Millionaire Visits Portland to Investigate Erecting Large Structure to Accommodate 1905 Fair

Many but devious are the ways by which men attain fame, but William Mode Cook, of New York, Chicago and St. Louis, who is at the Portland, has hit upon one dngularly unique and direct. tild the largest hotel in the world. He may reach even the empyrean rung of fame's ladder and build a big hotel in Portland for the 1905 Fair. That is the plan which Mr. Cook is at present considering, and he will devote a week to exam-ining the local situation with that end

A short time ago St. Louis faced the problem of how to house her World's Fair crowds next year, even as Portland is now wearing a hunted look and talking in her sp over a similar dilemma, which is months away. Presto! At St. Louis, by the sad, soiled waves of the Mississippi, there appeared a fairy godfather in the person of Mr. Cook, many times a millionaire. "I will build a hotel which for very size will make the Waldorf-Astoria and the Ponce de Leon look like the 'Farmer's Rest' at Grigsby's Station." He subsidized an architect and commanded him to draw plans, he asked the World's Fair board for 25 acres with an easement on the heavens, and the tribula-tion of St. Louis became her recompense

The greatest botel on earth must have a name. Manifestly no ordinary designa-tion would befit the mighty tavern. The circus posters have exhausted the vocab-ulary of superlatives. Mr. Cook sought counsel, and in the end selected a nom do advertise which thus far has escaped even the cigar manufacturers. As if by inspiration the name, Napoleon Bonaparte, was suggested, and as the Napoleon Bosparte will the great hotel be known. The building will be erected within the Fair inclosure, the only private enterprise which will be permitted except the "Midway" attractions. The construction of it has already begun, and will be completed by the opening of the Exposition. It will cover 14 of the 25 acres of Mr. Cook's conession. It will have a frontage of 2500 cession. It will have a frontage of 2000 feet and a depth of 250 feet. There will be 4000 rooms, and if the 'bus comes from the train with an unusualy big load of "drummers" or "delegates." the management need not get out the cots, for the house will accommodate 7000 guests. If a lodger wishes to entertain a party of his fellows at a whist party in his room at the extreme end of the hotel, the invitations must be issued early in the day to those at the other end, for it is a mat-ter of a half mile between extremities. The building will be low and rambling, the latter being its distinguishing feature. Its front will be three stories in height, but the larger part of it will be but two. This plan is approved so as to permit guests to escape in case of fire. Every effort will be made to render the mam-fireproof, however, first foor will consist of a rotunda, main dining-rooms and private cafes. The principal dining-rooms will be 200x175 feet, and it is presumed that the waiters will be supplied with motor cycles in order to insure prompt service. The private din-ing-rooms will be arranged especially for the cold-bottle-and-hot-bird guests. Space has been sacrificed to coginess, and they will be only 150x18 feet, and should appeal especially to gentlemen desiring to entertain a few hundred lady acquaintances at after-theater suppers. A veranda will run the full 2500 feet of the front, and it will require a near-sighted chaperon eight hours to make the tour in search of her debutante charge who is flirting on a porch settee with a Summer man.

to accommodate the Lewis and Clark vis-itors, will follow closely the plans of the St. Louis structure.

You have as fine hotels here as any needs, but I am convinced that they be insufficient to handle the crowds which will come to your Fair. If I become convinced that such a hotel as I contemplate will be a profitable investment, you may be sure I shall build it." Mr. Cook is the owner of a coal tract of 18,000 acres, and has extensive business

SALMON MARKET GLUTTED Low-Grade Product May Cause Price to Decline.

In contrast with the short pack of high. rade salmon on this Coast is the prom-ed glut of low-grade fish, such as pinks and chums. The J. K. Armsby Company, of Chicago, has issued a pamplet saying: "We see no reason why present prices should advance; on the contrary, every-thing points to a decline,"

The present prices of chums and pinks are about 47 and 50 cents per dozen. These values are low already and discouraging to packers. The owner of a down-river cannery said yesterday that three years ago he had packed a quantity of chums which had been on his hands ever since, "Will I pack any more?" he responded.
"Not if I know myself. And if conditions ere as bad as in Armsby's circular, Fall packing on the Columbia River will be knocked higher than a kite."

The Armsbys are brokers for the Alaska Packers' Association. This association is understood to be bearing the market in pinks and chums in the interest of its immense pack of reds. Last year the as-sociation put up over 1,000,000 cases of reds and about 165,000 cases of inferior grade fish. Owing to the shortage in first-grade, prices of reds promise to go to high fig-An opening price of $1.20 or more ald not be surprising as things look

According to the Armsby circular the total supply in sight of chums and pinks is 1,500,000 cases. "At the present rate of nsumption," it says, "this should last least three or four years. It is the biggest glut of low-grade selmon in the history of the busine us. The 1,500,000 cases follows: Carry-over, 500,000; new pack, 1,000,000.

"One of two things must ensue," reads the circular, "to cause an advance; either the pack must be out down heavily or consumption must increase. The fact that Puget Sound this year did not make a large pack of humpback has very little bearing on the situation. For two years past humpbacks have been practically a fallure, and yet other parts of the world produce mere low-grade than the consumptive capacity of the world can take care of. The trade must not forget the fact either that there are at least 500,000 cases, low grade, still on hand in warehouse, at York, on the Pacific Coast and in hands of speculators scattered throughout the country.

"This year's pack of humpbacks is 100,000 cases, not nearly so much as we expected. But it is 100,000 cases more than one year ago. There is no reason to expect that Alaska or the Oregon coast will fall off very much, and we think that trade can reasonably expect a pack this year of at least 900,000 or 1.000,000 cases low-grade salmon. The consumption of low-grade is largely confined to the guished the fires.

Southern states and the Southwest. Naturally their market is limited, and we can see no reason, after going over all the figures carefully why present prices should advance; on the contrary, everything points to a decline."

The probable output of 1,000,000 cases of low grade this year is one-fourth larger than the average annual pack. The total is 1903 was 875,758 cases and in 1901 894,549 cases. ONCE BIT, TWICE SHY

There is a limit to the amount for which a good piano can be built, and when any dealer advertises to sell you a reliable piano under those figures, neither he nor his piano are to be trusted. We can sell you a piano as cheaply as anybody in the United States, but we will not guarantee every piano, that is made in the United States. Every sensible man and woman ought to know that an even fairly good piano cannot even be built for $140 or $150, or anywhere near these figures. Such trash is built for auction and special sale purposes. Of course we can supply this piano if necessary, but we will not sell them on a guarantee.
