ond-Authorisation for the Secretary of the Treasury to deposit surplus receipts from the custom-houses, as well as receipts from internal revenue taxation, in National banks, accepting as collateral security therefor certain approved state, municipal and railway bonds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. - (Special.) -There is no foundation for current reports that the subcommittee of the Senate finance committee is so divided on the subject of currency legislation that it has been unable to agree upon a bill. Whatever views individual members may have as to the theories of finance, they are united on the practical plan of urging Congress to provide at once the remedies which they believe the country demands, These are as given heretofore.

A majority of the committee is now in favor of a provision requiring that before securities other than Government bonds are taken for public deposits at least 50 per cent of the collateral shall be Govern-

This is practically the whole extent of the committee's present programme.

Proposals for the so-called asset cur-rency have been considered, but they have been rejected, because there has been no evidence of a popular time for such a currency. The members of the com ee believe that if the banks feel free to issue their notes in time of urgent demand, as they will feel if they know that they can retire these notes as fast as the emand slackens, a degree of elasticity will is imparted to the currency which will meet all demands of the near future, especially if the banks are relieved of the drain to the subtreasuries, which is put upon their resources whenever customhouse receipts are heavy. This special drain naturally is most severe at the beginning of the new season, at the very time of the year when, owing to the de-mands for currency from the South and West for crop-moving purposes, the banks are least able to bear it.

What attitude Mr. Cannon will take on these proposals is not known here. They are substantially the same as those co tained in the Aldrich bill of last Winter. which he criticised. It is by no means House will oppose a definite plan of the char Administration leaders.

The position of the House committee on bunking is also in doubt, owing mainly to Mr. Flower's persistency in the fight for the asset currency feature. It is not pelieved, however, that he will make this an insuperable obstacle this Fall, if it shall be shown that the country is not ready for a measure so radical.

As to the time when the extra session will be called together, the best-informed opinion here is that nothing has been determined. Much probably depends upon the condition of the money market dur-Administration advisers thinks that there is likely to be any urgent need of remedial currency legislation this Fall. They all deprecate the idea of giving an impreseion that Congress is being called in haste to meet a financial emergency. As a matter of fact, nothing of the sort exists, nor has there been at any time reason to suppose that Wall street or any other part of the country would look to Congress for relief this year.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washtegislation, and will not undertake to influence the House one way or another. This does not mean, however, that financial legislation will pass, for a great deal of opposition has developed to all of the bills that have been proposed. It is rstood that Sepator Gorman is perfectly willing to have the Aldrich bill passed, and he will use his influence as leader of the Democratic minority of the Senate to prevent opposition to Aldrich bill or any other financial legislation which may be offered.

The fact is, Gorman will stand in with Aidrich, as he always has done on all matters of management in the Senate. The fact that Aldrich and Gorman are generally standing in with each other on legislation makes the other members of the Senate somewhat suspicious of these

Money Order Blanks Will Not Have to Be on Special Paper.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Postmaster-General has cancelled all the bids for printing in connection with the meney order system, except that on which the award to Paul Herman for money order forms was made. The new advertisement will call for bids for printing of about 800 money order forms in paper without a water mark. The last specifications required a special water mark, thus confining the bidding to a limited number of firms able to obtain this special paper. The new money order forms will be on paper of the best quality, but will not have the disinct mark. The bids will be opened on September 5, and it is expected that the awards will be made by September 15.
