SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 10 .- (Special.) -Playing ball in one of the closest, most sultry days of the season, Portland de-cated Sacramento, 6-4. The Senators had not a wing working among the lot of them, and their throwing errors were costly and were always taken advantage of by their opponents.

The run-getting on the part of the Browns began in the third inning, when Nudeau's drive to left field. In the next inning Elsey'lined one over second base and went to third on Casey's error, scoring on the out of Hess. In the fifth inning Blake walked and got to second on Town-Brake walked and got to second on Townpend's error, scoring on Van Buren's single. Nadeau reached first when Van was retired at third, went to third on Francis' drive to left field, and scored on Hollingsworth's single. Francis reached worth's single. Francis reached second on a throw and scored on Hollingsworth's drive. In the eighth Hess reached first on a single and went to third on Hilde-brand's error and scored on Van Buren's

The Senators began their work earlier in the game, as in the first inning Hildebrand drove out a three-bagger and scored on McLaughlin's fly to Blake. In the third, Graham doubled, was sacrificed to third, and scored on Casey's retirem In the fourth, Townsend chopped a single, was sacrificed to second, reached third on Hollingsworth's error, and scored when Hildebrand was retired. In the sixth he chopped another that bounced over Raidy's head and rolled to the back fence for triple, and scored on Sheehan's single. The score;

SAM MORRIS AS A PITCHER.

What the Sun Francisco Papers Have to Say of the Indian. Sam Morris, the Nez Perces Indian who joined the Browns in San Francisco and lost his game to Oakland, while he was beaten was "not disgraced." The press and the public of San Francisco made a sort of hero of the Indian lad and he was given a warm reception. In spite of the fact that a circus was in town and that all of the theaters had matinees, 10,000 eople turned out to greet Morris. At first hey tried to rattle the Salem youth, but when he handled himself like a baseball player should, the tide was turned in his favor. The baseball critics were kind to Taking everything into consideration his work was very good. He had been out of the game since his last appearance in Portland. He went from the train to the ball field. Then, too, back of this was the fact that the Browns had lost their hatting very Morris was hit for their hatting very Morris was hit for their batting eyes. Morris was hit for 12 smashes and some of the "wise ones" began saying "we told you so." In Wed-nesday's game against the Undertakers it will be noticed that Fisher's crew hit Thielman just as hard as Oakland hit Morris, yet the Browns won their game and only made one more hit against Sacramento than they did against Oakland, so it would indicate that Morris was not all to blame for losing the Labor day game.

That Morris has not lost his drawing ability is shown by the way in which Mique Fisher is billing him for Sunday's game. Fisher's players have an old score to settle against Morris, for he has two victories against them, and they will win If they can. As a sample of the criticism passed upon Morris by the Bay papers, accounts of the game follow:

He came, he saw and he didn't conquer, Sam Morris, the Nez Perces Indian pitcher, who learned the fine points of the American favorite pastime at the Chemawa Indian Reservation School, near Salem, Or., twirled his first game before local fandom yesterday afternoon, which was represented 10,000

It was by far the banner week day crowd of the season, if not the banner crowd. Every book and corner of the grandstands and bleachers was occupied and every foot of the ground between the bleachers and the infield fence was jammed with humanity. The Indian certainly proved to the box office genis that he is a star attraction and is entitled to every you that his monthly alownnee calls for, if not a little bonus on

He lost because the tailenders biffed his ngs a la their performances of the past week True, his support was not all it should have been, by any means. They falled to hat behind, him and that was where Mr. "Brick" Devereaux was a conspicuous factor. Morris has speed, control, a cool head, Kittredge, and fields his position to perfection. He lacks two things that go to make up a successful pitcher, namely, good curves and a change of pace. He relied on a swift, straight change of pace. He relied on a swift, straight ball most of the time, with occasional small in and out curves, but it was spparent that he haan't as yet developed the shoots and bends that purgle the battegs.

The crowd derived much sport from the comical antics of Deversaux and the way the Indian interpreted them. Brick thought he might be able to rattle the Chemawa student, and whenever opportunity afforded, whether at bat, on the conching line, or even when pitching to his opponent on the siah, he was going through all kinds of maneuvers. The Indian would occasionally turn and coolly watch him at times, smiling goodnaturedly, and then the laugh was on the "Redtop." He clearly demonstrated that he is always perfectly at home on the siab and with proper training may develop into a topwith proper training may develop into a top-notch performer on the firing line.—The Ex-

The big Indian chief, Sam Morris, who made his getaway from the wigwams of the far North several days ago and landed in the midst of metropolitan civilization. learned what it was to get his bumps at the Eighth-street lot before a holiday crowd yes-terday. He saw the beating coming and took it gamely and with a deal of grace, and was n the game all the time.

Perhaps not since that memorable day nearly two years ago when the mighty Rube hearly two years ago when the mighty Rube Waddell awed a howling multitude has so much attention been hestowed upon any one holitosser as was accorded the red man yesterday. As soon as he made his appearance the warwhoops and the cheers filled the air, and never ceased till all was over.

And though the native American slabster was given the wallop time and time again, it must be said that he had the again, it must be said that he has the goods, and when he learns a little more about fooling the opposing batsmen he will land oftener. He used a swift ball yesterday, with just a trifle of an outcurve attached to it.

Morris showed that he is a natural ball-player by the way he fielded his position. Eight chances came his way, and he ate up every one. He is cool, caim and collected and never gets rattled. He will let the crowd kild him till it gets tired, and then he will giance up and give it they will giance up and give it the merry warwhoop.-The Call.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 18.—Billy Buck today won the Charter Oak stake in which a field of ten horses participated. He won in three straight heats, each heat being a race. Wainut Hall and Haw-thorne pushed Billy Buck so hard that whipping finishes characterized every heat, the leaders being neck and neck as they passed under the wire. In each heat, The remaining $4000 was then divided according to the summary at the conclusion of the third heat, $3000 going to the first horse, $300 to the second, $600 to the third and $500 to the fourth. The finial division, therefore, was: Billy Buck, $8500; Walnut Hall, $1900; Hawthorne, $1100.

and Swift, $500
In the first heat Walnut Hall had the pole and held the lead all the way around. As the horses passed under the wire the finish was so close that none could tell the winner, although some thought that it was either Walnut Hall's race or a tie. The decision of the judges, however, was in favor of Billy Buck.

In the next heat, the same two horses fought it out, Billy Buck had the advantage of the pole and won by half a ngth in an exciting finish. When the horses in the third and last heat reached this distance flag, it looked like Hawthorne's, but Billy Buck made another of his famous railies/and swept under the wire a winner by a nose. His time of 2:07% in the first heat is the record for the Charter Oaks stakes' event. Sum-

ALUMNI TO PLAY 'VARSITY. Old Football Heroes Will Don Suits

Again.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugens, Sept. 16.—(Special)—Among the new features which Manager Graham, of the 'varsity football team, 'fill include in the work of the coming season will be a maich game between the regular eleven and a team of alumni players. The game is scheduled for October 10, in this city, and it will probably be a great drawing card for the opening of the season. Among the old 'varsity herces from whom the alumni team will be selected, may be mentioned Edmunson, Angell, Coleman, Jakway, Ziegler, Waddell, Watts, Wilson, Wagner, Edwards, Scott, C. Templeton, Starr, Bryson and others. An effort will be made to have the alumni players assemble in this city several days prior to the game, in order that they may practice the game, in order that they may practice systematically for the match. Captain Thayer believes that the alumni-'varsity game will prove a great benefit to the 'varsity men, as they will be able to master many of the fine points of the game by coming in contact with the more experienced players. Manager Graham also says that a number of the alumni players will be asked to remain at the university for a couple of weeks, in order that they may assist Coach "Locomotive" Smith in getting his men into shape for the harder games of the season. The schedule of games, as announced by Manager Graham, is as follows: October 10, Oregon vs. alumni, at Eu-October 17, Oregon vs. Chemawa, at Eu-at Scattle.

November 21, Oregon vs. Oregon Agricultural College, at Eugene.

November 25, (Thanksgiving) Oregon vs.

Multnomah, at Portland.

The 'versity was well to all archabilities. The 'varsity men will, in all probability, play the Washington Agricultural Col-lege in this city on November 7, and it is thought that Willamette University will be played on October 31. Neither of these games have been definitely settled, but it is highly probable that both will be played. Offers for games have been re-ceived from Whitman College, the Uni-versity of Idaho and the University of Nevada, but if the Pullman and Wills ette games are arranged Oregon's sched-ule will be completed. As a number of the most important games of the season will be played in this city, it is the intention of the management to put Kincaid field in the best possible shape. A new fence and a commodious grandstand will be erected at one and other improvements are contemplated.

College will open on September 16, and It is expected that nearly all of the foot-ball candidates will be on hand at that time. Coach Smith will reach Eugene on CORVALLIS, Or. Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Although it is a little early to make predictions concerning the strength of the Oregon Agricultural College football eleven during the coming season, it is known that a very formidable eleven will be turned out. With the exception of Center Rush Burnaugh, Left Guard Gualt and Left End Rose, all of last year's team will return to college, With so many old players as a nucleus, Coach McFadden will undoubtedly turn out an aggregation that will make a lively bid for Northwest championship honors.

Manager Hayward is at work on the season's schedule, which includes games with many neighboring institutions. The game with the University of Oregon, which is usually regarded as the most im-portant event of the season in Oregon football circles, will be played in Eugene on November 21.

SHARPENING UP THE AX. Management of Browns Will Decapitate Raidy Soon,

Whether Sammy Vigneux is canned by the Brown management or not, there is one player that will get the ax when the team returns, or if not then, just as soon as Andy Anderson gets back into the game. This man is Raidy, who since Hollingsworth was signed, has been acting as utility man. Raidy came from the East with a good recommendation and with a fair record, but he was not fast enough for the company that he had joined. For a time he made good, but his arm went back on him, he did not take the care of himself that he should have, and in consequence his work fell off badly. Raidy's release was ordered several days ago, and but for the injury to Andy Anderson he would have received his walking papers while the team was in San SALMON PACK SHORT. Due to Lax Law That Governs the Catching of the Fish.

OREGON CITY, Sept. 10 .- (Special.)-"The pack of salmon in Alaska this year did not amount to more than half a pack," said J. Nelson Wisner, Jr., who football outlook at the 'varsity is most returned last night from Skagway and other Alaskan points. Mr. Wisner was a member of the Alaskan Salmon Commission that was appointed by President Roosevelt to visit the Northern country and make an investigation of the fishing industry of Alaska.

The commission was headed by David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford University, and left Seattle June 15. Skag-way was the most Northern point reached, while the commission extended its investigations to the Skumagin Islands on the West. The members of the commission were divided into separate com-mittees for working purposes, each division having a particular part of the investigation work to prosecute. The purpose of the investigation was to devise the best means for the perpetuation and extension of the salmon industry of Alaska. Reports will be prepared at once by the different members of the

for immediate action.

Mr. Wisner was attached to the culture industry from the United States, His work consisted of an investigation of the hatcheries of Alaska and the manner in which they are conducted. While Mr. Wisner would not discuss in detail the result of the investigations and observations of the commission, it is known that many important recommendations will be made to Congress in behalf of the salmon Industry All of the five varieties of the salmon family found on the Coast thrive in Alas-kan waters. Mr. Wisner attributes the decreased pack of this fish in Alaska this year to the lax laws that govern the catching of this fish. Under the present laws, the proper restrictions are not made that the salmon may reach the spawning grounds at the proper season and keep up the supply.

Among other things, the commission will recommend radical changes in the fish laws now in force. Laws providing for needed restrictions in the matter of catching fish, particularly in the streams where spawning takes place, will have the indorsement of the members of the commission. The removing of obstructions to the propagation of salmon, the building and maintaining of hatcheries by the government, the appointment of board of inspection for Alaska, a statistician and a naturalist are among the necessary provisions that will likely be recommended to Congress by the comnission as a result of its investigations.

The five varieties of the salmon family that are found in Alaskan waters are: Chinook, blueback, silverside, hump-back and dog. Of the five, the chinook, or red salmon, as it is known in Alaska, is the most abundant. For every salmon other than the red salmon that is taken by the fishermen the present Alaskan laws require that ten young red salmon be released in the streams from which the other varieties are taken. In order to comply with this legal provision, the eries. Mr. Wisner reports that there are two of the largest hatcheries in the world in Alaska. They are located at Loring and at Kar-luk, and by the end of the year they will have a capacity of 1,000,000,000 eggs each. The Alaskan red salmon is what is known as the blueback in the Columbia River and is the best variety for can-

Want Railway Built Now. Property owners and residents along the route of the proposed East Burnside street branch of the Portland Railway Company are becoming impatient over on November 1.

The "Agric" eleven will be captained by Bert Pilkington, the crack fullback of the delay in starting the work of construction. Rails for double tracks have been distributed on East Burnside to East Tenth, thence to East Pine to East Eighteenth, south to East Alder, and thence to East Twentieth street. Poles have been planted and ties distributed. It was promised that construction should be commenced in July, but nothing has been done beyond the distribution of the iron and ties. The people want the branch built and are anxious for the company to make a start on the work.

Purchased the Hanna Smith Tract. Graham & Lusher have purchased the Hanna Smith tract of 1000 acres, between Fairview and the Columbia River. The price is not stated. Extensive improve-ments are to be made. The buildings formerly occupied by J. Thomas will be re-moved and new and better structures will be built. This change will be made mainly because the old buildings may have been infected by cattle disease. The new owners of this extensive tract are wideawake and enterprising men, and their wnership means much for Fairview.

TWO GROOMED FOR RACE

WASHINGTON DEMOCRACY HAS ONLY TO CHOOSE,

L. C. Gillman and George Turner Available for Either Governor or United States Senator.

Charles G. Heifner, of Seattle, chairman of the Democratic state central committee of Washington, has an alternative solution of the Democratic political problem in his state. He declares the Democrats will either name L. C. Gillman, of Scattle, for Governor, and subsequently choose George Turner, of Spokane, as their candidate for Senator, or name Turner for Governor and allow Gillman to trail along as a Senatorial candidate. It all depends, Mr. Heifner explains, upon the course the Republicans take in their statet convention. That is, nearly all depends upon the Republican action. The preferences of Senator Turner and Mr. Gillman have something to do with the programme, but that is of minor the programme, but that is of minor consequence.

The Democratic programme, Mr. Heifner explains, will begin with the nomination of William Pigott, treasurer of the Democratic state central committee, as candidate for Mayor of Seattle, Sheriff Ed Cudihee, of Seattle, is sometimes mentioned as a candidate for the same office, but Mr. Heifner is not alone in the opinion that Mr. Cuffihee does not the opinion that Mr. Cuffihee does not seek the Mayoralty. However, Mr. Helf-ner believes Mr. Cudihee might easily be prevalled upon to become Chief of Police under a Democratic administration.

Mr. Heifner was in Portland yesterday on his way to Denver, whither he is summoned to confer with business men on an insurance deal. He left last ing for the Colorado metropolis, and will return to Seattle in two or three weeks. Mr. Heifner was made chairman of the Democratic state committee of Washington during the last campaign. He had been deputy insurance commissioner un-der Secretary of State Will D. Jenkins, once by the different memoers of the commission covering every phase of the subject, and these will be forwarded to Washington to be presented to Congress Heifner has been considered at various department of the commission, being the member of the commission appointed to represent the culture department of the commission, being the insists that he is not to be regarded in that light. Political enemies have been cruel enough to recall that Helfner was one of the leaders of the anti-Rogers he insists that he is not to be regarded campaign in the Democratic party, and he was once a most prominent single-taxer. He has been even accused of planning to deliver Washington to Tom Johnson in the presidential campaign next year. But Mr. Heifner has steadfastly denied this acquisation. Speaking yesterday of Democratic possibilities in Washington, he said:

"The factional differences in the Republican party of Washington, make it a very strong probability that the Demo-crats will nominate and elect the state ticket next year. They will also control the next Legislature, and elect a succes-sor to United States Senator Addison G. Poster. To my mind, there is little pros-pect of the Republicans being able to heal their differences, and I believe the Democratic opportunities are better than we have enjoyed for several years, "The action of the next Democratic convention in Washington will be guided largely by the result of the Republican convention. It seems to be a good policy, if McBride is beaten, for the Democrats to nominate such a man as George Turner, and make an anti-railroad fight. Personally. I do not like the idea of attack ing the railroads, but it may be when the time comes, that will be the best policy in the minds of the Democratic leaders, "The defeat of Governor McBride for a renomination seems certain. Now, if the Republicans nominate an out-and-out railroad man, such as State Senator J. J. Smith, who is mentioned for the place, would be, I do not believe there is any doubt but that he would be defeated. Democratic politicians would not be slow to take advantage of such an opportu-nity for success. However, I am not inclined to believe the Republicans be foolish enough not only to turn down McBride but to name a strong railroad man. They will probably select some compromise candidate. "But in any event our chances are good. I believe we will nominate either L. C. Gillman, of Seattle, or George Turner, of Spokane, for Governor. One of these men will be our candidate for Gov-ernor, and the other for United States Senator. Gillman will make a very strong run under any circumstances. He is re garded as a very capable man; he stands well in his profession, and would have hosts of friends among the Republicans. In the event of McBride's defeat, the Governor's friends are likely to remember that Gillman is the law partner of Sena-tor Preston, who has made the anti-railroad fight with McBride. This fact would help Gillman, and yet I do not believe those opposed to the Governor would regard Gillman as an unsafe candidate, Should Senator Turner be willing to make the fight for Governor, everyone will conede the strength he would give to our ticket. "The first fight Washington Democrats will have is that to be waged in Scattle this next Spring for the control of the city administration. William reasurer of the Democratic state com mittee, is most likely to be the nomine for Mayor. Mr. Pigott will not state that he is a candidate, but he would accept the nomination if tendered him. Sentiment for cleansing the scaip of crusts, scales all runs toward bis nomination.

"Yes, I know Ed Cudihee has been mentioned for Mayor, but I do not believe he would accept the nomination, Mr. Cudihee is now Sheriff of King County, and is not likely to desire to give up that berth. Still I do bpelieve he would accept the position of Chief of Police in Seattle. Cudihee has served on the Seattle police force, and would make a good

"We are going to nominate a strong municipal ticket in Seattle and shall make a vigorous effort to elect our candidates. I think that public sentiment is with us, and that Democrats never had a better opportunity than at present. There is harmony among the Democrats and dissension among the Republicans. This is a big factor,"
