SACRAMENTO, Sept. 8 .- (Special.) - The first five innings of today's game marked magnificent pitchers' battle between cks and Thomas, in which never a would have been scored on either side had it not been that Graham, in attempting to field Van Buren's sacrifice to second base, threw the ball clear to back field fence, allowing two runs the heavy stocking Senators landed on Loucks' delivery for two triples, a double and a single, which in connection with a walk, allowed five runs to score,

This disaster was caused by the fact that Loucks sprained his back, but was too gritty to give in. In the eighth the pain became so acute that he was obliged to resign in favor of Butler, who finished the game out. Thomas twirled the game of his life, and only allowed four clean hits and a scratch. In fact he was so effective that even the heaviest sticker of the visitors could do nothing with the mix-up delivery which was presented to

The work of Hollingsworth at short today was the feature of the day. It was by far the most brilliant and spectacular exhibition ever given here. He re peatedly shut out what would have be afe drives with any other man in the business. Handling all of his eight chances, hard ones at that, he has never been surpassed in any instance and rarely Loucks' acident and Thomas plendid pitching cost Portland the game. Manager Fisher has struck up a friendship with Sam Morris, the Indian twirler, while in conversation with him today, said: "Now Sam, if you feel them coming on, those scalping symptoms, you know, and if you should want my scalp, don't use a tomahawk. Just knock my hat off and lift it, for my scalp is All you have got to do is to lift it off

BUT ITS DELIVERY BY EX-GOVER-NOR GEER WAS IMPOSSIBLE

Owing to His Unavoidable Absence from the State Convention and for Secondary Reasons.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 7 .- (To the Editor.)-In the current issue of The Oregonian you use a communication of mine on the over the ring and landed right and left on the head in quick succession. Long was game on the defensive, but could not top Memsic's rushes. The latter appeared fresh at the close of the battle and was loudly hailed as winner. Long's friends backed him pretty strongly and considerable money changed hands. vising members of Congress officially in-stead of unofficially as to their duty in the matter of making an appropriation for the Centennial Exposition, etc. Permit me to say that I did not deliver that "momentous" speech before the State Convention for the good reason that I was not in Portland on that day. I could not very well have said "Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Republican State Convention of Oregon" because the con-vention was in Portland and I was in Salem and, having no long-distance meg-aphone, the speech was not delivered that day. I was not in Portland because it never has been my custom to be present at any State Convention. The day I was nominated at Astoria, four years before, I was at home on my form I did not I was at home on my farm. I dld not at any time ask a single member of nominated for Governor in 1894.

In the campaign of 1802 for reasons I have given the public already in The Oregonian. The next day after Mr. Furnish was nominated I wrote him a letter which contained all the features of the speech you wrint, cordial in its tone and unjust and malevolent misropresentations Mulvey was stuck to see it come off, and that ever characterized a campaign in so was every sport in the town. that ever characterized a campaign in that ever characterized a campaign in this or any other state, but, on the contrary, for weeks after the nomination of trary, for weeks after the nomination of trary, for weeks after the nomination of the contrary of Portland by vetoing the charter bill, and that I had been paid a large sum of money for doing so. Men in the employ of the Federal service in Portland were peddling this infamous lie all over the state weeks after the State Convention had adjourned, while ostensibly in the performance of their official duties, stating to my friends in every county, who were naturally indignant, that it was necessary to deny me a renomination be-cause it was well known that I "was making money out of my office."

For this reason, Mr. Editor, and for no other, the speech you print today was not delivered at any time during the campaign of 1902. I was ready to do so and had so announced, in consonance with my letter to Mr. Furnish, as many of my friends in Salem know, but when discovered the malignant spirit of many of those who had control of the organ-ization, and which knew no cessation, I decided to do my duty as one in the ranks, where I had been notified by those in authority I belonged, and quietly vote the straight ticket. This I did, and not a campaign in support of a combination engaged in the dissemination of such cowardly and contemptible lies; and I would have no respect for a man who would. Neither would you. It would not be difficult to find good men, even in Portland, who have openly boited regular nominations for much less justification than I had to have done the same thing. The headlong and relentless viciousness with neither sense nor discretion, which dominated the campaign of 1902 is alone a state which gave an average Republican majority of over 16,000. And you will allow me to respectfully dissent from your conclusion that if I had delivered your printed speech I would have probably today be a member of the United States Senate. You were never further wrong in your life. The same hard and fast combination which dominated the State Convention completely controlled the Legislature. It was the same "programme" that governed them both. It was not even remotely because I had not made speeches in 1962 that I was not elected Senator. I had campaigned the state thoroughly in both ampaigns in 1900, when I was not a candidate for any office, and at my own ex-pense, but it counted for no more in my avor before the convention of 1902 than if I had spent the same time at the North Pole. Speech-making was not wanted by that convention, neither were speechakers. You are wrong all along the line responsible for a Democratic Governor in ere, for the convention by its action so declared. state did his duty by the Republican nominee for Governor, you, Mr. Editor, are the man. The Oregonian did more editorial work for Mr. Furnish than for all the other Republican candidates for Governor combined for 20 years before, whose friends controlled the State Con- in the city to assist at the cerem vention, and the nomination of Mr. Fur-nish then and there settled the Senatorship. To be sure, I endeavored to break the combination by appealing to the popplar vote, and thereby forcing other candidates before the people, but to have complied might have derailed the "programme," so it was not done. Although I did not deliver your printed speech, nor any other, and although every voter in the state known. the state knew on election day that I was man has ever received for Governor in the history of the state. But even the popular vote, given under the law, and that, too, a law expressly passed for that purpose by those who controlled the combination, had no more possible by those who seemed to have no conception of the rights of minorities in the same party, who, in spite of their defeat, are, or should be, welcomed re-spectfully in a campaign where the comlined vote is necessary to success. utter disregard of the rights of minorities more faithful characterization of the vic-iousness of "machine methods" than in the files of The Oregonian.

What the Republican party of Oregon wants is a more conciliatory spirit and less malevolent intolerance. And yet we can work for the success of the Lewis and Clark Fair earnestly and unitedly, whether a certain speech was ever delivered or not. Other speeches on a different subject are wanted at this time. T. T. GEER.

I don't mind them in the least and, to tell you the truth, they make me feel good, for it impresses me that if a fellow was only of ordinary ability he would never attract enough attention for anyone to roast him, so there you are.

"And, another thing, newspapers are always looking about for something on the for that, but let me explain some of the front, either convention to support me, and was never a member of a State Convention in my life. PLAYS AT CARNIVAL.

Executive Committee Votes Manager Kerrigan $350 for Prizes for Medals on Athletic Nights,

"Just as I told you," said Director-General Bentley last night. "Industrial street will be the biggest thing of the kind ever seen in Portland. Look at that blue-print of the street. Do you see any vacant booths? Well, I guess not. The business men of Portland have done just what we expected—taken all the space we have and are asking for more. Twelve thousand dollars put into a carnival means that something is doing.' It is useless to talk about it; just come out the opening day of the carnival and see the outlay the merchants and manufacturers of Portland will make."

The general meeting of the Multnomah Club had the desired effect. It awakened the merchants to the fact that the carnival is to be the biggest 12 days ever given in the West, and that thousands of visit-ors would be in the city at that time. All day yesterday H. B. Perks, in charge of the blueprint of Industrial street, was busy as a bee disposing of space, and at night practically everything was taken. The Acme Harvester Company secured the largest space, taking "spaces A and sensational order, and they jump at the chance to print stuff about me that may excite some interest. I don't blame them ground, while the Studebakers take 89 feet

The following firms have taken from one to five booths: Air Gun Company, Acme Mills, Albers Bros., Bushong & Co., Crofut, McAyeal & Co., A. W. Ciapp, Confetti Company, Chase Paint Company, John Deere Plow Company, Emergency Hospital: William Gadsby & Sons, Honeyman Hardware Company, James Hills & Sons, Jaeger Bros., Knight Shoe Company, Little Art Store, National Food Company, Oregon Furniture Manufactur-ing Company, Prael, Hegele & Co.; Pacific Coast Biscuit Company, Mrs. L. D. Purdy, Portland Coffee & Spice Company; Portland General Electric Company, Pacific Monthly, B. B. Rich, Strain Tailoring Company, Swetlands, M. Sichel, Star Brewery Company, Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, Tuli & Gibbs, Timms, Edwards & Co.; W. F. Wallace, Wallace & Cochran, H. H. Wright, Zan Bros., Portland Basket Com-pany, Peerless Food Company, S. Hob-son, F. T. Merrill, F. H. Browning, Closset & Devers, Henry Weinhard, Mrs. F. G. Wonders and Williamette Iron & Steel

Yesterday morning the Ellers' Plano House donated a fine plano and Studebakers a beautiful road wagon, which will be disposed of by the club, and in this man-ner a neat sum will be netted.

At a meeting of the executive committee last night it was voted to allow H. W. Kerrigan, who is in charge of Athletic day, the sum of $350 to be expended for medals and prizes for athletic nights, Sep-tember 21 and 23. Mr. Kerrigan made his report to the committee, and an the 21st Pifty, 75, 100, 220 and 440-yard races.

One-half mile, one mile, 120 and 220-yard High jump.

Pole vault, Broad jump. Sixteen-pound shot-put. On the night of the 22d the following vents will be pulled off: High dive. Five wrestling matches.

Five boxing matches, Apparatus work, parallel bars and spe-ial drill by Professor Krohn, There will be 24 first prizes and 14 second prizes. The wrestling and boxing matches do not require prizes. Already there have been a number of entries from outside, and Mr. Kerrigan says that both the evenings will be full of entertainbeen considerable rivalry between the messenger companies of the city as to which gives the best service and which can deliver a message in the quickest time. In to have a messenger race contest on the carnival grounds on the evening of Sep-tember 17. This feature is in the hands of cause serious ructions, as both sides H. W. Kerrigan, who has been given $100 are obdurate. Morley believes that it is to expend for prizes to be used at the con-The events will be so divided that boys of different ages will enter different classes. Already the messenger companies have entered into the spirit of the contest and have their fleetest boys in training. Mr. Kerrigan, who is an enthosiast over field sports, is confident that the races will be full of interest and that every contestant will be given a fair opportunity to win laurels for the company he represents. These races will afford no end of amuse-ment, and Director-General Bentley made a wise selection when he placed Mr. Kerrigan in charge of the feature.

Last night at the rehearsal of the spectacular production there was a large attendance, and those who take part in the drill and dances made a splendid showing. Robert Krohn, in charge of the work, is ertain that it will be presented in a most creditable manner. Some of the costumes have arrived, and they are beautiful and
