion, Is Taken Back—Sheriff Is at Home.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 9.—Three murderers, two under sentence of death, a stage robber wanted in Wyoming and two highwaymen, escaped from the Silver Bow County Jail shortly after 6 o'clock this evening, without any difficulty. The man who escaped are:

Charles Lenox and James Martin, convicted murderer.

L. L. Falter, who escaped once before, and has been tried twice for the murder of William Cunningham, his brother-in-law, and is awaiting a third trial, the last jury having disagreed.

J. R. Woods, alias Joe Rodgers and Patrick Rodgers, held for robbery.

Frank Oestroff is wanted in Cheyenne for holding up a stage coach. The latter and Joe Rodgers were caught within an hour after they escaped. Oestroff was armed.

Oestroff and Rodgers planned the delivery. Oestroff complained of being sick and a doctor was called in. When the jailer opened the corridor, Oestroff dropped a revolver on Jailer William Dolan, and then took the keys from him. Oestroff then, with the aid of Joe Rodgers, opened the cells of the other prisoners, and the jailer was overpowered.

Oestroff kept Dolan at bay while the other prisoners walked out of the jail. One of them secured a revolver from the jailer's office. Lenox and Martin went out the rear way of the jail, and the others coolly walked out the main entrance. Oestroff was run down by a horseman, and was completely exhausted when caught.

Sheriff Quinn is on his way to Nome at present. Two possees were organized, and are now in pursuit of the other fugitives.

Stella Log-Raft at Destination.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—The great raft of piles that left Astoria on August 1 for this port, in tow of the tug Tootoosh and Sea Lion, arrived off the harbor this evening, ready to come in on the first flood tide. From the lookout at the heads the raft appeared to be intact.

Its trip from the Columbia has, however, been unusually long, especially in view of the fact that strong northerly winds have prevailed off the coast.
