TROUBLE IN TEAM

Browns Are Hampered by Petty Jealousies.

LAUGH AT VIGNEUX

Portland Players Are Away to the Front in Batting Strength and Are Good Fielders, but They Lack Management.

What's the matter with the Browns? Are they true, after all, those stories that have been floating from the South, to the effect that one half of the team is not on speaking terms with the other and that Vigneuz is only a sort of manager? Something is radically wrong with the team just as sure as the rainclouds are hover-ing over Portland. Something has been wrong with the internal workings of the team ever since the season opened and it's about time that the local management sat up and took notice.

The team as it stands today is the best batting team in the Pacific Coast League. And in the fielding they are as good as the best, but when it comes to using the head work which produces runs, the whole team, from Vigneux down, is worfully lacking. From the beginning of the sea-son until this date, the style of playing of the team has not been changed Every team captain in the league, and also every player, knows just what each Brown will do when he comes up to bat. Vigneux does not seem to use his head inventing new plays or studying the game of the opposing teams. If he does, the team behind him simply refuses to respond to his instructions. Opposing teams know that when a Brown steps to the plate he is going to bunt and the whole infield plays in close. They also know that with ie man out, the Brown batter is going to swipe the cover off the ball if he can, and in consequence the opposing players play In pine cases out of ten, if the ns were continually mixing up their style of playing the opposing team would be kept guessing and many of the swats which the Browns have made in the in-field would have gone safe. Instead, they have been corraled and the runner has been killed going to first. Vigneux is married to the bunt. He does not realize that he has several players on this team who cannot bunt effectively, yet he sends them out to acmplish things which they cannot de-rer. How many times have the Portland fans sat through games when I couple of men were on bases and no one out and yet the locals could not score? Time and time again they have seen mer on third or second waiting to come home with either the tying run or the one that would have won the game. They never came home, and they could have done so with almost any sort of a dinky hit if just ordinary headwork had been used. A Scattle critic has the team sized up about right when he says: "The Browns stay up all night in order to go to sleep on the bases." They certainly go to sleep on the bases, but it is hardly fair to the team as a whole to say that they stay up all night, although the decidedly rotten exhibition they gave in Oakland Sunday morning would lead the fans to believe they had been up all night drinking steam beer. To be shut out is no disgrace to beer. To be shut out is no disgrace to any ball team, but to get a double dose on the same day is asking us to stand for more than is really coming. There is something decidely Denmarkian about that Sunday game, and if the Browns are treated to a similar whitewashing this coming week there is sure to be a run on the clothes-pin market in Portland, for every time the name of the Browns is mentioned every fan will drag forth a clothespin and pinch it over his more than loyal to the team, but, like the worm, they will turn, and when they do the empty benches at Twenty-fourth and the empty benches at Twenty-fourth and the lower than the terminal term Portland fans have Early in the season there were some extenuating reasons for the slump and the rush for the bottom of the ladder that the Browns made. Vigneux that the Browns made. claimed that he was not manager during those losing days—that he had the name, but not the authority. This talk grew loud in Portland, and it may and may not have been so. The fact remains, however, that since the change in the officials of the club, Vigneux has had full and absolute control and there seems to be very little improvement in the work of Several times he has broken into print in the Southern papers, seemingly proud of the fact that his team had broken even on their trip away from home. This would be a great record, but for the fact that the Browns in almost every game they have played have out-hit the opposing teams. A glance at the way the team hit during the Sacramento series shows plainly what the team can and did so at the bat. Nadeau batted a .500 streak and on his heels came Van Buren, Hollingsworth, Hess and Blake and, in fact, the whole team. But they only got half the games-Vigneux was satisfied-so, on this supposition, the local fans ought to be, also.

The old story about the fox and the ice is applicable to the stories that come from the South concerning Vigneux as a manager. While the most of them should be taken with a grain of salt, there is cason to believe some of them true. According to a critic whose home is in San Francisco, Vigneux, as a baseball man-ager, is looked upon as a huge joke. He even doubts whether Sammy could make good in the Pacific Coast League on any team but the Browns as a catcher. is common gossip, he says, that the team is made up of cliques and factions and that half the time the members are not on speaking terms with their manager as well as other players on the team. Vigneux is even credited with leading in this "We never speak as we pass by." He is accused of favoritism, which, if true should be a reason for his release at once His open hostility to Hess is so patent, they say, that it is noticeable to the itrons. Admitting that Hess is something a crab, he is a good player, and if Vigneux, for personal reasons, places him under a handicap, it's about time the officials of the club were taking a hand. Before the team went South, Hess and Vignuex were at loggerheads, and Vigneux would have been without a backstop when he and Shea were injured, had not the directors taken a hand in the matter and sent Hess to Sacramento. Butler has been "getting his" since he pitched that 15-inning game against San Francisco. Several times he has atempted to pitch and each time he has been driven to cover. A couple of innings such time was enough for the big fellow. McFarlan, too, seems to have been by the Southerners, and Jake Thielman seems to be traveling the in-and-out route. If Luckes hadn't been on deck called on, Sacramento would have inken the Browns down the line. Shields ins been a very sick lad, but he got back hto the game Sunday morning and pitched a good game of ball. Eight errors

The Chemawa youth knew something about fielding the mid-diamond section, however, and O'Hara was forced out by the Indian's quick whip across the second corner. Murdock drove one through Raidy, advancing Francks to third, Schwartz tried to stretch a single into a double-header and was tagged out at second, Francks coming home in the mean-time. MULVEY IS CAUTIOUS.

Fight-Wary of Biddy Bishop. SALT LAKE, Utah, Sept. 7.-It is be-lieved here that M. E. Mulvey's action in stopping the Herrera-McCleland contest in Portland is because Mulvey claims to have undisputable evidence that Biddy Bishop was a party to a fake that was pulled off here in July between a man traveling under the record of Jack Down. ey, and Herrera. This alleged Jack Downey was a faker pure and simple, and com-ing to Salt Lake ahead of Herrera, succeeded in working up a local following, who desired to see him go up against After the Broad-Herrera fight in Butte, Bishop and Herrera came to Salt Lake, where both were exceedingly popular, and in two days a match was made with the alleged Downey. Although several fight-promoters were hard after the contest, Mulvey was induced to handle it against his will, because he had a good standing in the city, and his name would go a long way toward drawing a crowd. When the contest came off, Downey proved to be the rawest kind of a dub, in fact, positively the worst ever seen anywhere, and at Charles River Park tonight. He rode went down and out in the first round, the mile in 55 2-5 seconds.

from a terrific punch in the jaw from Herrera. The fight-promoters and their friends tho tried to get the match jumped on Mulvey and claimed he was a party to the deal, and succeeded in getting some hard knocks on him printed. Mulvey gave Downey's share of the purse to charity, and paid Bishop. Downey left town and wrote back that Bishop was in on the deal. Mulvey said nothing, but went quietly to work to gather evidence of Bishop's duplicity in the matter, and before leaving here, claimed to have ab-solute proof that Bishop knew who Downey was. Before leaving Salt Lake, Bishop swore positively to his most in-timate friends and Mulvey that he was duped by Downey, but Mulvey said he would do nothing until he had thoroughly investigated the matter. He left here with letters which he alleges will con-vict Bishop of being a party to the fake. Bishop, Herrera and Mulvey stood high with the sports, until the affair came off, the latter being considered one of the squarest men in sporting circles in the city. The affair lost him many friends who cannot understand how a person so well posted could be fooled by a man like Downey. Political enemies went a long way toward working up the feeling against Mulvey.

McChesney Wins Twin City Handicap of $3500.

SHEEPSHEAD WILD WITH JOY

Demonstration Probably the Heartlest Ever Accorded a Victor on the Eastern Turf-Track Record Was Equaled.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.-E. E. Smathers' McChesney, the pride of the West, won the $350 Twin City handicap at Sheeps-head Bay today. McChesney was always a warm favorite, closing at 2 to 1. He equalled the track record for 1½ miles made by Water Boy, July 2, this year, by covering the distance in 2:04.2-5. E. R. Thomas' Hermis, paying 8 to 5 for the place, was second, with the outsider, His Eminence, third.

The demonstration accorded McChesney as he flashed under the wire was probably the heartiest that has ever greeted a winner on the Eastern turf. The cheer-ing began before McChesney had finished. and continued until Fuller eased up his mount on the paddock turn.

Upon his return to the scales it was renewed, several thousand persons joining in the cheering, while hats, canes, handkerchiefs and umbrellas were thrown in the air. As the horses were at the post, Smathers' money began to show itself. Smathers' commissioners were busy, and it is estimated that he cleaned up something more than $50,000.

There was only a few moments delay at post, and they were off to a good rt. McChesney was first to show, but Odom, on Hermis, immediately sent his mount to the front, and making the paddock turn, opened a gap of two lengths, with Injunction second, one length in front of McChesney. At the half-mile pole, Hermis had increased the lead to four lengths and was going very easily. Injunction was sec-ond, a head in front of "Big Mac." Coming to the three-quarters pole, Hermis was still leading, but here Fuller, on Me-Chesney, began to make his run and quickly disposing of Injunction, set sail for Hermis. Rounding the far turn, Mc-Chesney slowly closed the gap between him and the leader and three furlongs from the finish he was right behind Hermis and gaining at every stride.

As the pair swung into the stretch,
Fuller drew his whip and shook it at Me-

Chesney. The Smathers' horse drew away and won easily by one and a half lengths. Hermis had to be ridden out to secure the place from His Eminence. Summary:

It was during the last event on the programme that the accident occurred, and it was too late to finish the long-drawn-out 2:10 trot, the judges postponing the final heat until tomorrow, when the heat winners will de-cide the contest. At the three-quarters mark in the fifth heat Doble, behind The Roman, forging to the front when a knee became loose and dropped, so as to trip The Roman, who staggered. Doble, real-izing that an accident was unavoidable, threw himself from the sulky, landing hard on the track. The horse became frightened and started to run, but was tripped again and turned completely over. Thousands of persons swarmed across the track to the scene of the accident, believing that both horse and driver were seriously injured, but both escaped with a few superficial scratches.

Doble went before the judges and said he had been interfered with, but as he made no specific charges the after a long consultation, decided that The Roman was distanced. THE SONG OF THE HAMMER TO THE MUSIC OF THE PIANOS

The Work of Alteration and Plano Selling Go Merrily On at Ellers Plano House-Pianos Were Sold Even Yesterday-Today Promises to Be Another Big Day.

To say things are humming at this store is putting it midily. Yesterday being a holiday, we did not expect to do business. But as the workmen had consented, in order to hurry the work of alteration through to go on with it, our doors were left open for their accommodation, and the crowds of purchasers came also. Salesmen who had come to the store to look after the welfare of the planos were kept busy selling them, and the music of the hammer and the saw, planos and organs kept things more than fively all day long.

THE PIANOS

We are showing very little discrimina-tion during this sale. Small regard is paid to the name or even the retail value of the planos. Instruments that occupy very exalted positions in planodom are involved in this sacrifice sale. All of our countricular lines excepting a few very own regular lines, excepting a few very choice grands, the Acolian Orchestrelle and the Planola, are included, and the saving to purchasers is from $112 to $150 on each instrument.

AND ALL THESE IN ADDITION In this stock are numerous good used planes, also a number of new makes not planos, also a number of new makes not regularly sold by us. All must go. Here are a few of the many that are slaugh-tered:
