

MR. JOHNSON'S SPLIT

Johnson's Man for Senator Makes Trouble.

STILL OHIO RACE IS CLOSE

Zimmerman Is Confident He Will Land Governorship.

STATE CONVENTION TODAY

Control of the Credentials Committee Will Decide the Head of the Tickets, as There Are Many Contested Seats.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 24.—The contest between Mayor Tom Johnson, of Cleveland, an affirmed Bryan man, and John L. Zimmerman, of Springfield, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, although within 24 hours of decision, is tonight as much disputed as ever.

Following the withdrawal of John W. Bookwalter, the Johnson candidate for Senator, the Zimmerman men inaugurated a raid on the Johnson ranks, alleging that the instruction in favor of Johnson for Governor applied only to the balloting on Wednesday and not to the selection tomorrow of members of the committee on credentials, resolutions, etc.

The Johnson men met this charge by saying that it was a confession of weakness, and insisted that the instructions applied to the selection of members of the new state central committee and the entire organization of the convention.

Credentials Committee Will Decide. It is still conceded that the one securing a majority of the committee on credentials tomorrow afternoon will, on the following day, be nominated for Governor, as there are 16 seats out of the 690 contested, and neither candidate can win without having all of his delegates seated.

The Zimmerman men are also making desperate efforts to make a break in the Johnson ranks because of the indorsement of John H. Clarke, of Cleveland, in place of Bookwalter, and in this matter they have caused the Johnson managers some trouble.

One of the unwritten statements given out from Zimmerman headquarters today charges that Johnson first failed to get Melville E. Ingalls, of Cincinnati, to go on his slate for Senator; then Major Samuel M. Jones, of Toledo, likewise declined, and now Bookwalter has refused.

Some of the free silver enthusiasts, who were instructed for Johnson for Governor, are out openly tonight against Clarke for Senator, and the indorsements of Bookwalter, and in this matter they have caused the Johnson managers some trouble.

Platforms of the Two Factions. The Zimmerman men favor a conservative platform, such as the party had in Ohio four years ago, when John R. McLean headed the Democratic ticket for Governor, with additions for home rule, denouncing the new Ohio code and favoring reforms in state institutions. The Johnson men declare for the reaffirmation of last year's platform, when Johnson had undisputed control of the state convention, with additional planks favoring 2 cents per mile on steam railways and 1-cent fares on street railways, and the referendum.

The platform, as well as the ticket, the organization for the next year and everything else, depends upon the settlement of the contested seats, and the places of greatest importance on this occasion are those representing the Congressional districts on the committee on credentials.

The Johnson delegates from Northwest Ohio, all instructed for Johnson, called on George M. Saltzgeber, temporary chairman of the convention, and pledged him their support for Senator. Saltzgeber has served several years as State Senator, and is the prospective candidate for Congress in the Fifth District.

COSTLY RICHMOND STRIKE AT END. RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 24.—The strike of street railway employees here was officially declared off today. One man was killed by the soldiers, one motorman was fatally stabbed by another, and scores of persons were more or less seriously injured.

PRESS VERSUS THE PULPIT. It Now Fills the Place, in Large Part, Once Solely That of Minister.

JOHNSON FIRM IN HIS STAND. If There Is No Indorsement for Senator, He Is Not in for Governor.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—Regarding the possibility of the nonindorsement of a candidate for the United States Senate by the Democratic state convention at Columbus, Mayor Johnson said tonight that he would insist upon the indorsement of some man for that office, and if the convention refused to make such indorsement he would withdraw from the candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

NO CHANGE IN WAGHT

Shamrock Is Remeasured But Still Gets Time.

LITTLE SHORTER THAN BEFORE. Enough Ballast Is Removed to Make Up for Cable and Anchor—Light Winds Promised for Today's Race.

MEASUREMENTS OF CUP YACHTS.

Table with 4 columns: Measurement, Shamrock III, Reliance, Shamrock III. Rows include Water line, Base line, Spinnaker boom, Main gaff, Topmast, Eighty per cent of topmast, Perpendicular, Squaring length, Ballast (sq. ft.), Square root of ballast, Area.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—After having removed 150 pounds of ballast, and taken on board a cable and anchor weighing that much, the Shamrock III was remeasured in a drydock in Erie Basin today. The net result was that there was no change in the time allowance of one minute and 57 seconds which the Reliance is compelled to give her.

The challenger was just 3-100ths of a foot shorter than the Reliance, and that difference was not sufficient to make a second's increase or decrease in her time allowance. Her lead water line length is now 82.7 feet, and her racing length 144.5. A new main boom, measured today, was no longer than the other one.

The new sail is Ratsey's, and Sir Thomas Lipton and Captain Wringe assert that the change is made not because the other mainsail was considered inadequate, but that the new sail, which has been tried before and found a good one, may be better in the style of racing to be followed than the other one. The new mainsail, when fully stretched, is a better fit than the old one.

The measurement was taken by Charles D. Mower, official measurer of the New York Yacht Club, and watched by Mr. Fife, representing Shamrock III, and by Secretary Carmack, representing the New York Yacht Club.

To an Associated Press correspondent Sir Thomas Lipton said: "The measurement was simply a matter of form, and a very small portion of the conditions under which the race is made would be complied with. It was the simplest thing in the world to add the anchor and chain, and take out the same amount of our lead ballast, or to leave on the lead and remove the anchor and chain. Tell me what difference it is, will you? Mind you, I'm not finding fault, but merely making a query as to what was gained by the measurement."

Then, with a smile and pointing to a bunch of telegrams on the table he said: "I see I am accredited with being depressed and unhappy over Saturday's race. Well, I'm neither. I wish we might win one it is true, but I am not at all willing to concede Reliance is the winner. My boys will make a good showing yet. I also want it understood that I have not criticized Captain Wringe's sailing."

UNIQUE WAGER ON THE RACE. OSTER BAY, Aug. 24.—It has come out that the discussion of the great yacht race between President Roosevelt and his guests, while reviewing the North Atlantic fleet, resulted in the making of a unique wager. Sir Thomas Lipton and Captain Wringe should win, while if the Shamrock should win, the Reliance will be presented to the Royal Yacht Club, which the Shamrock represents.

ING of the Shamrock III on Saturday." The Shamrock III did not go out after returning from New York. The Reliance's crew watched with interest the Shamrock's men at work on their new boat, and many of them went out tomorrow with a new jib, but otherwise in the same trim as the first day.

The Reliance was taken out for a sail at Oster Bay this morning. "The cup is never won until the better boat has taken three races," said C. Oliver Iselin today, just before getting aboard the Reliance.

Mr. Iselin will not discuss the race of Saturday or the criticism raised concerning the sailing of the Shamrock further than to say: "Both boats were well handled."

The hay inside the book was comparatively deserted today, except for the presence of the Reliance and her tender. The wind was fluky from north and east, and not strong enough to beat the boats over the course in time had it been a race day. Reliance stood out beyond the book with her mainsail, club topsail, jib and staysail set. She backed out to windward, evidently stretching her sails. After she had been out for an hour a new jib was tried, and it was evident that the boat was out for the purpose of trying some new tactics.

At midnight the wind at Sandy Hook was blowing five miles an hour. The weather was clear.

Jersey Yacht Club Honors Lipton. NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Sir Thomas Lipton has been honored as honorary member of the Eureka Yacht Club, of Newark, N. J., for rescuing Rear-Commodore Zeigler and a party of friends from a cabin which was disabled July 2 last. The boat met disaster in a squall while sailing near the Erin's anchorage at Sandy Hook. Sir Thomas headed the rescuing party in a launch from his yacht.

FUN FOR "LAUNCHERS." Longshoremen's Very Practical Form of Joking. NEW YORK TIMES. Policemen on duty at the Battery yesterday and along the docks had to be on the alert continually to prevent drownings. It was "launching day," as August 1 has been known among longshoremen, wharf rats and water front characters from a time running beyond the memory of the oldest. Many were the doings recorded along the water front, and it was no unusual sight from the vicinity of the Battery to see men swimming about in the water, fully clad, and spluttering away more or less while striving to make a landing.

Early in the afternoon five men were tossed from the Battery sea wall into the water near the Dock Department pier, while the crowd gathered watched their efforts with glee and shouted encouragement, lending a helping hand where the victim of the joke showed signs of being unable to fully help himself. The police in each case broke up the sport, but it was renewed soon at some other point.

"Launching day" to the longshoremen is as "All Halloween's day" to the small boy, only there is but one form of outlet for the license given by the occasion. For many years on this day it has been the custom to "launch" any man found conveniently near the water. The jokers will lie in wait until they see some unsuspecting and more or less inoffensive person walking along the sea wall or dock, and then some of them will get near him and with an energetic shove send him into the waters of the bay.

It is seldom that the persons thus involuntarily ducked appreciate the bath, much as many of them may need it. The crowd runs to the scene, shrieks and yells at the struggling man in the water, and if he appears to be a good swimmer and able to stand punishment they will push him back several times as he tries to make a landing; that is, if the police do not arrive too soon.

On the other hand, if the victim is a poor swimmer or cannot swim at all, prompt steps are taken to fish him out and let him dry himself on the benches about Battery Park. This procedure was indeed in several times yesterday along the Battery sea wall. On one occasion two wharf rats dived into the water to pull out one young fellow who gave early and ample evidence that he could not swim at all. He was in rather a bad way when first brought ashore, but a little patting on the back and an invitation to drink in a nearby saloon promptly caused him to forget his previous sorrow and turned his wrath into smiles.

Andrew Carnegie's acceptance of an invitation to be present has been notified by the committee to the courtmaster of the ceremonies, with the expectation that the Emperor will request that Mr. Carnegie be presented to him.
