SECOND GALE COMES

New York at the Mercy of Furious Winds.

SEVERAL SCHOONERS FOUNDER

Loss of Life Not Yet Known—Passengers on an Excursion Steamer Have a Thrilling Experience—Property Loss Immense.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Following Wednesday's hurricane came another severe storm today.

At least half a dozen fishing schooners foundered today, and it is feared many more have met a similar fate, as several schooners are missing, some of which are known to have foundered.

The cup defender Bellanca is reported to have been somewhat injured through being rammed by a pilderiver, which broke loose from its moorings and drifted on the Reliance's stern.

Among the men who were drowned were Captain John G. Morgan and Fisherman Ned Peterson, of the schooner M. A. Banton, and Captain Latham and Fisherman, Peter Barr and Lewis Wilcox, of the schooner Esther and Anita.

The names of the boats that have gone down are not at present known. It is thought, however, that they may number four, carrying in all from 40 to 50 men. Although no bodies have been washed ashore, there is little doubt that seven lives were lost in the numerous wrecks along the Brooklyn water front in Wednesday's storm.

It is estimated that between Canarsie and Port Hamilton 200 craft of various kinds were lost, and the damage is placed at $250,000.

Roof of Box-Car Carried Away. While a freight train on the Long Island Railroad was passing between Mineola and Hyde Park, the roof of a boxcar was carried away by the gale, with Walter Lewis and George B. Snyder, two brakemen, clinging to it.

In Jamaica Bay, L. I., yesterday scores of yachts were wrecked. Most of them were torn from their anchorage and pounded to pieces on shore, but a good many were caught while sailing in the bay and those aboard had narrow escapes.

The entire fleet of the Jamaica Bay Yacht Club, comprising more than 30 boats, valued at sums up to $100,000, was destroyed. The beaches at New Rochelle, on Long Island Sound, and City Island, are strewn with wreckage from yachts, and it is estimated that not less than $500,000 damage was done these vessels alone.

The cup defender Bellanca is reported to have been somewhat injured through being rammed by a pilderiver, which broke loose from its moorings and drifted on the Reliance's stern.

within a few feet of Columbia. Her crew of seven men jumped overboard and were saved.

A barge loaded with 500 pounds of dynamite broke from its moorings and drifted toward the Larchmont Yacht Clubhouse. Many yachts of wealthy New Yorkers have been anchored in this harbor since the races, and it was feared that the barge would drift among them.

Rough estimates of the financial loss due to the storm are $2,000,000, and around Manhattan Island alone, 80 far 18 lives are known to have been lost at the storm, and it is believed this number will be doubled when all reports are in.

Thrilling Escape of Excursionists. One of the most thrilling stories of the disaster is that of the excursion and freight steamer E. E. Spring, which was driven ashore near the new mansion of E. C. Benedict, near Greenwich, Conn.

Captain McDonald, his crew of seven men and 11 passengers were rescued largely through the aid of the Benedict servants. The Spring was trying to put back to Stamford, and the gale had reached a velocity of 30 miles an hour, when the rudder failed and the steamer foundered at the mercy of the huge seas which swept over her.

When the roof went off the boat was lifted half out of the water. The strain was so great that it tore off the rudder, and when settled down again in the trough of the sea she was perfectly helpless.

Realizing that they were at the mercy of the storm's sailors, as a last resort, made a determined effort to get an anchor down to hold the steamer's head to the wind. No sooner had they done so than the chain snapped. The steamer was fast being driven toward Shelving Rock, one of the most dangerous shoals on the Connecticut shore. The passengers were ordered to put on life-preservers and were ready to board the liferats.

A scene of wild confusion followed. The crew launched the largest liferat and the passengers, with life-preservers, stood ready to get upon it, when the raft suddenly struck the hull of the boat and was pounded to pieces.

The steamer drifted along the shore an hour until she hit the rocks off the point at Benedict's and stove in her bow. As soon as she touched, a colored cook dropped 15 feet to the rocks with a line. The water was over his head, and he was tossed until he was badly bruised, but he kept on swimming, and was finally tossed on the beach. People on the shore grasped lines from the ship, and in a few minutes all hands had been safely landed.

TANK STEAMER FOUNDER. Five Out of 20 Men Are Picked Up When Life Is Almost Gone.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 17.—The British steamer Roxby, Captain Shields, which arrived here today from Port English, had on board Domingo Ballo Reyarbaray, one of the seven known survivors of the crew of 22 men on the British steamer Mexicano, which foundered with all on board off the South Carolina coast Tuesday night.

Reyarbaray caught a piece of wreckage and managed to keep up until he was seen yesterday morning by the Roxby and rescued.

The Spaniard, through an interpreter, told of the Mexicano's sinking. The steamer was bound from Tampico for Vera Cruz with a cargo of petroleum in bulk, when the full force of the hurricane broke upon her. The mountainous seas broke constantly over the ship, and finally one high wave crashed through her decks.

The fire-room was flooded and the Mexicano broke helpless. For a few moments she wallowed in the trough of the sea, and then plunged to the bottom.

The rescued man says hundreds of gallons of oil were poured over the ship's side in a vain attempt to calm the sea and, if possible save the ship. When the Mexicano went down the crew went with her. All boats had long since been crushed by the force of the waves, and the men were powerless to save themselves. Half a dozen men were rescued by the vessel and by merest chance became entangled in some loose rigging and spars. The buoyancy of these brought him to the surface and he made himself fast to the spar. For several hours he drifted in a turbulent sea, until finally the Roxby hove in sight. His rescue was a daring one.

The captain was R. S. King, and the King Line, Ltd., of Middlesborough, Eng., owned the lost vessel. Reyarbaray is unable to give accurately names of the men lost.

Another Steamer Picks Up Six Men. NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The steamer Vidar, Captain Sorrensen, arrived tonight from Cabarlan, having on board six of the crew of the British steamer Mexicano, which foundered during a gale on September 16. Captain Sorrensen said he was sitting in his cabin about 9 o'clock yesterday morning when he heard a cry. Going to his vessel's bridge, he saw something in the water, and with the aid of his glasses found it to be a small hatch with a man in it. The man stretched full length on it. He asked for the man and rescued him almost exhausted and unable to speak.

The Vidar had proceeded about a mile when her captain found five more men clinging to pieces of wreckage. He picked up the castaways. They, too, were exhausted, and one was nearly crazy, and the rescuers in the Vidar's lifeboat could hardly keep him from jumping overboard. The Mexicano was a tank steamer, and carried a crew of 22 men besides the captain. Some of them were probably picked up by another vessel.

Large Schooner on the Rocks. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 17.—A delayed communication received from Westport tonight says a large three-masted schooner went on the rocks at Dry Reef last night. When last seen, the waves were breaking over the vessel, and five men could be seen from shore. The tumbling sea makes it impossible to launch a boat to go to the rescue of the mariners in distress. The schooner is about two and a half miles from shore and as soon as the storm abates an attempt will be made to reach the stranded vessel.

Torpedo Boat Damaged in Gale. NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 17.—The torpedo boat Lawrence has arrived from the North with port bow plates buckled and smashed and a foot of water in the aft engine room and officers' quarters. She was hit by a storm off Delaware Breakwater.

BUFFETED BY WAVES FOR HOURS.

Captain and Mate of Tugboat Are Rescued from Wreckage. LEWES, Del., Sept. 17.—Captain Chandler and Mate Nelson, of the sunken tug Spartan, were landed here today by the team pilot boat Philadelphia. The tug,
